SUMMARY.

The flagship Australia sailed from Simon's Bay for Durban yesterday.

The Palace of Peace at the Hague has been opened by Queen Wilhelmina.

The speakers, in the course of their addresses, paid tributes to the generosity of Mr. Carnegie.

While playing golf in Elginshire, Mr. Asquith was assaulted by two women suffragists, who knocked off his hat.

The Pope has condemned Professor Bergson's works, on the ground that they embody false theories.

Strike riots have occurred in St. Eubenville, Ohio, resulting in bloodshed.

The Hamburg-America liner Imperator has been damaged by fire while near Hoboken.

Much inconvenience has been caused in Dublin during show week by a strike of tramway men.

Many employers are starting a movement to dismiss all trades-unionists.

The situation on the Rand is again causing anxiety.

Mr. T. B. Robinson has conveyed Queensland's congratulations to Messrs. Hawker and Kauper on their "splendid achievement."

The Australian cricketers scored 273 runs in their first innings against a Chicago Fifteen. The local men made 110.

The Powers are endeavouring to compel China to fulfil the terms of the loan reorganisation agreement.

Nanking is surrounded by the Government troops. The conditions within the city are terrible.

General Huerta is making concessions, and there is a possibility of a settlement in Mexico.

An agreement has been arrived at between Servia and Montenegro.

The latter has been given the districts of Ipek, in the north, and Diakova, in the south.

The Premier addressed a meeting in the Mechanics' Institute, Singleton, last night.

Mr. Holman devoted his remarks chiefly to an attack on the Opposition for moving censure motions.

Mr. Wade has commenced a tour of the [illegible] electorate, and was accorded a hearty welcome at Narromine.

A good many members hold the view that the State session will close at the end of next month.

A miner at the Central mine, Broken Hill, lost the sight of both eyes by an explosion in the mine.

The British members of Parliament were entertained at Parliament House, Wellington, yesterday.

Patriotic speeches were delivered. The visitors left by the Maunganui for Sydney.

There were six smallpox cases yesterday. They came from Surry Hills, Redfern, Granville, Balmain, Newtown, and Glebe.

There are now 34 patients in quarantine, and 22 convalescents.

A patient who was admitted to quarantine from Redfern died yesterday, but not from smallpox.

The total vaccinations yesterday numbered [illegible], mostly at the Town Hall.

Two more cases of smallpox occurred in Auckland. They came from a family in which all the others had been vaccinated.

The Premier was entertained at luncheon at West Maitland yesterday by the Municipal Council.

Professor David delivered a lecture at the Maitland Town Hall on Antarctica.

A wireless message was despatched to Dr. Mawson, conveying the greetings of the Maitland Scientific Society.

The Premier received deputations at East and West Maitland on the subject of flood prevention.

Mr. Holman said the Government would consider a comprehensive scheme for the maintenance of the embankments.

Thursday's sitting of the Legislative Assembly lasted till five minutes past 5 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Premier said he was quite unaware of any reason for Parliamentary action in the Broken Hill strike.

The Manly ferry dispute is likely to be settled by another place being found for [illegible].

The Pastoralists' Union applied for a variation of the Enginedrivers' Award, on the ground that the rates were excessive.

The Seamen's Union at Dunedin has decided not to join the Federation of Labour.

While returning from Emmaville to Glen Innes with passengers, a motor car took fire, and was destroyed.

The State Full Court has cleared off all the cases on the paper, and the sittings closed yesterday.

Several works at the Royal Art Society's exhibition have been purchased for the National Art Gallery.

A rose carnival is to be held in aid of the United Charities' Organisation Fund.

Amongst the cargo of the Kyarra, from Brisbane, are two Queensland carpet snakes, each 15 feet long. They are for the Zoo.

A labourer named Frederick W. Davis was found shot on a vacant piece of land at [illegible].

The severe frosts have had a prejudical effect on the wheat and other crops in various parts of the country.

The manager of the Pelaw Main Colliery gave evidence before the Miners' Wages Board yesterday.

He stated that the conditions at the colliery were the best he had ever known in coal-mining.

Two plain-clothes policemen were mistaken for burglars in Adelaide, and were fired at by a householder.

Four business establishments in Pirie-street were broken into.

Speaking at Mudgee Mr. Carmichael referred to the cost of school upkeep. He denied the charge of extravagance.

New premises have been secured for the Bush Nursing Association at Forest Lodge, and will be opened in October.

A daring case of bag-snatching occurred in [illegible]-street, a lady being robbed of [illegible].

A wages board award has been issued dealing with the wages and conditions of theatrical musicians.

An engine was derailed near Bungendore, and traffic was held up for several hours.

The New South Wales Rifle Team for the Commonwealth match at the Brisbane Bisley has been selected.

Several good shots were not available owing to the proximity of the New South Wales meeting in October.

Wool is coming down the Darling in large quantities. On the whole the clip is a good one.

At the Moree Polo Carnival, Dindemah won the cup final, Goondiwindi being the runners-up.

The real estate market this week has been quiet, but the outlook generally is considered good.

A small amount of business was effected in investment stocks on 'Change yesterday at firm rates.

The London wheat market was steady. Favourable harvesting conditions on the Continent were inducing some inquiry.

There was a more cheerful tone in the Mining Market, consequent on the steadiness of metal quotations.

The Ardlethan group was quiet, with steady transactions in Carpathias and Southerns.

In gold stocks, Bullfinch Proprietary sold at a firm figure.

In dairy produce, eggs were heavily supplied, cheese was steady, and bacon had good sale.

In the forage and grain market maize was steady at 4/.

Forecast.—Fine and mild generally, except for an isolated summer shower or two in southern districts; NW winds veering to colder south-westerlies.

FARMER'S

THE HOUSE OF DISTINCTION.

FARMER'S ALL-WHITE WEEK COMMENCES MONDAY NEXT.

This is to be a WHITE event—a unique occasion. Every department that has WHITE goods to offer will subscribe to this WHITE CARNIVAL—this

ALL-WHITE DISPLAY

of spotless purity and unsullied beauty. The word "WHITE" will loom large at Farmer's—WHITE Windows, WHITE Merchandise, WHITE Prices, everything WHITE, except the golden-tufted Wattles which we shall use in commemoration of and as a relief to our displays.

OUR WINDOWS TO-DAY and throughout next week will demonstrate the variety and possibilities of what a house like Farmer's can do in the way of WHITE GOODS, and as this season will be largely a white one, our display will be welcomed as highly opportune. We shall feature White Cotton Goods, Finest White Embroideries, White Ready-to-Wear Costumes, Finest White Underwear, White Blouses, White Footwear, White Gloves, White Hosiery, White Neckwear, White Fancy Linens, White Millinery, Men's White Wear, Boys' White Wear, etc., etc.

SPECIAL GOSSARD MODELS, PRICE LIST BELOW.

Special Models of the celebrated "Gossard," the latest achievement in the Corset line, are now available at prices as listed below.

The particular advantages of the Lace-in-front principle are in themselves sufficient to place the "Gossard" above any other Corset, but there are many other scientific improvements as well.

Inspection of the Special Models is cordially invited.

GOSSARD MODEL 167 is designed specially for freedom and perfect ease at bust and diaphragm; elastic sections over the thighs absolutely avoid any bulging in the extreme lower portions. Sizes, 20 to 27. Price 32/6.

MODEL 207.—Light-weight fancy striped Batiste Corset, for average figures, low, full bust, good length over hips, suitable for slightly curved waist lines, 20 to 33. Price 22/6.

GOSSARD MODEL 308.—Splendid Corset for figures full above waist line, requiring fairly high bust. This Corset thoroughly supports and holds the shoulders most comfortably; extreme length of skirt, with elastic at sides and back; in White Broche. Sizes 22 to 34 inch. Price 42/6.

AN EXCELLENT BRASSIERE to be worn with the Gossard Corset, in either White, Strong Net, or Cambric, with lace and hooks down centre front. Price 5/11. Sizes, 34 to 44 inch.

DAINTY LACE NECK BOWS, IN REAL IRISH CROCHET.

The softness, delicacy, and whiteness of these Irish Crochet Neck Bows give a very charming feminine touch to a woman's appearance.

They are practically everlasting wear, and will wash and boil as often as desired. The fine handwork cannot but be admired, and the prices are extremely small.

IRISH CROCHET BOWS, to pin on, 7½d, 9½d, 10½d, 1/0½, 1/3, and 1/6 each.

SPECIAL SHIPMENT OF RABATS, PURCHASED AT A GREAT REDUCTION.

We have just opened a special shipment of Rabats, which are absolutely the finest value obtainable in Sydney. They are now being displayed in one of our Market-street Windows and in the Neckwear Department.

SPECIAL PIN-ON RABATS, in twelve distinct designs, made of fine net and lace, or fine muslin and lace edging, in White and Paris shades. Price 11½d each.

SMART CRAVATS AT A LOW FIGURE.

WHITE MUSLIN CRAVATS, edged with very dainty lace, in 8 distinct designs. Price 1/6 each.

MINIATURE BUNCHES of PIN-ON ROSES and VIOLETS. These have just arrived, and are offering at 1/0½, 1/3, and 1/9.

WHAT ABOUT A WATTLE FOR WATTLE DAY?

PATRIOTIC Australians need no reminding about "WATTLE DAY." Now that the idea has become universally adopted throughout the Commonwealth, it is only a question of Demonstrating the PRACTICAL SIDE of the question by PLANTING A WATTLE.

Here is a list of a few of the sorts from which to make a selection:—

ACACIA BAILEYANA.—The Cootamundra variety, silvery foliage	1/ each.
ACACIA CULTRIFORMIS.—Splendid shrub	1/6 each.
ACACIA CYANOPHYLLA.—Golden Wattle	1/ each.
ACACIA DECURRENS.—N.S.W. Black Wattle	1/ each.
ACACIA PODALYRAEFOLIA.—Queensland Silver	1/6 ea.
ACACIA ELATA.—Yellow, handsome foliage	1/6 each.

HUDSON'S EUMENTHOL TOOTH POWDER.

Secures Sound White Teeth and a Healthy Mouth.

The Powder that is hygienically clean, and that cleanses hygienically. In contact with water or the mouth fluids, Hudson's Eumenthol Tooth Powder liberates free, active oxygen, and it is the oxygen which, by neutralising the acid-producing organisms, wards off decay, and whitens the Teeth so wonderfully as no other preparation for the Teeth can or will do without affecting the Tooth Enamel.

HUDSON'S EUMENTHOL TOOTH POWDER is sold everywhere at Chemists, Grocers, Storekeepers, in the patent (metal) bottles, handy for travel or home. Price 1/6, or forwarded post free on receipt of 1/6 in stamps by the sole manufacturers.

THE NEW MILLINERY.

ALREADY there HAS been a MARKED change in the ASPECT of the GREEN ROOM at the NEW PALACE EMPORIUM—the WINTER ATMOSPHERE has cleared, GIVING way to ALL the BRIGHTNESS of SPRING.

IN the MILLINERY SECTION of this great FASHION RENDEZVOUS the TRANSFORMATION is COMPLETE—there is a SUPERB REFLECTION of the NEWEST MILLINERY MODES. It is an ATTRACTIVE EXHIBITION of SMART Hats, ALLURING in EVERY respect, for, while it presents a REPRESENTATIVE selection of CHARMING Model Creations from LONDON and PARIS, the wonderful VARIETY makes it EASY to meet the REQUIREMENTS of EVERY Purse.

LADIES are invited to INSPECT this remarkably FINE DISPLAY of SPRING MILLINERY; it incorporates ALL that is NEW and FASHIONABLE, presenting EVERY phase of the MODES that are to PREVAIL. Fashionable Folk will find MUCH to INTEREST them. MANY of the MODELS illustrate how SKILFULLY the Parisian MODISTES have converted FEATHERS, Flowers, RIBBON, and MALINE into exclamation points, question marks, and other erect ornaments, giving a SMART FINISH. NO ONE is IMPORTUNTED to PURCHASE.

In the LIST that follows we QUOTE a FEW of the MODELS. INSPECTION and COMPARISON will DEMONSTRATE the WONDERFUL ECONOMY that is brought about through the AGENCY of

ANTHONY HORDERNS'

FAMOUS LOW PRICES.

UNION MARINE ENGINES.

Read in the last issue of the "Power Boating," how in the American Power Boat Race for Cruisers, Captain Corson, owner of the ENCINAL, battened down all his hatches, against a 40-mile breeze, which was blowing against a stiff flood tide, shut his engineer in the cabin, with instructions to "keep her going," and, with his "UNION" Engine turning over 400 revolutions, ploughed through the rough, going more like a submarine than a power boat. Everything was flooded in the cockpit, and, whilst the big cruisers LA [illegible]LA and EULALIE had to slow down, ENCINAL came through it all, winning the race by some twenty-two minutes.

There are scores of similar incidents, which show that an owner of a "UNION"—no matter what the conditions may be—can always depend on a never failing to bring him home.

"UNION" ENGINE

Pay us a call, and we will convince you that all we claim for a "UNION" is based on facts.

UNTIL SYDNEY DEPOT IS OPENED.

THE STANDARD ENGINE, usually operating on benzine, is supplied in both stationary and marine patterns, and there are hundreds of these Engines at work in the Commonwealth, both on land and sea. At sea, where life and property are at stake, nearly all the best boats are fitted with "Standard" Engines; in fact, timid persons might naturally be excused if they thought twice before going out to sea in a boat which was not equipped with a "Standard" Engine. The "Standard" Engines are largely used by our various Government, public bodies, and companies throughout Australia and the Pacific Islands. Fishermen, whose calling is at times necessarily precarious, and uncertain, reduce their risks and minimise their discomfort very considerably by installing "Standard" Engines. We are experts in the PREPARING of Oil Engines, and also keep a large Stock of Edison Batteries, Magnetos, Spark Coils, and other Oil Engine Sundries.

DR. PARKER'S

GREAT INDIAN RHEUMATIC REMEDY.

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM CURED.

"For a number of years I suffered from Uric Acid poisoning, which culminated in an attack of Rheumatic Fever. I suffered terrible agony. All my joints were stiffened and swollen and inflamed, and becoming distorted. My head ached incessantly, and I was unable to eat or sleep; my bowels were irregular, and kidneys congested. I also suffered from dry-retching and mental depression. Nothing gave me any relief until I tried Dr. Parker's Remedy, which acted like a charm. I got relief from the first bottle, and I am thankful to say I am now quite free from pain, and all the joints have been restored to their normal condition. My skin is again clear, and my appetite good. I shall always feel it my duty to recommend your treatment to other sufferers.—Yours very gratefully,—MABEL LINKLATER, 68 West-street, North Sydney."

THE ALLINSON HONOUR.

BY HAROLD BINDLOSS

(ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.)

CHAPTER XIV.—Continued.

Mappin, who let the fellow go, was surprised at the turbulence of his feelings. Though of gross nature, ambition and avarice had hitherto dominated him, and he was generally marked by a cold-blooded calm. Now, however, his passions were aroused, and he was filled with an anger which he thought must be subdued before it led him into rashness. He had done all he could to delay Allinson, and though he had failed it was not his habit to grow savage at a reverse; moreover, it was unlikely that the prospectors would get very far. For all that, he was disturbed. Allinson, whom he had regarded with contempt as a fastidious tenderfoot, might prove a dangerous rival. That he had refrained from sending down an angry remonstrance suggested strong self-control and a suspicion of Mappin's motives. He must be careful, and make all the progress he could with Geraldine while Allinson was away.

During the next three weeks he saw the Frobishers often, though he had undertaken an important railroad contract for which his men were cutting lumber in the bush. Geraldine treated him with a conventional politeness which misled him, since he was inexperienced in dealing with girls of her character. Indeed, except for his business capacity, Mappin was undeveloped and primitive. For all that, he felt that he was not advancing much in Geraldine's favour and made up his mind to press his suit without delay. Allinson would be back before very long, and the stores he would need for his return journey must shortly be sent off.

After waiting for an opportunity, he found Geraldine alone one evening in her drawing-room and sat down feeling unusually diffident as well as eager, though he forced himself to talk about matters of no importance. For one thing, the room had a disturbing effect on him. It was furnished with refined taste and all its appointments seemed stamped with its owner's personality; a faint perfume she was fond of clung about it. All this reacted on the man, and the girl's beauty worked upon his passions.

She listened with indifference, now and then glancing towards him. He was smartly dressed, but he looked out of place—too big and gross for his surroundings. Then by degrees she grew more intent; there was a hint of strain in his voice and a gleam in his eyes which caused her vague alarm. His face was slightly flushed, he looked coarser than usual, and when he was silent his lips set in an ugly, determined fashion. At length, when she was thinking of an excuse for leaving him, he rose.

"Geraldine," he said, "I have something to tell you."

She looked up quickly, somewhat frightened, he thought, which did not displease him.

"Oh," she said, "is it necessary?"

"I think so; you shall judge. For a long while I've been fond of you."

His ardent glance repelled her. She resented it and this gave her courage.

"I wonder what you mean by that?" she said.

The man failed to understand her. Love was not a complex thing to him.

"It ought to be pretty simple. You're the girl I mean to marry; I set my heart on it some time ago."

"Mean to marry?" she said sharply. "You're not diffident."

Mappin laughed and his amusement filled her with repulsion. She was not encouraging, he thought, but he had not expected her to be so.

"No," he said, "I'm not. Bashfulness doesn't pay, and I haven't had time to study saying pretty things. I want you—there it is."

"It's a pity you didn't tell me this earlier. It might have saved you some disappointment," said Geraldine.

She was angry and alarmed, but keenly interested. She had not expected that her first proposal would take this abrupt form; but there was no doubting the strong primitive passion in the man. It was a force to be reckoned with; one could not treat it with indifference. He looked big and clumsy as he stood with his eyes fixed on her, but his face and pose suggested power.

"Well," he said, "there was a reason. I was pretty low down in the world, I hadn't much to offer, and I wouldn't have you think I wanted you for your dollars. Now I've got on; I begin to see how I'm going to make a big success. There's no longer anything to stop my claiming you."

This sounded sincere, but it was unthinkable that she should feel any tenderness for the man, which he must be made to understand.

"Mr. Mappin," she began; but he checked her.

"Let me get through. You shall have all you want; a house in Montreal or Toronto, as you like, smart friends and position—guess if I set my mind on it I can get them. In fact, you shall have what you wish—you'll only need to ask for it. I want my wife to take a leading place, and I'll see she gets there."

"I'm sorry, but it's impossible that I should marry you," said Geraldine firmly.

Mappin regarded her with a grim smile. "You look as if you meant it."

"I do," said Geraldine, trying to preserve her calm. "Please understand that my mind is made up."

"Oh!" he said, tolerantly, "I didn't expect to get you first try. Guess I'll have to wait until you get used to the idea."

"I shall never get used to it."

He had held himself in hand, but as he heard the decision in her tone his passion mastered him.

"Never is a mighty long time; you have got to yield sooner or later. I can make you."

Geraldine rose with all the dignity she could assume, but he moved between her and the door.

"Wait a bit," he said with a harsh laugh. "Now what's the matter with me?"

"I think I need only say that you're very far from being the kind of man I could marry. But let me pass."

Mappin barred her way. "Well," he said, "I know my value. I'll stand comparison with that finicking Englishman."

Her blush told that this shot had reached the mark, and he turned on her with fury.

"You'll never get him. Count on that; I'll break the fellow."

Geraldine recoiled. She thought he meant to seize her; he was capable of it. Indeed, he moved a pace or two, but this gave her an opportunity of reaching the door. Then she turned and saw that he was watching her with a curious grim smile.

"The subject is closed. You have behaved hatefully," she said.

Escaping into the hall, she sought her room and shut herself in. She felt humiliated, and, although there had once or twice been something ludicrous in the situation, the man's overbearing boldness had strongly impressed her. She was afraid of him; he would not be readily beaten.

Mappin left the house without speaking to Frobisher and returned to the Landing. Next day he sent for the packer who was to lead the party taking up Andrew's supplies. The fellow was some time in coming, and Mappin waited for him in a threatening mood. Geraldine's blush had filled him with jealous hatred. Allinson was a dangerous rival. Let him beware.

By and by the man he had summoned arrived, and Mappin, who gave him a map with a route marked on it, asked: "You know the Whitefish Creek, what lies between the forks?"

"A piece of high and very rough country; muskegs full of little pines mussed up with blown trees in the hollows."

"Well," said Mappin, "you'll cache the stores for Allinson where I've put the cross. Think you've got it right?"

"Yes," said the packer. "It must be near the tall butte, a piece up the creek. That's a pretty good mark."

"Then there's the other lot of stores. You can see the place for them on the heighth of land, south of the Whitefish."

The man glanced at the map and nodded. "We'll dump those first. Everything's ready. We'll pull out as soon as I can get the boys together."

He went out, and Mappin lighted a cigar. He felt somewhat nervous, as if he had undergone a strain.

"If Allinson gets through, I'll allow he's the better man," he said.

CHAPTER XV.

THE LODE.

A half-breed stood on the river bank beside his dog-team while Andrew handed Carnally the packs from the sledge. It was late in the afternoon, the valley was swept by driving snow, and the men's hands were so numbed that they found it difficult to strap on their heavy loads. The ice was several feet in thickness on the deeper pools, but the stream ran strong along the opposite shore, and its frozen surface was rough, and broken in places by pools of inky water.

"It would save some trouble if we made our depot among these boulders," Graham remarked.

"That's so," said Carnally. "Still I guess it would be safer on the other side, where we'll strike it sooner coming back. It's wise to take no chances in this country."

They were loaded by and by, and the gorge looked very desolate when the half-breed vanished with his dogs beyond the summit of the bank. He was not a man of much conversational powers, but they had found his company pleasant in the grim solitudes. Andrew had hired him, at an outlying Hudson's Bay factory, where he had had no trouble in obtaining food. The fur trade was languishing thereabouts, and prospectors for timber and minerals were made welcome. The Scot in charge of the lonely post had, however, no dogs for sale, though he engaged to transport a limited quantity of provisions to a point which one of the company's half-breeds, despatched on another errand, would pass with his team.

Andrew thought Carnally's caution was justified. Their supply of food was scanty, and the journey attended by risks enough; but he could sympathise with Graham. It was snowing hard, the wind was rising, and there was no sign of a camping place so far as he could see. They had gone a long way since sunrise, and he was too tired to think of lengthening the journey by looking for a better place to cross the river. They went forward, carefully avoiding the hummocks, winding round the larger cracks, and Andrew was too occupied in picking his way to notice that Graham had fallen some distance behind. Then a sharp cry reached him, and he stopped in alarm. He could see nothing except a stretch of rugged ice and a high white bank fading into the driving snow. Their companion had disappeared.

"Guess he was straight behind us," said Carnally, and they turned back, running.

Andrew fell over a block of ice, but he was up in a moment, for the cry came again, and when they had skirted a black pool he saw what seemed to be the head and shoulders of a man projecting from a fissure. He sprang across a dangerous crack, and as he ran saw Graham's face turned towards him, with a strained, tense look. Carnally was a pace or two in front, and had seized Graham's arm when Andrew came up and grasped his collar. They dragged him out of the crevice and set him, gasping breathlessly, on the ice, with the water running from one of his mocassins.

"You were only just in time," he said after a moment or two. "There was snow across the crack and it broke under me. Couldn't crawl out, with my pack dragging me down."

"It's blamed unfortunate you got your mocassin wet," Carnally remarked. "It ought to come off right away, but we haven't another. Think the water has got through?"

"I'm afraid it has; the back seam opened up a bit yesterday. But my feet are so cold I can hardly feel."

"If Mappin hadn't played that trick on us, you'd have had a sound dry pair to put on. But you want to keep moving, and it's getting dark."

They crossed the ice without further misadventure, toiled up a steep bank where short brush that impeded them badly rose out of the snow, and an hour afterwards found a hollow among the rocks sheltered by a few junipers and tottering firs. Carnally loosed the load from his aching shoulders and threw it down with relief.

"It's that hog Mappin's fault we're packing a pile of unnecessary weight along," he said. "I'm looking forward to a talk with him when I get back."

He set to work, hacking rotten branches from a leaning fir, while Andrew scraped away the snow and built a wall of it between them and the wind. Graham lighted a fire, filled the kettle with snow, and spread branches and twigs to lay their blankets on. It took time, and Andrew had found no labour so irksome as making camp after an exhausting march, but no pains could be spared if they wished to sleep without freezing. At length they gathered about a crackling fire which threw an uncertain light upon their faces, and Carnally cooked a frugal supper.

"I guess we could eat more, but it wouldn't be prudent," he said, as he shared out the food. "Your lode's about a hundred miles off yet, isn't it, Graham?"

"Yes, as near as I can calculate."

"Call it six days; a fortnight anyhow, before we get back here, and that won't allow much time for thawing out and shot-firing. Then we'll have to reach our first depot before the grub runs out. It's going to be a blamed tight fit."

(To be continued.)

DAY NURSERY.

NEW PREMISES SECURED.

ANNUAL MEETING.

New premises have been secured for the Sydney Day Nursing Association at 24 Arundel-street, Forest Lodge, and will be opened in October. This information was contained in the report, which was submitted at the annual meeting of the society in the Town Hall yesterday. The structure, the report said, was being altered a great deal, in order to conform thoroughly to hygienic and sanitary plans. The location was an excellent one, but the purchase of these premises had entailed a great expense, and it was hoped that financial assistance would be forthcoming. The present nursery in Darlington was inadequately equipped.

The work of the association was an object-lesson to the rest of the community, said Mr. Arthur Giles, in moving the adoption of the report and the balance-sheet. Another good purpose was served, he said, by the members of the association being brought face to face with the conditions that existed around them, conditions that could never be realised until they were met face to face. Members would thus get a conception of the social needs, and the corresponding social duties, that rested upon the shoulders of all. The feeling of class against class existed in Australia to a certain extent, and the society would do an amount of good in reducing this by bringing together persons in different walks of life, on an entirely self-respecting basis. He was pleased to know that about 6000 days of rest had been given to deserving mothers during the year.

Lady Cullen, who presided, said that it came as a surprise to her to know that the association had got so far as to own property. The public had been aroused to the fact that it was necessary to safeguard the health of the young babies.

The report and balance-sheet were adopted. A cheque for £30, the proceeds of the Darlington ball, was handed over, and the following were elected office-bearers:—Patron, Lady Edeline Strickland; president, Mrs. F. A. Davenport; vice-presidents, Lady Cullen, Mrs. Hugh Dixson, Mrs. L. M. Phillips, Miss Allison; executive committee, Mesdames C. B. Blackburn, Berwin, Britz, Lang Campbell, Murray Campbell, Cooley, E. W. Fairfax, J. Goldschmidt, A. R. Harwood, Anthony Hordern, F. Hall, Gilbert Lodge, John M'Donald, Robert M'Donald, Lloyd, H. S. Stacey, Rule Taylor, Ziotkowski, the Misses Bedford, Muriel Dangar, Gordon, M'Mahon, F. E. Stephen, and Williams; hon. secretary, Miss Rosalie Goldschmidt; hon. treasurer, Miss Enid M. Marks; hon. organiser of Circles, Miss F. E. Stephen; hon. medical officers, Drs. Blackburn, E. W. Fairfax, S. A. Smith, and J. Hoets; hon. auditor, Mr. Stanley Benjamin.

MUSICIANS' PAY.

GRAND OPERA INCLUDED.

WAGES BOARD AWARD.

Mr. H. R. Curlewis, barrister, chairman of the Professional and Shop Workers' Group of Wages Boards, has issued the award of No. 1 Board, dealing with the wages and conditions of professional musicians. The award, which is to have a duration of three months, is to apply to the county of Cumberland, and to Newcastle district.

For grand opera, casual engagements are to be paid for at the rate of £1 1s for each performance, with 5s for rehearsals before 6 p.m., and 10s after 6 p.m. Public holiday rehearsals and matinees are put down at 13s 4d each. Weekly engagements are to be £4 for six consecutive nights, each matinee one-sixth of the salary.

Theatrical engagements are to be paid for at £3 per week, with one matinee included. Rehearsals on Sunday are to be paid for as a performance. Casual engagements: Single night performances, with two rehearsals, £1 1s; extra rehearsals, 5s each.

Picture shows and circuses: £3 per week of six performances with one matinee, extra matinees to be paid for at one-sixth of salary. Casual engagements not less than 10s for each performance, rehearsals 5s each.

Concerts, oratorios, and amateur operatic productions: The same terms and conditions as for grand opera. Casual engagements, £1 1s for each performance, and 5s for each rehearsal.

Amateur dramatic productions: Each performance and each rehearsal, not exceeding in either case three hours, 10s.

For weekly engagements other than theatrical engagements, circuses, and picture shows, the salary fixed is £3 for six consecutive performances; £3 10s for 12, and £4 for 18. All rehearsals are to be paid for as performances, and no performance is to take place on a Sunday.

Special engagements in cafes, restaurants, and other places of refreshment extending over a fixed period of not less than three months, £1 10s per week.

Where the award fixes a time limit, overtime, at performances and rehearsals, is to be paid for at the rate of 2s 6d per hour.

Exemptions are made in respect to Her Majesty's Theatre, the Tivoli, Mr. Edwin Geach, the National Amphitheatre, the Criterion, the Palace, Mr. L. de Groen, and the King's Hall and Central Hall, Newcastle. Mr. C. Spencer (Lyceum) has a partial exemption.

The latest bacterium to be run to earth is the money microbe, which a French investigator assures us is so plentiful that every cubic centimetre of water in which a coin is washed will yield on the average, according as it is nickel or bronze, from 140,000 to 760,000 bacteria. The paper money of the U.S.A. seems spotlessly clean by comparison, seeing that only 150,000 bacteria could be discovered on the whole superficial area of each bill.

CURRENT LITERATURE.

THE ORIGIN OF MAN.

All inquiries upon the origin of Man were till recently handicapped by the absence of actual remains which might bear out their conclusions or serve as a basis for fresh theories. Savants like Darwin, Huxley, and Wallace might indulge in brilliant speculations about prehistoric man, but until new material could be discovered they could only be speculations. However, during the last few years in various parts of the world remains have been found which throw a flood of light upon the whole question. Each of these remains corresponds to some different point in the evolution of man, and thanks to them, scientists now describe with a fair degree of accuracy man's progress upwards during the march of the ages. In "Man and his Fore-runners," Professor H. von Buttel-Reepen gives an account of these recent developments, and a sketch of the whole subject in the light of the latest research.

In 1892 Dubois discovered in Java fossilised fragments of bones belonging to a creature which can only be described as intermediate between man and his prehuman ancestors. This is the Pithecanthropus erectus, the actual "Missing Link." But since then, in 1907, a huge human jaw was discovered near Heidelberg, which is thought to belong to a being geologically contemporary with the Pithecanthropus. These two existed long before the use of fire was known; they lived in a world tenanted by beasts like the mammoth, the Elephas meredionalis, standing twenty feet high, and a rhinoceros larger than any the world knows to-day. They defended themselves with "coliths," roughly-shaped lumps of stone—and that is all we know about them.

However, although our knowledge of this stage of evolution is rather fragmentary, we have more of the next. In 1912 a skull was dug up in Sussex which represents an epoch when man had begun to use his brain to supplement his body, and had consequently climbed yet another rung of the ladder towards the goal of rationality. Then comes the next link in the chain which ages have forged—the "Neanderthal Man." As early as 1856 it was known that during the second interglacial phase there existed a being far lower than the lowest human yet far higher than the highest animal. In 1908 a Swiss archeologist working at Dordogne in France found a skeleton of a young "Neanderthaler," who had evidently been buried—and this is therefore much the most ancient interment at present known. "He must have been about fifteen or sixteen years old. He was lying in a sleeping posture on his right side, with his right elbow under his cheek, and his right hand at the back of his head. His head rested on several flint plates, which had been carefully chipped, and formed a sort of pillow. There were numerous partly-burned bones of aurochs lying near the skeleton, which seems to imply that the friends of the deceased desired to provide his spirit with food, and a well-chipped flint implement lay by the lad's left hand. A moderate estimate places the date of the interment at B.C. 150,000, and other authorities consider that it is more than twice as ancient as that."

A strange being, and rather uncanny. He was not human; much lower than the most primitive bushmen of South Africa. He was not animal; much higher than the most sophisticated baboon which does its tricks before a musical hall audience. He was in the shadowy borderland in which he groped for glimmerings of light, and, in the struggle gradually acquired a soul. He and his people were a short, sturdily-built race, standing about 5ft 3in. "They had short legs, arms of medium length, and were probably very hairy. They walked upright, though, doubtless, not with military precision. It seems likely that they clothed themselves, and they roamed about armed with great wooden cudgels. They lived in hordes, but probably no definite tribal organisation was yet developed, albeit the strongest males held positions of leadership. This picture differs but little from that already given of Tertiary man, but the use of fire had been discovered in the interval, and the improvements of stone implements made the struggle for existence less terribly severe."

Still, it was severe enough, and the conditions of life in those dim days are sufficient to account for the relatively small population of the world. The horde might combine to attack a cave-bear or a mastodon, but in the interval the hand of each was against the other. It was a case of the survival of the fittest, and those who did survive unconsciously handed on the torch until during the third interglacial phase we have in the Aurignacian race a type which is definitely human. Indeed from their remains in the shape of kitchen middens and rock paintings we know that in some respects they were on the same plane of development, and in some on a higher, as our own aborigines and the South African bushman.

It is an attractive thought that all these discoveries represent man in the direct line of his gradual emergence from the animal. Unfortunately it is not so. Herr von Buttel-Reepen warns us against any such belief. We have no proof and no sure ground for supposing that any of these people were our ancestors in the direct line. It is quite possible that they, like ourselves, were offshoots from some primal stock which has yet to be identified. In the same way the author corrects the common but inaccurate conception of evolution. The popular definition of the doctrine is that man has descended from monkey, but neither Darwin nor his successors ever suggested anything of the kind. Men and monkeys have a common ancestor, which is quite a different thing altogether. Herr von Buttel-Reepen quotes a theory which is not yet capable of proof, but which is a plausible one. At any rate it seems to meet with the consensus of scientific approval. Far back in the incalculable distance of unrecorded time a being was evolved somewhere in the tropical continent now submerged by the seas between Australia and Malaya. This being was just on the border-line; a little more and he might become man, a little less and he would deteriorate. From the place of his origin swarmed out hordes to the north, south, east, and west. Some—principally those who went to the more genial regions where life was an easier business, degenerated and became apes, gorillas, orang-outangs, chimpanzees, and so forth. Others who penetrated to places where the struggle for existence was more bitter developed new faculties to help them in their ceaseless war with nature, and finally emerged as "homo sapiens"—the one reasoning and thinking form of life that science knows. Monkeys are the decadent branch of the family; man the progressive. And that is the proper meaning of "evolution." (Longmans, Green; G. Robertson.)

STRINDBERG.

Since his death a little more than a year ago August Strindberg has come to enjoy a prominence in England greater than any which, living, he achieved. Before that he was known to the select few principally as the author of certain dramas, whose remorseless "naturalism" shocked even the advanced spirits. Since then, however, a little band of admirers have set themselves to interpret him to the British public. Translations of many of his works have appeared, supplemented by biographies more or less appreciative. The Swedish author is no longer quite an unknown quantity to English-speaking readers, and, though he will always remain rather an exotic amidst the well-ordered garden of British letters, we are gradually freeing ourselves from the reproach of complete ignorance.

The latest biography is by Miss Lind-af-Hageby, a fellow-countrywoman, and it gives both a full account of his life and an enthusiastic estimate of his work. The author describes his rather unhappy childhood, and his riotous youth, which alternated between periods of excess and asceticism. As a young man he showed the same instability which later in life was a symptom of his disease. By turns student, schoolmaster, actor, journalist, librarian, and half a dozen other things besides, he failed at each, not through incapacity, but because he lacked in those days the perseverance to do anything thoroughly. Then came his chequered literary career, when sometimes he was hailed as the flower of contemporary Swedish art, sometimes anathematised as the corrupter of morals, and the dredger in the slime of experience. His domestic vicissitudes were as chequered. Thrice he was married. At one moment he was rapt in ecstatic adoration of his wife; the next he was penning his terrible indictments of womanhood. Then came the period of clouded reason, during which he busied himself with alchemy, sought the secret of making gold, and finally became a victim to the most extraordinary aberrations. But from this he emerged calm and sane to produce some of his finest work, and to die in May, 1912, full of years and honour.

Miss Lind-af-Hageby tells his story in a sympathetic fashion, and her biography helps us to a better view both of the man and of his writings. In the first place, she shows how unfair it is to base our estimate of his work on the few examples which have reached England. To most of us Strindberg is merely the author of "Marriage," "The Confessions of a Fool," "Lady Julie," and similar productions. These certainly represent an extremely important aspect of his work, but by no means the only one, and perhaps not even the most characteristic one. In 40 years of activity he produced a hundred and fifteen plays, novels, collections of stories, essays, and poems. This is a prodigious record, and his morbid exploration into the foul and cruel corners of the soul of woman are only a small proportion of it. His dramas, which relate to the heroic passages in Sweden's past, are, according to Miss Lind-af-Hageby, his masterpieces, and by these he will live when all else has passed away. FEDERATION.

In "The Federated Systems of the United States and the British Empire" Mr. A. F. Poley has produced a most valuable work which deals exhaustively with the various manifestations of the federal spirit among English-speaking peoples. Each of the countries involved has a constitutional literature of its own, and already Bryce, Egerton, and A. B. Keith have done useful service in analysing the different systems of government which obtain within the British Empire. But Mr. Poley goes even further, and includes the first federation of all within his purview. The addition is a proper one, for the constitution of the United States has served as a model to its successors both of what to imitate and of what to avoid. It is in some respects a little unfortunate that Mr. Poley confines himself to the English-speaking federation. No account of the Australian Constitution can be complete which does not draw attention to its resemblance to and divergencies from that of Switzerland, and the motives that influenced these. Moreover, had the author included Germany then the list would have been complete.

Mr. Poley begins with a sketch of the history of federation, and it is curious to note how modern a development it is. Greece had colonies, and had some glimmerings of the principles of federation; but did not put them into practice till it was too late. Rome had an Empire, but its dominant idea was unity rather than federation. Britain had an Empire, but until the American Revolution centralisation was the rule, and though the Englishman understood both local self-government and a united country he never dreamed that the two principles could be reconciled. It was not until after the American War of Independence that his horizons were enlarged; and it is noteworthy that the newer countries, where conditions of government are less complex, and the necessity of constructive development is stronger, have been the quickest to learn the lesson.

Mr. Poley proceeds to examine in detail the constitutions of the U.S.A. and of the three dominions in the chronological order of their coming into being. This he does most comprehensively: he compares, contrasts, analyses, and classifies. He does not attempt to express opinion on their relative merits; his task is rather to explain and to let his readers draw their own conclusions. Up to this point his role is merely that of exposition, but the last chapter contains the inevitable scheme for an Imperial federation. He hopes that the Imperial Conference will develop into an Imperial Council of Defence, and this again into an Imperial Cabinet, which would be at first a consultative body working through the different legislatures, and later, perhaps, the nucleus of an Imperial Parliament in the stricter sense. However, the precise form of Mr. Poley's scheme is less important than the fact that he sees in some such Imperial union the logical outcome of the modern tendency towards federation, which has been so strikingly displayed by English-speaking peoples during the past century. (Pitman and Sons.)

PLAYS OF OLD JAPAN.

"Plays of Old Japan" is an account by Dr. M. C. Stopes and Professor Joji Sakurai, of the "No" drama, which seems to be to Japanese literature what Shakespeare's plays are to English. In Japan to-day there still lingers much of the old aristocratic scorn of the common theatre, but the theatres which are dedicated to the performance of the No have no such stigma attached to them. Indeed, these performances are almost entirely supported by the gentle and aristocratic classes, who study them, and occasionally act in them. "The only comparable enthusiasm in our country," writes the author, "is that of the Shakespeare societies, but even to act and act well a part in a Shakespeare play requires an amount of application trivial in comparison with that necessary completely to master a role in one of the No. For not only is every minute inflection of the voice prescribed and regulated according to the severest rules, but every movement of the body, every step and movement even of the toes or little fingers in the dance that accompanies it, is most strictly governed by iron tradition, and the secret of some parts is only in the hands of a few masters."

These No dramas, which date from the 14th century, are acted on a peculiarly-built stage. The scenery and properties are primitive, and highly conventionalised. If the actors, for instance, have to enter a boat and be rowed across the stream, they will merely step over a bamboo pole. A sprig of bamboo means that its bearer has recently lost a child, and so on. But if the staging is simple, the dresses worn are gorgeous, and form part of a distinctive colour scheme in each play. The book contains translations of several of these plays, and it must be admitted that to Western ideas they seem stiff, formal, and somewhat lacking in dramatic appeal. However, the authors point out that a translation cannot hope to reproduce their peculiar charm, while to read them rather than to see them performed amidst their proper surroundings gives one an utterly false impression of their artistic effect. (Heinemann.)

SOME NEW NOVELS.

The Baroness Orczy is to be seen at her best when she writes of the French Revolution, and in "Eldorado," she returns to the mine exploited with such success in "The Scarlet Pimpernel." On this occasion we find the efforts of Sir John Blakeney and his followers hampered by a new development. There is a Gascon royalist conspirator, one de Batz, an oily individual who is intriguing to overthrow the Republic, and bring about a return of the monarchy. His methods are simple but effective. He hopes to disgust France with her orgy of blood, and with this purpose in view he encourages every excess. He eggs on the leaders to further atrocities; he plots that the moderates may make way for the extremists. Every innocent child, every harmless aristocrat that makes his or her bow before Madame la Guillotine brings the time of reaction nearer. This is the sinister influence which the Scarlet Pimpernel has to face. Its emissaries care nothing for politics; their sole object is to rob the knife of its unoffending victims, and their errands of mercy are grievously hampered by the machinations of the unscrupulous de Batz. How they succeeded, despite all, is told in the exciting pages of "Eldorado." Principally it concerns the adventures of young St. Just, Blakeney's spirited young brother-in-law. He comes to Paris on a highly important "mission," falls in love with a charming actress, becomes involved in the toils of de Batz, and, generally speaking, has an eventful time before we have done with him. Sir John Blakeney's placid, but resolute personality pervades the scene, and his followers show all their old courage and resourcefulness. We prophesy for "Eldorado" a success equal to that of the rest of the Scarlet Pimpernel series. (Hodder and Stoughton: The Sydney Book Club; Dymock's.)

"Lu of the Ranges" is a powerful story of Australian life by Miss Eleanor Mordaunt. Her heroine is a girl who, when still a child, is abandoned by her parents in a lonely hut in the mountains, and she with her little brother is dying of starvation when Julian Thorne appears on the scene. He is a cultivated vagrant, insatiable of fresh experiences, and this unexpected meeting appeals to him as a new adventure. He takes them to his own hut and teaches Lu something of his own pagan philosophy. However, in due course he tires of the primitive round of 'possum snaring and goes away, leaving Lu on a dairy farm. Here she has an awful time. One brother dies; the other is brutalised; she herself learns the baseness of mankind. However, she keeps herself "straight" for Julian's sake, and on his return offers herself to her unworthy mentor. Once again he goes, and Lu is left to face the world with a nameless child. However, she is not the kind to submit to fate without a struggle, and by sheer pluck and hard work she wins to fame on the stage, though in the process she becomes hardened and embittered. In the end she leaves the artificialities of her existence for the clean freshness of the country; discovers, when Julian comes back once again a broken man, that her love for him is dead, and marries the devoted Martin Brent, who had worshipped her for years. Much of the book deals with the grim realities of life, and Miss Mordaunt does not shrink from describing them in all their naked unpleasantness. However, there can be no two opinions about its power and its remorseless truth. (Heinemann: G. Robertson.)

"The Outlaw," by Mr. David Hennessey, was the winner of the second prize in Messrs. Hodder and Stoughton's £1000 novel competition. Its publishers inform us that it is the best bushranging tale since "Robbery Under Arms," and from these two hints the reader can form a fairly good idea of its contents. There are the usual ingredients of bushranging romance. The hero—a victim to the savage criminal code of the day—has been condemned to penal servitude for a trivial offence. He manages to escape, but the only life left for such as him is to take to the bush. He does so, and in John Salathiel Mr. Hennessey adds another portrait to the gallery of picturesque knights of the road, whose operations were characterised by a remarkable chivalry and courtesy. Business might be business, but Salathiel, or Captain Starlight, or Captain Moonlight, as they appear in various incarnations in various books, never allows it to obscure the fact that he is a gentleman. There is a love affair, in which the hero appears to advantage, and Mr. Hennessey tells the story in a workmanlike fashion, with a very proper detestation of the methods of the old regime. (Hodder and Stoughton: Angus and Robertson, G. Robertson.)

In "The Redeemer," Rene Bazin has written an interesting story of French provincial life. His leading character is a girl who becomes assistant mistress in a village school, and thinks that she has a mission to regenerate local society. Her first experiment is to persuade the parties to an irregular union to separate, but this has the effect of transferring the man's affections to herself. Moreover, Davidee finds that the path of the reformer is not an easy one, for her motives have been misconstrued, and her action leads to all sorts of gossip and scandal. She learns, too, despite her "advanced" training, that an education in which religion has no place, whether at home or at school, leaves a void in the heart which no amount of philosophy can fill. In the end she wins to happiness; and the book is a clever study of her spiritual development, in addition to which the author has given us a graphic description of the life of a village, including a strike in the slate quarries. (Stanley Paul and Co.)

"Dew and Mildew" is an excellent collection of stories of Indian life by Percival Christopher Wren. A certain thread of connection runs through most of them. Thus one group tells of the fate of all rash enough to inhabit "Sudden-death Lodge," a house which had been laid under a curse by a fakir. Another describes the adventures of one Buggin, M.P., an itinerant little-Englander of the type that goes to India to stir up the native and to undo the work of years of good administration. There are others in which two delightful Anglo-Indian children are the heroes, and others in which the author comments bitterly on the false educational ideals which, though well-intentioned, have proved anything but a blessing for the natives. All through he pays a fine tribute to the work which the various services are doing in the face of enormous difficulties, but on occasion he can wield a very caustic pen at the expense of the inefficient and seditious, whatever be their race or colour. It is an admirable book, in which we find laughter and tears, biting scorn and fine enthusiasm, and it is emphatically one to be read. (Longmans Green: G. Robertson.)

In "The Crystal Stopper" M. Maurice Leblanc tells us some further exploits of the astute Arsene Lupin. The latter is confronted with two problems, each of which taxes his sagacity to the full. The first of these is the secret of a certain crystal stopper, which appears and disappears in a most unaccountable fashion. In due course we learn that it contains the names of certain notabilities, who were guilty of receiving bribes in the "Two-Seas Canal" affair. So the second problem for Arsene to solve is how to get hold of it. His task is complicated by unexpected difficulties, and there are times when even he despairs of success, but in the end his combination of effrontery and ingenuity triumphs in time to save a devoted follower from the guillotine. M. Leblanc continues to weave his web of mystery with a cunning hand, but we confess that we are getting a little bit tired of his hero. (Hutchinson's, G. Robertson.)

"The Everlasting Search," by Cecil Duncan Jones, is one of those innumerable books of which it is equally hard to say anything good or anything bad. It shows no particular originality of subject or ability of treatment, yet within the safe limits of the commonplace it may serve its purpose of interesting a not too critical reader. A blase and impecunious man about town becomes engaged to an heiress for her money, and later on, when his motives come to light, and he is dismissed, realises that he loves her. Thereupon he determines to become a useful member of society, wins fame as an aviator; reinstates himself in her affections, and just when everything promises well he is killed in a flight. We feel that his transition from a dissolute waster to a purposeful and efficient aeronaut is too abrupt, for the earlier part of the book gives no hint that Frank Bruce Goring possesses the qualities which are exhibited later on. There is, moreover, an irrelevant artist whose share in the story is not very plain. However, to demand logical consistency from the ordinary novel is too exacting. (Chatto and Windus.)

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

"A Marriage of Convenience," Dumas' brilliant comedy, will occupy audiences at the Theatre Royal during the next few nights, and then, on Saturday next, Mr. Lewis Waller will introduce for the first time upon any stage "The Fair Highwayman." The author of the new romantic drama, Mr. William Devereux, is already known to Australian playgoers, not only by his recent appearances as the Constable of France in "Henry V.," but also as the author of "Robin Hood" and "Henry of Navarre," in both of which Mr. Julius Knight figured here at the same playhouse. Mr. Devereux in all his pieces has dealt with some well-defined historical period, in the study of which he has generally found some dominating characteristic. Thus, in the Robin Hood epoch he found that a tendency to fleet the time carelessly under the greenwood tree, with a firm belief that all would come right in the end, epitomised the spirit of Merrie England; the keynote to the temper of France in the reign of Charles IX. was superstition, a time when a man hardly dared buy a pair of boots without consulting the stars—hence the introduction of Cosmo Ruggieri, the Queen's astrologer and poisoner. In his "Walter Raleigh," which the dramatist also wrote for Lewis Waller, who played it for 130 nights in London, the study of Elizabethan times showed how, whilst other nations associated the idea of discovery with destructive conquest, Raleigh's dream was ever that of a constructive colonisation—a dream he realised in Virginia. The colonising idea was linked with another springing from the invasion by the Spanish Armada, namely, that of creating a permanent great fleet as the wooden walls of England. Hence the patriotism of "Walter Raleigh." No such noble ideal inspires the reign of George II., when betting was the ruling passion alike of Court and Camp. The gaiety of both will accordingly animate "The Fair Highwayman." An incident in the plot to which the piece owes its title is taken from the early memoirs of the Cochrane family (Earls of Dundonald), in which a devoted wife, knowing that an impending change in the Ministry would save her husband, condemned to death in Edinburgh Castle, disguised herself as a highwayman, intercepted the courier bearing the warrant for his execution, and by the delay saved his life. This heroine will be impersonated by Miss Madge Titheradge as Mistress Betty Chevenix, with Mr. Lewis Waller as the hero, Sir Charles Gresson, and there is a character-part for Mr. George Titheradge as George II. Great were the wagers and the stakes at cards of that era (about 1745). It is said that an astute clergyman of the Court even wagered the Countess of Yarmouth £2000 that he would not be made a Bishop! The notorious Countess promptly persuaded her George to issue the letters patent, and the courtier-parson paid over the money joyfully, in order that he might ruffle his lawn-sleeves bravely as a prelate!

Mr. John MacCormack, who is due here on Monday (overland from Adelaide) by the Mooltan from London, persevered with his Covent Garden engagements to within three days of the end of the season. On July 22 the famous Irish tenor appeared with Mme. Melba in Gounod's opera, "Romeo et Juliette," before the King and Queen and the Duke of Connaught, the audience being especially brilliant. The "Pall Mall Gazette" stated that the tenor "proved to be in excellent form, the quality of his tones being unusually rich and sympathetic." It will be remembered that the same artists appeared here in this work two years ago. Mr. MacCormack's farewell appearance was on Friday, July 25, in "Madame Butterfly," with Destinn in the name-part, after which the entire season closed with two more performances—"La Tosca" on the Saturday, and "Romeo and Juliette" on the Monday, when Mr. Franz appeared with Mme. Melba. Just before the Covent Garden season, Mr. MacCormack closed his American concert tour with two notable functions in New York. The first of these, on May 3, involved his appearance as a guest at a "White Breakfast," given to him in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Astor by the Mozart Society. The strange use of the term "White," which suggests a meal off a dish of cornflour and a glass of milk, signified that the guest of honour and his accompanist, Edwin Schneider, were the only "dark angels" present. All the other angels were in white muslin, and 1750 of them sat down to table! Mrs. Noble MacConnell, a wealthy society leader, who presided, made the only speech in praise of the hero of the morning, who bore his blushing honours thick upon him. His own reply had not gone far before one of the ladies called out coaxingly, "Sure, you might sing us a little song, John!" The orator at once good-naturedly replied, "Well, yes, I grant you I can sing a bit better than I can talk," and the admission was greeted with so much laughter and enthusiasm that he treated the Mozart ladies to "O Moon of My Delight," from Liza Lehmann's "In a Persian Garden," "I Hear You Calling Me," and four encores. On May 4 the Irish tenor made his last appearance in New York at the Hippodrome, before an audience of 5000 people, when he broke all records by giving 15 encores; and on Thursday next he will face a Sydney audience once more on the same platform from which he charmed them very early in January, 1912.

Mme. Slapoffski, who was advertised to appear at Sir Henry Wood's orchestral promenade concerts at Queen's Hall on Monday last, writes during July to record a delightful visit to Sir Frederick Cowen, who has given her three of his works to prepare by the end of the month. Mme. Melba gave the operatic soprano an introduction to Mr. Landon Ronald, from whom she is getting some of his latest vocal and orchestral works to introduce in Sydney on her return, to which she is looking eagerly forward. Mme. Slapoffski is immensely taken with a little Hungarian violinist, 11½ years old, named Duci Kerekjarto, who appeared at the Bechstein Hall before many great solo players and other artists. The boy is evidently a marvellous performer, the London "Daily Telegraph" describing his tone as "rich and robust, his technique clean and accurate, and his phrasing that of an artistic nature. In fact, there is a strange maturity about his playing." The visitor is endeavouring to persuade the boy's manager to take him to Australia for a tour. Mme. Slapoffski has met Miss Lily Delany with her husband in London, a Sydney pianist, who, after a year's further study in Vienna, married a German, and settled in Berlin. This clever musician will give a piano recital before her return to the German capital.

Miss Rosina Buckman, who left here some time back to support Mr. MacCormack on a concert tour, during which she visited Dublin and several of the great English centres, is called to mind by a cutting enclosed in Mme. Slapoffski's letter. From this it appears that the New Zealand soprano, whose musical training was originally in England, attracted some attention at the end of June by singing the role of Madame Butterfly in a small London theatre used by the "London School of Opera." Under the impression, probably, that Miss Buckman was an unpractised student, the critic of the London "Standard" waxed ecstatic over her "bright, fresh voice and faultless diction," etc., etc., and added that "she eclipsed everybody else on the stage!" Since Miss Buckman has had ten years' highly successful stage and concert experience in Australia, her triumph over her unsophisticated fellow-students is not without its humourous aspect to those who remember that she was the Musetta to Melba's Mimi on this side two years ago, and sang Suzuki to Bel Sorel's Cho-Cho-San nearly two years before that! Still, such an introduction to the London press may be not without its uses. It recalls an incident in the career of Bertha Rossow more than 20 years ago. This Ballarat soprano whilst only 20 years of age had already risen to the position of supporting Mme. Patey and her husband during their Australian tour, and before she was 21 had sung charmingly quite a number of oratorio parts with the Sydney and Melbourne Philharmonic societies. She then went to England, and began her career at once by entering for a competition at the Crystal Palace for a £200 Brinsmead Grand. Many hundreds competed, and the distinguished judges awarded the piano to—Miss Bertha Rossow. After that Miss Rossow became an English "professional," and prospered considerably! Miss Buckman is also entering by a side-door!

AN EXILED GERM.

I am an unfortunate exile, without a home and out of work, and until I can get the home I cannot get the work, for in my line of life a suitable lodging is vital. Formerly, it was easy enough, but of late I and my comrades have been hunted from place to place and destroyed by the million. Let me introduce myself: I am the bacillus of consumption—a member of the biggest union in the world, and at one time the most powerful. It is so no longer, for people have almost made a science of our destruction, and of all the means employed, the one most in favour is also the most fatal to ourselves, namely,

LIFEBUOY SOAP.

It is because of Lifebuoy Soap that I am condemned to wander about and find no place in which to live. Since Lifebuoy Soap was invented many years ago, Disease Germs have known neither safety nor peace. If it touches one of us it bites through our armour, reaches our vitals and kills us in a few minutes. Lifebuoy Soap is CERTAIN DEATH TO GERMS.

I myself am the strongest of the Disease germs. I was once regarded as too tough to kill, but Lifebuoy Soap has changed all that. I dare not risk contact with Lifebuoy Soap or venture where Lifebuoy Soap is used, for Lifebuoy Soap has been proved to be what these meddling scientists call a perfect disinfectant, and it is used everywhere. Every place reeks with it—all our old haunts have been invaded, and—how I hate the word "Disinfected," for as fast as we were driven from one refuge to another, we were followed up by Lifebuoy Soap. The worst blow of all came last. We had been hunted from Hospitals, Public Institutions, Churches, Schools, and Theatres—chased from every lurking place (save one) in private homes, and finally, to our dismay, we were deprived even of that and driven out by

LIFEBUOY SOAP IN THE LAUNDRY.

This was really too bad. Till then people had not used disinfecting soap in the laundry, and the clothes they wore, their table cloths, their bed linen, their handkerchiefs, towels and serviettes offered us our last and best resort. You see the waste fluids of the body (especially of sickly people), their expectoration and perspiration were our vehicles, and in many cases they carried us to lodge by the million in clothes and household fabrics. Thence we were able to spread disease wholesale and often fatal, thus fulfilling our mission. But Lifebuoy Soap in the laundry is

THE DOOM OF DISEASE GERMS.

It is not as if we could easily go elsewhere, because all over Australia this germ-killing Lifebuoy Soap is being used. Cooking utensils, tables and floors are scrubbed with it, sinks are scoured and drains flushed with its solution, which leaves a germicide deposit with which we dare not risk contact, it is everywhere, and always

LIFEBUOY SOAP.

It is easily realised that as its use in the laundry becomes universal we are doomed there, because the laundry is the family clearing house. All the clothing and all the household linen pass through its cleansing waters, and when these are impregnated with Lifebuoy Soap it becomes no place for us. The worst of it is that we have no hope of people discarding Lifebuoy Royal Disinfectant Soap because Lifebuoy Soap happens to be a perfect laundry soap as well. Lifebuoy Soap does not hurt the hands or discolor the nails. The most delicate fabrics can be washed in it, yet, whilst Lifebuoy Soap hurts nothing and nobody, and does its work well, it is

SUDDEN DEATH TO THE GERM.

I really don't know where I am to go, and until I find that out I can't tell what I am to do, for I must have a place in which to work. I hate idleness—my business is to spread disease, to kill and go on killing, so I must try to find some nice dirty nation; Australasians are too clean for my fancy. I really can't see why I should be persecuted in this way. If I have done nothing else I have taught people not to be careless about the health they think so much of; if I hadn't done it so thoroughly we might not have heard of

LIFEBUOY SOAP.

In Butter Fat

There is profit.

MR. J. GARTON USSHER, the Plains Dairy Farm, Tumut, writes:—

"I am very pleased to report that after an exhaustive trial of over two months I can very highly recommend Sunlight Oil Cake as a fodder for Dairy Stock. Sunlight Oil Cake has a very marked effect on the production of butter fat. During the test the fat production of all the cows under trial increased an average of 25 per cent. from the first test to the last. Sunlight Oil Cake undoubtedly also increases the flow of milk though not to an extent proportionate to the increase of fat: the best results being obtained by the use of oil cake up to 4 lbs. per day combined with a ration of green maize or the like. I should think good ensilage would have the same effect as the maize, but unfortunately I had none available during the trial. I may state that the results arrived at are not guess work, the milk and rations having been carefully weighed every day."

Milk flow and butter fat are increased by SUNLIGHT OIL CAKE: Mr. Ussher has found the butter fat increase to be higher in proportion to the milk flow increase.

Whether feeding for milk or feeding for butter: the increase of milk will be the richer, and the richer and greater quantity of milk will produce the more butter where SUNLIGHT OIL CAKE is fed regularly.

SUNLIGHT OIL CAKE is pressed from rich fleshy pulp that is appreciated by the animal. Three pounds per day will generally bring out all the profitable resources of the animal, but Mr. Ussher has found 4 lbs. to produce better results.

LIFE IN LONDON AND THEREABOUT.

(CHRONICLED BY SIR HENRY LUCY.)

Oil for the Navy.—A Disinherited Peer.—Mr. Balfour Making Holiday.—The Recreation of Statesmen.—Duke of Wellington's Breeches.

WESTMINSTER, July 25.

A few weeks ago attention was called in this column to a fresh departure of the Opposition in the House of Commons in the direction of hinting at irregular dealings by the Admiralty in respect of contracts for oil for naval purposes. These were suggested by the fortunate circumstance that Lord Murray, who innocently, with the best intentions, had played into their hand in the matter of the Marconi contract, was now a partner in the Mexican Eagle Oil Company, purveyor of a commodity of which the Admiralty are just now big buyers. What more likely than that he should have used his influence with a former colleague to palm off—if the phrase be permitted—his company's oil on a big spending department of the State, whose revenues come from the pocket of the taxpayer?

Profiting to some extent by mistakes made by the Attorney-General and the Chancellor of the Exchequer at the opening of the Marconi inquiry, but chiefly impelled by constitutional tendency to jump into any fight to which he may be invited, Mr. Winston Churchill adopted a better way of dealing with this fresh attempt at organised slander. At the earliest opportunity presented to him he took the lie by the throat, and shook it into lifeless form. His chance came when making a statement on the Navy Estimates. At the very opening of his speech he went straight for the latest move in party tactics, dispersing the conspirators before they had fully got into step. Major Archer-Shee, who has distinguished himself by attempting to run this new show, asked the Prime Minister whether it was a fact that a million of tons of oil for trial purposes had been obtained from the Mexican Eagle Oil Company? "The fact is," said the First Lord of the Admiralty, amid a burst of laughter, in which some members of the Opposition could not refrain from joining, "one hundred tons have been obtained for that purpose."

In a sterner tone, more emphatic manner, he proceeded to challenge any who had charges to make, suspicions or insinuations to circulate, forthwith to formulate them. "Here is the place," he said, "and now is the time. But if there is nothing but spiteful and untruthful chattering and vapourings, I invite the House on both sides to join with the Board of Admiralty in treating them and their authors with the contempt they deserve." There straightaway was the end of a promising plot. The oil wick, carefully prepared and lit, was blown out. It is safe to say no attempt will be made to relight it.

Publication of the will of Lord Ashbourne reveals a domestic difficulty long known to a circle of friends. Disposing of a personal estate of £92,000, the first Baron Ashbourne practically disinherits his eldest son, who succeeds to the title. He bequeaths to him a sum of £800, supplemented by "his gold watch and chain with seal, his signet ring, two silver claret jugs, his silver or plated wine coolers, such two silver cups as the testator's wife may select for him, and his engraving of the 'May Flower.'" These marks of personal affection, especially the engraving, will doubtless be cherished by the heir apparent. For the rest Lord Ashbourne bequeaths £45,000, upon trust, to pay the income therefrom to his wife during widowhood, the ultimate residue of his estate going to his second son, Edward, whom he named as one of the executors of his will. Difference between father and eldest son arose mainly from political reasons. Whilst the father, like some other Irish barristers, made fame and fortune by attaching himself to the Conservative party, the son became an extreme Nationalist, carrying his patriotic principles so far as to array himself in garb understood to be early Irish. The new peer, who has made his home in England, has written a book, and dabbles in periodical journalism. How he is to keep up the barony on revenues derived from this work, even with addition of £800 cash down, some empty claret jugs and a framed engraving, is a problem that does not on the face of it suggest solution.

Mr. Balfour, taking advantage of his much-prized deliverance from official bonds, has gone off on holiday, leaving Parliament still sitting with more than a fortnight's dull work ahead of it. Never a day since he confounded the mutineers of his party in the House of Commons by suddenly announcing his resignation of office has he regretted his decision. During a considerable portion of his Ministerial career Disraeli was in office but not in power. Mr. Balfour, freed from the trammels and drudgery of office, is to-day not less powerful in the councils of the nation than he was whilst Prime Minister. Whenever his old friends get into profounder depth of difficulty, instead of turning to their nominal leader they cry aloud to their former chief, come over and help us. When faced for a second time with the Home Rule Bill, its rejection was moved not by Mr. Bonar Law, but by Mr. Balfour. The speech made by him on that occasion was by general consent one of the ablest, most statesmanlike, delivered through a long succession of oratorical successes.

Like Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Balfour has the natural gift, priceless to Prime Ministers, of temporarily laying aside the cares of the day when he has completed its appointed task. Overweighted with access of Ministerial cares, exhausted by delivery of an epoch-making speech in the House of Commons, Mr. Gladstone used to walk home in the early morning to Downing-street, take some light refreshment provided by his watchful wife, glance over a volume something less heavy than a Blue Book, get into bed, and straightway drop off to dreamless sleep. "I always sleep seven hours," he once said to me. "I should like eight, and I could do with ten." Mr. Balfour is an equally good sleeper. A difference in personal habit is marked by a tendency to "take it out" in the mornings. On those week-end visits he frequents the honoured guest rarely appears on the scene long before luncheon hour. Of course such indulgence was not possible whilst he was Prime Minister or actively leading the Opposition. But when he got off to the links of North Berwick, whither he intends to repair when he returns after a month's holiday on the Continent, he habitually permitted himself this recreation.

Amongst other pre-eminent claims to the Premiership Mr. Asquith enjoys this faculty of seizing opportunity to throw aside the cares of State. Like Mr. Balfour, he is a frequent week-ender, a determined diner-out, and an even better golfer. Another resource of mental diversion he finds in a game of bridge. In the darkest days of his fight for law and order in Ireland the late W. E. Forster used to seek Nepenthe in a game at whist, which, according to the testimony of his partners, he played very badly. Mr. Asquith plays bridge as he does all other things to which he puts his hand—exceedingly well.

The most interesting passages in the diary of Lady Shelley, the second volume of which has just been published, are the letters from the Duke of Wellington. There is amongst these, however, nothing to equal the charm of one written to another lady with whom the Duke was on less intimate terms. The story used to be told by G. W. E. Russell in days when he was a habitual and popular diner-out. Seventy years ago there was published a work that had some vogue, called "The Lady's Companion to her Flower Garden." The author, Mrs. Loudon, was an accomplished lady, who wrote not only on floriculture, but on arboriculture and landscape gardening, illustrating what she wrote. In one of her works she desired to insert a sketch of the "Waterloo Beeches" at Strathfieldsaye—a picturesque clump planted to commemorate our deliverance from the Corsican tyrant. Accordingly she wrote to the Duke of Wellington, requesting leave to sketch the beeches, signing herself in her usual form, "J. Loudon." The Duke, who, in spite of extreme age, and with perceptions not quite as clear as they had once been, insisted on doing all his own correspondence, replied as follows: "F.M. the Duke of Wellington presents his compliments to the Bishop of London. The bishop is quite at liberty to make a sketch of the breeches which the Duke wore at Waterloo, if they can be found. But the duke is not aware that they differed in any way from the breeches he generally wears."

THE LONDON STAGE.

STARS AND OTHERS.

II.

(BY ARTHUR MASON.)

The stars of the London stage of to-day are easily to be discovered. They are nearly all actor-managers. Only very occasionally, as in the case of Mrs. Patrick Campbell, just now under the banner of Sir George Alexander—and there really must sometimes be a leading lady as well as a leading man—or Mr. Norman M'Kinnel, one of the most powerful of contemporary actors, do you discover a star who is not also the sun and centre of his playhouse. That the head of the establishment must also be the exponent of its leading roles is more or less a London tradition, of course. Nevertheless, it has led to obvious abuses. For one thing it accounts for many of the play-productions that fail, and for the absence of plays that might conceivably succeed. Many a good play goes unheard because its author did not see fit to write it round the actor-manager, with lavish care for his mannerisms and his methods. For another thing it condemns to secondary roles, and their small chance of distinction, many a gifted actor whose only lack is that of opportunity. Of late, too, it has developed a curious position in that it has established as managers and stars actors who, having no particular claim to that pre-eminence, have yet been able to command the "backing" necessary to assure it to them.

Sometimes, of course, the ambition behind such enterprise is quite soundly based, and the new actor-manager establishes himself. Sometimes the plunge from a comfortably-salaried position to the hazard of management issues in disaster. Sometimes—but very rarely—we meet with such a case as that of Mr. Kenneth Douglas. Mr. Douglas is not what one would call an eminent actor, but for some years now he has been one of the most delightful players of young-man comedy parts on the London stage. He has gone into management recently at the Comedy Theatre, but he is wise enough to have Mr. Norman M'Kinnel in the forefront of his casts, and to place himself in judicious acting subordination to that fine artist.

But, after all, most of the actor-managers are such by right of ability no less than by favour of fortune. Tree, Alexander, Cyril Maude, Hawtrey, Du Maurier, H. B. Irving, Laurence Irving, Martin Harvey, Marie Tempest—no one would be found cavilling at the actor-manager eminence of these. Their abilities in truth very well justify their place in the public eye. Some of them diminish in point of starry brilliance now and then under the extinguisher of an unsuccessful play, and some of them are shining just now in the more or less reflected light of old plays revived for that purpose of their shining. But they are artists well enough.

Tree, for example, and all his failures cheerfully admitted, is essentially a big man—big in ideas, and heroic in execution of them. T. P. O'Connor, writing of him only this week, says he is "one of the most interesting personalities of our times . . . a great actor . . . an unexampled stage producer . . . he has become prosperous after bold and daring experiments, but he is the artist before and above everything else . . . he remains the Peter Pan of the stage, the dreamer that has never become a realist, the man of business that has never ceased to put art before money." That is good praise and high. Tree probably deserves it. After all, he has had many more successes than failures, and year in and year out the pabulum offered at His Majesty's Theatre—the wealth of detail and the splendour of surrounding of every production there, the almost riotous luxuriousness with which a few nights' revival of a Shakesperian play, or an all-star performance, say, of "The School for Scandal," or any production at all, classic or modern, is put up—reveals Tree as an idealist, and atones for much of the personal egotism behind that curious belief of his that he can depict not only Malvolio but Mark Antony, and not only Shylock but Mercutio, or, indeed, any and every one of the great gallery of character portraits he attempts. As a producer of plays, he is somewhat under the ban of the modernists, whom his extravagance of luxury has goaded to a no less extravagance of simplicity. They claim always to deserve the bated breath due to art, but they only partially succeed in impressing the public. The refinements of Mr. Granville Barker's "Twelfth Night," the Elizabethan enthusiasms of Mr. Poel, the esthetic subtleties of Mr. Gordon Craig's stage and scenery, the colour harmonies of Reinhardt's "Sumurun," these things are not likely to be misunderstood by Tree. But he goes on heaping more splendid Pelions upon his Ossas of stage magnificence. Now and again he gets a play worthy of it all. Now and again he gets a part which he plays greatly. But he is always an actor-manager London is proud to possess.

Then there is Sir George Alexander, reposeful at least, and elegant, and generally safe to assure to St. James's Theatre an even performance of good comedy-drama; and there is Mr. Bourchier, as likely as ever, now that he is free from the anxieties of a millionaire's play and its American producer, to fit himself with strong explosive pieces and strong explosive Bourchier parts. And of similarly serious vein, if not so explosive, and no less capable of lighter habit, are the Irvings, of whom you know H. B., and would be well met by Laurence, his brother; and Mr. Martin Harvey, who, after coquetting with a quasi-Elizabethan production of "The Taming of the Shrew," and a peculiarly fantastic "Faun" that was not entirely without its poetry, more recently has been showing once again that while he can play it he will always command a public with his unrivalled Sydney Carton. Then, too, there is Gerald du Maurier, whose success was assured from the first by his gift of natural and unforced exposition of character, and who has now made Wyndham's Theatre a rendezvous where the "House Full" boards are constantly set up in the midst of a very debacle of plays, simply because he has revived a fine old piece in "Diplomacy," and surrounded himself with a brilliant cast for the purpose of playing it for all it is worth. Of lighter calibre in this galaxy of actor-managers, but as high in esteem as any of its stars, are the perennial Charles Hawtrey, Cyril Maude, and Marie Tempest. Hawtrey is still incomparable in his parts. He appeared as something other than his own suave persuasive self a little while ago, but no one would come to see him. After four nights he capitulated, became Hawtrey once again, and crowded his theatre as of yore. Cyril Maude is about to leave us for a 12 months' tour in America. We shall miss his genial fooling, most of all perhaps because the Maude brand of delicate comedy, in which a rapid lightness of stroke conceals a sure and powerful skill of portraiture, is rare. But his playhouse will not be left desolate. On the contrary, it is to be peopled presently by Marie Tempest and her lightning revelations of the whim and waywardness of a delightful fancy. Given a good Marie Tempest part, a part expressive of skilfully coquettish, mischievously vivacious woman, preferably with a hint of seriousness behind the laughter, and a top-dressing of raillery to hide the seriousness, Marie Tempest's petite and swiftly-moving self, and Marie Tempest's voice and gesture, and the light of her quite plain but extraordinarily alive face, will accomplish the rest. Given merely a poor play, she will do for it, as she has been forced to do of late, ever so much more than it deserves. So, while she is there, the Playhouse is assured of sunniness and charm. There is a special brand of Marie Tempest play. Now and again it is written. We are all hoping her new play is it.

But there are other stars who are not actor-managers. There is Ethel Irving, as to whom Australians should need to be told nothing, and who is valued here as an artist of extraordinary range and vision. There is Mrs. Patrick Campbell, still an unrivalled Paula Tanqueray, still beautiful, still walking the stage superbly, still a great actress a-brim with temperament. Some would say there is also Miss Neilson-Terry, but, although she has had star parts showered upon her, and, though she has, undoubtedly, a touch of the stage-intuition of the wonderful Terry family, she seems to me, at any rate, to lack "a gracious somewhat." But she is quite young yet. There is Norman M'Kinnel, probably the strongest and most intense of them all, at his greatest in that he can be tremendously powerful without rant or any other noisiness. And there are Denis Eadie, an actor of extraordinary versatility, and one of the reasons-in-chief for the great run of "Milestones," and Hilda Trevelyan, an ideal Barrie-player, winsome and delightful. And there are others, too—the Vanbrughs, to wit—and still others who are not stars, and whose names even you have never heard, but who are famous in London, nevertheless: sometimes for their playing of big parts, sometimes for their no less distinguished playing of small parts, and justly famous because it is so often they and not the stars who make the reputation of a play.

THE NEW HEBRIDES.

A NARRATIVE OF TRAVEL.

A FAMOUS VOLCANO.

IV.

There are three active volcanoes in the New Hebrides. Each one has its own characteristics, and all are very well worth a visit. Mount Marion, as it is sometimes called, is on the centre of the lovely island of Ambrim, and rises to a height of about 3500ft. The volcano at Tanna is close to the ocean, and its dark and even slope, unrelieved by any sign of vegetation, is in strange contrast with the rich luxuriance of the hill that rises between it and the shore line. Its height is insignificant, but its 600ft of volcanic ash enclose a mighty force of subterranean fires not to be despised as an exhibition of cosmic powers by those familiar with the classic eminence of Vesuvius and Etna. The most impressive of the three, as far as appearances go, is the perfect cone of Loperi, whose 5000ft of altitude towers above the neighbouring islands and asserts a majestic dignity of the most impressive kind. The fiery heart of the earth has on occasion sought other vent than the perennial furnaces of the three great volcanoes mentioned. For instance, about a dozen years ago the ocean in the neighbourhood of Tongoa, a small island about the middle of the group, gave signs of vigorous submarine disturbance, and there shot up from the watery depths the head of a volcano. This messenger from Pluto breathed out slaughter and threatenings for a while and then subsided, leaving a problem for navigators. Then again a similar phenomenon was observed 30 years ago off the southern island of Erromanga. By these incidents one may know that the traveller in the New Hebrides moves over uncertain seas as well as lands, for the vagaries of earthquake and hurricane and volcano leave room for the play of imagination, and add a spice of danger and adventure to a voyage in these regions. It is interesting for Australians to know that this continent of ours is on its northern and eastern shores fringed by a broad band of seismic force, stretching from Sumatra and the Sunda Straits right round and down to New Zealand. Where the volcanic energy will break out in a fresh place it is impossible to tell, and what islands will be born and what may die, none may know. The resident in the New Hebrides, like his similarly-situated vis-a-vis in Italy and Sicily, becomes accustomed to the near neighbourhood of these tremendous power-houses of nature, and notwithstanding the proximity of the active volcano sleeps as soundly at night as the dweller in safer parts of the world. Both the volcanoes of Ambrim and Loperi can behave badly at times. Violent eruptions have within recent memory taken place, and much damage has been done. The former is too far from the sea for close observation by travellers on board ship, although the smoke and fire column is often plainly to be seen for miles around. The latter is too big a proposition to negotiate, for a climb of 5000ft, with what looks like a very fair prospect of never getting there—although it is rumoured some have attempted, and perhaps succeeded—is scarcely within the programme of a traveller on a steamer running to a schedule time.

To ascend Tanna volcano is a simple matter, and can be done in a few hours, with comparative ease and a minimum of fatigue, and when the wind is in the right direction, with little or no risk to life or limb. The hour of ascent should be at night, for then the effect of the fiery colour scheme within the crater is to be obtained. The fires in the heart of the volcano must be seen when the sky is dark, and the mountain sides are black against the ruddy yellow of the blazing lava streams. Approaching the volcano from the shore, having threaded your boat's way through the foaming charm of wave-beaten reefs, you first climb the abrupt and winding path round the sea cliffs' side, until you reach the grassy slopes above. Then having obtained the requisite guides, in the shape of Tanna "boys," who, lantern in hand, precede the party, the way is led into the depths of the forest along a well-marked if uneven path. It is a weird sensation to pass through the dark and leafy tunnels of a land that only a few years ago was filled with some of the most cruel and bloodthirsty cannibals to be found in the Pacific. After traversing the forest for a couple of miles or so one emerges on to the arid plain at the foot of the volcano. The tropic island, with its vivid carpet of wondrous green, is suddenly transformed into a desert. In the darkness of the night the change is notified by the difference underfoot as well as the absence of the leafy canopy overhead, which hitherto has shut out the stars. All the time the volcano has been hurling defiance in the shape of gigantic coughs and grunts, at frequent intervals, and as one looks up towards the summit the luminous smoke tells of the activity of Vulcan at work in the heart of the earth. Presently the rising ground speaks of the ascent begun. In the very dry weather the climb up the sides of the volcano must be very trying to limbs and spirit. The exercise involved in digging your feet into black sand sloping upwards at a difficult angle is strenuous enough even when previous rains have hardened the surface and laid the dust. There is, however, no great difficulty. It is merely a question of plodding perseverance plus a route selected with a view of avoiding so abrupt a steep or unpleasant contact with half-buried rocks, and the top is reached. The crater measures something over a mile in circumference, and is almost circular in shape. The edge from which one gazes into the depths is friable, and due care must be taken as to the spot from which the show is viewed. The infernal powers do not stand on ceremony, for the moving picture of an active volcano is not timed to please the tourist. A glance at the great glowing furnaces some three or four hundred feet below gives at first an impression of disappointment. Of course, it all depends upon the condition of the volcano at the moment of inspection. Sometimes it is simply a seething, bubbling caldron of molten lava, with ever and anon a fountain of fire bursting upwards, and falling in shimmering rivulets of dull vermilion and orange on the dark sides of the mountain. To-night it looks as if some huge smelting works were half employed, only some dozen furnaces being actually in commission. Just as one is tempted to turn away with an expression of indifference, half a dozen of the furnaces break into one solid glow of lurid flame, and with a roar of appalling magnitude the whole springs up to meet you, and involuntarily shrinking back you witness the great geyser of smoke, steam, and igneous dust lifting high above your head, while the more weighty material ejected by the mighty blast falls again into the vortex with the sound of a musketry volley from a thousand guns. That is a sample of volcanic artillery, and the firing has been going on, with variations, at short intervals, for unnumbered years. There is a fascination about this awesome place that keeps the tourist rooted to the spot waiting to see another and just another explosion. It is, of course, all very well when the volcano behaves normally, and when you are fairly sure of the wind; but it becomes quite another story when a fit of eccentricity comes on and the volcano takes to bursting laterally, blowing out a slice of its side, or when a changing wind brings a shower of redhot stones about your ears. There have been times when the best wisdom is to quit, and quit quickly, and there have been occasions when the risks run by the curious have gone to an extreme of folly.

That the southern volcanoes can become exceedingly active is known from the experiences of those who have lived in the New Hebrides for a score of years or so. For example, Dr. Robertson, of Erromanga, tells of an eruption of Loperi in 1898, after a period of quiescence of nearly a quarter of a century. From this eruption the volcanic dust was carried by a northerly gale as far as Erromanga, 140 miles away. It was a veritable onslaught on that fair southern isle, for the black dust covered everything both inside and outside of the houses, and the missionary compound was in a sorry plight. But this is the way of the volcano, certain only in its uncertainty of violence, and terrible beyond conception when in the full course of its fire-belching career. One has only to think of Krakatoa and the outbreak of 30 years ago—an outburst of cosmic force that was felt in every corner of the globe—to realise that in these New Hebridean volcanoes we are witnessing the play of the world-making and world-destroying processes of the universe.

SUFFERED ACUTELY.

"For about three months I suffered acutely from liver trouble," writes Mr. W. H. Capon, "Turilville," Turill, N.S.W. "Mr. T. M'Dermott, of M'Dermott and Son, recommended me to try Chamberlain's Tablets, which I did. They were the only medicine that could relieve me—in fact, they completely cured me very quickly."—Advt.

SOUTH AFRICAN LEADERS.

(BY E. H. C.)

When General Botha, entrusted in May, 1910, with the difficult task of forming the first Union Cabinet, declined Sir Starr Jameson's suggestion that it should be a coalition or best man Ministry, on the ground—surely the strangest one ever adduced under the circumstances—that a strong Opposition was a necessity, not only did he lose a golden opportunity of achieving what Lord Gladstone defined as "the establishing, strengthening, and protecting of the new nationality," upon non-racial lines, but he assumed a leadership entailing gigantic difficulties.

Amongst the men with whom he had to reckon, no doubt, the Honourable John X. Merriman stood first. The son of an English clergyman who held an educational appointment in South Africa, Mr. Merriman has passed his life in that country, the culmination of his distinguished career having been as Prime Minister of the Cape Colony before it was under Union Government. Very naturally, he refused office under Botha, and he remains a free lance upon the Ministerialist side, with a personal following, it is said, of from eight to ten. The stripling of 72, carrying his unusual height with the graceful ease of a well-drilled boy, his well-cut features, tinted by the complexion of a child, under their thatch of snow-white hair, he saunters, hand in pocket, across the floor of the House, occasionally evoking a sharp word from Mr. Speaker, who, though he leans back in the chair, with his fingers linked across a somewhat portly person, and with his eyes closed, has an inconvenient trick of suddenly awaking to snap out a reprimand for some trifling breach of order. Then, Mr. Merriman, looking, it must be owned, slightly supercilious, gracefully subsides into his seat, until he is provoked into using the resources of his racy wit and wonderfully well-stored mind, in the role of candid friend to General Botha.

Amongst those who hold portfolios, General Smuts is universally pronounced to be the "brains of the Cabinet." He is a Cambridge graduate, and to him more than to anyone else, the conception of the Union Constitution is said to be due, yet his real convictions and actual ideals remain more or less a mystery to everyone. Sauer is also equipped with an excellent European education. Both these men tower in intellect above their chief, and neither of them seems to see entirely eye-to-eye with him. Mr. Fischer is believed to cherish an ambition to be Premier himself, and has taken many rests upon the Parliamentary fence during various anxious periods. In personal appearance he is the typical Boer, and is decorated with a bushy grey beard and whiskers. Mr. Malan has lately expressed views far more frankly and unequivocally Imperialistic than General Botha has thus far been betrayed into uttering in South Africa.

Such Ministers must from the first have constituted a difficult team to handle, more especially as General Botha does not strike one as possessing the characteristics of the born leader. Unusually tall and burly, somewhat flabby, with a very white face, and very black hair and beard, his likeness to Mr. Chadband, in whose person one of the Rand newspapers portrays him, is unquestionably striking. He is described as stretching forth a clammy hand, and saying, "Ko-operatie, my friends. Why do I wish for Ko-operatie? Is it war. No. Is it strife? No. It is lovely and gentle and beautiful and pleasant and serene and joyful. Oh yes. Therefore, my friends, I vote for Ko-operatie." Nothing could more happily burlesque the literary style of the South African Premier.

Then, the Opposition, first under the leadership to "Dr. Jim," the beloved Sir Leander Starr Jameson, and since his retirement, owing to ill-health, under that of Sir Thomas Smartt, a well-bred Irishman with a charming smile, a delightful manner, and an earnest, convincing style, the Opposition which includes in its ranks such men as Sir Percy Fitzpatrick, Sir Lionel Phillips, and that well-seasoned Parliamentarian Sir Bisset Berry, and other members of a like stamp, must surely have already proved itself even stronger than Botha can have desired it to be. Further, on the cross benches there are installed a small, but, from the Ministerial point of view, an unpleasant little group, namely, the Labour party. Mr. Creswell is a man of a type not often found in that galere. An Englishman of good family, a public school and University man, he went out to South Africa to practise his profession of mining engineering. In this he was brilliantly successful until he managed to fall foul of the Rand mining magnates. It is said that he has been embittered by some private grievance, and that his choice of party has been dictated rather by expediency than by conviction. However that may be, there is no question that, having decided upon his role, he plays it with his whole heart, manifestly inspiring his followers with absolute confidence. He is still upon the sunny side of the fence dividing youth and middle age. He has a good-looking, if somewhat sardonic face, a charmingly cultivated voice and accent, great alertness of intellect, and a method that rings all the changes between persuasive eloquence and caustic impertinence. No smallest slip on either side of the House escapes his vigilant eye, and he is accused of having monopolised a very unfair share of the time of the present Parliament. Another little section consists of the Natal Independents, amongst whom the shrewd Scotch business element is predominant. They consider Natal to have been treated as the Cinderella of the provinces, and are ready to fight friend and foe in her interests.

But a man's direst foe is often one who lurks within his own gates, and probably the whole House combined has not caused so much disquietude of mind to the Prime Minister as his whilom friend, with whom, as he has recently said, he had shared many bitter experiences during the war, and to whom circumstances constrained him to entrust the portfolio of Justice in the first Union Administration—the lawyer-soldier General J. B. M. Hertzog. That the step was taken against Botha's better judgment has been betrayed to us by Hertzog himself. In March last, when the Ministerialist split had come to be recognised as irretrievable, Hertzog published in the newspapers of the Union a manifesto which contained, amongst other things, extracts from his private diary. Under the date of May 23, 1910, he records:—"Botha informed me that I was to be Minister of Justice, but added nothing further. There is no mistaking the reluctance with which he accepts me as a colleague." Still, accepted he had to be, not merely because he was capable of being so dangerous an enemy, but because, at that juncture, at any rate, he carried with him a compact party of Free State and Transvaal backvelders. These are, for the most part, typical, long-bearded, burly Boers, some of them sitting on the benches behind the Ministers. The majority are quite unable to follow the English speeches; they are indifferent to the Dutch ones for the most part; they occupy themselves with reading, or with gossiping in the lobbies, till the sound of the division bell hurries them rolling back into the Chamber to vote en bloc, in the direction of 'Our Land," and "Our people." They remember that Hertzog is the nominee of ex-President Steyn, and General De Wet; they consider that upon him has descended the mantle of Paul Kruger, and they are content to walk by faith and not by sight.

Thus it came about that when on November 4, 1910, the Duke of Connaught opened the first Union Parliament, in the dignified House of Assembly, a part of which had served as a home for Cape Colony legislation, and when by his gracious bearing, no less than by his tactful speeches, he had preached the gospel of fusing the aims and interests of the two sections of the community, one of the first to take a seat upon the Ministerial benches was the declared apostle of racialism.

General Hertzog was born some 40 odd years ago of comparatively humble parentage, at Wellington, within 50 miles of Capetown. He early showed himself possessed of no mean abilities, and his father determined not to spare any effort for the advancement of his son. In course of time he was sent to the South African College in Capetown, and subsequently to Amsterdam University. Even then, it is said, he manifested a strong distaste for everything British, visiting England seldom and reluctantly. He qualified in law, and practised it with success upon his return to South Africa, ultimately rising to the position of a Judge. In private life he is reported to possess great charm and fascination. His figure is dapper and well-made, and his face is a decidedly striking one. He has the high, narrow forehead of the fanatic, the strong, upward-tilting chin of the self-assertive man, glittering dark eyes, reinforced by glasses, a dark moustache, and a generally well-groomed aspect.

Since leaving the Cabinet last December, Hertzog, on the few occasions he has addressed the House, has spoken invariably in Dutch, no doubt of set purpose, and as a direct appeal to his own particular faction. It is not, therefore, very easy to criticise the quality of his oratory, because speeches suffer much by translation, but listening and looking down from the members' gallery, a despicable Briton even can hardly fail to appreciate the impressive, persuasive earnestness of the well modulated voice, the easy grace and freedom of the frequent gestures, the unhampered fluency of diction characterising the man who, for the last few months, has occupied the central position upon the stage of South African politics.

SOCIAL.

All contributions and accounts of weddings or other social entertainments intended for the "Social" Column in Saturday's issue should reach this office not later than Friday morning, and be fully endorsed.

Beautiful weather prevailed during the past week, and the absence of the strong westerly winds was much appreciated and enjoyed. Our Australian spring, we are told officially, begins on Monday next, September 1, when we in New South Wales will, for the fifth time, celebrate "Wattle" Day. The glorious golden blossom is to be sold in the streets for charity, to raise funds for the free kindergartens, for the benefit of little children and the training college, and we feel sure those who offer the flowers will be well repaid for their labour of love.

The selling of flowers for charity in the streets is an innovation in Sydney; but in London, in Vienna, in Holland, in Melbourne, and Adelaide, and many other places it has been done with great success. Only those wearing the yellow badges marked "Kindergarten Union" will have permission to sell the golden blossom. Mrs. Gordon Craig has kindly lent her car for the day, and Madame Genee has generously consented to sell wattle from the car, in which she will be accompanied by some of the kindergarten students. Hundreds of wattle trees are to be planted, many in the Centennial Park, and reference to our national flower will be made in all the Public schools. In the evening the annual meeting of the "Wattle Day" League will be held at the King's Hall, at which Sir William Cullen will speak; also the Minister of Agriculture, and Mrs. Mackinnon, and a musical programme will be contributed by Miss Lynn Mills, Mr. Godfrey Smith, and Mr. Cyril Monk.

Lady Edeline Strickland presided at an executive meeting of the National Council for Women on Thursday afternoon, and also presided at a drawing-room meeting yesterday afternoon, to consider proposals for raising funds in aid of the several charities under the heading of the United Charities Organisation. Both meetings were held at State Government House, and the visitors were subsequently entertained at afternoon tea. Amongst those present were:—The Lord Mayor, the Lady Mayoress, Lady Barton, Lady Cullen, Sir Charles and Lady Mackellar, Mr. Stinson, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ward, Madame Genee, Mrs. Holman, Mrs. Carmichael, Mrs. Thomas Hughes, Lady Stephen, Mrs. David Hall, Mrs. A. W. Meeks, Lady Hay, Mrs. Hugh Dixson, Mrs. Thornett, Mrs. Leonard Dodds, Mrs. Barff, Mrs. MacCallum, Mrs. Anderson Stuart, Mr. W. G. Layton, Mrs. Earp, Mrs. Kendall, Mrs. Airey, Mrs. Rabett, and many others connected with the charities. At Mr. Hugh Ward's suggestion, it was decided to hold a "rose" day on October 18, when fresh roses will be sold in Sydney and the suburbs for the united charities. Other suggestions are also under consideration for raising funds for this very praiseworthy object.

Madame Nordica gave two delightful concerts during the week, and upon each occasion was most beautifully dressed. Her diamonds and her emeralds are magnificent, the latter jewels in the form of a wonderful necklace, and a dazzling diamond and emerald ornament for the hair, in addition to a blaze of diamond chains, crescent, bangles, and large single-stone earrings added a scintillating and lustrous beauty to the exquisite white dress which was so handsomely trimmed with diamante and crystal bugle emboidery, worn on Wednesday night.

The "What to Do With Our Girls" Exhibition, to be held in the Town Hall from September 17 to 27, is already attracting much interest. It will be the third demonstrational exhibition given by the members of the Girls' Realm Guild, and Miss Grace Burrows has been busy for weeks past organising the exhibition and bazaar. A model bungalow, in the basement hall, will be fitted up with many labour-saving devices; model dairy, bee-keeping, poultry rearing, all branches of horticulture, pottery, arts and crafts, kindergarten demonstrations, and a hundred and one ways for a woman to earn her living, will all be on view, and much else of general interest. Several dinner parties have already been arranged, and the cooking will be done by the girls. The exhibition will be formally opened on Wednesday, September 17, at the Town Hall.

Lady Cullen presided at the annual meeting of the Sydney Day Nursery Association, held at the Town Hall yesterday afternoon. The annual report and the balance-sheet were submitted, and the office-bearers and committee for the ensuing year elected. The inestimable boon the day nursery is to poor working women can hardly be over-estimated. There are on an average 27 children cared for daily at the nursery by the matron and two nurses. The present nursery at Darlington has been found too small, and in October it will be moved into a new home at Forest Lodge. Mothers pay the small sum of 3d a day for the care of their little ones, who are provided also with food. The Government contributes a subsidy of £250 a year, which, with private donations, and funds raised by an annual ball, and other entertainments, help to keep this most deserving institution.

In connection with the recent ball in aid of St. Vincent's Hospital, held in the Town Hall last Tuesday evening, it may be of interest to those who have only read of the ball to know that the prizes (which were awarded by gallery vote, and therefore rather late in the evening before being announced) were awarded as follows:—The beautiful "Black and White" set arranged by Mrs. George Sly won the first prize; the "Newspapers" set, so cleverly carried out and arranged by Mrs. Neil Macdonald, was awarded the second prize; and the third was presented to the picturesque "Watteau" set arranged by Mrs. Ronald Forbes. The box of chocolates raffled by Miss Grace Palotta was won by Mrs. Mark Sheldon. Late in the evening Madame Genee was present at the ball, and appeared in fancy dress as a celebrated dancer (Mdlle. Prevost) of 1710, in which character, we believe, Madame Genee made her first public appearance. The dress was of rich green and gold brocade, handsomely embroidered with jewels, with which she wore an auburn-coloured wig.

A ball in aid of the Crown-street Women's Hospital will be held in the Paddington Town Hall on Monday next. The Lady Mayoress, Mrs. A. A. Cocks, is the president of the ball committee; and Mrs. C. G. Wade the vice-president. Mrs. Packer and Mrs. D. Davis are the hon. trustees, and Mrs. Chris. Taylor and Mrs. T. E. B. Russell the hon. secretaries.

To meet Madame Genee, Mr. and Mrs. Devereux invited a number of friends to afternoon tea at the Hotel Australia last Monday. Amongst the guests were the Lady Mayoress, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Layton, Miss Eadith Walker, Mrs. Toohey, Mr. and Mrs. E. Beerbohm, Mrs. Hugh Ward, Mrs. G. L. Goodman, Mrs. A. Macdonald, Mrs. H. Morton, Mrs. H. Knowles, Mrs. Alice Hay, Miss Burdekin, Miss Parkes, Mr. C. Danvers, Mrs. R. Manning, and Mrs. and Miss Caro. The hostess wore a pervenche blue ninon over satin, trimmed with lace, and a hat to match, and a silk embroidered crepe scarf. Madame Genee's white grass lawn was handsomely embroidered and trimmed with heavy lace, and finished with an effective black sash. She was presented with a posy of pansies by Miss Mercia Swinburne.

The Society of Women Painters' exhibition closed on Wednesday afternoon, when the members acted as hostesses, and entertained a large number of friends. On Monday afternoon Mrs. Alfred Lee and Mrs. Leonard Dodds were the hostesses, and invited about 200 friends to tea. During the afternoon an enjoyable programme of music and singing was contributed by Miss Drummond, Messrs. W. Addison and Southey. The visitors included Mrs. and Miss Roth, Mrs. Coles, Mrs. Dawkins, Mr. and Mrs. L. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest, Mrs. L. Dobbin, Mrs. Crossley, Mrs. Rowe, Miss Rose Scott, Mrs. Youl, Mrs. Edwards, Miss Thea Cowan, Mrs. and Miss Randal, Mrs. E. F. Waddy, Mrs. Lloyd, Mrs. Selwyn Smith, Madame Reichenbach, Madame de Possel, Mrs. Triggs (Melbourne), Miss Gerber, Mrs. R. Little, Mrs. Waugh, Mrs. Fitzhardinge, Mrs. Pritchard Bassett, Mrs. and Miss Shard, Miss M. Moon, the Misses Willoughby Flower, Mrs. M. Severn, Mrs. W. Lowe, Mr. Norman Lowe, Mrs. Walford, Mrs. H. Braund, Mlle. Chantard, Miss Gladys Owen, Miss Rochway, Miss de Cairos, Rego, Miss Lethbridge, Miss Waugh, and Miss Paul.

The members of the Musical Association gave another of their enjoyable "at homes" in the King's Hall on Tuesday evening, when there was a large attendance. The Musical Association is doing much for the music lovers of Sydney, and the excellent programme on Tuesday evening included contributions by Mr. Godfrey Smith, Mr. Bryce Carter, and by the Austral Quartet, the Messrs. Cyril Monk, L. D. Hage, S. Vost Janssen, and Carl Gotsch. The entertainment was the ninth "at home" given by the association, and proved one of the most enjoyable.

To meet Miss Hill, the newly-appointed general secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, Mrs. Edward Sully (president) invited a large number of friends and the members to be present at an "at home" at the Y.W.C.A. Hall last night.

A wedding of much local interest took place in St. Augustine's Church, Neutral Bay, last Saturday, August 23, when the Rev. G. North-Ash solemnised the marriage of his only son, the Rev. Egerton Augustine North-Ash, with Miss Jessie Jane Garde, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Garde, Castlemartyr, Guard-street, Neutral Bay. The service was full choral, and the church beautifully decorated with arum lilies, palms, and satin and tulle wedding bells, by girls friends. The bride was given away by her father, and were ivory charmeuse satin, with an overdress of silk lace and a court train, trimmed with orange blossom, also a veil, lent by her sister, Mrs. K. V. Hume, and wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of hyacinths and freesias, and wore a diamond ring, the gift of the bridegroom, and a gold pendant, the gift of the bridegroom's mother, and turquoise and pearl earrings, the gift of her mother. The bridesmaid, Miss Leslie Grant Cooper, wore white hailstone muslin and a white hat, and carried a posy of sweet peas, which, with a gold bangle, was the gift of the bridegroom. After the ceremony the bride's parents held a reception at the residence of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Malbon Thompson, Cothill, Waters-road, Neutral Bay, where the happy couple, standing beneath a wedding bell, received the congratulations of their friends, and the wedding breakfast was served. The presents were numerous and costly. Later the happy pair left by motor amidst a shower of rice and confetti for Sylvania, where the honeymoon is being spent. The guests were numerous, and included:—The Rev. R. Waugh, Dr. and Mrs. Shirlow, Mr. and Mrs. Spiller, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Gainford, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Tearne, Miss Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Moon, Mr. Benbow, Mr. Mrs. and Miss Borchardt, Mr. Russell Crane, and Mr. and Mrs. Baly.

On Tuesday, August 26, Godfrey Russell, son of the Rev. Edwin Pope, of Latchington Rectory, Essex, England, was married to Nellie Ethel, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Cooper Day, at St. Peter's, Neutral Bay. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. Davies, chaplain of the North Shore Grammar School, and the service was full choral, the choristers from St. Peter's and St. Clement's, Mosman, taking part. The church was beautifully decorated by girl friends, a wedding bell being suspended over the bridal couple. The bride was given away by her father, and wore white satin de soie, made with a court train, and trimmed with chiffon and Limerick lace, and a lace veil was arranged over a wreath of orange blossom. She carried a shower bouquet of blush roses, and also wore a Southern Cross pearl brooch, the gift of the bridegroom, who also gave her a set of fox furs. The bridesmaids, Miss Stanger Leathes and Miss Dorothea Day (bride's cousin), were dressed alike in white muslin, with cerise belts and Marie Antoinette caps of white tulle and lace, with cerise bows. Their showers bouquets of cerise sweet pea and mosaic brooches were gifts from the bridegroom. Mr. Russell Pope was best man, and the bride's brother, Mr. Harry Day, was groomsman. A reception was afterwards held at Reydon, Neutral Bay, which was decorated with flags outside and pink and white flowers within. A wedding bell and floral horseshoe were placed in the hall, where Mr. and Mrs. Day received the guests, and Mr. and Mrs. Pope were heartily congratulated by their many friends. The bride left for her honeymoon wearing a cream whipcord coat and skirt, with touches of cerise, and a Tagal hat en suite. Mr. and Mrs. Pope leave for England to-day in the R.M.S. Orsova.

On Saturday, August 16, at St. Clement's Church, Mosman, Ernest W., son of Mr. and Mrs. Farey, was married to Irene Letitia (Renie), only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Leech, by the Rev. Clive Yarrington). The church was beautifully decorated with white flowers and palms. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore white duchesse mousseline, with a point lace overdress, and her Limerick lace veil (lent by a friend) was arranged over a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and asparagus fern, which, with a set of black fox furs, was the gift of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids were Miss Gladys Bryant, cousin of the bride, Miss Violet Farey, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Daphne Moffatt. They wore palest pink crepe de Chine, with Limerick lace overdresses and caps. Two little girls, the Misses Marjorie Gardner and Marjorie Henry, were also in attendance, prettily dressed in palest pink satin and shadow lace fichus and caps. Each carried a posy of pink sweet pea, and wore a gold bangle, gifts of the bridegroom. Mr. David Dunne acted as best man; and Messrs. Laurie Leech and Alexander as groomsmen. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. A. Leech held a reception at the Masonic Hall, Spit-road, where the breakfast was served. Later, the bridal couple left for a honeymoon tour of the States. Mrs. Farey's going-away dress was hydrangea blue crepe de Chine, blue aerophane hat, with lancer plumes.

The marriage of Mr. Herbert Short Fraser, eldest son of the late Mr. Stewart Fraser and Mrs. Fraser, of Waitotara, Sloane-street, Summer Hill, with Miss Erminie Ada Skinner, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Skinner, of Hilton, Toothill-street, Lewisham, was solemnised at Holy Trinity Church, Dulwich Hill, on Wednesday afternoon, August 27, in the presence of a large number of guests and spectators. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. A. Chambers, M.A. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a beautiful ivory duchesse charmeuse, with an overdress of ninon and Brussels lace, ornamented with crystals and sprays of orange blossoms. Her plain tulle veil (which was kindly lent by Mrs. Short, of Strathfield) was embroidered with silk, and beneath it was arranged a wreath of orange blossoms. A shower bouquet and a handsome aquamarine and pearl pendant were the gifts of the bridegroom. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Bessie Skinner, who wore ivory crepe-de-chine, softly draped with satin charmeuse. Her hat was of white aerophane, trimmed with small bunches of white daisies, with white satin streamers. She carried a shower bouquet of shell pink sweet peas, and wore a cameo and pearl pendant, the gifts of the bridegroom. Mr. Allison was best man. After the ceremony the wedding party adjourned to the Empire Hall, where Mr. and Mrs. Skinner held a reception, and the newly-married couple were heartily congratulated. Later Mr. and Mrs. Fraser left for the mountains, the bride travelling in a nattier blue crepe-de-Chine, with a pale apricot crepe-de-Chine hat, and amber coloured rose mount.

The bride's travelling dress was a cream and black striped coat and skirt, and a white aerophane hat, with an upstanding pink rose.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Crowe, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Crowe, of The Bungalow, Lefevre-terrace, North Adelaide, South Australia, and Mr. Sydney Raymond Norris, of Auckland, New Zealand, third son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Norris, The Breakers, Manly, New South Wales, took place at St. Cyprian's Church, North Adelaide, on Wednesday afternoon, August 20. The Rev. W. Wragge officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a simple dress of ivory liberty satin, made with a draped skirt, and pointed train. The veil was worn, arranged in cap fashion on the head, and finished with a wreath of orange blossom. She carried a sheaf of arum lilies, presented by the bridegroom. Master Kenneth Norris Stonier, the five-year-old nephew of the bridegroom, acted as page. Miss Nora Crowe and Miss Edith Norris were bridesmaids. The former in a porcelain blue liberty satin, the bodice being of flesh pink satin and duchess lace veiled in ninon. Her hat was of black aerophane, with a large cerise rose at the back. Miss Norris was in lime yellow liberty satin, and had a swathed belt of pale pink and touch of blue. The hat was a black tulle, with a wreath of tiny pink roses and full crown of floral ninon, with two large pink roses standing upright at the back. They carried posies of pale pink hyacinths and double stocks, presented by the bridegroom, as also were a Nellie Stewart bangle to Miss Crowe and a pair of tourmaline and pearl earrings to Miss Norris. Mr. F. Macintyre, of Melbourne, was best man, and Mr. Duncan M'Pherson groomsman. A reception was subsequently held at The Bungalow, the residence of the bride's parents. The guests, numbering about 80, were received by Mr. and Mrs. Crowe, and Mrs. F. Stonier (the bridegroom's sister). Refreshments were served in a large marquee, a string band being stationed in the garden. Later Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Norris left by the express en route for Sydney and New Zealand, the bride going away in a coat and skirt of dark wedgwood blue whipcord, and a small black hat of aerophane, with loops of cerise ribbon velvet and roses at the back. The bridegroom presented the bride with a set of squirrel furs. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Crowe gave a dance to about 80 young people.

In Sydney on Tuesday, August 26, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Norris held a reception at the Patriotic Clubrooms, Bligh-street, to meet Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Norris before their departure for their future home in Auckland, New Zealand. About 80 relatives and friends were present. Mr. F. Stonier arranged a musical programme, to which Misses Chorley, Mr. W. Reginald Gooud, and Miss Una Flower contributed.

On Wednesday last, at the Stubbo Church, the marriage of Miss Theresa Anna Butler, eldest daughter of Mr. Thomas Butler and the late Mrs. Butler, of Annadale, Stubbo, with Mr. James Grimshaw, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Grimshaw, also of Stubbo, was solemnised by the Rev. A. H. Grubble. The bride was given away by her father, and wore a cream Sicilian trimmed with silk applique and Chantilly lace, with a wreath and veil, and carried a beautiful bouquet of choice white flowers, a gift from the bridegroom. Miss Grace Butler was bridesmaid; and Mr. R. Butler was best man. The church was prettily decorated by girl friends with ferns and blossoms for the occasion. Later Mr. and Mrs. Grimshaw left for their future home at Dunedoo.

A double wedding took place in St. John's Roman Catholic Church on Wednesday, 26th instant, when the Rev. Father O'Donnell solemnised the marriages of Mr. M'Manus with Miss Turvey, and Mr. Lachey with Miss A. Turvey. Miss M'Manus and Miss Lachey were bridesmaids, with two trainbearers, the Misses Camilus and Winnie Naughton. Both brides were dressed in cream crepe de Chine, with wreaths and veils. The breakfast was held in the Centennial Hotel, where a large number of guests were entertained.

The Jewish Literary and Debating Society's eleventh annual ball, held on Monday evening, August 25th, was a great success, the attendance numbering about 300. The decorations were carried out in pale pink, with palms, and trails of smilax intertwined with pink roses and shaded lights, and buttercups for the supper-room decorations. The ball committee included:—President, Mrs. Francis L. Cohen; vice-president, Mrs. A. Blashki; and the secretary, Miss Grace Blumenthal. On the general committee were Mrs. M. Blashki, Mrs. Starfield, the Misses E. Cohen, L. L. Marks, H. Harris, R. Solomons, M. Diamond, L. Solomons, L. Zeons, K. Lazarus, R. Green. There were also present: Mr. Stanley O. Benjamin, president; Mr. E. Baruch, vice-president; Mr. A. Shackel, treasurer; and Mr. Roy Blashki, secretary; Messrs. Alroy M. Cohen, H. Wolff, L. A. Harris, and M. Goldstein, Rabbi Cohen, the president of the Synagogue; Mr. A. Blashki, P. Benjamin, Eric Blashki, Stedman, M. Blashki, H. Cohen, J. Hart, M. Marks, Mrs. Loewenthal, the Misses Marks, Hart, Goldman, Gladys Loewenthal, N. Blumenthal, and Dulcie Cohen.

An "impromptu dance" took place at the Mosman Town Hall last Friday week. Mrs. Leahy entertained the ladies and gentlemen who took part in the "fancy sets" at the recent ball in aid of the Womens' and Children's Hospital, North Sydney. Amongst those present were the Mayor and Mayoress of Mosman (Mr. and Mrs. W. Pigott), Alderman and Mrs. E. Macdonald, Dr. and Mrs. Kelly, Dr. and Mrs. Phipps, Dr. and Mrs. Cambage, Dr. and Mrs. M. Curtis, Dr. and Mrs. Benjafield, Dr. and Mrs. Maclean, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Spark, Mr. and Mrs. Deery, Mr. and Mrs. Woolland, Mr. and Mrs. Arlward, Mr. and Mrs. Norman, Mr. and Mrs. Buttery, Mr. and Mrs. Casper, Mr. and Mrs. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Reay, Mr. and Mrs. Susman, Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Kitching, Mr. and Mrs. Moffatt, Mr. and Mrs. Ickerson, Mrs. Taylor, Matrons O'Connor and Rotherham, Mesdames Scott, Pascoe, Carver, Packer, the Misses Coffee, Bourke, Dixson, Conway, Henderson, O'Sullivan, Corlis, Durack, Rolls, Clark, Aylward, Scott, Dr. Lentaigne, Messrs. Hay, Fraser, Fotheringham, Heaphy, Carroll, Mason, Fleming, Edwards, Gray, Cole, Rolls, Purse, and many others. During the evening the Mayor of Mosman, on behalf of the ladies and gentlemen of the "fancy sets," presented Mrs. Leahy with a handsome gilt timepiece, suitably inscribed, as a token of appreciation and esteem. Mrs. Moffatt was also the recipient of a silver cake basket from the members of her fancy set. The dance was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

CAUGHT COLD AFTER DANCING.

"Through not wrapping up after a dance my sister and I both got bad colds," says Miss Bertha Scott, 56 Fitzgerald-street, North Perth, W.A. "Father stocks Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and as it had done him so much good when he had a cold we thought we would try it. It gave immediate relief, and quickly cured us, and now we always recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to our customers."—Advt.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

The Way to be Well is to Keep the Kidneys Well.

What a lot of backache there is among women! And little wonder. A woman's work and care and worry are enough to break down a much stronger constitution than is given to most women—or men either, for the matter of that. The kidneys are invariably the first to feel the strain. And they let their needs be known, too, very promptly. Backache is the cry for help. The cry of the sick kidneys. Doan's Backache Kidney Pills—the special kidney medicine—give the suffering kidneys just the help needed; they drive out of the body all the liquid poisons, giving freedom of action and new life to the kidneys, and ridding the blood of the impurities which spoil your sleep at night, and make you feel drowsy, heavy, and heartless all day. Thus, by bringing the kidneys back to health, the genuine Doan's Backache Kidney Pills drive away the cause of Dropsy, Urinary Troubles, Gravel, Rheumatism, Stone, Sciatica, Nervous Ills, and Depression. Read the following cases of Sydney people who have been made well" by Doan's Backache Kidney Pills:—

SYDNEY TESTIMONY.

Here are 4 instances, no room for more, but we have Hundreds like them:—

BALMAIN.

Mr. S. Boyd, 9 Nicholson-street, Balmain, says:—"For twenty years I have suffered with my back, caused, I think, by my kidneys. A little over two years ago I seemed to collapse altogether. It was the worst bout of backache that I ever had. I was completely done up. I began taking everything that I could hear of, but the complaint proved very obstinate. At last a friend advised me to try Doan's Backache Kidney Pills. I got this remedy, and ten bottles effected a permanent cure. It was a really good cure, for I had been bad for so long. I am quite satisfied that Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are the cure for backache."

Mrs. Boyd confirms the above nine years later:—"My husband has had no return of backache for nine years. His lasting cure proves that Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are thorouhgly genuine."

ARTARMON.

Mrs. A. E. Bruce, "Omapere," Broughton-road, Artarmon, Sydney, says:—"I suffered for a long time with severe pains in my back. They were so bad that I could scarcely move about. Rest was out of the question. I would be tossing about all night, moaning with the pain. I could not bend my back, and I had to neglect my work. I was really very ill, and would be confined to bed for days at a time. I saw Doan's Backache Kidney Pills advertised as a cure for backache, and procured a bottle. After a few doses I got relief, and then gradually I got better, until I was quite cured. This did not happen yesterday, but two years ago, and I am still well."

Five years later Mrs. Bruce says:—"Doan's Backache Kidney Pills cured me of backache seven years ago, and I have been free of this ailment ever since."

GRANVILLE.

Mr. W. James, A'Beckett-street, Granville, says:—"I strained my back when I was quite a lad, and ever since I have suffered greatly from backache. I tried all kinds of remedies, but only with temporary relief. My work used to be very laborious, and I have had to leave it at times on account of the intense pain. However, Doan's Backache Kidney Pills cured the backache and strengthened my back. I always tell friends who suffer from bad backs to try Doan's Backache Kidney Pills; they are certain to give relief. It is two years since I used the pills, so my cure has been well tested."

Mr. James confirms his previous statement, two years later, and says:—"I am still free of the torture of backache, and have been since Doan's Backache Kidney Pills cured me four years ago."

PHILLIP-STREET.

Mrs. P. J. English, 139A Phillip-street, Sydney, says:—"About six years ago I commenced to suffer with kidney disease; at times I was so bad that I had to take to my bed. I used plasters, etc., trying for a cure, but nothing did me any good. Hearing Doan's Backache Kidney Pills spoken of as excellent for kidney trouble, lead me to try them. They completely cured me, and during the past three years I have been perfectly well. I can sincerely recommended other sufferers to use them."

Two years later Mrs. English confirms her previous statement:—"Doan's Backache Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble over five years ago, and I have been well ever since. I have recommended this remedy to scores of people, and they all speak well of them."

ROYAL ART SOCIETY.

ANNUAL EXHIBITION

STRONG IN PORTRAITURE.

AUSTRALIAN LANDSCAPES.

Visitors to the private view to-day of the Royal Art Society's 34th annual exhibition will find it strong in portraiture, and in Australian landscapes. In the former division the successes are all made in the case of good subjects by Norman Carter, J. S. Watkins, J. A. Bennett, Max Meldrum, and Lawson Balfour, almost the only exception being James R. Jackson's "The Red Parasol," which is also one of the pictures of the year. The faithful translation of Australian landscape to canvas will be noted in W. Lister-Lister's "Canberra," an historic theme he treats also with charm in water-colours; and Mr. Jackson rivals the president in the space he requires to show this beautiful site of the capital of the future. Mr. Hans Heysen's pastoral themes in water-colour exquisitely reveal nature through the veil of romance; Mr. J. J. Hilder gazes upon a bush scene at twilight, and builds thereon a Vision of Night, and Mr. C. W. Worsley is dominated by his love of the picturesque. The principal seascape must be credited to Will Ashton for a large and luminous study, and Mr. Leslie Beer has taken a big step forward in his poetic glance at Sydney Harbour; Mr. George J. Coates heads the figure-painters in virtue of his captivating style in the representation of an actress before the curtain; Mr. Datillo-Rubbo stands very high this year in the same direction, pathos as ever making its appeal to the spectator; and a hitherto somewhat unregarded, but painstaking artist, J. Muir Auld, seems to have found himself in a rather wonderful way in the same division; whilst, finally, a new exhibitor, H. Septimus Power, proves vigorous and strong in the delineation of horses and birds. The mere fact that so many artists should contribute noteworthy works points to a show above the average; and such is the case. The defect of all these exhibitions—a general absence of purely imaginative, or historical, or genre subjects—still exists. The usual allegorical or classical contribution which Mr. Watkins has been accustomed to make with varying success from year to year, is regrettably omitted. There is an unavoidable tendency to criticise such efforts with severity, because the ideal of the artist is seldom reached, and this, acting and re-acting, probably deters those who have the talent for such work from the risk of sending any in.

Touring the gallery from the starting-point indicated by the official catalogue, two new names at once meet the eye. Edith R. Woolf is responsible for two portraits, of which the head of an old man, the lined face beneath a glow of warm light, is clever; and near by hangs "Grain Elevators at Work in London Docks" (No. 7), by Dora Meeson (Mrs. Coates), a prosaic conglomeration of barges on sullen waters, happily poetised by the effect of wintry light against the skyline at the back. Mr. J. S. Watkins is represented solely by portraiture. He is quite at his best in two subjects. The first shows the late Mr. Broinowski, a Polish naturalist and art teacher, in which the gentle refinement of the face and the transparency of the flesh tones so suggestive of the frailty of extreme age are felicitously expressed; the other is a strong and convincing portrait of Mrs. Rankin. Mention should also be made of the more youthful contours of Mrs. W. A. Holman beneath a plumed hat, which gives the effect of some boyish cavalier of the 17th century. A new contributor, Rose Lowcay, treats with sympathy "Winter" (No. 15), with coming snow suggested in the sky behind the tracery of leafless branches. Yet another new member is Max Meldrum, whose several landscapes are quite put in the shade by his work in portraiture, as more especially revealed in No. 70. This head of a woman, with a mantilla on the shoulders, shows the flesh tones in shadow, a characteristic of his manner elsewhere, and is painted almost in the style of an old master. Mr. J. A. Bennett makes a hit with his strongly vivid portrait of the Rev. J. Kemp Bruce, and in a more picturesque vein he reproduces the silvery masses of hair and handsome countenance of Dr. Marden, wearing his scarlet and pale blue hood and black gown. One of the important works in the gallery is Mr. Norman Carter's "A Lady in Black and Grey" (No. 31), the kindly smiling face full of vitality and expression, and the rich low tones very harmonious. This is understood to be a portrait of the painter's mother, and therefore also of those well-known musicians, F. Mowat Carter and Bryce Carter.

H. Septimus Power, a Melbourne artist, newly returned from England, whose "The Staghunt, Exmoor," has just been acquired by the Melbourne Art Gallery for £300 through the Felton bequest, is well and variously represented. "Young England" (No. 20), a merry little girl with an expansive grin, whose riding-crop is in one hand, and her pony held by the other, is painted with the purposeful vigour that marks this artist's manner. In the watercolour division, the superbly rich plumage of his "Macaws" (No. 98) and the "character" and spirit of the three horses which stand at "The Drinking Place" (No. 99), show how strong he is in the lighter medium. Mr. Leslie Beer's large work, "Sydney Harbour" (No. 35) is decidedly attractive in its happy treatment of the open rocky space above a fringe of trees, beyond which lies the blue water. Steamers momentarily obscure with their smoke the fleecy clouds in a wonderful blue sky—the whole scene breezy and true to nature. Mr. Percy F. S. Spence, in "The Crest of the Hill" (No. 37), in which horses approach the spectator from the mill behind, shows his power of investing with an intimate charm a homely rustic scene. Mr. James R. Jackson comes to the front with his portrait-subject, "The Red Parasol," a woman in the fashion of the day with a broad-brimmed hat, which throws the face in shadow except for minute spots of light on nose and lips. The charm of the work is not due to the subject, but to the finish of the technique. The same artist sends in "Canberra," an immense canvas (approximately 12ft x 6ft), showing a vast expanse of country, the church and village, farms dotted about, and the blue hills on the horizon. There is some lack of atmosphere in the middle distance, and the foreground is somewhat affectedly Streeton-esque, but, as a whole, the work is vigorously winning and effective.

Mr. W. Lister Lister is equally expansive in his beautiful view of "The Winding Molonglo, Canberra," wherein the whole scene is suffused with sunlight from the typical white gums in the foreground to the wide-spread pastures over which the shadows pass towards the distant foothills. In this fine work, the site of the future capital is in the right-hand corner of the canvas. Historic interest also surrounds two other Canberra scenes by this artist in his water-colour group, in both of which the future capital will be placed on the extreme left. These scenes are in Mr. Lister's best manner, rich and deep and clear in their colouring, and in every way full of charm. "When the Tide is Out" (No. 112), with the distant ocean rippling on the shore, the pools and isolated rocks finely studied on a great foreground of sand, and a haze over sea and sky, is a finely characteristic example of Mr. Lister's style, and in other ways the president is well represented.

Mr. J. Muir Auld, now one of the prominent exhibitors of the year, sends in "A Difference of Opinion" (No. 60), in which a bride leans her head upon the pillow of a couch as she gazes sadly out into the beyond, whilst in the background stands the figure of the young husband. The wife's refined type of beauty, and the painter's art in handling low-toned whites (as exemplified in the gown of this and of No. 63), give charm to a composition generally of much excellence, more especially as regards the foreground. "Inspiration" (No. 63), a girl seated in profile with her violin upended on her knee, is another captivating work of importance; and No. 65 will be admired. Mr. Sid Long's "Evening" (No. 51) illustrates his poetic and rather fantastic conception of Nature and he sends in quite a number of small water-colours that claim passing attention. Mr. Datillo-Rubbo strengthens the collection in many ways. "The Strike's Aftermath" (No. 53), acquired by the trustees of the National Art Gallery, shows imagination and sympathy behind the able technique which depicts the dejected miner who sits at home, his pick and shovel idly by, pondering over the failures of the past. "The Ruling Passion" (No. 54), in which half-a-dozen men of all ages and varied character play cards at a small table, in its admirable composition and lighting is one of the finest things the Italian painter has yet achieved. Mr. James Ashton is successful in reflecting the serenity of a sea-scene, with breaking waves, entitled "The Jetty," and he truly reproduces the indigo-blue of the "Indian Ocean" (No. 68), with the gleams of a tropical sunset faintly tinting the slow-moving billows. Almost the same subject is beautifully treated by Mr. Will Ashton in No. 82, "In the Great Australian Bight," luminous touches from the roseate clouds that hang in an otherwise clear sky falling upon the heaving waves.

Mr. George J. Coates sends in a strong and charming figure-subject, "Miss Christine Silver Taking a Call" (No. 75), in which the young actress, standing before the curtain in a shot silk gown of iridescent colours, purple blossoms gathered on her arm, looks up towards the gallery with an unaffected smile that touches the heart. This fine work will be vastly admired. Mr. Lawson Balfour's chief picture is a lifelike presentment of Sir Normand MacLaurin, M.D., the colouring and expression true to nature, the head possibly too large, but the whole an engaging work. Mention should be made also of the same artist's portrait of Mrs. W. J. Curtis, cleverly handled, the expression of the fine blue eyes unaffected, and the silky texture of the fair hair skilfully suggested. Mr. D. G. Reid's "The Brimming River" (No. 78), with its foreground of flower-besprinkled meadow, wins the eye; Mr. R. M. Ronald succeeds in the beautiful theme "Misty Evening, Macleay River"; Mr. Percy F. S. Spence skilfully portrays Mr. J. Lang Campbell, K.C., in wig and gown, though the hands, rosy-tinted and small, are surely feminine in colour and shape; Mr. J. Salvana sends in a large and attractive work in "Parramatta River from Meadowbank."

Besides the examples already mentioned, the watercolour section includes three fine works by Hans Heysen, whose softness of tone fails to epitomise the hard Australian light and shade, though it throws a veil of romance over every scene he depicts. Only second to these in interest are Mr. J. J. Hilder's "The Silent Hour" (No. 101), the bush and grass and shadowy sheep enveloped in a blue-grey haze of falling night; and a different colour-scheme, forming a "harmony" in brown and yellow, is applied to "At Work on a Deviation," the figures near the tunnel's mouth in excellent perspective. Mr. C. W. Worsley is another contributor of value, as shown in his picturesque scenes from England, Italy, and the Austrian Tyrol; and good work of varying merit is forthcoming from Henry Crisp, James A. Crisp, John R. Eldershaw, W. M. Whitney, Edith Cusack, Arthur J. W. Burgess, Ernest F. Peck, A. J. Fischer, A. J. Daplyn, Nessie Tindall, D. G. Reid, Chas. E. S. Tindall, J. W. Tristram, and Arthur Burgess. In the sculpture section, Mr. J. C. Wright's bas-relief panel "The Chase," forms a singularly graceful classic conception—the subject some goddess of old, her head leaning on the back of one upraised hand as she gazes kindly down upon the greyhounds she fondles with the other. The modelling throughout is excellent. In the Black and White section mention should be made of Alfred Coffey's tender etching, "Argyle Cut, Sydney," purchased for the Art Gallery; and a similar honour fell to Gladys Laycock for one of her two daintily-painted miniatures.

A TRIP TO BORO BOEDOER.

JAVA'S TEMPLE RUINS.

(BY C. G. WADE, M.L.A.)

Every tourist in Java should avail himself of the opportunity of visiting the ruins of the ancient Hindoo temples. They are accessible, well preserved, and easily read monuments of the high standards of an ancient religion and an early and well-developed civilisation. Architecturally, they present an appearance of stability, in marked contrast to the lighter and inflammable structures of the Chinese and Japanese temples. At the same time there is undoubted evidence of an advanced degree of engineering skill, and the modern artisan can learn useful practical lessons from them. In Java these temple ruins are all clustered in the centre of the island.

Within a radius of 30 miles of Jokjacarta (or Jokja) are a number of temples which represent the art and outward forms of religion of the early days of Java. At Boro Boedoer is perhaps the finest thing in temples in the world; it covers an area of ground equal to that of the Great Pyramid, and far excels it in artistic design and details of construction. At all events, it demonstrates the high degree of excellence to which the Javanese had attained more than 1000 years ago. This pile was erected between the 7th and 10th centuries A.D., but as Mohammedanism swept over the island, the cults that had been superseded, apparently, were quickly forgotten. Everything suggests that, with others, Boro Boedoer was neglected and forgotten, and became an easy prey to the enveloping growth of luxuriant jungle. When it disappeared from sight is not known, but during the first two centuries of Dutch occupation it remained obscured from view. It stands to the credit of Sir Stamford Raffles, whilst he was Governor of the island under British rule, that he took the initial steps to unearth this monument of ancient art. At this date, the temple was overgrown with jungle, covered with earth, and the roots of trees and creepers had distorted and dislocated the walls. Raffles' work disclosed to view the outlines of the temple; but on the declaration of peace after Waterloo, Java was handed back to the Dutch. Excavation work remained quiescent for many years, but latterly the matter has been taken in hand seriously by the Dutch, and, with the assistance of the Archeological Society, much useful work has been done in restoration and support. Many images had been broken by casual intruders; stones had been displaced and broken, either through the ravages of nature or the agency of human vandals. It is recorded that during the local wars, in the early years of last century, soldiers amused themselves by using precious pieces of carving as targets for their idle rifles. Things are on a much better footing now, but the walls are, in several places, seriously out of plumb, and threaten to fall unless steps are taken to support them at an early date.

This historic spot may be reached in a few hours' journey from Jokja. A tram-train may be taken to Montelan, some 20 miles distant, and a vehicle completes the journey—some five miles farther on. This method is slow, and means a long day's travelling to and fro. A car, however, may be procured, and although the local garages have learnt how to charge the tourist, yet the time thus saved, and the convenience of completing the whole trip before midday, more than compensate for the additional expense. The road is all that could be desired; as level as a board, and with an excellent surface, and the car makes good progress. The scenery along this 25-mile trip is of ever-changing interest; with scarcely an interval, the road is sheltered with an umbrella of shade trees on either side. At one time we are passing through a rice district, the country on either side divided up into handkerchief compartments, within which rice-growing in every stage is progressing. The eye is bewildered with the variety of colour; the dull and muddy pool where ploughing is proceeding, the vivid green of the young rice ready to be transplanted, the darker hue of the well-established crop, and the semi-golden tinge that colours the ripening harvest; whilst the ever-present water sparkles in the early morning sun. Then we pass through the luxuriant growth of sugarcane; tall and rich, and spelling large profits to the owner. Banana and cocoanut groves break the landscape at frequent intervals, with the typical bamboo huts of the natives, nestling in their shade. Wherever we turn, we meet with running water, either in a large canal or smaller distribution channels to serve the fields; all pointing to the energy of past ages, which is the chief agent of wealth to-day. At this early hour, when the heat is not oppressive, and nature seems so productive, one may appreciate the statement that Java is the Garden of the East.

Gradually, we come into sight of a rugged, broken range, which is a fit background to the sacred Boro Boedoer. On the right are the giant volcanoes—Meropi and Merboboe—7000 feet high. In the near distance a vision of minarets is seen, when, suddenly, on rounding a hill, the Temple suddenly bursts upon us. Of course every visitor has read descriptions of this great work, and has endeavoured to draw a mental picture, but, in my opinion, pre-conceived ideas fail to do justice to the actual sight. There stands before us a structure involving untold labour, artistic skill, and unwearying patience, built stone by stone—parapets, passages, arches, steps, cupolas, without one piece of mortar. Moreover, exhibiting in the long series of carvings, not only the history of the daily life of an ancient civilisation, but the existence of an artistic standard of a very high description. The Temple stands upon a square base 180 yards in length; reared upon this are five rectangular terraces, rising one above the other, and narrowing like the steps of a pyramid. At fixed intervals are images of the Buddha, and around the base of each terrace runs a gallery walled on either side, but open to the sky. On either wall are bas-reliefs chiselled from stone, to which I will refer again. Arising beyond the rectangular are three circular terraces containing "dagobas" latticed, which are meant to be inverted lotus leaves, and each contains an image of Buddha. The summit of the pile is crowned with a large central spire or shrine, the exact purpose of which is not known. On either side of each terrace are stairways to the higher levels, passing beneath arches formed of overlapping stones, but without mortar.

The magnitude of this structure may be gathered from the following figures:—The height of the central cupola is 120ft or more above the ground level. There are 436 life-size seated images of Buddha on the various rectangular terraces, and 72 images seated within the dagobas on the circular terraces. The bas-relief carvings if placed on end would extend for a total distance of two miles. All the images facing east represent Buddha in a certain attitude, whilst all those facing each other point of the compass are in a different posture, and those in the circular terraces are, again, in a different position. Thus is reproduced Buddha teaching, learning, meditating, expounding the law. The bas-reliefs are, as a whole, well-preserved; occasionally stones or portions of a panel are missing, but the outline of those carvings that have not been unduly exposed to the weather, or affected by the roots of trees or jungle vines, is wonderfully clear. Some faces are as well defined as on the day when they were finished. Along these walls can be traced the life of Buddha and the daily life of the nation. There is depicted the same old wooden plough that is used to this day in the rice fields, and the custom of carrying off on poles the tufts of harvested rice which prevails at present; but there is no trace of the Krise, or native dagger, which must, presumably, be a product of later times. Buddha is represented as a turtle in the sea, coming to the rescue of a ship's company who are assailed by sharks and crocodiles. (The shark, it may be added, is anatomically correct.) The turtle rescues the crew by carrying off the ship on his back; on reaching the shore, he offers himself to the starving crew for food. They hereby recognise him as Buddha (by what proofs, I am unable to say), and a subsequent carving depicts the crew as doing homage to Buddha.

Hours and days might be spent in studying the details of these stone carvings; a casual visit, whilst of entrancing interest, only serves to whet the appetite for further information. To a novice it appeals: to an archeologist it must be of enthralling interest. Let us hope that any enthusiasm that has been manifested in the restoration of this great historical monument will not be abated, and that timely care will result in its being preserved for the instruction and pleasure of future generations.

PROMOTION OF PEACE.

In order to promote the growth of the movement in favour of the abolition of war, the Peace Secretary of N.S.W., following the example of similar organisations in Europe and America, has decided to give two prizes for the best original essays on "Peace by Armaments or Peace by Arbitration," to be competed for by the children of the State, whether attending public or private schools or being educated at home. The junior prize of £2 is to be open to any child of either sex, under 14 years of age, and the senior prize of £4, is to be open to those between the ages of 14 and 17 years.

NEW MUSIC.

Messrs. W. H. Paling and Co. forward a "Morris Dance" (Elkin and Co., London), for pianoforte, "arranged by Algernon H. Lindo, with acknowledgments to Mr. Cecil J. Sharp." This is a tuneful and spirited piece, possessing an appropriate old English flavour, in which a piquant change ultimately allots the melody to the left hand, with the accompaniment for the right. This pretty piece may be cordially recommended.

A JUSTICE OF THE PEACE OF NEW SOUTH WALES WRITES OF CLEMENTS TONIC.

To my astonishment my constitution soon assumed its normal condition.

Mr. Barnet, who is a well-known Australian journalist and newspaper proprietor, and who is now engaged in commerce, is one of the many who eulogise Clements Tonic. He is one of the best-known commercial men in New South Wales, and a Justice of the Peace of long standing.

He is emphatic in asserting that Clements Tonic is a boon to sufferers, and he never hesitates to impart that fact to his friends.

"Carlton Mansion,
Glebe Point, 12/9/'12.

"CLEMENTS TONIC, LTD.

"In testifying to the value of Clements Tonic I do so in the hope that others may receive as much benefit from this medicine through the use of it as I had.

"I suffered from lassitude and lacked mental concentration. My complaint was diagnosed by medical men as enlarged liver accompanied with flatulence and dyspepsia. The medicine prescribed was useless. I was persuaded to take Clements Tonic, and to my astonishment in a little while my constitution assumed its normal condition, my nerves became naturally strong, and the ills peculiar to liver complaint ceased, and to use a well-known term, I soon 'Felt Fit.' Like many, I have tried other tonics, but none had the almost miraculous effect upon me as Clements Tonic had. Anyone suffering from lassitude, liver trouble, or weak nerves, should not hesitate to do as I did—TAKE CLEMENTS TONIC.

"When opportunity offers, I always recommend it. I am, yours truly,
"(Signed) NAT J. BARNET, J.P."

Clements Tonic corrects the stomach, regulates the bowels, invigorates the nerves, clears the brain, and purifies the blood. For over 25 years it has been declared to be the standard medical tonic of Australia, and the thousands of testimonials received prove its great efficacy. ALL CHEMISTS AND STORES SELL IT IN AUSTRALIA. It is health in a new guise.—Advt.

PINKETTES

The New Laxative.

Pinkettes are a New Laxative Combination, entirely vegetable, offered to the public by the proprietors of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

They are designed to fill the demand for a laxative that will prove effective, without causing sickness and unpleasantness. They are little, pink coated pills, easy to take, effective in their action, and they leave no bad after-effects.

They are an efficient remedy for Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Torpid Liver, Offensive Breath, Blotchy Complexion, and for use during Colds and Fevers. In the larger doses they are an excellent purgative. Any time that a laxative or purgative is needed, Pinkettes will fill the need safely and pleasantly.

They are a splendid remedy to correct the common ailments of children, and mothers will find that there will be no trouble in getting the little ones to take them.

Pinkettes are on sale at 1s. per bottle, or will be sent post paid, on receipt of price by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. of Australasia, Ltd., Sydney.

"You will like them better."

THE CHURCHES.

WORK OF THE BIBLE SOCIETY.

Of more than passing interest to all churchmen, is the report, just to hand, of the Rev. J. H. Ritson, M.A., who has completed a tour of South Africa in the interests of the British and Foreign Bible Society. There is no escaping the fact that the great problem of South Africa lies in the rivalry of the black and white races. The blacks are six times as numerous, but in Natal they number 11 to one.

A real danger, and not a fancied one, is the spread of Islam, not only from the north, but among the Indians on the Rand and in Natal, and the Cape, where they have their own temples. There is solace in the fact that there are a million Christians among the natives, but Mr. Ritson maintains that the only hope for South Africa lies in Christianity. He is not alone in this opinion, for a recent Government Commission (on which were no missionaries) emphasised the fact that the hope of South Africa is the spread of Christianity. For this purpose Mr. Ritson pleads not so much for new missions, but for the strengthening of the 43 societies which are already operating there. More men are urgently needed.

Meetings were held in various centres, and were largely attended by the natives. At one, 800 Basutos were present, and they stated that previously they had only known the Bible Society as a vague entity, but now they had seen the secretary face to face, and they thanked him for the translated gospels and the interest that the society had always taken in them. Everywhere the natives showed the greatest appreciation of the efforts of the society, and in one place 500 lepers from their poverty subscribed £5 18s 6d. They were overjoyed at the receipt of new bibles, for their own were worn out through their only method of turning the leaves being with their lips.

THE REST DAY BILL.

Archdeacon Gunther writes to draw attention to a bill introduced into the House of Commons, called the Weekly Rest Day Bill. This measure was promoted by the Imperial Sunday Alliance, supported by men of different shades of opinion, and even by non-religious people on humanitarian grounds. The promoters are tolerant and broad in their sympathies, and are men who have understanding of the times. According to an extract, "the objects of the bill are in entire conformity with existing Constitutional theory. The fundamental principle of British law, in regard to the periodical imitation of human labour, is that a weekly 'time-limit' to man's toil is required by the Divinely created nature of man, and has been mercifully imposed by Divine enactment, and that every worker is at once entitled and enjoined to claim one day's rest in seven—and this without prejudice or injury as regards his full weekly wage. Further, our Statute laws not only ratify this fundamental time-limit of six working days, but have, from time immemorial, given legal recognition to the exceptional character of one particular day in every week, namely, 'The Lord's Day, commonly called Sunday,' with the result that a statutory weekly opportunity of freedom from all such business and labour as is not required by the claims of necessity or mercy is thus permanently secured, both as a priceless safeguard of the personal dignity of the worker, and a guarantee of physical and industrial efficiency, and also as an asset of incalculable value to the social, moral, and domestic wellbeing of the entire community."

At the annual meeting of the Newcastle Auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society on Monday it was decided unanimously to affiliate with the New South Wales Auxiliary. This means that the last of the independent branches in the State has joined the main auxiliary at Bible House. The Bishop of Newcastle was elected president, Mr. G. R. Short, treasurer, and Mr. W. Bethune, secretary.

Rev. Canon Lea, in addressing a meeting of the Dubbo branch of the C.E.M.S., said: In the year 1880 the Government passed a certain Act by which facilities to educate their children were provided, whether the children lived in the town or in the sparsely-populated parts of the State. Then to solve the important question of religion in schools, facilities were afforded ministers of all denominations to enter the school and give the outlines of the Bible, so that every denomination had an equal opportunity. Since 1880 those conditions had been complied with, yet they were told now that the system was unjust and ungodly, and that they were creating men and women who had no hold on religion. When he was in England, four years ago, that country was face to face with a serious educational problem. He did all in his power to give his several years of experience of the N.S.W. Act, and he tried to urge upon them that they could find no better solution than by adopting the system introduced by the late Sir Henry Parkes. Personally he had a strong desire that each child be brought up in its own religious atmosphere. He could not conceive a better system than that adopted to-day.

Rev. Horace Crotty, M.A., who has been appointed to the rectorship of St. Thomas' Anglican Church, North Sydney, from Ivanhoe, Victoria, will be inducted by the Archbishop on Tuesday night next. Mr. Crotty was ordained deacon in 1909, and priest in 1910, by the Archbishop of Melbourne. He is a late scholar and exhibitioner of Trinity College, Melbourne. He took his B.A. degree in 1906 and M.A. in 1908. He has also the degree of the Th. L. of the Australian College of Theology, which he secured in 1909. Mr. Crotty's first appointment after his ordination was as curate of All Saint's Church, St. Kilda. He was also head master of All Saints' Grammar School while there. In 1912 he was appointed priest-in-charge of Ivanhoe, with Mosagill. Mr. Crotty is the author of a work entitled "Demos or God?"

The annual meeting of the Church of England Deaconesses' Institute, and its branches, the Children's Home, at Balmain, and the Home of Peace for the Dying at Petersham, was held at the Chapter House last Wednesday, the attendance being unusually large.

The Bishop of Tinnevelly and Madura, and Bishop Diel of Travancore, Cochin-China, are travelling by the R.M.S. Moultan, which is due in Sydney next Thursday. They will attend the Church of England Conference, which is to be held at Brisbane next month.

Bishop Averill, of Waiapu (N.Z.), has been asked to accept the vacant bishopric of Auckland, resigned recently by Bishop Crossley.

In connection with the lectures by the Social Problem Committee of the Church of England, Dr. Radford, on Tuesday last, at St. Andrew's Cathedral, delivered an eloquent address in which he maintained that it was to the New Testament that a Christian nation must look for direct light on social problems.

The Rev. H. Saumarez Smith, who is absent on 12 months' leave from Sydney, has been appointed acting-secretary to the Central Board of Missions in England, for six months.

On Sunday, August 10, for the first time in the history of St. Michael's, Surry Hills, there was a surplice choir. This has already improved the service of praise, and will give men and boys more interest in the service. The new members were admitted with a special service, by the rector, the Rev. F. R. Elder, B.A., at the close of morning prayer. Mrs. Powell continues in the position she has so ably filled for years as organist, and the choir has secured the services of Mr. J. Walker, late conductor of the Balmain Choral Society, as choirmaster.

His Excellency Sir Gerald Strickland, has consented to attend the ceremony of opening the new Roman Catholic Church, erected in the Friary grounds, at Waverley, to-morrow, when Archbishop Kelly will dedicate the church to Mary Immaculate. The architects abandoned the Gothic, which dominates the church-builders of Australia, and sought their inspiration from the great ecclesiastical edifices of Rome and Italy. The result is a pile which, unlike the Gothic, gives the impression of strength and proportion from outside, but within is light, spacious and devotional to a high degree.

The present contract includes all the design except the handsome Ionic portico and bell towers, which when completed, will make it the most notable Catholic Church in the city, after the Cathedral. The enterprise has already cost £12,000, and a further £6000 will be required before the crosses are placed on the towers at a height of 100 feet above the street. Mr. J. Ptolemy is the builder. The ceremonies will consist of solemn high mass at 11 o'clock, of which the celebrant will be the Right Rev. Dr. O'Connor, Bishop of Armidale, and the occasional sermon will be preached by the Right Rev. Monsignor O'Brien.

Archbishop Kelly left Sydney on Tuesday for Melbourne, and is expected to return today. He will visit Lewisham this afternoon. Next Saturday afternoon he will lay the foundation-stone of the Catholic Church. During the middle of September Dr. Kelly will visit the far South Coast.

The Most Rev. Dr. O'Shea was consecrated Coadjutor Archbishop of Wellington (N.Z.) last week by Archbishop Redwood, assisted by the Bishops of Dunedin and Auckland.

At a meeting called during the week at St. Augustine's, Balmain, for the purpose of forming a branch of the Catholic Federation, Messrs. G. Fitzsimmons and O'Rorgue were elected vice-presidents, Mr. J. C. Curran treasurer, and Mr. T. Lyons secretary pro tem. The gathering was addressed by Messrs. F. B. Cleary, president of the association, and A. W. D'Apice. At the invitation of the chairman, Mr. Massey delivered an address.

In connection with the 40 hours' devotion movement, High Mass was celebrated at St. Augustine's, Balmain, yesterday morning. The sermon in the evening was preached by the Very Rev. Dr. M'Dermott, president of St. Patrick's College, Manly.

Widespread regret is expressed on all sides at the death of the Rev. Professor Clouston, D.D., one of the best known ministers of the Presbyterian Church in Australia. His work as convenor of the Home Missions Committee of the church was productive of new interest being taken with Church work in the backblocks. Just before his death the Rev. John Ferguson was appointed acting convenor. A memorial service will be held to-morrow morning at the Ashfield Presbyterian Church, where Rev. R. J. H. M'Gowan will officiate, and an address be delivered by Professor Macintyre.

The foundation-stone of the new Presbyterian Church at Muswellbrook was laid by Miss Sarah Hall, in the presence of a large gathering, which included the Moderator, the Right Rev. Alex. Smith, the minister, Rev. J. H. G. Auld, Rev. P. Norman, of Scone, and Rev. R. B. Garner, of Quirindi. The church when completed will have cost £4000.

The Rev. Robert Kay has resigned his position on the Home Missions Committee of the Presbyterian Church, and is now touring the State as special commissioner for the Centenary fund.

The Rev. Joseph Woodhouse has returned from a comprehensive tour of the North Coast in the interest of Methodist Home Missions. The Rev. Harold Wheen is now in the same district speaking on behalf of the Sunday School department of the Church.

The Rev. R. and Mrs. Piper, who have been for some time working in the Indian mission in Fiji, arrived in Sydney by the Levuka on furlough. Mr. Piper will leave for India in a few weeks in order to study the language of the Indians for further missionary work, for the Methodist Church.

The Drummoyne Methodists have received with enthusiasm the appeal of the president of the conference, Rev. J. E. Carruthers, for a week of prayer from August 1 to September 7. Already a band of volunteers is arranging for a house-to-house canvas of the district, and everywhere people will be invited to attend church service on at least one Sabbath day, and in particular those who do not attend any other church, to attend the services in the Methodist Church on September 7.

The Rev. R. A. Rickards delivered an interesting address on foreign mission work at the Annandale Methodist School Hall on Wednesday last. There was a large attendance, and the speaker's remarks were received with much interest. The Mayor of Annandale (Alderman Colebrook) occupied the chair.

The ninth anniversary of the Kingston Church, Annandale, was celebrated last Sunday. Large congregations attended, and the three services were conducted by the Revs. J. W. Leadley, F. B. Holmes, and F. T. Walker. The singing was a feature of the services, and Conductor Pople was congratulated upon the excellence of that part of the programme. The financial report submitted by Mr. D. W. Johnston, secretary, showed a credit balance of £14.

At the meeting of the English Methodist Conference, the Rev. Luke H. Wiseman, ex-president of the conference, was designated a special representative to the Centenary Celebrations of Australian Methodism in 1915. Mr. Wiseman is one of the outstanding characters in British Methodism.

New Methodist churches will shortly be opened at Gloucester and Tarana, and a new church is to be erected at Ardlethan. The president of the conference, Rev. J. E. Carruthers, will visit Tarana, and officiate.

A sum of £200,000 has been subscribed by English Methodists in connection with the celebration of the Wesleyan Missionary Society's Centenary.

The Rev. J. J. Willing has accepted the call to the Newtown Congregational Church.

At the annual meeting of the London Missionary Society, to be held in the Pitt-street Congregational Church on Tuesday, Mr. R. W. Hardie will preside, and the speakers will be Rev. G. J. Williams, Rev. A. W. Brough (India), and Rev. F. P. Joseland.

Christian Endeavourers all over the State are looking forward with interest to the 22nd annual State Convention, which will be held in Sydney from September 4 to 9, under the presidency of Rev. R. B. Reynolds. The opening meeting will be held in the Baptist Church, Bathurst-street, on Thursday, September 4, and the crowning meeting in the Sydney Town Hall, on Tuesday, September 9.

At the annual meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the London Missionary Society, held in the Pitt-street Congregational Church-hall, Mrs. Austin occupied the chair, and among those present were Mrs. Henry Pratt (secretary), Revs. A. W. Brough, of Erode, India; G. J. Williams, and C. Whyte (president of the society). The half-yearly financial statement showed a credit balance of £46 17s. Mrs. Austin said the outstanding feature had been the Livingstone Exhibition. The object of the exhibition had not been a financial one, and it was promoted under the three distinctive banners: "Educational," "Commemorative," and "Inspiration." Rev. A. W. Brough gave an interesting address.

The Rev. Frederic C. Spurr, of the Collins-street Baptist Church, Melbourne, will terminate his ministry in Melbourne in February next, when he will return to England. In a statement to the deacons, Mr. Spurr said emphatically that there were absolutely no personal reasons for his resignation. He had been approached with a view to undertaking important work in London, and felt that the time had arrived when he must decide whether to return to England or settle permanently in Australia.

Sixty years ago this month the first Church of Christ was established, and to fittingly celebrate the diamond jubilee special meetings, were held during the past week in the Enmore Tabernacle, Metropolitan-road. Beginning on Sunday last, there were special services, followed on Tuesday evening by a young people's demonstration, at which a very entertaining programme was provided. On Wednesday evening there was an invitation tea to old-time members, with short talks and reminiscences. On Thursday evening the cantata "Daniel" formed a part of the musical programme rendered by the choir; and the series of meetings concluded yesterday with a sisters' reception, at which there was a very large attendance.

Last evening, in the Y.M.C.A. Hall, was held the president's reception to Miss Mary B. Hill, the new general secretary. Mrs. E. Sully presided, and a welcome was extended to Miss Hill by Mrs. Wright. Miss Hill will speak at the afternoon service of the Y.W.C.A. on Sunday.

The second united gathering of the North Shore branches of the Young People's Scripture Union was held in St. Paul's School Hall, Chatswood, on Saturday last. The Rev. H. G. J. Howe, of Chatswood, was in the chair, and delivered an address to the children, as did the Rev. A. M. Ogilvie (Beecroft). A pleasant afternoon was spent in singing, Scripture reading, and an action-song by members of St. Peter's, North Sydney branch.

On Tuesday, at St. Paul's, Rozelle, was celebrated the 29th anniversary of the Balmain Women's Prayer Union. Mrs. Morwick presided, and addresses were delivered by Mrs. Nelson Howard, Mrs. Courtenay Smith, Mrs. M. Blow, Mrs. M'Intosh, and Mrs. Avery.

Dr. Campbell Morgan has received a very earnest and unanimous call to the Madison-avenue Reformed Church in New York, and three of the church officers went sent to England to present the invitation from the church, and did their best to persuade Dr. Morgan to accept it. Dr. Morgan, however, has no intention of leaving Westminster Chapel.

The Rev. F. W. Walker, director of the Papuan Industries, Ltd., a concern that is under the wing of a missionary organisation, will arrive in Sydney to-day from London.

The Rev. Walter J. Eddy, of Geelong (Vic.), secretary of the Council of Churches of Victoria, has accepted the position of general secretary for Australia of the Mission to Lepers. This mission is international and inter-denominational, and operates with over 20 of the leading missionary societies of the world. Mr. Eddy will of necessity resign all other positions, and enter upon his new duties on November 1.

TINY RED SPOTS ALL OVER BODY.

28 Jarvie-street, E. Brunswick, Vic.—"When my little girl was 10 months old, her skin became affected. Tiny red spots appeared all over the body, and in spite of various treatments, rapidly grew worse until the spots were nearly the size of a shilling. She was very cross and could not sleep of nights, and used to scratch herself until her little body bled. This continued for over two months, and we were at our wit's end what to do to ease her. The complaint puzzled my elderly relatives and friends, and my chemist recommended me one thing after another, without success.

"Some time ago I determined to give the Cuticura Remedies a trial. After two or three applications of the Cuticura Ointment I noticed the skin looked more soft and less inflamed, and at the end of three weeks the spots had completely disappeared, leaving the skin beautifully soft and clear, and I now can say she is completely cured— thanks to the wonderful Cuticura Remedies." (Signed) Mrs. E. Holmes, Oct. 3, 1912.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a sample of each, with 32-page Skin Book, will be mailed free on application to R. Towns and Co., Dept. T., Sydney, N.S.W.—Advt.

REAL ESTATE.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

The real estate market this week has been on the slow side. The volume of business has not been equal to what it was during the first three weeks of the month. Yet there has been a good deal of activity in the matter of inquiries, and in the preparation for the coming subdivision sales, and from all appearances the spring will see an improvement in the market generally. In fact, the outlook is very bright. There is a growing feeling that the summer will witness activity in both the real estate business and the building trade.

Most of the city auctioneers held an indoor sale this week, but in each case the list of properties submitted was very small, yet a number of the lots were sold. Others were passed in for private sale. Messrs. Raine and Horne disposed of 53 acres of land at Concord West. The land is in one large block, with frontages to George-street and the creek. It adjoins some of the large manufacturing establishments of the district, and no doubt it will be utilised for similar purposes. The price paid has been withheld, but land adjoining this block recently sold at £450 per acre.

Messrs. Hardie and Gorman this week sold a block of land in Pitt-street, Redfern, between the town hall and Cleveland-street, at £33/10/ per foot. This is a big price for residential purposes. The same firm also sold a residence in Sinclair-street, Wollstonecraft, for £1850, and a cottage in North Sydney for £515.

Messrs. Richardson and Wrench, at their weekly sale yesterday, disposed of a building site, with an old dwelling, in Rosalind-street, North Sydney, for £395, and a cottage in Susan-street, North Annandale, for £240. During the week this firm disposed of a shop property in George-street, Camperdown, for £3500, a block of land, part of Jeffrey's Estate, Hurlstone Park, for £1837, also a building site on Old South Head-road, Vaucluse, for £680.

The demand of the workers for building sites upon easy terms still continues, and this week Messrs. Arthur Rickard and Co. disposed of quite a number of these in the different suburbs around Sydney. The largest number of these purchased were made at the industrial centre of Auburn, also at Hurstville and Carlton. At Blacktown Mr. Rickard sold a farm for £260, which worked out at £12/10/ per acre. A building site at Bellevue Hill he sold for £244.

SUBDIVISION SALES.

The work of preparation for the season's subdivision sales, which open next Saturday, still continues, and there is every reason to believe that the results will be very satisfactory to all concerned.

Messrs. Hardie and Gorman will open the sales next Saturday with a small subdivision at Randwick known as Moore's estate, which is situated between Randwick and Coogee, with frontages to Allison, Carrington, and St. Marks roads. The site is convenient to the Coogee, Little Coogee, and Waverley trams, and within walking distance of Coogee Beach. This is very fine land.

Another sale next Saturday will be at Ryde, where, right opposite the park, on the main road and tramline, Mr. C. J. Turner will offer good level blocks in high positions, said to be splendid sites for hotels, picture shows, or business premises.

On the following Saturday Messrs. Hardie and Gorman will offer the Lansdowne Farm estate, at Canley Vale, which is only five minutes from the railway station. The estate comprises large home sites and small farm blocks, with frontages to Prospect Creek and the main Liverpool-road. Judging from the inquiries that have been made for lithos, this sale ought to prove a success. There are a number of people on the look-out for farm properties just now, and this class of business is fairly brisk.

Another sale on September 13 will be the Eastwood Acres estate, at Eastwood, which will be offered by Messrs. Arthur Rickard and Co., Ltd. This fine property is situated in the heart of the famous Eastwood-Carlingford fruit country, and is within a mile of three stations, and a little over half an hour's train journey from the city.

For September 20 there are several sales booked. One that is attracting a good deal of attention just now is the second subdivision of Sydney's new suburb, Northbridge, which is just across the Suspension Bridge at North Sydney. It will be remembered that the first sale took place nearly 12 months ago, when buyers were landed on the Sydney side of the bridge, which had just been taken over by the Government. But with the prospect of the tram being taken across the bridge, then through the estate, and finally on to Sailor's Bay, which would open up a most picturesque and health-giving suburb, there was a big demand for the land, and the auctioneer sold every allotment in the subdivision at good prices. In fact, it was one of the most successful sales of the season. During the interval between that sale and the present time the bridge has been redecked, and in other ways strengthened. The tram rails have been laid down, not only across the bridge, but they are being taken up the main avenue through the estate, and thence on to Sailor Bay, and with the tram running through the district, the place is bound to make great progress. The city water has also been laid on to the estate. The second subdivision of Northbridge is to be offered by Messrs. Raine and Horne on Saturday, September 20. The lithos have been issued this week, and judging by the demands for a plan, it looks like as if the second sale will be as successful as the first subdivision proved to be.

On the same day Mr. Ernest C. V. Broughton will offer the Gwawley estate at Sylvania, George's River, between Taren Point and the punt, four minutes from the wharf.

On Saturday, September 13, Messrs. Richardson and Wrench will open the season with a sale at Ryde of a small estate, and on September 27 the firm will sell the Yabsley estate at Marrickville.

Messrs. Horning and Co. will open the season with a sale on Eight Hours Day at Katoomba, when the Sunny Side estate will be offered. The land is situated near Echo Point. On the following Saturday the firm will sell at Burwood, and subsequent sales have been arranged for Drummoyne, Ryde, and other places.

Messrs. Batt, Rodd, and Purves, Ltd. are making active preparations for submitting a very attractive list of subdivisional properties during the forthcoming season. In October sales will be held at Ryde of a very choice subdivision fronting Blaxland-road, and commanding extensive views of the Parramatta River and surrounding country. Also in that month will be offered for sale the balance of the Waitemata Estate, which is at the terminus of the Little Coogee tram, and facing the beach at Little Coogee Bay. Sales will also be held in November.

Messrs. Hugh Duff and Co. are getting ready for the following subdivision sales:—Eight-Hour Day, at Cronulla, Bonnie View Estate, comprising fine water-frontages to Gunnamatta Bay and Woolooware-road; block of 100 acres on the Parramatta River, lovely water-frontage block, for many years occupied by the Blaxland family; splendid block at Burwood, for years occupied by Searl's nursery; water-frontage blocks, Lake Macquarie; block at Jervis Bay; also Mortdale Estate, and a subdivision handy to Turramurra Railway Station.

PROGRESS OF THE SUBURBS.

XIII.

STRATHFIELD TO HORNSBY.

There is still another suburban railway line that must be mentioned in connection with the progress of the suburbs. It is the line from Strathfield to Hornsby. In other words, the suburban section of the great northern railway, which links up New South Wales with Queensland. When this line was built in the 'Eighties, it was known as the Homebush to Waratah railway. What a change has taken place on this section since the line was opened in 1886.

Prior to the opening of the line the whole district was divided up into large estates, and around Ryde and even right up to Hornsby were beautiful orchards, shaded from the weather by heavy timbered back country, and it was in this country that the timber-getters plied their axes to advantage, but within the last year or two these orchards have gradually disappeared. The work of subdivision has proceeded with vigour, and from Ryde onwards the country is fast becoming a residential area, with a rapid settlement. From Strathfield the line passes through two municipalities, and also the Hornsby Shire. There is on the Sydney side of the Parramatta River portion of the Municipality of Concord, which was incorporated in 1883. This portion is known as Concord West. It is a section of the line which is destined to be a great industrial centre, a Birmingham of Australia. For many years it was practically waste lands, but within the last five years there has been a remarkable development, and some very fine factories and engineering works have been established, with workmen's dwellings surrounding each establishment. There are, first, Arnott's great biscuit factory; the extensive flour mills of James Pearce and Co.; engineering works for the manufacture of agricultural and other machinery by James Martin and Co.; the very fine premises of the Westinghouse Brake Company; the establishment of G. and C. Hoskins, Ltd.; and, last, but not least, the celebrated Government workshops at Uhr's Point. At Concord West five years ago the best of the land suitable for manufacturing purposes could be obtained at £1 per foot. For the same land £3 per foot is being refused today. At Uhr's Point there are several instances of where people three years ago paid 30s per foot for land, and sold it this year at £4 10s per foot. There is still a big demand for what at one time was the waste lands of Rhodes, and only this week Messrs. Raine and Horne disposed of a block of 53 acres in one line at a really good price. This land adjoins the manufacturing establishments already mentioned, and has a frontage to the creek. It will be used later for the building of large works. Without doubt, this particular portion of the railway line, with its many sidings into the different establishments, must in the near future be one of the manufacturing centres of Sydney.

Crossing the Parramatta River by means of a very fine bridge, the traveller has opened up to him a series of flourishing residential areas, commencing with the municipality of Ryde. This is one of the best known districts near Sydney. Old residents will remember the place as "Kissing Point," a name by which it went for very many years. It was largely through the efforts of the late Mr. George Pope, who was for 43 years C.P.S. at Ryde, and the Rev. George Edwin Weaver, one of the early Anglican ministers of the district, that the place was called Ryde. Mr. Pope was a native of the Isle of Wight, of which Ryde is a town, and the Rev. George Weaver came from the adjoining village of Carisbrooke, and this accounts for their influence in having this district called Ryde. Forty years ago Ryde was all orchards, with a population of about 200, and at that time a large percentage of the fruit was taken across in a punt to what is now Abbotsford, then known as the "one man wharf," and by road through Five Dock and Parramatta-road to the Sydney markets; but when the bridge was constructed across the Parramatta River at Drummoyne, and later, when the tramline was continued to Gladesville and Ryde, the district made rapid progress, and to-day there are in Ryde 1700 dwellings, housing a population of 8500. The municipality contains an area of 7359 acres, and the value of that land to-dy is £546,398, but with the improvements added the properties of Ryde are valued at £1,042,311. It will thus be seen that the progress of Ryde has been good, but the development which has largely taken place in recent years has been somewhat hampered by the desire of owners of large estates to hold them so that subdivision work in Ryde has been slower than at other centres on the line, but this condition of affairs, as far as settlement is concerned, is gradually being altered, and great changes are taking place even among the lovely orchards of Ryde.

Next we come to Eastwood, still a portion of the municipality of Ryde, with the famous Eastwood House, the home of the Terry family, also the Brush Farm Estate, once the property of Samuel Marsden, but at a later date in the hands of the Government. Brush Farm in the old days was known as the Carpenterian Reformatory for Boys, but as a reformatory it has now been abandoned, and portion of the land has been dedicated to the people for a park. The remainder will shortly come into the market as a subdivision. Eastwood is a district that has made splendid progress, and as a residential area it has a big future. Land at Eastwood that was sold 12 years ago by Mr. Little, of Richardson and Wrench, at 30s a foot, recently changed hands at £15 a foot. Of course, this land is in the business centre, right at the station. The Terrys and Darvall's estates have of recent years been cut up, and sold, and the land is now largely built upon, with the prices increasing each year, and the whole district is fast becoming a great residential area.

Now we enter the shire of Hornsby, and the first station touched is Epping, which, like Eastwood, is growing rapidly. Within the last two or three years splendid orchards have been cut up into building allotments, which, according to the fruitgrower, pays better than growing oranges.

Epping will become a great suburb. Already quite a business centre has sprung up around the railway station. A very fine post-office has been erected, and land values in this part of Epping have increased 30 and 40 per cent. in the last five years. A few years ago there were few houses in Epping. Now there are over 200, and the building trade is very active in this district. Epping will always hold its own, for it has a fast service of trains in the busy hours and it is likely to be the Strathfield of this line.

At Cheltenham and Beecroft, in fact from Pennant Hills to Hornsby, the district is in a progressive stage, and very fine residences have been erected at each of these centres. It will always be regarded as the Hills, and many doctors affirm that for people with delicate constitutions there is a dry, health-giving atmosphere about these hills that makes them popular as residential area. Land at Cheltenham and Beecroft is in big demand, and allotments which five years ago were selling at 20s to £2 per foot, are now bringing up to £3 17s 6d per foot. The beautiful district of Thornleigh, on the other hand, is likely to develop into a manufacturing centre. Only this week a very fine malting works erected on a large scale was officially opened by the Premier. Brickworks have been established, and factories are likely to follow. And now we come to Hornsby, the junction of the main northern and the North Shore lines. A remarkable change has come over Hornsby. At the opening of the line in 1886 the visitors in the official train found that the station was situated at a distance of about three miles from the village of that name, so named after a policeman called Horn, who made himself famous in the bushranging days. When the railway reached Hornsby in 1886 there were only 75 residences in the locality, two stores, two shops, a Public school, and two churches, one of which was a Wesleyan and the other representing the Church of England.

But a new Hornsby has sprung up, and quite a township is seen around the station. Land values are steadily holding their own, for the mountain air is attracting people to Hornsby, also to Waitara, and before many years are passed a very large settlement will be found in this district.

Thus these 13 miles of suburban railway have fulfilled the expectations of those who witnessed the opening ceremony in 1886, but their future growth will, it is expected, be even more rapid. Quite a number of subdivision sales have been arranged for this district, to take place during the coming season, and no doubt as a residential area this line will in the near future become great.

EASTWOOD'S
ORCHARD HOMES

AN old client of ours came in the other day, just to let us know how he was getting on..... Some three years ago he was a bank-clerk—working on an inadequate salary; and loss of health, combined with a natural desire for outdoor life, caused him to take up "life on the land."..... To-day he is a well-to-do orchardist—suntanned, strong and healthy....... He has a fine home, where his wife and family live under ideal and healthy conditions...... He has money—quite a lot—in the bank...... He has an assured income from his fruit trees and poultry...... He is well physically and financially...... and he calls no man his master....... Why don't you do the same?.

Saturday, September 13th.

Terms from £1
down, and 10/- monthly (including interest) for every £30 purchased.
Torrens.

This fine property is situated in the heart of the famous Eastwood-Carlingford Fruit Country, and is convenient to three stations, and a little over half-an-hour's train journey from the city. It adjoins the township of Dundas; in fact, is right alongside the Town Hall, Church, etc. The soil is good, and the country undulating and cleared of timber. You can have your choice of home sites, from 50 x 200, fronting the main roads of the district, or fine, handy-sized orchard blocks, from 1 to 4 acres. The Estate has a fine elevation, and, in addition to being most healthy, commands magnificent views of the surrounding country back to the Parramatta. This is our opening sale for the season, and it is a good one. Send for plans now.

"SYDNEY'S GARDEN SUBURB."

HABERFIELD
Home Opportunities.

The fame of Haberfield as an unequalled home area is well established. The development of this beautiful suburb upon the lines of the proved successes of the world in town-planning has produced a residential district of the highest healthfulness and attractiveness. The design of the suburb aimed always at salubrious conditions. Wide open spaces, park-like areas, and tree-planted highways, together with the fine gardens surrounding the handsome homes, tend always to the freshening and purifying of the air. Many institutions for amusement and recreation exist within the confines of the suburb. The shopping is restricted to a definite section. The wise person who seeks to own his own home should investigate this delightful suburb at once. We list here a few examples of Haberfield opportunities.

£875 STANDING on LAND 45 x 150. We are offering a pretty 2-bedroom Cottage, nicely finished in modern style. It has bathroom, linen press, pantry, large kitchen, and wide verandah at side. Terms can be arranged at £50 deposit and 30s per week.

£995 RIGHT ON THE HEIGHTS, a new Cottage, with slate roof and stone foundation, half a minute to tram stop and five minutes from train. This Cottage contains five rooms besides kitchen, etc., and will be treated throughout with artistic furnishings. Ready for occupation in a fortnight. Buyer may select own friezes, mantels, and gas fittings by making arrangements with us at once. On account of its convenient position this property will sell before completion, and we invite you to see it at once.

£1075 BEAUTIFULLY FURNISHED COTTAGE, handy to Ashfield and Summer Hill stations, and convenient to tram. A double-fronted brick Cottage on stone foundation, and roofed with slate. This Cottage contains three large bedrooms, dining-room, drawing and breakfast rooms. The breakfast-room has access to spacious lounge verandah 20ft long at rear, and one bedroom opens on to this also. SPLENDID SLEEPING-OUT ACCOMMODATION. This Cottage is now ready for occupation, and is connected with gas, water, and sewer. The rooms are prettily finished with art mantels, tiled hearths, antique furnishings, picture rails, and deep friezes, specially imported for our most artistic type of cottage. There is a motor car entrance, and the lawn is turfed and flower beds arranged. Easy terms on 5 per cent. basis.

£1135 A HANDSOME 3-bedroom COTTAGE, besides drawing, dining, and breakfast rooms, wide verandah for sleeping out. Kitchen, laundry, pantries, tiled bathroom, and everything complete. It has best slate roof, and we can specially recommend this as a very desirable home at a moderate figure. We can arrange terms at £100 deposit and balance as rent on 5 per cent. basis.

£1425 A HIGH-CLASS STYLE of Gentleman's Residence, on corner lot, 57 x 160. The Cottage contains 5 bedrooms, dining, drawing, and breakfast rooms. Slate roof, stone foundation. The interior is beautifully decorated, and everything is finished in modern style. It is handy to both Ashfield and Summer Hill station.

£2275 On a large elevated corner Block we have for sale a massive bungalow type of home. The return verandah, where the allotment faces the street for 150ft, provides an imposing view of Drummoyne, North Sydney, and other suburbs. On a clear day the Blue Mountains can be seen in the distance, and the air has all that crispness which one notices at Springwood. The Cottage has a roof of best Welsh slate, carried over the entire length of the building. It contains five roomy and lofty bedrooms, besides three reception rooms. We will willingly supply, personally or by mail, full details of all the fine features embodied in this cottage. It is intended in this home to erect an ensemble of soothing elegance and artistic spirit, and all admirers of the absolutely modern in artistic home building should not miss seeing this masterpiece. We have had to import many of the antique furnishings, but we will have this cottage ready for occupation shortly. The price is fixed on a low basis, and should attract the cash purchaser.

Haberfield is within 30 minutes by tram from G.P.O., or 10 minutes by through train to Summer Hill. Full particulars from any of our offices. Beautifully Illustrated Haberfield Booklet sent post free on request.

ABRIDGED PROSPECTUS

Issue of 25,000 Additional Preferenc Shares in CENTRAL RAILWAY PALACE BUILDINGS, LIMITED.

(Incorporated under the Companies Acts of New South Wales.)

Authorised Capital - £100,000,

Divided into 100,000 Shares of £1 each.

60,000 Preference Shares, of which 40,000 have been issued, and 20,000 are now offered to the public, payable 5s per share on application, and 5s per share on allotment.
10,000 Ordinary Shares issued to Vendors as fully paid up.
5,000 Ordinary Shares held in reserve for future issue, the Vendors to have the right to have these or any portion allotted to them at par.
25,000 Preference Shares held in reserve for future issue if required.
£100,000

The Preference Shares are preferential as to Capital, and will be entitled to receive a preferential Cumulative Dividend of 8 per cent. per annum. In any year that the Ordinary Shareholders receive more than 10 per cent., the Preference Shareholders shall receive a bonus equal to two (2) per cent. in addition to the eight (8) per cent.

Dividend at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum has been received by all Preference Shareholders from the date of allotment of their shares. The Company is enabled to do this in consequence of an agreement with the Vendors, who agreed to advance without interest the money necessary to pay this dividend, until the Company is in actual operation, and the Vendors are only to receive repayment of the moneys so advanced, without interest, out of funds remaining after the Company has paid £8 per cent. dividend on the Preference Shares.

This very satisfactory arrangement will apply also to the present issue of Preference Shares, but henceforth the dividend will be paid quarterly.

The Central Railway Palace Buildings occupy a magnificent site, with frontages to Pitt, Hay, and Campbell streets, and will cover a block of 170 feet square in the heart of the City, opposite Belmore Park and the Central Railway Station.

At the present time a five-storey building covering the whole of the Pitt-street frontage and 100 feet to each Hay and Campbell streets, is practically completed, with the excavations for cellarage and foundations for the building to be erected on the balance of the land, are in a very forward condition.

The Central Railway Palace Buildings will consist of 21 well-lighted and commodious shops, most of which are already let, and are commanding substantial trade. Also a modern Hotel designed with every regard for the comfort and convenience of guests. In its finished state it will be the largest hotel in Australasia, but it is not intended to raise the walls of the added portion until such time as business will require this extension. It will be controlled by a capable Manager, with London and Continental experience, and whose reputation is a sufficient guarantee that it will be of the first order.

There are two outstanding features in connection with the Hotel which are not likely to be overlooked by visitors—the roof garden, which cannot be other than a pleasurable adjunct during the summer season, and the contiguity of Belmore Park, which practically forms its grounds.

The Land upon which the buildings are erected is leased from the City Council at a rate of £2150 per annum, and has 50 years to run from October 1, 1910.

Sydney has progressed so rapidly that it is acknowledged on every side that the existing hotels cannot cope with the demand for accommodation, especially at those times when there is a large influx of visitors from the country districts. Although the population of Sydney has increased by nearly 200,000 during the last ten years, no new hotels worth mentioning have been erected during the last twenty years.

Application for Shares.

Application for shares may be made through any member of the Sydney Stock Exchange. Prospectuses may be obtained from the offices of Arthur Rickard and Co., Ltd., 84B Pitt-street, Sydney. Applications will also be received by the Secretary, J. A. Bourke, at the Offices of the Company, 82 Pitt-street.

ON THE LAND.

FARM AND STATION.

JOEY.

At his birth Joey was a mere sketch, needing a natural incubator to bring him to life and form. His early development seemed to be mainly in the hind part, though his rat-like head simultaneously became more shapely. A queer-looking baby he was, with elongated hind legs, small feeble arms, and dainty little hands; but when he opened his luminous liquid-brown eyes, and put on a coat of soft, light-grey fur, he was a lovable creature. By this time he had let go the automatic feeder, returning to it at will; and at two months, peeping out of the pouch, he took a first faint interest in the outside world. The gently-undulating forest, interspersed with open glades, was a pleasing prospect; but he had no inclination yet to go out and jump, like those big grey creatures he saw a little way off. It was very comfortable in the hair-lined receptacle in which he had discovered himself. He was shaken up a little at times when the perambulator was travelling at a great pace, or with long leaps; and occasionally it bounded high in the air and dropped down with a bump that surprised him; but it was snug and warm when the nights were cold, and cosy and dry when the days were wet.

After a while, when his mother stooped down to feed, he thrust out his head to crop the tops of the young grass. He reached farther and farther out; then, when he was three months old, he wanted to get out altogether and do a few hops for exercise. So out he got. For a bit he nibbled and shuffled around, and sat erect on the tripod formed by his tail and hind legs, and admired the scenery. Then ambitiously he essayed to leap as he saw others doing. Hop, hop. He did it awkwardly, with a tendency to topple on to his head. His seven pounds of weight came down with a louder thud than the yearlings made when travelling at full speed, and his tail whacked the ground so hard that it hurt. But his very joyousness prompted him to bound. One, two; the first jump short and cautious, the second a strenuous effort that caused his foot to skid and spread, so that he sat hard on his tail. Straightening himself up, with his long ears erect, and his forepaws hanging over his chest, he looked triumphantly back at his admiring dam. He was now a running Joey, leaving and returning to the nursery pocket when it suited him.

The mob was disposed in various attitudes about a low sandy mound, which was one of their favourite camping grounds. The old ones squatted in the shade, lying full stretch on the grass, or reclined in shallow rolling holes; the young ones played and gambolled around. Here and there a younger babe than Joey peeped from his mother's pouch, eager to observe the fun going on outside. Anon an old one reproved some little imp for misconduct by boxing his ears, and the latter, with tears in his large soft eyes, took a bound or two in a great hurry, then sat upright and meditatively rubbed the afflicted part. Leaning on his elbow, and lazily scratching his ribs with the other hand, was a big fellow at least seven feet high, who only wanted a pipe between his lips to justify his title of "old man." Joey, studiously practising his hops, halted beside him, presenting the picture of a pygmy beside a giant, and his gaze swept wonderingly from the weighty tail to the mule-like ears, and from the muzzle back to the long hind toes. Would he ever attain to such noble proportions, become the leader of a great herd, the king of all the Macropods?

At either side of the camp, facing opposite directions, sat two bucks a little less in size than the leader. These were the sentinels, cautiously sweeping the forest with keen sight, and listening with sharp ears for any sound. Presently one straightened to his full height and sat for a moment with ears cocked forward. Then, turning, he executed a few slow, short hops, whacking the ground hard each time with his tail. The whole mob at once started up from their recumbent positions, and striking a listening attitude, carefully scanned their surroundings. Simultaneously several pairs of eyes discerned a horseman coming towards the camp. The mob started away on various courses for a short distance, stopped, and looked round again. Joey, at the first stir, was snatched up and thrust back into the pouch. Then the big fellow took the lead, and soon they were bounding off in one long string, rising and falling like the waves of the sea. Behind them, ere they had gone far, they heard a terrifying clatter of hoofs, and the leisurely, orderly retreat became a rout. The long line broke right and left, every individual dashing away at his top speed.

At the tail of one section was Joey's mother, rapidly dropping astern, for in front of her were three flyers and a doe, who had no burden to carry. Joey, huddled up in the pouch, knew nothing of the terror that seized her as the pursuer pressed nearer and nearer. Suddenly, as she sped through a patch of long grass, she reached down, and clutching him by the neck hauled him out, and threw him sidelong into the grass. Thus lightened, she bounded over a maze of broken watercourses to a thickly-timbered rise and escaped. Joey never stirred from where he landed. Such unwonted treatment was a rude shock to him, but instinctively he knew that some great danger was near. He did not see the horseman, but he heard the thuds of the galloping hoofs, and trembled. His simple mind comprehended also that the unseen monster was after his mother. Would she ever come back to him? The sounds died away, and only the cicadas broke the noonday silence. One hour, two hours, went by, and still he did not move from where he had fallen.

He listened intently, his ears moving responsive to the faintest rustle in the grass. At last there came a beat along the ground that made him suddenly alert. Thud, thud, thud, half a dozen hops, and a pause, then on again, along the track his mother had fled. She was coming back, cautiously stopping every few yards to look about her. The telegraphic taps and stops told him that; so he did not budge until she stopped directly opposite him. Relief showed in her eyes as he bounded joyously up to her. Stooping over him, she fondled him awhile before helping him back into the pouch.

For six months he was borne in that convenient pocket, and for six months more he followed his mother. As one of the herd he was really with her much longer, but by that time another atom of life was in the pouch.

HAWKESBURY COLLEGE.

BURSARIES GRANTED.

Under the provisions of the Bursary Endowment Act, passed last year, the Hawkesbury Agricultural College has now been registered as a secondary school. The Bursary Endowment Board has decided that bursars who pass the Intermediate Certificate Examination may hold their bursaries by attending the diploma course at the college, and, subject to their creditably passing the second year examination and obtaining a satisfactory report from the principal, they will have the bursaries extended for a fifth year. As the bursary holders must necessarily board away from their homes while attending the college, a monetary allowance at the rate of £30 per year will be granted, together with an allowance not exceeding £1 10s for text books.

THE WOOL TRADE.

SEASON OPENS NEXT WEEK.

The weekly selling season in the Sydney market practically opens next week. Wool has been arriving in store freely during the past few weeks, and some large lines will be included in the catalogues next week. Shearing in the early sheds has been proceeding under favourable conditions, and the means of transport have facilitated the arrival of wool into store. Through the incompleteness, however, of many of the consignments the offerings will not be as large as was hoped when the roster for the next two weeks was drawn up. If the original roster could have been adhered to the sales would have commenced on Monday, instead of Tuesday next, to be followed by a four days' series, commencing on September 8. Now it will be a three days' series next week, namely, September 2, 3, and 4, probably followed by a three days' series on September 9, 10, and 11. The original arrangement was that not less than 20,000 bales should be catalogued in each week. About 20,000 bales will be submitted by 12 firms of brokers next week, and, with consignments coming forward so freely, there are fair prospects for a similar volume being available for the second week. The bulk of the wools are coming from the north-western district, with some western clips and good-sized parcels from Queensland.

This opening of the season will be one week earlier than last year, and doubtless the offerings will command the keen attention of even a larger number of buyers than in previous years. The inevitable trend of growers to realise in the Australian markets increases the importance of the local selling centres, and tends to draw buyers to Sydney in stronger force each year. This policy of woolgrowers is unquestionably a sound one in every respect. Not only do growers receive proceeds immediately, but they concentrate attention right at the seat of wool production, and prevent clashing of sales at critical periods. The policy must also suit wool users, for the staple comes on to the market practically from shears, modern means of transit, with motor lorries and an extension of the railways, making possible the cataloguing of wool within two or three weeks of the sheep passing through the shearing sheds. This is vastly different to the old days, and the long periods that elapsed before growers could have their clips sold. All that is needed is the complete adoption of the system, and even those companies that have London interests could well consider the advisableness of strengthening the Australian markets, and deriving the advantages that would unquestionably proceed therefrom.

Next week's offerings promise to be fairly attractive, embracing as they will a fair sample of the early clip. Some of the wools have not opened up quite as favourably as anticipated, the staple in some instances being deficient. A more general view, however, may show that the many are better than some of the few. The selection in Brisbane this week was only a moderate one in the grease, some of the wools being rather short in staple. As the New South Wales season advances it will probably be seen that a good percentage of the clip will be well-grown and of good length. The skin wools from the local fellmongery establishments are now of good length, and, during the absence of auctions, there have been active inquiries for available lines. Where owners have been prepared to take fairly reasonable prices, sales have been effected. The basis of values has not been greatly changed from the rulings current at the last Sydney auctions. The decline in Brisbane compared to the previous Brisbane rates was about 7½ per cent. on super. wools, and about 5 per cent. on the lower qualities, skirtings being from par to 5 per cent., and scoureds 5 per cent. Winchcombe, Carson, Ltd., referring to the position there, say:—"Buyers stated that the results of purchases at the two previous sales in Brisbane had not come up to expectations, and that the fall in price is mostly a rectification of yields. Skirtings, both scoured and greasy, in most instances realised fully last series' values, the yield of these having apparently come out satisfactorily." While Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Ltd., in more general terms in regard to the rates ruling in Brisbane, remark that:—"Notwithstanding the above noted decline, which practically brings values to the level established at our last auction sales here, the price of wool is at a very satisfactory level indeed, and growers will not hesitate to avail themselves of this market so soon as the season opens."

Considering the very trying period experienced in most trade centres during the past six months—the war in Europe, fear of the extension of the trouble at various times, the financial stringency, stagnation of trade generally in the United States, particularly in textiles, pending settlement of the tariff—wool values and the prices for wool tops have held very well. There has been no cataclysm. Far from it, and if the improved state of affairs in Europe continues, and the free wool tariff comes into being at an early date—as there is a good prospect of it doing—the outlook for wool this season is far from a discouraging one. Dalgety and Co., Ltd., say, with reference thereto:—"Two or three causes are at present operating favourably to the wool market; for instance, the closing of the war among the Balkan allies is expected to favourably affect the money market, and the passing of free wool by the United States Senate on Monday last brings the probability of an American demand for Australia's wool production in general nearer than it has previously been, and, under the circumstances, it is hoped that, with the promise of a moderate clip from Australia and New Zealand during the present season, the weakness in the wool market which there has been of late may give place to a feeling of greater confidence in the future of the article."

Rates current for the principal descriptions of the staple in the Sydney market may be given as follows:—

INTERSTATE MARKETS.

The event of the week in interstate markets has been the holding of the first of the 1913-14 series in the Brisbane market. Owing to the smallpox epidemic in Sydney, and the Commonwealth health restrictions, the sales that were arranged for July 22, 23, and 24 were postponed to August 26, 27, and 28. Upwards of 40,820 bales were catalogued on the three selling days. The selection in the grease was a moderate one, many of the clips carrying a good deal of condition, as well as a fair amount of dust and seed. Some of the wools were rather short in the staple. Buyers were in full attendance, and the French section proved most prominent, Germany and Yorkshire not operating so extensively as usual. Competition was somewhat irregular; medium and lower qualities on the opening day selling relatively better than good wools; heavy conditioned, short wools, and those of doubtful yield, were at times neglected. Values generally compared to the rates in force at the Brisbane June sales, were for good, medium, and faulty, greasy, from 5 to 7½ per cent. lower; skirtings from par to 5 per cent. lower; and scoureds 5 per cent. lower. Greasy sold to 12½d for Bulwarrie in half-circle, and 22½d for scoured. On the second day scoured sold to 24½d for Alma, near Hughenden. On the closing day greasy sold to 12½d for lines from St. George and Ilfracombe; while scoured touched 24½d, the top price of the previous day being obtained for a line from Vernon Downs, Richmond. Closing rates wired were:—As compared with the June sales good wools 5 per cent. lower; faulty wasty wools about 10 per cent. lower; while bellies and locks were about on a par with the June rates.

Present indications point to no sales taking place in Melbourne prior to the opening of the regular season on October 7 next.

SYDNEY WOOL RECEIPTS.

Wool receipts for the week have been on a very satisfactory scale, showing a material increase in the arrivals by rail, and a slight increase by boat. Shearing is proceeding apace in the early districts, and with good means of transit there is very little delay in getting consignments to the seaboard. The quantities for the week by rail and boat, with totals for the season to date, compare with the corresponding periods last year as follows:—

BY RAIL.

Season.	Bales. August 23-29.	Bales. July 1-Aug. 29
1913-14	26,471	71,901
1912-13	17,990	39,245
Increase	8,481	32,656

BY BOAT.

	Bales.	Bales.
1913-14	1,740	10,926
1912-13	1,161	6,439
Increase	579	4,487

Total seaboard increase, 37,143.

NEXT WEEK'S ROSTER.

The roster of sales for large lots in the Sydney market next week, when some 20,000 bales will be catalogued, is as follows:—

Tuesday, September 2.—(1) John Bridge and Co., Ltd.; (2) New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Co. Ltd.; (3) Winchcombe, Carson, Ltd.

Wednesday, September 3.—(1) Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co., Ltd.; (2) Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Ltd.; (3) Pastoral Finance Association, Ltd.; (4) Dalgety and Co., Ltd.

Thursday, September 4.—(1) Hill, Clark, and Co., Ltd.; (2) Australian Mercantile, Land, and Finance Co., Ltd.; (3) Pitt, Son, and Badgery, Ltd.; (4) Co-operative Wool and Produce Co. Ltd.; (5) Country Producers' Selling Co., Ltd.

AUDITORS.

G. T. STEADMAN, Auburn-street, Goulburn.

SECRETARY.

ALLAN S. TURNER, Auburn-street, Goulburn.

The Company will be forthwith registered and incorporated under the provisions of the Companies Act, 1899, whereby the liability of each Shareholder is limited to the balance owing in respect of the shares applied for by him.

The Company is formed for the purpose of acquiring 50 acres of land, being part of portion No. 195, Parish of Tarlo, County of Argyle, and for the purpose of developing and working the Slate Quarry existing on the said land, and for the purchase of all necessary plant, and the erection of all necessary buildings for carrying on the work of the Company on the land referred to, and for such other purposes as may be incidental thereto.

So soon as 3000 Shares have been applied for the Company will be declared formed.

The following contracts have been made, namely:—

1. A contract dated the 14th May, 1913, made between Arthur F. Carr, of the one part, and James Turner, as Trustee for the Promoters, of the other part.
2. A contract dated the 21st May, 1913, made between Thomas Manion, of the one part, and the said James Turner, as Trustee for the Promoters, of the other part.

Copies of the contracts above mentioned and of the Memorandum and Articles of Association may be inspected at the office of the Company's Solicitors, Montague-street, Goulburn.

Forms of application for Shares may be obtained from the Secretary or any of the Promoters, all of whom are authorised to receive applications for Shares, and the deposit money to be paid on application.

It has been proved by the Syndicate that Roofing Slates equal to the best Welsh Slates can be quarried on their property, and, taking into consideration the fact that it will be the only quarry in operation in Australia producing Roofing Slates, and that there is a 20 per cent. duty on imported Slates of British origin, and 25 per cent. on foreign Slates, the Company will be assured of a good market at remunerative prices for all the Slates they can supply.

The Promoters have expended a considerable amount in developing the property, and it may be mentioned, as indicating the confidence of the promoters in the undertaking, that applications for over 1700 Contributing Shares have already been received from members of the original Syndicate. Shares will be allotted according to priority of application. Where no allotment is made the deposits will be returned in full to the applicants.

The Quarry is situated about six miles from The Forest Railway Station, on the Crookwell line.

The Promoters do not ask for any payment in cash, and all moneys subscribed will be placed to the credit of the Company to a trust account for working capital, less part of the flotation and other preliminary expenses.

REPORTS.

Appended are reports from Mr. David S. Jones, late of Pen-y-Orsedd Slate Quarry, Carnarvon, North Wales, who has had a life-long experience in slate quarrying, and from Mr. G. R. Woods, Secretary of the Master Slaters' Association, N.S.W., who is well qualified to give an expert opinion on the quarry and the prospects of the company:—

Goulburn, 16th August, 1913.

The Directors Chatsbury Slate Syndicate, Goulburn.

Gentlemen,—I beg to report as follows on your property:—The area held by you is fifty acres, and comprises all the best of the slate that is outcropping, and also sufficient land for buildings for manufacturing purposes the Company may require. The deposit is a very large one, and the surface indications are exactly the same as in the Welsh quarries. The quality of the slate is equal to the best of the North Wales slates, and the proportion of waste is about the same. Taking into consideration the ease of working the quarry on account of the nearness to the surface at which good, marketable slate is procurable, you should be able to produce the slates at Chatsbury and place them on the market cheaper than they can be imported, and still give the shareholders a good margin of profit. You have veins of red, purple, green, and grey slate in the quarry, all of the very best. There is a very large mass of good rock in sight, which would take a good many years to work out, with every indication of it continuing downward. Although the surface rock is very good, you may look for a larger proportion of good slate as the quarry is opened out, as it is invariably the case that the slate improves with depth. The company are to be congratulated on being able to obtain roofing slates of such superior quality so near the surface. I have known quarries in Wales to work for two years before getting slates of equal quality to those you are now producing.

I consider your property most valuable, and worthy of a large expenditure to properly develop it.

I am, gentlemen, yours truly, DAVID SAMUEL JONES.

Sydney, August 18, 1913.

The Directors Chatsbury Slate Syndicate, Goulburn.

Gentlemen,—As requested by you, I visited your property, situated at Chatsbury, near Goulburn, on August 15, 1913, to report on the quality of a slate deposit.

I find on examining the samples that you have split, and which I saw split for myself by your expert slate splitter that you have a slate of excellent quality in four different marketable colours, viz., red, purple, grey, and green, varying in size from 24in x 12in down to 10in x 8in.

I have no hesitation in saying that the quality of your material surpasses that of the foreign slates, and is equal to that of various classes of Welsh Bangor slates now being imported into New South Wales for roofing purposes.

As you have been only working your property for about three months, and your samples are practically from the outcrop, I feel secure in saying that when you quarry further in and obtain a more solid face your slates will be considerably improved in quality and colour.

As slates are always in demand as a roofing material, and also for dampcourse, you will have no trouble whatever in finding a market for your goods.

It will take a certain time for development purposes before any great return can be got from the sale of these slates, but I feel sure that persons investing in shares in your company will get a good return from their investment.

Should success be achieved, as I anticipate, there can be no doubt of your being able to compete with foreign competition, as you are very convenient to the railway, thereby saving considerable freight, with other charges, and also a heavy duty.

With good management I feel sure that success will attend your enterprise.

I am, yours faithfully,
G. R. WOODS, Hon. Secretary Master Slaters' Association of N.S.W.

BRADFORD TOPS.

According to our cable message of yesterday's date, the Bradford top market was steady, and quotations for all qualities were unchanged. On the corresponding date last year the market was cabled as firm, and quotations for all qualities continued unchanged. The course of prices for the principle counts compares as follow:—

YEAR 1913.

A BRADFORD VIEW.

In a postscript to the usual market report on Wool and Textiles in the "Yorkshire Observer," of July 25, it was said:—Topmakers have little but hope to sustain them just now, and their most fervent hope, though not by any means their surest expectation, is that they may not have to wait till the end of the holiday season for deliverance from the present inaction. After a busy June and July, a quiet August can be endured with equanimity, but surely, it is urged—often in a tone in which can almost be detected a note of pathetic expostulation—two such lean months as these have been this year cannot be followed by a third leaner still. The contracts placed about Whitsuntide must, it is believed, be nearing exhaustion, and the hope is that the quiet holiday season will be seized on by users as a favourable time to set about buying again. Another straw eagerly clutched at is the improved financial outlook for the autumn and the reassuring statements of leading bankers on this head have been noted with lively interest. It is thought in some quarters that most of the weak selling which the market is now witnessing, arises from pressure put upon holders by the banks after the perusal of the half-yearly balance-sheets. But there is no real evidence that the banks are proving any less accommodating than heretofore, where the needs of legitimate trade are concerned, and the specially low prices that are occasionally heard of are sufficiently explained by the natural desire of holders to keep moving.

EFFECT ON MERINOS.

Pursuing the subject further, particularly with reference to merinos, it was said:—What is a little surprising is that merinos should be made the subject of transactions of this kind. Although stocks of tops are accumulating a little, the amount in reserve is not large enough to cause any concern, and the stocks of wool are rapidly disappearing. In fact, there are topmakers who assert that when users begin to supply their autumn needs in earnest they will be surprised to find how small the supply of merinos actually is, and whatever may be quoted for the new season's wool to be delivered next year, it is predicted that spot prices will be found once more moving upward. It is reported that during the last week or so, French spinners have been displaying a renewed interest in merino wools, and have taken a few hundred bales from the London market. On the strength of the decline in tops Botany spinners are offering yarns for near months at a penny below the highest point, but they are exceedingly cautious about committing themselves beyond October, on account of the unknown American factor. As the result of the rise in wool values, which has taken place during the past year, it is probable that the coming season will see some substitution of fine crossbreds for Botanies, and cases are mentioned of spinners seeking to change their contracts for 64's into 58's and below.

WOOL SHIPMENTS.

Wool shipments have been on a very light scale during the week: three vessels from Sydney carrying a total of only 267 bales for the United Kingdom and foreign ports, as compared with five vessels during the corresponding week last year, clearing with an aggregate of 981 bales. On August 20, the S.S. Themistocles shipped 603 bales from Newcastle for London; this being the first of this season's exports from the northern port. The vessels with quantities for the week from Sydney, and total shipments from the State from July 1 to date, compared to the corresponding period last year, are as follows:—

	Bales.
Themistocles, August 23, for London	83
Coblenz, August 23, for Japan	107
Eastern, August 27, for Japan	77
Total from Sydney since last week's review	267
Total from Sydney and Newcastle from July 1 to date	32,040

WARRAGAMBA IRRIGATION SCHEME.

For years past the irrigating of a large extent of country to the east of Penrith has exercised the minds of many people, but up to the present the long-talked-of Warragamba irrigation scheme has not materialised. The Minister for Lands has stated that to carry out the whole idea of conserving sufficient water to supply Sydney, and for irrigation purposes, would, according to figures supplied to him, be nearly three million pounds, two millions and a quarter being charged against the water supply division of the scheme. This would leave, according to Mr. Trefle, a little better than half a million to be charged against the agricultural side.

Taking it for granted that the latter sum would be sufficient to irrigate the vast area that is at present very little utilised, but with the aid of water could be profitably occupied, the figure does not seem at all large when it is remembered that about 30,000 acres would come within the scope of the scheme. At the present time a large number of small farmers, vignerons, and orchardists live within the area, which contains good land amenable to irrigation, but if the water could be brought to the land thousands of small farms would spring up.

It is claimed that 15 acres without irrigation is a living area there, and many men even now content themselves with less, and as the farthest part of the land which it is proposed to irrigate is very little more than an hour's train journey, and by some trains even less, the scheme, if carried out, should attract a vast number of people to occupy the land who work in the city.

A man with a few acres of orchard or vineyard who could work in Sydney and attend to his place in his spare time, is the class of people who should be attracted, for, with the stand-by of other work, he would be better able to struggle against adverse conditions, which sometimes even beset the irrigationist. In Mildura there are many men with small holdings who are doing well even without other work, and they have not a market so near at hand as Sydney would be from the area to be included in the Warragamba scheme.

Included in the area would be such vine-growing districts as Rooty Hill, which even now can produce both wine and table grapes which can compare with any in the State. With irrigation the industry would receive a marked impetus.

WHEAT EXPERIMENTS.

PLOTS IN GILGANDRA DISTRICT.

GILGANDRA.—Mr. W. R. Bicks, who has recently been appointed Inspector of Agriculture for the western district, visited Gilgandra recently, in company with Mr. J. W. Shaw, assistant inspector. The object of the visit was to inspect Mr. J. Roach's La Bona farm. After the inspection, Mr. Shaw, who superintended the planting, remarked that the plots were rather backward, due to the lateness of their sowing, which was unavoidable. The continued wet weather in May, which kept the land too soft for drilling, delayed the operation until the end of June. The Gilgandra district is a very early one, and the best results in the majority of cases are naturally obtained from the early-sown crops. At the same time care should be taken not to sow a wheat out of its season. For instance, late-maturing wheats, such as Yandilla King and Marshall's No. 3, should be sown first, and early varieties, such as Bunyip, Firbank, etc., should be sown at the end of the season. As a result of the heavy rains which occurred after planting and before germination, the land on the plots has set very hard on the surface. In its present condition the harrows would be of little value, but it has been arranged to have the crops harrowed after the next fall of rain. All the late-sown crops in the district, and especially where the land has set hard on the surface, would no doubt benefit from a harrowing. If the surface is too hard at present, it would be better to delay this operation until after rain, provided the crops are not too far advanced. At the same time, the land must not be harrowed when too wet.

Commenting upon the crops seen in other parts of the west, Mr. Shaw said that in certain districts numbers are already in ear. This has, in the majority of cases, been brought about by the sowing of early varieties too early in the season. The wheats referred to in particular are Bunyip, Comeback, Firbank, and Florence. Farmers who combine wheat-growing with sheep-grazing, have been able to feed off the forward crops, and thus prevent them from coming into ear too early. Where sheep were not available, the early wheats in particular are out in ear, and farmers are at a loss to know exactly what to do. The great danger of having wheat coming into ear too early is that there is every probability of it being badly frosted. If intended for hay, the weather is not, as a rule, at this time of year, favourable for curing, and frost-bitten hay has not the same appearance, and does not command as good a price as that cured under favourable weather conditions.

WHEAT IN MANILLA DISTRICT.

The prospects for the coming wheat harvest in the Manilla district are encouraging. This district has suffered severely from crop failures during the last three seasons, and the town and district stand badly in need of a successful harvest to restore the former flourishing conditions. The area sown is a little in excess of that of last year, and the proportion of fallowed land is much larger than that of a few years ago. Presumably farmers are taking account of past failures and the generally higher returns from land that had been fallowed. The dry spring following on an exceptionally wet winter has caused a good deal of anxiety during the last fortnight, but a few timely showers will put these crops, especially the late-sown ones, which are lagging behind, in a fair way to making rapid growth. Federation and "Droop-head" Federation, a variety which has given splendid returns locally, are the most popular varieties grown, but Steinwedel and Purple Straw are still cultivated by many farmers.

LAND BOARD.

HARGRAVES.—The application of William Welch for 200 acres on the local common came before the Mudgee Land Board yesterday, and, contested by trustees, was not granted, whilst the application made by Miss Mary Fahey for 20 acres on common was allowed.

DAIRYING.

CASINO.—The half-yearly meeting of the Casino Co-operative Dairy Company, Ltd., was held yesterday. The directors' report for the last half-year showed that 57,658 tons of butter were produced, the average price realised being 10 1-5d per lb. During period under review 7067 boxes were exported. The directors recommended that a dividend of 5 per cent. be paid, and that the sum of £137 11s 6d, standing to the credit of the building funds, be transferred to the profit and loss account. Messrs. J. N. Alcock, J. T. Junor, J. B. McDougall, and A. E. Harris were elected directors unopposed.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES.

GUNNING.—In connection with the P.A. and I. Society the following officers have been elected:—President, L. T. Watson; hon. treasurer, J. A. MacConoghy; secretary, J. Reg. Turner.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

SINGLETON.—The long spell of fine weather since the flood in May last has given the farmers a chance to get the ground worked up. Several, however, who were fortunate enough to have their land ready soon after the flood were enabled to sow wheat, which is now well above ground. At present many tillers of the soil are busily engaged ploughing and getting ready for planting the potato crop, and when the frosts have gone, maize and pumpkins will be put in. The lucerne crops are looking really well, and the district well maintains its reputation for this class of fodder. However, a few showers just at present would do good, as the ground is becoming very hard on the surface.

RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION CONTRACT.

Mr. Joseph Mayoh, managing director of Griffiths and Co. (Australia), Ltd., calls attention to the statement made by the hon. C. G. Wade, on Tuesday evening last, published in a prominent position in the "S.M. Herald," on 27th inst., which might have the effect of conveying the impression that there were some doubts as to whether Griffiths and Co., Ltd., could be relied upon to carry out the necessary contracts.

Mr. Wade's statement, as quoted by Hansard, was as follows:—"I am not prepared to dispute those statements so far as they go. At the same time, I feel bound to put before the House the statement which has been made to me, and which is, I believe, based on reliable information, that they, like other people, have had their failures. They had been compelled to surrender contracts in South America, Africa, and, I believe, also in Russia. The information, as conveyed to me, was that these facts were common knowledge in financial circles in England. The Government ought first of all to be apprised of all circumstances in connection with the past of these contractors. They ought to be able to furnish the House with full details with regard to the reputation of these contractors, and unless they have some clear guarantee that Griffiths and Company are unusually efficient and trustworthy, an agreement of this kind ought not to be sanctioned."

"Although Mr. Mayoh knew that the statement was totally incorrect, he thought it advisable to cable for details to the firm in London, with the result that a cable has been received by him in reply to the effect that the statements made by Mr. Wade are absolutely untrue, that the contract referred to in South America is now half completed, and open for traffic, and that half of the retention money has actually been paid over, and that a further length of 756 kilms will be completed in about six months. The African contract is actually completed, and has been open for four years, and Mr. Mayoh has invited the Government to communicate with Sir Douglas Fox and his partner, who are the engineers for the railway referred to, and who will emphatically state that Griffiths and Company, Ltd., arranged the whole of the finance for the work, and completed a £3,000,000 contract in a partly waterless country under great difficulties to the complete satisfaction of Sir Douglas Fox, the engineer for the scheme. With regard to the Russian contract, Mr. Wade's statement is totally incorrect, and the work is now being pushed rapidly forward, there being about 3000 men engaged on the job.

"In addition, the cable states that the firm have just concluded large works for the London County Council to their complete satisfaction, and that they are now carrying out works for the Manchester Corporation, also to the complete satisfaction of that body. Mr. Mayoh states that the cable concludes with a recommendation that the Government inquire by cable immediately through the Agent-General as to whether the information contained above is not absolutely correct.

"Mr. Mayoh states that he is astonished that Mr. Wade should have made use of the remarks he did, unless he took the trouble to satisfy himself beforehand that they were true.

"In conclusion," said Mr. Mayoh, "may I ask you, in fairness to my company, to quote the exact words of the cablegram received by the Government from the Agent-General on November 14 last, and referred to in the statement made by the Minister for Works viz., 'Exhaustive confidential inquiries show firm reliable, resourceful, with good monetary backing, and capable carrying out any undertaking they may enter into with Government.'"

A PECULIARITY ABOUT THE RECENT EPIDEMIC.

A noticeable feature about the recent epidemic, in fact every epidemic, is the large proportion of excessively fat folks affected. This is not to be wondered at, for when the secretions of the thyroid and other glands are inadequate the oxidation process is slower than normal and the individual is gaining [illegible] weight. This over-fatness then is in itself a sign of ill-health, predisposing the body to catching any complaint that may for the time be going about, and accounts for the large number of over fat women who rarely enjoy good health. Every fat woman should guard herself against epidemics and ill-health of any sort by reducing her weight at the earliest possible moment. This can easily be accomplished by taking a short course of "Formettes," the time tried and tested remedy for obesity. Formettes are herbal little tablets that will reduce little or much without exercising or dieting, and which will achieve results quite as remarkable as they will be pleasing. Formettes are sold by all Chemists and Drapers at 3/6 per carton. Agents: Anthony Hordern and Sons; Washington Soul, Pattinson and Co., Chemists; Wholesale, Elliott Bros.; or direct from S. D. GET A MOVE ON.

You are always thinking of what you would do if you had a few hundred pounds, but what have you done to realise that money? If you hope to have it in time to enjoy the full benefit of it, then it is imperative you should start at once and get a move on. "Rickard's Easy Terms" will help you. For £1 deposit and 10s monthly you can become the owner of a splendid allotment of land, and land bought now will increase greatly in value in a very short time.

HEART OF AUBURN ESTATE

is an investment we can thoroughly recommend, for Auburn is fast becoming one of the greatest manufacturing centres in Australia. In time, as new industries spring up, and the population increases, this land, being quite near the busy centre, will be in great demand, and will command much higher prices than at present. So now is your time to buy. It is under ten minutes from the station, in a select locality, and consists for the greater part of fine level building blocks. City water and gas are available, and splendid views can be obtained right out over the flat plains of the Granville and Clyde district.

The lots average 40 x 120 to 130 ft., every one fronts well-made roads, and are priced from 15/ a foot.

84B PITT-STREET, AUCTIONEERS AND REALTY SPECIALISTS.

TOOHEY AND TOOHEY,

REAL ESTATE AND FINANCIAL AGENTS,

TOOHEY'S CORNER, 124 AVENUE-ROAD, MOSMAN,

ARE STILL TALKING, and are desirous of expressing OUR THANKS to Owners who have furnished us with particulars of PROPERTIES FOR SALE and TO LET.

TOOHEY and TOOHEY are NOW TOO BUSILY ENGAGED in dealing with those Properties to prepare a long "TALK" with owners to-day.

TOOHEY and TOOHEY HAVE NOW INSTRUCTED OUR PHOTOGRAPHER to PHOTOGRAPH the HOUSES and COTTAGES we HAVE FOR SALE, in order to place them in a LARGE, ARTISTIC, and ATTRACTIVE SHOW CASE, on the MOSMAN and CREMORNE WHARVES, in the MOST PROMINENT OF ALL POSITIONS THERE. THESE SHOW CASES will be placed in such positions that it will be QUITE IMPOSSIBLE for INTENDING PURCHASERS to MISS SEEING THEM, unless they are blind, and we are catering for men and women of STABLE MENTALITY, and who are in possession of ALL of NATURE'S FACULTIES.

TOOHEY and TOOHEY WILL CONCLUDE, justifiably or otherwise, that owners WHO NEGLECT to furnish us with particulars of Properties FOR SALE or TO LET by NEXT WEDNESDAY, THE THIRD DAY OF SEPTEMBER, are NOT ANXIOUS TO SELL, and we are ANXIOUS to SECURE PROPERTIES ONLY that are POSITIVELY FOR SALE, as TOOHEY and TOOHEY are DETERMINED to offer SOME INCENTIVE and WORDS OF ENCOURAGEMENT to PROSPECTIVE PURCHASERS. THE OWNER who has read our appeals in the past, in these columns, and has NOT RESPONDED to our solicitations, would, we presume, gladly accept his breakfast in bed. We ARE NOT CATERING FOR OWNERS who are ASKING FABULOUSLY HIGH and RIDICULOUS PRICES, as WE CANNOT HOPE to get PURCHASERS to pay 30/ IN THE £ VALUE, no MORE THAN WE CAN MAKE WATER RUN UPHILL.

TOOHEY and TOOHEY recognise that the measure of our success is the measure of our strength, and that a chain is just as strong as its weakest link. TOOHEY and TOOHEY have NO WEAK LINK in OUR COMPOSITION.

OWNERS WHO DO NOT furnish us with particulars of Property they have FOR SALE and TO LET by 3rd SEPTEMBER WILL KICK THEMSELVES "SOME" when they find us EFFECTING SALES ALL ROUND THEM, and see our EXTENSIVE SYSTEM of ADVERTISING IN THESE COLUMNS of PROPERTIES FOR SALE, AND SEE our SHOW CASES at the MOSMAN and CREMORNE WHARVES, STUDDED WITH PHOTOS of other people's property, who WERE "ALIVE," and who hearkened TO OUR CALL.

TOOHEY and TOOHEY FINANCE PURCHASERS OFF OUR OWN BAT, and TOOHEY and TOOHEY DECIDE RIGHT ON THE SPOT—NOT A WEEK OR MORE AFTER.

TELEPHONE, 1249 MOSMAN.

LAND VALUES.

Every man thinks he knows all about politics. It is as simple as falling off a log. There are just as many who think they know all about land values. A well-known Bank Manager, who knew all about it, was astounded a few years ago on hearing that land at Manly brought £40 per foot. After that he expected the Deluge. Well, what happened? The other day £200 per foot was refused for land on the Corso, and we still live! A tight money market causes a lull for a time, but nothing can now stop the progress of Sydney and Suburbs. It has grown too big to be set back like a naughty child. There is no Estate around Sydney to-day that has greater potentialities—with apologies to Foster Fraser—than the Dobroyd Point Estate, Haberfield. It will pay you to look it up and secure a lot or two. There are already about 50 residences on the Estate, and it it growing daily, and, since there is only one DOBROYD POINT on the West of the City, values must grow also. Get a plan from the HAYMARKET P., L., B., and I. CO., Ltd., 750 George-street, Haymarket.

HAVE YOU EVER BEEN "HUNG UP" FOR TIMBER?

It's a dear experience for any Builder—and a common one with those who rely upon small Timber Yards.

Timber is strong here, but we can fill your Joinery, Painter's Needs, Hardware, and Glass requirements with equal despatch.

Men idle—work at a standstill—expenses totting up—all through the inability of a Timber Yard to keep up deliveries.

Cut out the danger! Here—at your service—ready for instant delivery where and when wanted—is a stock of Maple, Oregon, Redwood, Baltic, New Zealand White Pine, Kauri, and other Timbers running into millions of feet. And—our seasoning facilities prevent the possibility of sending out Green Timber.

ROSEBERY,

MODEL AND INDUSTRIAL

SUBURB.

REAL CHANCES IN REAL ESTATE.

Don't wait to buy Rosebery land until it costs more. It is sure to cost more—it increases in value from month to month. Why not buy now and make that extra profit your own? The early buyers already show a decided enhancement on their outlays.

And, remember that you do not need to be possessed of much ready money to become an owner of Rosebery real estate. The management offers you the benefit of

THE EASIEST OF LIBERAL TERMS.

From any responsible person we will accept a deposit as low as £50, and the balance of purchase money at the rate of 25s per week. These weekly payments include discharge of principal and interest. In other words, no other payment, except the weekly amount, is asked for. Although the present commercial rate of interest is high, our financial arrangements permit us to offer terms on a 6 per cent. basis. This low rate of interest, at the terms, is unavailable anywhere else.

SPLENDIDLY SITUATED.

The location of Rosebery provides the finest opportunity for the development of an unsurpassed home area. Situated between Rosebery and Victoria Park racecourses, and adjoining the Kensington Golf Links, the natural advantages lend themselves to the best treatment along the lines established by the experience of modern suburb-planning. We offer one splendid Cottage at the special and unparalleled price of £675. You should examine this Cottage. It is the Home Bargain of Australia.

WHAT HAPPENED LONG AGO TO SIR ISAAC NEWTON.

Great ideas and discoveries sometimes strike one forcibly, like a bolt from the blue. That was the case with Sir Isaac Newton. While seated beneath an oak tree he was struck on the head by a falling acorn—or maybe it was an apple from an apple-tree. From this trifling incident, in the regular course of Nature, came the world's present knowledge of the law of gravitation.

The same law would have governed this incident had Sir Isaac been sitting under a cocoanut tree, or had a pumpkin grown where this particular acorn did. But the result, no doubt, would have been somewhat different, and we might still be waiting for the discoverer of gravity.

The moral to draw from this story is that all great things are made up of little things, and the success of your business is closely bound up with your choice of machinery and accessories. Give our expert the opportunity of discussing your needs with you, and he will be of practical assistance in the wise choice of modern, fast, and efficient machines. Among other agencies we hold is the famous firm of T. and R. Lees—makers of high-grade woodworking machinery.

THE LATEST ABOUT OIL ENGINES.

Oil Engines which can use only refined oil are now heavily handicapped. The Famous CROSSLEY Engines still lead. They work not only on refined oils, but also on almost any crude or residual oils, which are now only a quarter of the cost of refined oil.

Buyers of Oil Engines are strongly recommended to install the very latest, and at no increased cost.

Stationery and Patent Medicines	58	5	3

The Stock has been taken in the customary manner by my representative, Mr. O'Grady, who reports upon same as being clean, and more particularly in the Grocery and Ironmongery very well assorted and saleable. The Plant is also described as particularly good.

The district is regarded as "solid," and as some large holdings are being made available for closer settlement the prospects of development for a compact business of this description are excellent. The rental of the store is moderate, and any reasonable lease could probably be obtained.

Tooma forms a connecting link between Tumberumba, New South Wales, and Corryong, Victoria, being approximately a distance of 25 miles from the former and 35 miles from the latter.

The usual 10 per cent. conditions. The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted. Stock Sheets may be seen and all information obtained on the premises or at my office.

BUILDING MATERIALS.

A BAD IMITATION IS OFTEN COSTLY TO USE.

FIBRO-CEMENT
(HARDIE'S GENUINE) SHEETS.
After standing Government and other tests in Australia for over ten years, have proved to be everything they are claimed.

EXPERIENCE
thus gained has enabled us to procure these Sheets specially suitable for the Australian climate, and they do not crack or buckle.

MADE IN ENGLAND.
Extensively used for Exterior and Interior Walls, Partitions and Ceilings.

PROOF AGAINST FIRE, ROT, HEAT, AND ANTS.

On account of the rigidity of FIBRO-CEMENT, the studs to receive the sheets need only be spaced 2ft centres.

ERECTED COST SAME AS WEATHERBOARDS.
Sizes—8ft x 4ft, 4ft x 4ft, and 6ft x 3ft.

F. C. WATER PAINT (in Paste Form).
Specially prepared for use on FIBRO-CEMENT SHEETS, for Exterior and Interior Use.

FIBRO-CEMENT SLATES, in Grey, Purple, Red, and Dark Colours, make an ideal roofing for the Australian Climate.

"POILITE" ASBESTOS CEMENT SHEETS.
"Genuine British Made."
They are made specially for the careful builder who likes to see a neatly-finished job—yet they are the easiest building material of all to erect, and the cheapest in the end.
Absolutely no waste whatever—due to their being made in these unusual sizes: 4ft x 4ft, 6ft x 3ft, 8ft x 4ft, 12ft x 4ft.
No water or fire can harm Poilite Sheets, nor could the weather, acid, or vermin damage them. They are proof against the worst sort of influence.
Used with every success for walls, ceilings, partitions, linings, and fences.
The Double Compressed Sheets are made smooth both sides for outside walls.

USE "KEYLOCK" LATHING
FOR THE PARTICULAR JOBS.
It will do justice to the best efforts. It matters not the kind of structure you are erecting, whether cottage, house, church, factory, garage, hotel, week-end place, outhouse, or fence—Keylock will look best and last longest.
"Keylock" was invented by a practical Sydney builder who fully realised the shortcomings of other materials. "Keylock" lacks nothing. It is as strong and durable as brick, needs no painting, and therefore cheaper than weatherboard. No material made—not even brick—looks quite so neat and trim as "Keylock" for cottages.

400. PONIES AND DRAUGHT HORSES. 400.
Including—
170 Splendid Ponies, being the tops of the Famous Brigalow Pony Stud, all one brand, and include about 40 Young Ponies eminently suited for Polo, and Mares in foal, 150 are 3, 4, and 5 years old.
70 Extra Special Draught Mares and Geldings, from the Best Breeders of Draught Horses in the Goulburn Valley, and include 31 Mares and Fillies, entered or eligible for the Stud Book.
160 Heavy and Light Draught Horses, which include a good number of Geldings fit for stone carting, and a number of 1 and 2 year old Draught Colts and Fillies.

The Auctioneers wish to draw special attention to the Brigalow Ponies and the Goulburn Valley Draughts. They have been carefully picked, and on inspection will be found a very superior lot, and we have no hesitation in strongly recommending them.

Trucks have been secured to load for any destination the day after the sale.

The full number will positively be yarded, and are for bona fide sale.

Every attention is given to buyers coming from a distance.

PLANS READY.

A GLORIOUS HOME, WITH A LARGE AREA OF GROUND.

HIGH POSITION, WITH EASTERLY ASPECT, OPPOSITE THE BURWOOD PARK, and convenient to
TWO IMPORTANT RAILWAY STATIONS.
"BURWOOD HOUSE," PARK-ROAD, BURWOOD.

THIS HISTORIC BUNGALOW RESIDENCE is substantially built of brick, almost entirely, with slate and iron roof, and contains Hall, large Drawing and Dining Rooms, Breakfast-room, 5 Bedrooms, Bathroom, and Storeroom; large Detached Brick Kitchen, with sheltered right-of-way, and tiled Courtyard.
Outside is a range of Buildings, comprising Laundry, Servants' Rooms, Laboratory, Photographer's Darkroom, large Room for Vehicles (or Motor Garage), Stable, and Sheds.

THE LAND has a frontage of 208 feet to PARK-ROAD (opposite the Park), with the great depth on one side of 271 feet, and on the other side 271 feet along a right-of-way, dividing this Property from "Ilfracombe," the residence of R. W. Hardie, Esq., and having the advantage of a right-of-way (8½ feet) at the rear to Gordon-street. Gas and water laid on, and Sewer connected.

THE GROUNDS are laid-out in drives, flowering beds, tennis court, etc, in front. At rear are kitchen garden, fowl runs, drying grounds, small paddock, etc. There is a splendid growth of well-matured trees and shrubs, rose bushes, fruit trees, etc. Also a small conservatory and two bushhouses, the whole being very complete and in excellent condition, specially suitable for a country gentleman requiring to be close to the City, having the openness and characteristics of the country.

THE LOCALITY is well improved by good Residential Properties, close to Churches and Schools, and most convenient to
STRATHFIELD RAILWAY JUNCTION.

THE TITLE IS TORRENS, and Terms can be arranged if desired.
Possession within two months.

SISTER, THE WHOLE DAY LONG, BROTHER, THEY ARE SAYING that if you have any sense

YOU WILL INSPECT

THE "LILLI PILLI" ESTATE,

ON THE OCEAN BEACH AT

NEWPORT, PITTWATER,

and subsequently as a Purchaser enjoy the WILD WAVES, Surfing on a particularly safe and BEAUTIFUL BEACH.

NEWPORT, U.S.A.,
is the resort of America's richest people.

NEWPORT, N. S. WALES, will one day enjoy equal prosperity.

The position is Unique. The Australian Coast has nothing better to show, either as to marvellous charm of scenic surroundings or physical character of the locality. ONLY a mile separates the OCEAN BEACH from the quiet waters of PITTWATER HARBOUR.

REMEMBER,

NEWPORT everywhere is a Synonym for

PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY.
And our own Newport will not lag behind. Evidences in abundance proclaim—THAT a great change has started, and only an earthquake locally can prevent the District rising to SUPREME EMINENCE
as the most perfect jewel in the CROWN of the QUEEN CITY of Australasia.

In the course of a few years Good Building Sites will be unattainable except by the wealthy. Improve the present opportunity by not forgetting "that there is a time and tide in the affairs of man, if taken at the flood, leads on to fortune."
THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY.
YOU alone can decide your fate.

JUST A REMINDER

to those unfortunates who have never visited the Pittwater District, that they can efface the disgrace any day by taking the tram from Manly to Narrabeen, thence by Motor Car to Newport and elsewhere; or as an alternative, take train to the Hawkesbury, thence per steamer to Newport, on Tuesdays and Saturdays. (See Tourist Bureau.)

Take Notice also that if objection to the application is not lodged by you, the Board may make such Award as the Board may think fit in respect of the said application. Take Notice also that you may be heard before the said Board on any objections before the Board. Take Notice also that the Board may make an Award differing from the particulars contained in the application referred to hereunder. Particulars referred to, viz.: That the Award of the said Board of the 19th day of February, 1913, as varied by the Court of Industrial Arbitration on the 6th day of June, 1913, be varied so far as it applies to the COLONIAL SUGAR REFINING COMPANY, Limited, in regard to the following matters, viz.: Hours of working; rates of pay to drivers of one horse; Sunday and holiday stable work; not to work longer than 24 hours continuously. Dated this 28th day of August, 1913. NORMAN C. SEALE, Chairman of the Board.

HERE IT IS, LIMITED.

THE CREDITORS of the abovenamed Company whose claims have not been admitted are required forthwith to send their names and addresses and the particulars of their debts or claims, together with proof thereof, and the name and address of their solicitors (if any), to me, the Liquidator of the said Company, at my office, 77 Castlereagh-street, Sydney.

In the event of any Creditor not sending in such particulars and proof on or before the fourth day of October, 1913, he will be excluded from the benefit of any distribution made before his debt or claim is proved.

Dated this sixth day of August, 1913.

GEORGE BARNARD,
Liquidator.

ENGLISH AGENCY.—The Undersigned, established upwards of 60 years, confine themselves exclusively to a General Commission Business, are well acquainted with Australian requirements, and possess special facilities for purchasing goods to the best advantage in the English and Continental markets.

Indents should be accompanied by cash remittances, or bank letters of credit, to ensure full trade discounts. Accounts sales of produce under consignment rendered promptly, and net proceeds remitted or invested to order.

The Shipping Department has been largely developed of late years, and where indents are sent direct to manufacturers the shipment and insurance of the goods are effected upon the most favourable terms.

THE SESSION.

PROSPECTS OF AN EARLY CLOSE.

During the recent debate on the Supply Bill for over £8,000,000 the question was raised How long is the session of the State Parliament likely to last? Several members of the Opposition expressed the belief that, once the Government was granted all the financial supply necessary to carry them on to the end of the life of the Parliament, the prorogation of the Houses could be looked for any day, and now that supply has been granted the matter is being keenly discussed in political circles.

A good many members hold the view that the end of September will see the close of the last session. There are a good many bills on the Government programme which members of the Opposition are not disposed to regard seriously, but are inclined to think have been merely introduced and advanced up to a certain stage for political window-dressing purposes. There are several items which the Opposition regard as likely to be pushed to a finality, and once the fate of these is known the prorogation notice on the door of Parliament, they say, may be expected. The most important of these matters, from the Opposition standpoint, are the Norton Griffiths railway scheme and the city railway proposal.

The Treasurer, Mr. Cann, stated yesterday that provision had been made in the Supply Bill just passed for certain preliminary work in connection with the city railway scheme. The fact that no money has been appropriated for the purpose of carrying out this underground system appeals to Liberal members as an indication that the work may not be carried out in the ordinary way, but on a percentage basis, by Norton Griffiths, Australia, Ltd. The Minister for Works has a motion affirming the expediency of carrying out the project on the business paper, and this will probably come on for discussion at the end of the week.

In the opinion of many members the fact that the Government has elected not to make a party matter of the endorsement of the Norton Griffiths agreement will produce an interesting situation. The Minister for Public Works has been counting on certain railway lines being carried out under the supervision of this firm, and it is no secret that the non-endorsement of the agreement will throw his calculations out of gear, and also necessitate an appeal by the Treasurer to the London money market, if the undertakings tentatively covered by the agreement are to be expedited. How Mr. Griffith and Mr. Cann will adjust themselves to the position that will follow on the possible rejection of the agreement is forming the subject of interesting speculations in the lobbies.

Members of the Opposition regard the fact that the House is only to sit once during the coming week as an evidence that the Government is in no desperate hurry to carry out the many features of the business-paper, and as an additional sign that when one or two matters are disposed of the session will terminate with more or less abruptness. As regards the State election, the general view in the lobbies is that that will only take place after Parliament has run the whole length of the statutory triennial period. Since payment of members was introduced in New South Wales most Parliaments have run the full term, and this Parliament is not likely to prove an exception to the now general rule.

STATE PARLIAMENT.

ALL-NIGHT SITTING.

SLEEPY SCENE IN THE ASSEMBLY.

Thursday's sitting of the Legislative Assembly lasted till five minutes past 5 o'clock yesterday morning.

CLOSER SETTLEMENT BILL.

After midnight on Thursday, the second reading of the Closer Settlement Bill was obtained by the application of the closure. The bill was then formally taken into Committee, and progress reported. Before the gag was applied to the measure itself, Mr. Crawford moved that Mr. Wood, who was speaking, be no longer heard. The motion was carried on a party division.

LANDS ACT CONSOLIDATION.

There were fifteen members in the Chamber—eight asleep and the remainder taking little or no interest in the proceedings—when Mr. Trefle moved that the debate be resumed on the second reading of the Crown Lands Consolidation Bill. Several Oppositionists said it was unfair to expect members to consider such an important measure in the early hours of the morning. Members, they contended, were very tired after two late sittings. But Ministers decided to go on. They would have forced the measure through all stages if Mr. Cohen had not pointed out what appeared to be duplications and inconsistencies. An arrangement was arrived at between the Government and the Opposition whereby members who have any suggestions to make will submit them to Mr. Trefle in writing before Thursday next. The second reading was carried on the voices, and the bill formally taken into Committee.

COALMINES' REGULATION.

The third reading of the Coalmines' Regulation (Amending) Bill was agreed to on the voices.

SAVINGS BANK AMALGAMATION.

The House resolved itself into Committee to consider the expediency of bringing in a bill to dissolve the Savings Bank of New South Wales and to vest the property, rights, and liabilities of the said bank in the Government Savings Bank.

The Minister for Education said the same bill had been introduced into the Chamber on two previous occasions. It was not necessary, he considered, to make any further explanation at the moment.

Mr. Fitzpatrick: Aren't you going to tell us the assets of the Barrack-street bank?

The Minister for Education: I have not the figures by me, but I don't think the figures have undergone much change since the bill was tabled last session.

Mr. Fitzpatrick: The Government simply wants to lay its hands on the money in the Barrack-street Bank. The depositors should be consulted.

The motion was carried, and the bill read a first time on the voices.

BROKEN HILL STRIKE.

Mr. Wood, Mr. Fitzpatrick, and Colonel Onslow asked why the law had not been set in motion in connection with the Broken Hill strike. The last-named said the Government was afraid to take action.

The Premier said he was quite unaware of any reason for Parliamentary action. The police reports had not shown any ground for any panic. It was to be regretted, of course, that business had been dislocated. He would confer with the Minister for Labour.

SPECIAL ADJOURNMENT.

In moving that the House at its rising adjourn till Thursday, instead of Tuesday next, the Premier said the special adjournment was proposed to mark the visit of the British Parliamentarians, who were to be entertained at Parliament House on Tuesday, and by the State Governor on Wednesday.

"In view of the fact that, according to the Premier, there is not sufficient time to debate important business," said Mr. Wood, "I object to closing the House on Wednesday night."

Mr. Meehan (smiling): I'll have to report you to Mr. David Storey. He'll be shocked when he hears about your disloyal utterance.

Mr. Wood: There is no question of disloyalty. I have gone to Government House in a representative capacity, and as a private citizen on occasions, but surely all the members will not be at the ball on Wednesday. If they are it will be unprecedented.

The motion was agreed to.

The House, at 5.5 a.m. yesterday, adjourned until 4.30 p.m. on Thursday next.

THE CHINN CASE.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Evidence will be taken on Monday by the Select Committee of Senators, appointed to inquire into the circumstances attending the dismissal of Henry Chinn, engineer in charge of the construction of the Western Australian section of the transcontinental railway.

The committee met to-day in the Senate. Mr. De Largie was appointed chairman. Chinn will be the first witness called, and among others will be Henry Dean, Federal consulting engineer in charge of the federal railway works.

FERRY DISPUTE

DECISION OF THE COMPANY.

SETTLEMENT INDICATED.

The proposal by the Industrial Commissioner, Mr. J. B. Holme, that the directors of the Port Jackson and Manly Steamship Company, Limited, should find another position in the company's service for Engineer Johnston, who was recently dismissed, was considered yesterday by the directors, who decided, by resolution, that should a vacancy occur in the service of the company, and, should the management consider Johnston capable of filling it, his long service would receive due consideration in the making of the appointment. This was communicated by Inspector Kirby to Captain J. J. Allan, the secretary of the Federated Masters and Engineers' Association, who said it would receive the consideration of his management committee.

It is understood that a place will shortly be found for Johnston, inasmuch as the company intends to enlarge its service of steamers.

SCHOOL UPKEEP.

LARGE EXPENDITURE ON BUILDINGS.

EXTRAVAGANCE DENIED.

Speaking at Mudgee last night, the Minister for Education referred to the cost of school upkeep.

Mr. Carmichael said that the Government had been accused of extravagance He claimed that, far from being extravagant, they had repeatedly had to defer needed improvements to schools because there were more urgent cases requiring attention. What would be thought of a manager who left his successor a legacy of debts, and, because he was kicked out of his billet, accused his successor of extravagance because an honest attempt was being made to pay those debts? This was what the Opposition had done But there were some debts that could never be repaid. Badly-lighted and ill-ventilated schools erected in the past had left their mark upon the eyesight and general health of both teachers and pupils, although no sum of money was too great to ensure that the children should be taught under conditions that would ensure that they should not suffer.

They had not only had to provide accommodation for an unprecedented increase in school enrolment; they had not only had to maintain the schools in decent repair; but they had to remodel old buildings that were hygienically unfit to teach in. All this cost money; and yet some surprise had been expressed at the large amount that had been spent by the present Government upon school buildings. Last year they spent £287,522 in school buildings and sites, and at the present time works in progress at hundreds of schools involve a total expenditure of £270,000 These, of course, would not all be completed this year, but every day applications were being received from Parents and Citizens' Associations for repairs and additions to schools

It was hardly credible that during one year—1905—the total amount spent upon new buildings, sites, and on the upkeep of nearly 3000 schools, was only £56,000. Was it any wonder that they now had to put on three brushfuls of paint where one ought to be enough? He could give striking figures in regard to school building expenditure. For the six years ended 1909 the expenditure on school buildings and sites was £619,759, and the similar expenditure for 1910-11-12 (three years) was £654,904, being an increase for the last three years over the previous six years of £35,145.

The figures in connection with school sites alone were even more striking than when they were included with school buildings. The amount spent on sites in six years (1904-9) was £20,795, and the amount spent on sites in three years (1910-12) was £39,791, representing an increase in the three years over the previous six years of £18,996. Nor was this all. At the present moment the department stands committed to an expenditure of £38,000 upon absolutely necessary school sites.

"EXTRAVAGANT ECONOMY."

If previous Governments had had the courage to face charges of extravagance, and had shown any foresight as to educational requirements, this amount would have been reduced by half, at any rate. It was only fair to the administrative officers to say that they recognised the necessity for such provision; but inertia masquerading in the rags of an extravagant economy the consequence was that hundreds of cases—urgent cases—were either deferred or permanently shelved.

When the Labour Government came into power the Education Department was recognised as one of the most important Government departments. It was no longer Cinderella.

Some of the examples shown in Professor Irvine's report on "The People's Homes" might well be taken to heart in this State. For revenue-producing purposes, municipal councils had allowed various sporting bodies to monopolise a large area of local parks, but in comparatively few instances had anything been done to afford children, who, he thought, had the greatest claim to the occupancy of public parks, any consideration. The present Government had at least made a start in remedying this state of affairs, and when he returned to Sydney one of the most pleasing duties he had to perform as Minister for Education awaited him. The department had secured the sympathetic co-operation of the Municipal Council, and a part of the Victoria Park near the University had been set apart for the exclusive use of little children. A pavilion had been erected, and the council was now occupied in beautifying the grounds. There was something inspiriting in the thought that the first children's playground for the little sub-kindergarteners instituted by the State lay under the shadow of the University. Many other councils had offered to co-operate with the department, and a complete scheme has been formulated that would in years to come increasingly meet the increasing demands for the children.

LECTURE ON DRESDEN.

The fifth lecture of the German Series was delivered in the Royal Society's Hall on Friday evening by Mrs. Harold Hunt, the chair being taken by Mrs. Septimus Harwood, M.A.

"Dresden und Umgebung" was the subject, and the lecturer described the various historical buildings of the city, the public parks with their numerous attractions in the shape of good music, and well-appointed restaurants. Touching upon a few of the best-known pictures in the gallery, Mrs. Hunt said it was well worth while to go to Dresden, were it only to see Raphael's "Sistine Madonna." Many of the romantic, old castles on the Elbe were described, and a delightful visit was paid to the beauty spots of Saxon, Switzerland—also to the Fortress of Konigstein, near the frontier of Bohemia.

Mrs. Hunt then dwelt upon the charms of the Riesen Gebirge, known to us as the Giant Mountains, about which all manner of legend clings.

The next and last lecture will be given on Monday, September 8, by the Consul-General for Germany, Herr. Kiliani, on "Das Deutschtum im Auslande."

COMMONWEALTH OFFICES.

£16,000 SAVED.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Had the system of employing only trade unionists been insisted upon in connection with the building of the Commonwealth Offices in the Strand, London, they would have cost £16,000 more than the price quoted in the tender, which has been accepted. Eighteen tenders were sent in, and fifteen did not base their prices on the preference to unionists conditions. Of the three preference tenders received, the lowest was £223,000. The tender accepted was £207,000.

SHORTAGE OF TRUCKS.

LITHGOW, Friday.

Mr. Cook, manager of the Invincible colliery at Cullen Bullen, complains of the effect which the scarcity of trucks has had on the mine's operations and on the earnings of the men for several months. "There are now," said Mr. Cook, "between 80 and 100 men and boys employed in and around the colliery, and as far as my memory goes they have not succeeded in making more than half-time for the last three months. The company, which suffers also in reduction of output, would be very pleased to remedy the evil if it were possible. But the remedy lies in the hands of the Railway Commissioners, and until they are prepared to supply the colliery with sufficient trucks to meet the demands of our trade we are helpless to improve matters either for ourselves or for the men."

DAVIS.—In loving memory of my darling mother and loving friend, Margaret Davis, who departed this life August 30, 1912.

The one we loved is now laid low,
The voice we loved is still;
The hand that always helped us on Lies low in death's cold chill.
'Tis just one year ago to-day
Since our dear mother passed away.

Inserted by her loving son, and loving friend, Grace.

DAVIS.—Sacred to the memory of our darling mother, Margaret Davis, who died very suddenly, August 30, 1912.

Still we mourn thee,
Still we miss thee;
Deep within our hearts enshrined
Lives the memory of our mother,
Always faithful, true and kind.
A painful shock, a dreadful blow;
Oh, mother, dear, we miss you so.
Oh, how our hearts do ache
When we think of how you died—
To think you could not speak to us
Before you closed your eyes.

DAVIS.—In fond memory of our dear friend and companion, Margaret Davis, who departed this life August 31, 1912. Inserted by her friends, C. and I. Ries.

DRISCOLL.—A tribute of love and everlasting remembrance to the memory of our darling and noble mother, Elizabeth Driscoll, who died suddenly at Gela, Stanley-street, Arncliffe (many years of Balmain), August 31, 1912, aged 68 years.

Fond thoughts, they linger around our hearts,
Our tears they often flow,
And to the grave where mother's laid
Our footsteps often go.
How we miss you, darling mother,
It's God alone can tell;
We spend many lonely hours,
And shed many bitter tears as well.
Friends may think we have forgotten you,
When at times they see us smile,
But they little know what an aching heart
Those smiles hide all the while.

Inserted by her sorrowing daughters, Lily and Alice Driscoll.

DRISCOLL.—A loving tribute to the memory of our darling mother and grandma, Elizabeth Driscoll, who passed peacefully away at Gila, Stanley-street, Arncliffe, on the 31st of August, 1912, aged 68 years.

Her suffering was great, the pain severe,
She bore it with patience till God drew near;
And then without bidding us a last farewell,
She quietly went home to heaven to dwell.
Farewell, darling mother, your days are past,
You loved us while your life did last.
You always strove to do your best,
Till the angels carried you home to rest.

Never forgotten by her loving daughter and son-in-law, Lizzie and Will, and grandchildren, Willie, Edna, Leslie, Queenie Watkins.

DRISCOLL.—A tribute of everlasting love to the memory of our darling mother and grandma, Elizabeth Driscoll, who died suddenly, at Gila, Stanley-street, Arncliffe, on the 31st of August, 1912, aged 68 years.

I often sit and think of mother when I am all alone,
For memory is the only thing that grief can call its own.
I who loved you, sadly miss you,
Though I knew that God knew best.
When He eased your pain and suffering,
And He laid you down to rest.
Dearest mother, how I miss you,
None but my poor heart can tell,
God has called you, I have lost you;
Only for a while farewell.

Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law, Maggie and Charlie and grandchildren, Marjorie and Stanley Binstead.

DRISCOLL.—In sad but loving memory of our darling and devoted mother, Elizabeth Driscoll, who died at Gila, Stanley-street, Arncliffe (many years of Balmain), August 31, 1912, aged 68 years.

Dearest mother, you were torn from our side when we treasured you most;
When our reason could measure your worth.
And we know now too well the idol we've lost
Can never be replaced on this earth.
When a mother breathes her last farewell
The blow is more than tongue can tell.
A mother more true never dwelt on this earth,
Or proved to her children a true mother's worth.

Inserted by her sorrowing daughter and son-in-law, Cissy and Peter Spalding.

DRISCOLL.—A tribute of everlasting love and sweet remembrance of our dear grandma, Elizabeth Driscoll, who died (suddenly) at Gila, Stanley-street, Arncliffe, August 31, 1912, aged 68 years.

Darling grandma, to know her was to love her—
She was so kind and good,
Such a comfort when in trouble,
For we knew she understood.

Inserted by her sorrowing grandchildren, Peter, Lily, Elsie, Annie, Hilda, and Gladys Spalding.

DRISCOLL.—In loving memory of our dear friend, Mrs. Driscoll, who fell asleep in Jesus, August 31, 1912. Until the day dawns, and the shadows flee away. Inserted by E. C., one who knew her and loved her.

DRISCOLL.—In loving memory of our dearly loved sister, Elizabeth Driscoll, who departed this life August 31, 1912, in her 69th year. Loved and highly respected by all who knew her.

With patience to the last she did submit,
And murmured not at what the Lord thought fit;
But with a Christian courage did resign
Her soul to God at appointment time.

Inserted by her loving sister and brother-in-law, Francis and Mary Ann Llewellyn.

DRISCOLL.—In affectionate and loving remembrance of my dearest friend and guardian, Elizabeth Driscoll, who died at Gila, Stanley-street, Arncliffe, on the 31st of August, 1912, aged 68 years. At rest.

The one I loved is now laid low,
The voice I loved is still;
The hand that always helped me on,
Now lies in death's cold chill.

Inserted by Nellie Peterson.

DUMBRELL.—In sad and loving memory of our dear father, Edmund Dumbrell, who departed this life August 30, 1913.

Father, we did not know what pain you bore,
Nor did we see you die;
We only know you passed away,
And never said good-bye.

Inserted by his loving daughters and son, Ruby, Pearl, Irene, and Tom.

I think of you in silence,
No eyes can see me weep:
And many a silent tear I shed
When others are asleep.
I miss thee from my home, dear wife,
I miss thee from thy place;
A shadow o'er my life is cast,
I miss the sunshine of thy face,
I miss thy kind and willing hand,
Thy fond and earnest care;
My home is dark without thee,
I miss thee everywhere.

Inserted by her loving husband, George Seymour.

SWANSON.—In fond and loving memory of our dear dad, Peter Swanson, who departed this life August 30, 1909, aged 53 years.

With tearful eyes we watched you, dad,
Going on your lonely way;
Although we loved you, dada, dear,
We could not make you stay.
Oh, how our hearts are breaking,
When we think of how you died,
To think you could not speak to us
Before you closed your eyes.
Far and oft our thoughts do wander
To a grave far, far away,
Where they laid our dearest father
Just four years ago to-day.

I have lost my soul's companion,
A life linked with my own,
One in love, hope, and feeling,
Death divided—now all alone.
Day by day I miss his loving footsteps,
No tongue can tell, no word can say,
His action, so noble, generous, and kind,
Few in this world his equal to find.
Not gone from memory, not gone from love,
But waiting for me in heaven above.

Inserted by his loving wife, Mary, and children, Willie, Aileen, Lily, Alfie, and Zara Tumeth.

TUMETH.—In loving memory of our dear father, Alfred John Tumeth, who departed this life August 31, 1912, aged 41 years.

One year ago, no tongue can tell,
How anxiously we stood
Beside our darling father's bed,
To keep him if we could.
Fond thoughts they linger round our hearts,
Our tears they often flow,
And to the grave where father is laid
Our footsteps often go.

Inserted by his loving daughter and son-in-law, Gentilla and Thomas Stone.

WHITE.—In sad but loving memory of my dear wife and our mother, who departed this life at Granville August 31, 1912.

Sweet to the memory, dear to our hearts,

THE NEW PROSCRIPTIONS.

Much has happened during the past year to comfort that large class of people who think that when all is bad it must be good to know the worst. In the Near East the defeat of the infidel by the Christian has been followed by a fratricidal war. The idea of a crusade has been disturbed by the reality of a struggle for gain among the victorious allies. The picture of a race of peasants fitting themselves by discipline and preparation to rule in one corner of Europe has been obscured by descriptions of orgies of savagery scarcely to be paralleled in the religious wars of the Western nations. In the Far East no sign has as yet been revealed of the process of regeneration which it was predicted would follow the inauguration of a republic. The Republic has been established with every possible ceremonial, including a request for the prayers of all Christian Churches. The greatest administrator China has yet produced has been made President, and Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the philosopher of the revolution, has been sent to Japan to find there the sources of enlightenment. The Powers have so far recognised the Republic as to lend it money and to send their own Commissioners to see how the loan is applied. Yet the only authentic news we have had of China since the ceremonies at Peking is of rapine, plunder, and butchery, which were unknown under the Manchus. The only certain consequence of the fall of that dynasty has been the letting loose of hordes of pirates and mercenaries, who, first attracted by the prospect of a rebellion and the consequent license to plunder, now refuse to be disbanded. The anarchy of China is not to be explained merely by the dissensions between North and South, between the authority of the President at Peking and of the ex-Viceroy, who is named as President-designate, at Canton. In some of the northern provinces the misery which has followed the constitutional movement is indescribable. It was an easy matter to enlist armies to fight against the Manchus. It was impossible to make the arrangements necessary for their payment and commissariat. The consequence is that they have joined the vast hordes goaded by hunger which in a country like China, where human life is so cheap, are always ready to fall upon a settled population. Up to the present the revolution has had no other effect than to give the opportunity for plunder and devastation to a section of the people who are ready to avail themselves of any scheme for securing their subsistence.

The defences left to those who persistently believe in the possibility of human regeneration are that China is too vast to be included in a single indictment, that both in China and the Near East the massacres may be attributed to another cause than the incurable depravity of the perpetrators, and that as regards the Near East the evidence is by no means conclusive. The nature of the evidence against the Bulgarians can best be estimated by comparing it with that which is adduced against the Turks in 1876. In 1876 there was no satisfactory contradiction. Mr. Gladstone's speeches were answered, but the facts contained in them were never seriously disputed. The reports of a newspaper correspondent were examined by a Government official predisposed in favour of the Turks, who certified that the facts had been understated. In the present case the most serious charges were contained in what purported to be a report prepared for the Russian Foreign Office by one of its own officials. On examination it was found that the report was the work of an ex-member of the Consular staff, and had no connection with the Russian Government. There was internal evidence of the object of the writer and of his bias for every opportunity was taken of contrasting the humanity of the Turks and Servians with the unspeakable cruelty of the Bulgarian soldiers. It was also found that these obviously interested statements were contradicted by witnesses with no interest to serve. Shukri Pasha, the defender of Adrianople, before this controversy began, had thanked the Bulgarians for their kindness to himself and his soldiers. The Greeks in Salonica had offered to allow them to leave with all the honours of war. The British Foreign Office in the middle of July stated that there were no reports of massacres. More important still is the evidence of the eye-witnesses. The two missionaries, Messrs. Gentle-Cackett and Woodruff, who worked at Philippopolis, and rendered first aid at Adrianople, stated that they saw no ill-treatment. Dr. Rebreyrend, who was in Adrianople from April till July, says that if General Veltcheff, the Bulgarian commander, erred at all it was on the side of leniency. These eye-witnesses must surely outweigh such hearsay testimony as that of the French novelist Pierre Loti.

The willingness of Bulgaria to submit all the charges and counter-charges to an international commissioner may be feigned, but it should be taken as a piece of evidence in their favour. Clearly there is a case for either an international commissioner or the private body to be despatched by Columbia University to examine. Two facts, however, may be regarded as definitely established. It is clear that the Balkan States and Turkey all regard a horrible story of atrocities as the surest means of gaining the sympathy of one of the Powers. The Bulgarian retort of the Greek soldiers who were found with their written confessions unaddressed and unposted about their bodies, is not at all convincing, but it at least shows the popularity of the argument. It is also clear that the people of one country hate the people of every other with a hatred which in their eyes would justify any extremity. King Constantine signs his army orders on the Bulgarian campaign with the words "Delenda est Carthago," to show his opinion of the measures necessary to be taken, and his addresses remind us of the letter of Bismarck's wife to her husband, in which she expects him to have all French babies killed, so that the whole race may be extirpated. Given these conditions and these feelings there can be no doubt that many exhibitions of savagery have occurred, though the accounts of them may have been absurdly exaggerated.

THE DUEL UP TO DATE.

To that fair part of the population of England which is firmly and sincerely convinced that Mr. Lloyd George has his hand in the till; to the educated, well-bred folk who "have heard" that he has a castle at Criccieth, built out of funds that never appeared under that heading in a vote of supply, not to speak of a chateau in some delightful corner of France to which he makes those mysterious foreign excursions by motor car—to all these good honest people who regard Mr. Lloyd George much as their forbears regarded Napoleon, as a bogey to frighten their children with, there is just one little element of humanity which distinguishes the two monsters. It was not recorded of Napoleon that he had any endearing weakness to commend him to the sympathy of Englishmen—but Mr. George plays golf. After all, a man cannot be wholly lost to all sense of decency, a man cannot be quite all bad, who plays golf. In England where the community is so large that a man cannot know somebody in every class, and consequently tends only to know those who are exactly of his own class and mind and manners, who are quite numerous enough to make up a large circle of acquaintance—in that atmosphere political hatreds are apt to become very bitter. There are few persons whom a man can hate very bitterly if he knows them, but in English politics he generally does not know them. He paints a picture of them for himself, representing all that he has heard of them, and sets it up and hates it very bitterly—until he hears, one day, that it plays golf like other people. Then he begins to doubt whether he was really justified in painting the picture all black. We have no wonder that Mr. Lloyd George pronounced in public last week his blessing upon the ancient and royal game. We wish that we could see a little more of it in politics. Even in Australian Parliaments personal bitterness seems to have been growing more acute this last year or two, and we are unfeignedly sorry for it. We cannot settle these differences by fisticuffs, although there have not been wanting occasions on which members thought fit to risk the good name of the State by resorting even to that method. The French have a much more harmless and decent means of settling these affairs in the depths of the public parks a little before sunrise, with two kindly friends at hand to see that no damage is done. But we have not the French duel in Australia, and if Mr. Wade and Mr. Holman were to climb the fence of the Botanic Gardens and indulge in this harmless amusement before breakfast, they would certainly be arrested and sent to prison. Our police are a fine force, but they have no sense of humour. Mr. Balfour and Mr. Asquith are said to have enjoyed a splendid afternoon some years ago by risking their lives and top hats together down the water chute at Earl's Court, but unfortunately we have no such expedient in Sydney yet. Perhaps when such an exhibition comes along the authorities will remember and make special provision for members of Parliament. It is the custom in France for the member who is challenged to a duel to choose his own weapons; and it is possible that in this country members might claim the right of choosing their own games. But we doubt if this would be fair, or even practicable. Mr. Wade might prefer to meet the present Premier on the football field; but the personal intercourse in a football match would be limited to the few seconds when the Premier was tackling the leader of the Opposition, or when the leader of the Opposition was handing off the Premier; and these would hardly leave time for that peaceful discussion of the questions at issue which we conceive to be one of the chief advantages offered by the golf-duel. Cricket has the same disadvantage. It gives plenty of time for meditation—but unfortunately one side meditates in the pavilion whilst the other meditates in the field.

In fact every argument throws us back upon golf. From such scraps of Parlialanguage as we can call to mind should judge that our members would be quite adequately supplied with that part of the necessary equipment; while the calm discussion and meditation on political subjects which we fear would be found impracticable during a game of football or cricket, or even tennis, should easily be arranged for at golf. The two leaders could meet on a Saturday morning, and by the time they had finished their second round we might expect them to arrive at a peaceful agreement for the settling of all such useful items of legislation as the country generally wants to see through, and the postponement of matters of controversy until—until some other Saturday. The only real doubt we have is whether the golf would not shortly become too serious a matter to be impeded by such distractions. It is doubtful, for example, if a man could play golf really well whilst thinking out the details of a Closer Settlement Bill. The man who has begun golf as a youngster probably never recognises what a serious business it is. But he who has begun late in life realises it. He takes the leaves out of the dining-room table after dinner, and practises his swing on the dining-room floor. They are even making him, in London, a sort of cricket net which he can rig in the drawing-room or the hall; so that when he feels the approach of his annual bronchitis he need not go out into the fog, but may creep into the net and drive and loft and approach like a caged tiger, whilst the family portraits smile down at him without the least fear of his driving a brassey shot through his great-grandmother's powdered wig, or holing out through his grandfather's tunic. It is scarcely probable that those same ancestors would look down so kindly if they found the degenerate scion of a line of moss-troopers turning his enervated hand to cricket or [illegible], or converting his dining-room into a practice ground for lawn tennis. But golf—they know what golf is. Even in their day it was too serious to permit of other serious business. Was not the gentleman in the ruff and the gold chain actually present in 1457 when the Scottish Parliament passed a solemn enactment that "futeball and golfe be utterly cryit down and nocht usit," because the apprentices were becoming so devoted to the game on the "links"—the sandy heathland around the Scottish coast of which all our modern courses are the unconscious namesakes—that they had no time to spare for archery and national defence. It may be necessary yet for a Commonwealth Parliament to enact that golfe be nocht usit in order to save its scheme of compulsory service. But we take heart in this—that golf is not a loafer's game. Mr. Lloyd George never learnt how to loaf, and we doubt if, in spite of his reputation, Mr. Balfour ever did either. If only on the strength of the example of those two, we feel quite justified in recommending the game to the busiest men all the world over.

Full Court and Jury Sittings.—With the exception of three matters, in which judgment has been reserved, the State Full Court has cleared off all the business on the paper, and the sittings closed yesterday. On Monday next two courts will start with the trial of jury causes, which number between 50 and 60. This is a somewhat formidable list in the absence of a third court, but as the time allotted is nearly two months, there is no reason why the task should not be accomplished. Among the cases to be tried are H. C. Dangar and F. H. Dangar v Federal Commissioner for Land Tax, and Cunningham v The Commonwealth of Australia, which are to be dealt with without the assistance of a jury, the questions involved, apparently, being more of law than fact.

Royal Art Society.—The director of the National Art Gallery notifies the purchase by the trustees, from the Royal Art Society's annual exhibition, of the following works:—No. 53, "The Strike's Aftermath," by A. Dattilo-Rubbo, for £70; and the return to the artist of the work purchased from him last year by the trustees: No. 219, "Argyle Cut, Sydney" (etching), Alfred Coffey, £3 3s; No. 240, "Miniature Portrait," Gladys Laycock, £8 8s. The new works are alluded to in our review of the collection on page 7.

PEACE DREAMS.

HAGUE CEREMONY.

PALACE FORMALLY OPENED.

TRIBUTES TO MR. CARNEGIE.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 28.

The Carnegie Palace of Peace was opened to-day by Queen Wilhelmina of Holland in the presence of a distinguished company.

The speakers in the course of their addresses paid tributes to the generosity of Mr. Carnegie.

The hall will contain four busts, namely, King Edward VII., Sir William Randal Cremer (founder of the International Arbitration League), Hugo Grotius (pioneer of International law), and the late W. T. Stead (journalist).

The latter bust has been presented by Dutch journalists.

BRITISH PRESS COMMENTS.

PROFESSIONS V. CONDUCT.

LONDON, Aug. 29.

The "Daily News" discussing the Peace Palace, emphasises the contrast between the professions, and the conduct of statesmen, and enumerates the wars that have taken place since the Czar's famous peace rescript of 1898, coupling therewith the horrors of Russian repression.

The paper says:—"The list shows a period of violence, bloodshed, and perfidy unparalleled for a century. With few exceptions, the statesmen of the world believe in force, in the sword more than in treaties, in the accomplished fact more than in justice.

"Perhaps the moral is that it is more difficult to change the mentality of governments than the people's sense, and that the propaganda of peace could be more profitably addressed to the latter."

"A PARADOX OF THE PERIOD."

The "Times" in its first leader, headed "The Growth of Internationalism," remarks: "One of the paradoxes of the period is that as the world of science, literature, finanace and philosophy grows smaller, and more uniform, each group of nations seems to grow more self-conscious, and more eager to maintain its own individuality and patriotism proof against any purely intellectual solvent."

"THE GREAT HAGUE JOKE."

The "Standard" under the heading "The Great Hague Joke," refers to the costly wars that have taken place "since the Czar's rescript started this colossal sham."

The paper adds:—"Brazil, in sending a warship to the Hague ceremonies, shows a fine sense of the fitness of things. Had the other nations desired to tell the truth instead of countenancing a polite piece of humbug, they would have sent dreadnoughts with flags inscribed 'The real defenders of the world's peace,' for it is not the Hague Conference, but army corps and battleships that will prevent international rivalries from bursting into flame.

"We must face the fact that, while every nation is sincerely desirous of keeping peace as long as possible, all are convinced that there is no guarantee against aggression but their own ability to defend themselves."

LABOUR.

THE RAND MINERS.

SITUATION CAUSES ANXIETY.

CAPETOWN, Aug. 28.

The executive of the Federation of Trade Unions and the executive of the Miners' Association in Johannesburg have decided that the recognition of the Miners' Assocation by the mine owners must be unconditional.

The attempt of the mineowners to prescribe conditions regarding the constitution and conduct of the organisation is described as "insolent arrogance."

Hence the situation on the Rand is again causing anxiety.

AMERICAN STRIKE RIOTS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.

Strike riots have broken out in St. Eubenville, Ohio, resulting in bloodshed.

A fierce conflict with the police occurred yesterday, during which two of the rioters were fatally shot and others injured.

Two thousand strikers attempted to destroy a tin mill.

DUBLIN TRAMWAY STRIKE.

DUBLIN, Aug. 29.

Much inconvenience has been caused in Dublin during show week owing to a strike of tramway-men. Four of the leaders have been arrested for conspiracy and incitement.

Many employers are starting a movement to dismiss all trades-unionists.

AUSTRALIAN WARSHIPS.

LEAVING SOUTH AFRICA.

FAREWELL MESSAGE.

CAPETOWN, Aug. 28.

The Australia will not be docked at Simons Bay. She will remain there overnight, and sail early in the morning.

The Sydney is now coaling there.

The Mayor of Capetown, in a farewell message to Rear-Admiral Patey, conveyed wishes on behalf of the corporation and citizens for a pleasant and prosperous voyage to the officers and crews of the two warships. He also expressed the pleasure and satisfaction which had been given by the "swift shuttles of Empire's loom that weave us main to main. Good-bye and bon voyage."

CAPETOWN, Aug. 29, 11.10 a.m.

Reuter's correspondent at Simonstown states that the Australia sailed for Durban at 5 o'clock this morning.

Rear-Admiral Patey, in his reply to the Mayor, thanked him for his innumerable kindnesses, and reciprocated his good wishes.

RECTOR V. SOCIALISTS.

A GERMAN INCIDENT.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.

The socialistic trades unions at Loebejuen, near Halle, organised a fete, including an entertainment for the children, but the rector of the local school prohibited any of the children from attending. Those of the children who disobeyed the rector were ordered to his room singly next day, and were soundly caned.

On this fact becoming known the parents of the children assembled, seized the rector, and soundly thrashed him in turn.

The police had to rescue him, and they escorted him, with drawn swords, to his residence.

BLONDE ESQUIMOS.

WHO DISCOVERED THEM?

WINNIPEG, Aug. 28.

A fur-trapper, named Deschambeault, who has just arrived from the Far North, asserts that he discovered the race of blonde Esquimos, and that he informed Professor Stefansson, the Arctic explorere, who later on blazoned the fact over the world, and claimed for himself the credit of the discovery.

Professor Stefansson is now aboard the Karluk, which has been repaired after her recent accident in the ice, and is proceeding northward on his mission to explore the Beaufort Sea.

MR. ASQUITH.

ASSAULT BY SUFFRAGISTS.

GOLF LINKS INCIDENT.

LONDON, Aug. 28.

The Premier, Mr. Asquith, and his daughter were playing golf on the Lossiemouth golf-links, Elginshire, and when they had reached the 17th green two suffragists suddenly appeared and knocked off the Premier's hat. They then seized him and dragged him about.

Detectives quickly arrested the aggressors.

The spectators were indignant and shouted: "Duck them in the sea."

The women declined to give their names and addresses.

Mr. Asquith continued the game, and on reaching the last green was heartily cheered.

Lossiemouth, which is a popular holiday resort, is at present crowded with visitors.

CHINA.

POLITICAL CRISIS.

PARLIAMENT AND PRESIDENT.

PEKING, Aug. 28.

The Senate has instructed the Speaker to confer with the National Assembly regarding the arrests of eight members of the Assembly, and to ask the President, General Yuan Shih Kai, whether he desires to govern the country with or without Parliament.

The Senate has suspended its sessions, pending a satisfactory explanation of the arrests, and the National Assembly has adjourned.

FINANCE AND THE POWERS.

PEKING, Aug. 29.

The Powers are endeavouring to compel China to fulfil the terms of the loan reorganisation agreement, whereby the executive functions shall be vested in Sir Richard Dane and a Chinese associate. The present step is being taken with a view to securing a thorough reorganisation of the salt gabelle.

POSITION AT NANKING.

PEKING, Aug. 29.

Advices from Shanghai state that a red-cross steamer has arrived there, and reports that Nanking is surrounded by the Government troops, and the conditions within the city are terrible.

Regarding the recent firing on the German cruiser Emden by the rebels from the Nanking forts, it is explained that the reason for this was revenge for the warship's preventing a rebel transport flying the German flag from proceeding to Nanking with troops, munitions, and money.

WORLD'S BIGGEST SHIP.

DAMAGED BY FIRE.

PASSENGERS RUSH ASHORE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.

The Hamburg-Amerika liner Imperator, 52,117 tons, which had 1000 steerage passengers aboard, was the scene of a serious fire while near Hoboken Docks yesterday.

The second officer and a seaman were cut off from escape when fighting the flames, and perished.

The Hoboken fire brigade poured tons of water into the holds, and gradually overcame the flames, but the vessel had a dangerous list before the outbreak was subdued.

The passengers, who were awakened by the smoke, dashed terror-stricken ashore, but the officers managed to keep order, and no one was hurt.

The interior of the vessel was damaged, but not sufficiently to prevent the vessel adhering to her time-table.

The fire originated in the steerage.

"A SPLENDID ACHIEVEMENT."

MR. HAWKER'S FLIGHT.

LONDON, Aug. 28.

Mr. Kauper, the mechanic who accompanied Mr. Hawker in the attempted hydro-aeroplane flight round Britain, and was injured by the fall at Lough Shinny, is still in the hospital. His wounds are severe, but he is progressing satisfactorily.

While the hydro-aeroplane was being dismantled yesterday Mr. Hawker arrived on the scene. The spectators accorded him an ovation, and carried him shoulder-high round the harbour.

Sir T. B. Robinson, Agent-General for Queensland, sent a cable message to Messrs. Hawker and Kauper, conveying Queensland's congratulations on their "splendid achievement."

There are indications that larger and more powerful hydro-aeroplanes than the Sopwith (used by Mr. Hawker) will compete for the "Daily Mail's" £5000 in 1914.

The Green Engine Company is already busy designing an engine of 320 horsepower.

LABOUR PARTY SPLIT.

"HAD BETTER GET OUTSIDE."

LONDON, Aug. 29.

Mr. G. N. Barnes, Labour member of the House of Commons for Blackfriars, in a speech at Glasgow last night, said that the Labour party had lost the Chesterfield seat, and could afford to lose one or two more of the same sort.

"Those who, like Mr. Kenyon (the newly-elected member), are not prepared to support the Labour party as a separate entity, but regard it as a mere adjunct of the Liberal party," he declared, "had better get outside and associate with those with whom they are in greater sympathy."

MEXICO.

POSSIBILITY OF SETTLEMENT.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.

The State Department has been informed that General Huerta is making concessions, and that his attitude towards the United States is improving.

It is also stated that the possibility of a settlement is now brighter.

MONTENEGRO'S PRIZES.

PLEVLIE AND DIAKOVA.

BELGRADE, Aug. 29.

An agreement has been arrived at between Servia and Montenegro, by which the latter has been given the districts of Plevlie in the north and Diakova in the east.

CURIOUS MATRIMONIAL CASE.

BERNE, Aug. 29.

A wealthy Geneva manufacturer has for the time being two legal wives with children by each.

The first wife was committed to an asylum, having been pronounced hopelessly insane, and a divorce was obtained, on the ground that she was incurable.

The manufacturer then remarried, but the first wife has now been discharged as sane.

According to the experts, the divorce is invalid.

Dr. John Perry, Professor of Mechanics at the Imperial College of Science, South Kensington.

Professor William Jackson Pope, Professor of Chemistry at the Cambridge University.

Professor Frederick Thomas Trouton, Professor of Physics, University College, London.

Mr. Arthur Smith Woodward, Keeper of the Geological Department of the British Museum.

Professor Albert Charles Seward, Professor of Botany at the Cambridge University.

Professor E. C. K. Donner, Professor of Economic Science at Liverpool University.

Mr. W. D. Eggar, of Eton.

Mr. Edwin Grew, ex-editor of "Illustrated Scientific News" and of "Knowledge," will be the official reporter.

VALUABLE ART FINDS.

LONDON, Aug. 29.

A valuable painting by George Morland (1763-1804), depicting a sailor saying farewell to his sweetheart on the seashoree, has been discovered among the stage properties in Drury Lane Theatre.

PARIS, Aug. 29.

The portrait of an old man bearing Rembrandt's signature and the date "1653" has been discovered in a store-room in the Calais Museum.

PHILOSOPHICAL MODERNISM.

VATICAN CONDEMNATION.

PARIS, Aug. 28.

The Pope has condemned Professor Bergson's works on the ground that they embody false theories, and seek to undermine fundamental truths. Hence it has been found necessary to unmask errors of philosophical modernism

Professor Bergson announces his intention of replying to the Vatican in a series of winter lectures in Paris.

COLLAPSE OF A STORE.

FOUR PEOPLE KILLED.

PETERBORO (Ontario), Aug. 28.

Owing to the collapse of a dry-goods store, four employees were killed, several injured, and two are missing.

The work of repairing an adjoining building weakened the structure, and caused the collapse.

OBITUARY.

MR. HICKORY WOOD.

LONDON, Aug. 28.

The death is announced of Mr. Hickory Wood, the well-known pantomime librettist.

MR. LEOPOLD HOFFER.

Mr. Leopold Hoffer, the distinguished authority on chess, died yesterday.

[Leopold Hoffer was born in Budapest, but for the past 40 years he had lived in London. He was a very fine chessplayer, close to the first rank of masters, but he discarded tournament play in order to specialise in chess editing. He succeeded champion Steinitz as conductor of the chess pages of the London "Field," and his work made that journal the first authority on chess in the world. He also edited the chess columns of the "Westminster Gazette" and the "Standard." He was the compiler of several collections of masters' games, and he founded the British Chess Association.]

AUSTRALIAN CRICKETERS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.

The Australian cricketers scored 373 runs in their first innings against a Chicago fifteen. The local men made 116.

Crawford compiled a century, playing magnificently throughout.

FLOOD WATERS.

A COMPREHENSIVE SCHEME.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

SINGLETON, Friday.

The Premier received three deputations at East Maitland and West Maitland on the subject of flood prevention. Major Nicholson, M.L.A., was at the head of the deputations.

The first two represented the respective municipalities, and the third the farmers of Oakhampton, who had subscribed over £500 for urgent local measures, and wanted the Government to find the balance of the £1000.

Replying to the West Maitland deputations, the Premier said that they had opened up a question of complexity and great magnitude. He could not yet definitely announce what the attitude of the Government would be. Experience had shown that in strengthening one particular spot another was rendered weaker by the increased pressure. That had, as far as possible, to be remedied. The Minister for Works had been going into the matter with his officers, and was advised that the problem should be attacked on a comprehensive basis, and handled in uniformity. He thought he could promise that the farmers' proposal would be adopted, and the Government would consider a comprehensive scheme for the future maintenance of the embankments as a whole. His own idea was that those interested should make a small contribution, and that a sinking fund should be established to wipe out the money expended. In that case the Government would be prepared to find a sufficient sum out of the loan estimates to do the work in a comprehensive way. But the matter for the present would have to go to the Government engineers, after which the Government would finally say what it was prepared to do.

SERIOUS CRIMES.

JUDGE PASSES HEAVY SENTENCES.

BRISBANE, Friday.

Louis Elworthy, aged 48 years, appeared for sentence in the Criminal Court to-day, charged on two counts with having obtained sums amounting to £100 by false pretences.

The Crown Prosecutor read out a long list of criminal convictions against accused. His Honor, the Chief Justice (Sir Pope A. Cooper) said that accused was an habitual and incorrigible offender against the law. It was impossible to reform him, and it was impossible to prevent him from swindling whenever he got the opportunity. Accused was sentenced to three years' imprisonment with hard labour on each of the two charges, the sentences to be cumulative.

Reginald James and Henry Williams appeared for sentence on a charge that, on July 3, at Brisbane, they stole with actual violence from the person of Adolph Gerber a sum of £2 and a portmanteau. Accused James was sentenced to six years' imprisonment with hard labour, and accused Williams to five years with hard labour.

James Kerr appeared for sentence on a charge that, on December 4, at Brisbane, he stole with actual violence the sum of 18s from the person of Michael Donoghue. His Honor imposed a sentence of 14 years with hard labour. Prisoner, as he left the dock, exclaimed, "Yah, chief executioner, not chief justice."

James Marsh Ramsay Grant appeared for sentence on three charges of theft of money from James Samuel Hyland and another. His Honor said the prisoner had shown himself a most accomplished liar, and imposed a sentence of three years' imprisonment with hard labour on each of the three charges, the sentences to be concurrent.

MR. BRINER.

WILL NOT SIGN A PLEDGE.

BOWRAVILLE, Friday.

Mr. G. S. Briner, the representative of the Raleigh electorate, has written at length to his constituents, setting forth his actions in Parliament, and giving reasons for certain votes. He complains of organisers throughout his electorate stooping to unfair tactics, and making inaccurate statements regarding his action in Parliament, and in asserting that he absented himself from divisions in order to assist the Government. He denies these accusations. During nine years in Parliament, he says, he only voted four times against the Liberals, yet the Sydney Liberal Association want a candidate to sign the pledge and platform. Continuing, he says: "I will not sign a pledge or platform manufactured for me by somebody else, even if the price of my refusal means the loss of my seat in the House."

KAHANAMOKU.

BECOMING A PROFESSIONAL.

A very interesting story is published in the New York "American," from its San Francisco correspondent. It is stated that Duke Paoa Kahanamoku, the world's champion sprinter, is about to retire from the amateur sport, and become a professional.

In view of his proposed visit to Australia, under the Amateur Swimming Union, the following is interesting:—"When the world-famous Duke returned from his Olympic victories at Stockholm, he was received by the populace of Honolulu with open arms. He was lionised, worshipped, and made the hero of the hour. In their enthusiasm the people of Honolulu made all sorts of promises to their native son as to what they would do for him. They promised him a beautiful house and a lot at Waikiki Beach, and other things. Public subscriptions were taken up, and the amount for the comfortable house was raised easily. Suddenly, just as the present was about to be made, someone discovered that if the Duke was presented with the house, etc., the A.A.U. would professionalise him. Since that time the house has not been turned over to the speed king, and the officials are said to be waiting to see just how they can present the house to the Duke and maintain his amateur status.

"The Duke in the meantime has become restless, and he thinks he sees where his house and lot will never become his property. This is said to be one of the few reasons for his wanting to turn professional, and it is said that he can secure several matches down in Australia, which will bring him in thousands of dollars in appearance money, besides the prizes he could win."

WATTLE DAY.

THE GREEN AND THE GOLD.

Monday will be Wattle Day.

The countryside will be abloom with the gorgeous green and gold, and even the prosaic metropolis will have its streets brightened with the national flower that heralds the springtime.

The Wattle Day League will celebrate the day by planting a large collection of wattles in Centennial Park, and holding a public meeting in the evening, at which the Chief Justice and the Minister for Agriculture will speak. Other organisations will put the occasion to practical use, and sell sprigs of wattle in aid of their charities. At Wollstonecraft the North Sydney residents will assemble, and trees will be planted. The function will be presided over by the Mayor and Mayoress of North Sydney. Madame Genee has consented to sell wattle in the streets of Sydney for the benefit of the Kindergarten Union. Other well-known people will assist in a similar manner.

EMPIRE TOUR.

BRITISH POLITICIANS.

DOMINION WELCOME.

STRENGTHENING IMPERIAL UNITY.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Friday.

The British members of Parliament who are paying a visit to New Zealand were entertained by members of Parliament this afternoon.

In proposing the health of the visitors, the Premier (Mr. Massey) said it was a good thing for colonial statesmen to visit the old country, and it was even more important for Imperial statesmen to visit the Dominions to get an idea of the young and vigorous nations at this end of the world, and to discover that the people here are ready to make any sacrifice that the Empire may demand to keep the British flag flying over the free, strong, and united British Empire. That was the feeling held by all nations that lived under the Southern Cross. He suggested that it would be a good idea if Imperial conferences were held in one or other of the oversea Dominions.

THE KING'S MESSAGE.

Lord Emmott, replying, said they all knew the great personal interest his Majesty took in the visit. This was shown by the fact that, when they were in mid-Atlantic, they received a wireless message from the King, wishing them bon voyage. "Your loyalty to the throne and Empire is known to all men," he added. "That was proved in regard to the Dominion's willingness to assist in Imperial defence, and more particularly in regard to the gift of H.M.S. New Zealand. In connection with the visit of that ship, he was pleased to see the interest taken by the Maoris. He also expressed appreciation of the tact and ability displayed by Captain Halsey. For all New Zealand had done, and was doing, and would do, he thanked them. Good progress towards organic unity had been made in the past few years. The Imperial Conferences had come to stay, and were becoming increasingly useful. In the Empire there was no system of Imperial naturalisation, but a bill had been drafted on that subject, and he thought that before the next conference came that matter would be settled. A bill had been passed increasing the number of the Dominions' representatives on the Imperial committee of the Privy Council, and he thought it not unlikely that New Zealand would be represented on that body. As to the committee on Imperial defence, he contended that the representation of New Zealand on that body was of great benefit, but urged that in all they did they should build surely and firmly. "We were," he added, "making real progress towards Imperial unity. That question far transcends party differences. Let us all work together to make our Empire approximate as closely as possible to our ideals."

"ALL READY."

Mr. M'Master said the object of the visit of the party was to increase its sum of knowledge in regard to the oversea Dominions. He hoped some day that their friends in the old country would be pleased with the result. They were only a small party going abroad to school, and he believed it would be of great assistance to them in the discharge of their political duties. He did not require to be assured of New Zealand's loyalty and patriotism. There were no people on the face of the earth that knew better the loyalty and patriotism of N. Zealand than the people of Great Britain. At this end of the world they had got hold of one of the choice spots of the earth. It was quite possible it would accommodate a population of anything from five to twenty millions. What they had come there for was to discover New Zealand's point of view with regard to its relationship to the great Empire to which they all belonged. As to the subject of cable communication the present cost was really a misfortune. They wanted closer and better communication above water and under water. A sight that gave them the greatest pride was that of H.M.S. New Zealand, in Vancouver. He doubted whether the New Zealand received a greater reception in New Zealand than she did in Vancouver. He spoke strongly in favour of maintaining a strong navy. "We are all for peace and prosperity," he continued, "but peace is not of our making alone. The surest guarantee for peace is to be prepared for war. The party had travelled over the All-red route. That was not enough. They wanted to be 'all ready,' so that they should be able to resist any aggression on their liberties or freedom.

COME TO BE TAUGHT.

Mr. T. Lough, M.P., expressed the opinion that there should have been an association of Parliaments many years ago so as to secure a better understanding between the various bodies. Such an association might tend to remove wrong impressions. On behalf of both political parties at home, he desired to say that there never was any idea on the part of the Home Parliament to do anything but justice to the oversea dominions. Little England never failed in her duty to the colonies. The only thing little England was wrong in was in regard to interference, intolerance, and misunderstanding. He thought a Parliamentary association would be of great value in promoting a better means of communication between England and the dominions, and in bringing down the cable rates from 3s to 3d a word for cable messages. The party had come out here to be taught. New Zealand had started with a clean slate, and that was the reason why they were all so prosperous. The association had in view the object of promoting Imperial co-operation, including Imperial defence. He considered, too, that they had in mind large ideas of development, which he regarded as more important. What they needed was a broad, human, and peaceful policy. If interference came they could only rely on the old country.

The visitors left by the Maunganui for Sydney.

ROSE DAY.

A CARNIVAL FOR CHARITY.

NOVEL SCHEME.

A meeting of the United Charities Organisation was held at State Government House yesterday. Lady Strickland presided, and a large number of well-known people, including Mme. Genee, was present.

Mr. Stinson said that there were two great organisations which controlled charity collection and distribution in this city. Hospital Saturday brought in a large amount of money and covered all the charities concerned. It was, therefore, deemed necessary to form a co-operation for the purpose of a united charity collection. Last year £1400 was distributed. The smallness of the amount was due to the fact that the committee had decided to wipe off all overdrafts and distribute the balance.

The Lord Mayor and Sir Charles MacKellar, M.L.C., also spoke.

Mr. Hugh Ward suggested a scheme which, he said, had been tried successfully in London. This was a roses day. It would be the rose month, and if all were to grow roses until then and dedicate them to charity a great thing would be accomplished. The streets could be decorated with roses. They could get the showground and have a big spectacular fete, with police, firemen, soldiers, University boys, and others taking part. They could also have an art union, though the time was short for this. The swimming and other clubs might even have big fetes. In the churches there could be a special collection Sunday, with special sermons on charity. He proposed a motion that the meeting adopt some such scheme.

Mr. L. F. Heydon, M.L.C., seconded the motion, which was carried.

Lady Strickland was appointed president, and Lady Cullen, the Lady Mayoress, and Mrs. Holman vice-presidents.

Mr. Hugh Ward was appointed honorary organiser. Mesdames George Earp and Herbert Kendall and Messrs. Hawkins and Wilson were appointed hon. secretaries. The following ladies were formed into a committee, with power to add to their number:—Ladies Parton, Hay, and Carruthers, Mesdames Anderson Stuart, MacCallum, Johnson, Hall, Wade, Rich, Spencer Brunton, Hughes, Forman, Dickson, Franki, Stinson, S. Hordern, Lee, Lister, and Goodman.

CENSURE DEBATES.

PREMIER'S FIGURES.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

SINGLETON, Friday.

The Premier addressed a meeting of about 500 people in the Mechanics' Institute tonight. The Mayor (Alderman Head) presided, and introduced the Premier in a commendably short speech.

Mr. Holman devoted himself chiefly to an attack on the Opposition for moving motions of censure against the Government in the following terms:—"One of our difficulties is the constant readiness of our friends in the Opposition to take up the time of Parliament in moving what they must know to be futile motions of censure upon us. We have had one this week defeated like 12 others before it. This was the thirteenth, and, according to the proverb, an unlucky number. Whatever bad luck they have had, they attained the full measure of it in this latest motion, because it was defeated with greater decision and ignominy than any of the others.

"Since the general elections the House has sat altogether for 210 Parliamentary days; 31 of these have been taken up in actually discussing motions of censure. To this you must add one day that is lost every time notice of motion is given, which brings the 31 days up to 43, because on one occasion we didn't lose a day before the motion was brought on."

I recognise to the full the right of the leader of the Opposition to challenge the Government at any time. But when it is done with dreary reiteration 13 times in succession, and costs nearly £3500, we have the right to ask whether the country is getting the value of its money in hearing these melancholy diatribes of Mr. Wade. Our speeches ranged from 15 hours to 8. The Opposition members for the same periods spoke as follows:—Mr. Wade, 47 hours; Mr. Fitzpatrick, 38 hours; Mr. Wood, in spite of frequent absences from the House, 36 hours; Mr. Cohen, 23 hours; and Mr. Levy, 19 hours. (Laughter.)

DESERTED LAUNCH.

A REMARKABLE DRIFT.

The Burns, Philp steamer Mindini, which arrived yesterday from the Solomon Islands, brought an account of the discovery by natives of a launch on the island of Santa Anna, which, it is believed, must have drifted all the way from the New Hebrides Group.

The launch, which was apparently a new one, was about 27 or 30 feet long, and was fitted with a Kelvin 4-cylinder engine. It was first found by a party of natives on the beach of the island of Santa Anna, a small island in the Solomons, situated at the south-east end of San Christoval. Mr. Jacobson, of the firm of Keller and Jacobson, island traders, heard of the discovery, and managed to secure the launch before the natives had entirely despoiled it.

Mr. Jacobson reports that the hull of the launch was very much knocked about, but the engine appeared to be in good order, despite the fact that the natives had carried off many of the important parts as trophies. Mr. Jacobson experienced some difficulty in securing these from the natives, who, no doubt, considered they could turn them to great advantage.

The reason for supposing that the launch came from the New Hebrides is that there are no launches in the Solomon Group fitted with Kelvin engines, though there are in the New Hebrides. It is therefore surmised that the launch must have broken away from her moorings in the New Hebrides, and set off on her long drift. The distance from the New Hebrides to Santa Anna Island is about 350 miles, but the launch probably covered a greater distance than this before she eventually drifted on to the island. The anchor and chain were hanging over the side of the launch when found, but the vessel bore no signs of having had anyone on board during the drift.

DIVORCE SUIT.

CLERGYMAN AS MEDIATOR.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The Rev. Thomas Henry Sepsford, a Church of England clergyman, was called as a witness in a divorce suit to-day. He said that he would like to make a statement before giving evidence. He was asked to act as mediator between man and wife, but a promise was made to him that he should not be called to give evidence as a witness. His object was to be thoroughly impartial. Now he was asked to give evidence, and really to act as a partisan. He did not think it right.

His Honor Justice Hodges, to counsel: If that is so, you should not call him.

Counsel: Very well.

Witness was allowed to leave the box.

CARPENTERS' PAY.

SHILLING A DAY INCREASE.

The award of the Building Trades Group Board No. 1, relating to carpenters and joiners employed in the metropolitan area, and at Newcastle (within 20 miles of the Newcastle Post-office), was made available yesterday afternoon by Mr. F. A. A. Russell, barrister, chairman. It will be gazetted on Wednesday, and have a duration of three years.

It provides for a week of 48 hours—the same as at present—and a wage rate of 1s 6d per hour, or £3 12s per week—which is an advance of 6s per week.

In some cases the rate is fixed at 1s 7½d. This applies to men in charge of others, or those working where pumice or charcoal is used in connection with insulating work, and if the insulating material be silicate, the rate is to be 1s 9d.

Overtime is fixed at time and a quarter for the first two hours then time and a half to midnight thereafter double time. After 4½ hours have been worked on Saturday, overtime is to begin, and be paid for at the rate of time and a half. Double time is provided for Sunday work, or for the recognised holidays.

Increases are allowed in respect to fares as compared with the existing award. An employee sent to do country work is to be conveyed to and fro at the employer's expense, and the time occupied in travelling is to be paid for at ordinary rates. The wages of apprentices have been materially increased. They are to be 10s, 15s, 20s, 25s, 32s 6d for each of the five years. Piece-work is not to be allowed, except in a case of floor-laying, for which there is a special schedule.

BURGLARIES.

POLICEMEN'S NARROW ESCAPE

ADELAIDE, Friday.

Two plainclothes policemen, members of "The Terrible Ten" squad, who are on special night patrol duty in the effort to suppress the burglary epidemic, had an exciting experience at 3.20 this morning.

Mr. C. A. Vale, a grocer, of Hyde Park, was awakened by the ringing of a burglar alarm. He lifted the window of his room and shouted, when two men approached and explained they were policemen, and had been examining his business premises. The fence hid them from view, and Vale, thinking they were burglars, fired two cartridges from a gun through a gauze blind at his window. Neither shot took effect, and the police quickly proved their identity.

Last night four business establishments in Pirie-street, Adelaide, were broken into without any substantial reward.

SUPER LAND TAX.

NEW PROPOSAL.

POWERS OF RESUMPTION.

It appears that there are wide resumption powers contained in the bill, the second reading of which was moved by the Minister for Lands at Thursday's sitting of the Legislative Assembly.

Mr. Trefle stated yesterday that by an inadvertence on his part he did not allude to these particular provisions in his explanatory speech. "I am amending," he said, "the whole of section 3 of the Closer Settlement Act of 1912, by omitting the limitation imposed upon the Minister in resuming scrub, improvement, and section 18, leases. The Minister cannot now resume a lease which is more than 15 miles from a railway, and the amendment I propose will, if carried, have a very far-reaching effect, as it will give the Minister power to resume scrub, improvement, and 18th section leases anywhere in the State, excepting in the Western Division.

"The importance of this amendment," added Mr. Trefle, "can best be realised when I point out that in the district of Quambone alone, in my own electorate, and within five miles of that town, there are 120,000 acres of leases that cannot be resumed under the existing law. There are some 75 of these leases in my electorate alone, covering hundreds of thousands of acres, and with the exception of a couple of small areas near Trangie and Gilgandra not an acre of this huge stretch of country can be touched for closer settlement. Other portions of the State are similarly situated.

"If the amendment is passed," said the Minister, "these lands where they are of good quality, and suitable for settlement, can be resumed and set apart for settlement. And should the amending land bill, which I am introducing, pass both Houses, as I think it will, the necessary machinery for dealing with these leases will be provided. That is to say, where areas beyond our agricultural working distance from a railway are set apart for permanent homes, these can be enlarged for the time being by granting temporary leases to give each settler a sufficient area to make a living by grazing, and at a later period, when railway development takes place, or when it is proved beyond doubt that these larger areas are not needed for home maintenance purposes, the temporary leases may be withdrawn by the State, leaving each settler his original homestead, farm, or Crown lease, as the case may be as a living home.

"By these two clauses," said Mr. Trefle, "I hope to be able to make an enormous additional area of country available throughout the State. That is to say, the Amending Closer Settlement Act, if passed, will provide land beyond the 15 miles radius of railways for settlement, and the Crown Lands Amending Act will provide means of dealing with the land before it comes within the scope of railway communication or proved agricultural possibilities."

SMALLPOX.

SIX CASES YESTERDAY.

There were six smallpox cases yesterday. They came from Surry Hills, Redfern, Granville, Balmain, Newtown, and Glebe.

The cases continue to present mild features.

A female patient who was admitted to quarantine from Redfern died yesterday morning after child-birth.

There are now 54 patients in quarantine, with 213 convalescents, making a total of 267.

At the Town Hall yesterday 1167 people were vaccinated, while at Balmain 113 and at Newtown 112 were operated upon. The total for the day was 1392.

BORDER RESTRICTIONS MODIFIED.

BALRANALD, Friday.

When the restrictions on travellers to Victoria from Balranald became known, steps were taken by the responsible bodies to have them removed and, apparently, as a result of these efforts they have been much modified. In reply to the Mayor of Swan Hill, the shire council has telegraphed that the embargo has been partially removed. This is construed locally to mean that all persons not coming from Sydney to Oxley may cross the border whether vaccinated or not, but a system of surveillance has been put into practice, and persons under suspicion have to report to the authorities periodically. Very little trouble is now experienced by Balranald residents journeying over the border, and business is more brisk in consequence.

NEW ZEALAND OUTBREAK.

WELLINGTON, Friday.

It would seem from what has been whispered in Wellington, but without official confirmation, unless there is a decided diminution of the number of smallpox cases in Auckland such stringent measures as the isolation of all Auckland may be taken to the extent of allowing no one to travel out of it who has not been vaccinated.

The Health Department reports two European cases of smallpox. The patients were recently removed from a house in the city of Auckland. They came from a household in which all the other seven members had been vaccinated.

NOVEL STRIKE.

LABOUR COUNCIL INTERVENES

The strike of plumbers in connection with the building of labour premises in Pitt-street was yesterday made the subject of a hurriedly convened meeting of the executive of the Labour Council of New South Wales.

Mr. E. Grayndler, general secretary of the A.W.U., and one of the directors of the company controlling affairs, attended the meeting, and explained that the rate of 13s per day was given when the award rate was 11s, for the reason that the 13s was regarded as being reasonable for a work which required the services of first-class sanitary experts on plumbing. It was not, he said, intended to be accepted as a precedent that an extra shilling would be paid upon any award that was then in the making. When the new award fixed on 12s the men wanted to be paid 13s. This was refused by the works manager, acting under instructions from Mr. J. C. Watson, the company's managing director. There were other awards about to be introduced, including the carpenters, and if the plumbers on this job should be held to be entitled to an extra shilling above their new award, perhaps the carpenters would expect the same, and thus funds subscribed by unions would be subjected to considerable depletion.

The case for the men was put by Mr. J. Duncan, the secretary of the union, and the foreman plumber on the job. It is understood they told the committee that the extra shilling above award rates was practically guaranteed, and that the precedent was intended to be an example of the unions' contention that the minimum rate in an award was not always the maximum payment made to really competent tradesmen.

The executive sat the whole day, and eventually decided upon a recommendation, which will this morning be submitted to Mr. Grayndler, and to the secretary of the Plumbers' Union. The terms of this recommendation were not disclosed, but it is believed that the men will be asked to return to work on the existing award rates.

SAMFORD MURDER.

DEATH SENTENCE PASSED.

BRISBANE, Friday.

In the Criminal Court to-day, before his Honor the Chief Justice, Sir Pope A. Cooper, Ernest Austin was found guilty of the wilful murder of Ivy Mitchell, at Samford, on June 8.

After the jury's verdict, his Honor said his duty would compel him to make a report of the case to the Executive, but he could see no evidence which he could mention in mitigation in any sense. Sentence of death was then passed.

YOUNG MAN SHOT.

COMPANION ARRESTED.

HOBART, Friday.

Yesterday a young man named Alfred Britton reported to the police at New Norfolk that he and a young man named Charles Jones, on Wednesday, went on a hunting expedition to Mount Faulkner. They were out all day, but towards afternoon they separated, and just after Britton left his companion, as he was walking away, he suddenly heard another shot, and he went back, and was shocked to find his companion lying beside his gun dead.

To-day Britton confessed to the police that he had shot his companion. He said after hunting all the morning they made another start about 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Jones had a double-barrelled gun, which Britton wanted to use, or vice versa, for the story is not very clear on this point. At all events a dispute took place, and Jones clicked the hammer of his gun at Britton. Britton, in response, pointed his gun, and pulled the trigger. It happened to be loaded, and Jones fell dead. Britton stated that he did not know his gun contained the charge.

The police state that the shot must have been fired from a distance of 20 yards.

THE BARRIER.

B.L.F. STILL AT WORK.

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

Matters in connection with the shop assistants' strike are quiet. Employees at the Co-operative Society's Stores are still out, and business there has been entirely suspended. Following on the motion carried at last night's meeting of the shareholders of the Co-operative Society, the bakers employed at the Co-operative bakery returned to work this morning with other employees of the society, and presented themselves for duty accordingly. At 9.30 o'clock several members of the B.L.F. went to the bakehouse, and there was once again a cessation of operations.

At a largely-attended meeting of shareholders in the Barrier Co-operative Society, held at the Trades Hall last night, it was decided to endorse the action of the committee in sticking to the agreement first arrived at. Unofficial reports show that the meeting was very noisy, and that the gathering uttered some very strong comments.

The Hotel and Restaurant Employees' Union last night decided to strike a levy of 6d per member per week during the shop assistants' dispute. The A.M.A. is calling a special general meeting on Sunday afternoon to deal with the request of the B.L.F. to grant financial assistance or strike a levy to assist the Shop Assistants and Warehouse Employees' Federation, who are at present on strike.

LIBERAL LAND POLICY.

MR. WADE'S TOUR.

THE CASTLEREAGH SEAT.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

NARROMINE, Friday.

Mr. Wade, leader of the State Liberal party, commenced a comprehensive tour of the Castlereagh electorate, now represented by Mr. Trefle. His itinerary included Narromine, Trangie, Warren, Coonamble, and Gilgandra. The seat will be contested by Mr. G. T. Blacket, who has received the imprimatur of both the Liberal and the Farmers and Settlers' Associations. Mr. Wade received a very hearty welcome on his arrival here, and was the guest at a largely attended dinner.

The Mayor presided over a gathering of about 850 at the Town Hall in the evening. Mr. Wade, who was received with loud cheers, discussed the land question. He said the very essence and basis of the land policy of the Labour party was not, and could not be in the best interests of the people. One of the broadest lines of cleavage between the two parties was the problem of land settlement. His party claimed to give a living area and lay down rules of conduct to prevent the rebuilding up of large estates. His Government produced results which compared most favourably with those of the Labour party. The existing areas of Crown lands fit for closer settlement were being rapidly reduced year by year, and his Government realised that to rely on Crown lands would be insufficient; therefore they entered upon the policy of resuming private estates within easy access of the railway system. The Labour party, which had completely stopped the resumption of private estates, found themselves face to face with the problem that they could not keep themselves going if they relied on the supply from Crown land sources alone. The Government had been endeavouring more or less to mislead the public week by week and month by month with details of Crown lands available for settlement, but it was scarcely fit for settlement at all. Recently land was opened up at Mudgee, but it was shown that it was unfit for settlement. Some of the blocks were in the ranges, and more or less inaccessible. The blocks averaged about 30 miles from the nearest railway. This was the class of stuff palmed off by the Government. During the last election Mr. Trefle spoke of the Closer Settlement Promotion Act as a piece of dodgery on the part of the previous Government, and he had deprived hundreds of men of the chance of making homes for themselves on the land. The Government had not made good the promise that it would excel their predecessors, and sympathetically administer the Crown Lands Acts. (Hear, hear.)

OLYMPIC GAMES.

BRITISH EFFORTS.

LONDON, Aug. 29.

The Olympic Games Committee publishes an elaborate programme for the preparation of athletes by the various governing sporting bodies. It enjoins the necessity of arousing enthusiasm in schools, and asks for the co-operation of headmasters, and the arrangements of county championships and triangular English, Scottish, and Irish contests.

The committee is also assisting affiliated clubs by the presentation of prizes. All the contests will be over metric distances.

GOLF.

THE OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

WHITTON LEADING.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The first two rounds of the Australian open championship were played on the links of the Royal Melbourne Club at Sandringham to-day, under favourable weather conditions. The two remaining rounds, which will decide the event, will be played to-morrow.

There was a large following of golfing enthusiasts to witness the play of those whose chances were considered best, and it so happened that they tacked themselves on to those who gave them the best exposition of the game. The course was in excellent order, the greens were better than they appeared, and they never played more truly; consequently everything favoured good scoring.

As a result of the day's play, Ivo Whitton, holder of the championship, heads the list, and if he maintains to-morrow the form he displayed to-day there is very little chance of his losing the title. He has established a lead of five strokes from his nearest two opponents—R. Stewart (S.A.), and A. R. Lempriere (Vic.)—and, if he is to be shifted from the lead, it will necessitate very good golf on the part of those who are behind him, or a breakdown on his own part. As either of these two contingencies is well within the realms of possibility, the event is still open with the chances in Whitton's favour.

To-day's play provided no surprises; most of, if not all, the likely men occupied prominent positions in the aggregate. Soutar (N.S.W.), who was strongly fancied, is now six strokes behind Whitton; but Popplewell (N.S.W.), of whom better things were expected, is 10 strokes away. Carnegie Clark (N.S.W.) is one stroke worse off than Popplewell; and of the other professionals, their prospects are none too bright. Maiden is fairly well up to front and, as anticipated, he showed up best of the Victorian professional contingent. J. H. Clements (N.Z.) and Le Fevre (N.S.W.), though playing soundly, did nothing brilliant; and their chances of success are not favoured.

Lempriere and Burnham, of the amateurs, were in good form, and in the afternoon the former holed a 74, and the latter did a 76. Whitton's game throughout the day was of a high order. He was not in the best of health, and is still suffering from the effects of a heavy cold and of vaccination, but this in no way impaired his golf. He equalled the competition record of the course in the afternoon with an almost flawless 73. He had a 12-inch putt for a 72 at the last hole, and, much to the disappointment of the "gallery," he missed. Whitton was less perturbed over the mistake than the onlookers. He played a characteristic game, and put all he knew into his tee shots, and kept them straight down the middle of the fairway.

Whitton followed up his drive with an equally good brassie or iron, as the case demanded; and he ran his approach putts up to within easy distance of holing. This, in broad outline, is how Whitton registered his record round. When Clyde Pearce put up a 73, four or five years ago, the conditions were considerably easier, for the greens are much better guarded now, and the difficulties greatly increased.

In the morning Whitton was round in 76. He had one bad hole—the seventh—which cost him 7, and that primarily a result of a pulled drive from the rough. He played across into the rough on the opposite side, and was on the green in 5, otherwise he was perfect. Starting off in the afternoon, he just missed a long putt at the first for a 2, the ball hanging on the edge of the tin. At the second he got a 4, at the third a 4, and at the fourth a 3. He thus quickly established a substantial reserve fund upon which to draw. The 3 at the fourth necessitated a putt from the edge of the green, and at the fifth he made his only mistake of the round. From the tee he pulled into the rough near the green, and playing out he was too strong, and overran the green into a pot-hole. Nevertheless he obtained his 4. The remaining holes were halved in bogey, and he was out in 34.

He looked like getting a 3 at the tenth with an 8ft putt, but missed; his drive to the 11th was within half a dozen yards of the cross bunker, and a short pitch on to the green left him with two putts for a four. For the remainder of the journey he made his short game easy by virtue of his strong and accurate long game, and he had bad luck to see several of his putts lip the hole, or stay within an inch of two of it. At the 17th he was within 10 yards of the bunker guarding the green with his second, and had the misfortune of spoiling his record by taking three putts.

Stewart was pitted against Murdoch (Vic.), who was driving in fine form, and although he could not keep up with him, he was always on level terms with his second. Stewart made only two mistakes during the day, and each one at the sixth. Both in the morning and in the afternoon he fluffed his approach into the bunker, and took two to get out. With these exceptions he played no unnecessary strokes, unless it was an occasional one on the green.

Lempriere's 74 in the afternoon was another of the bright spots in the day's play. He has recently given ample evidence of a tendency to break out in this fashion; and he was one of those of whom something good was expected. In the morning he was round in 80.

Soutar played some of the most brilliant golf of the day, as well as some of the ordinary stuff. His 74 in the morning was richly deserved at the last four holes. His tee shots were a bit wild, and left him in trouble in the rough, but he always managed to recover in a style that won the admiration of the onlookers. The 17th was an exceptionally fine recovery. He got a long drive to within four or five yards of the out of bounds corner, and the ball lay heavily in the long grass. On first thoughts he decided to play out with his niblick, but this would have given him no chance of reaching the green with his third; so he had another look at the spot, and risked his mid-iron. This shot helped him another 120 yards on his way, and he then took a baffy and laid the ball within 6ft of the pin. He missed his 4 by a fraction of an inch. Starting out after lunch he was very erratic, but after reaching the turn he finished the last nine holes with eight fours and a six; the six was at the 13th.

Burnham, Popplewell, Carnegie Clark, F. G. Murdoch, and F. B. Waters each put in rounds of under 80, but a 90 in the morning discounted the value of the last-named player's effort. In fact, there was plenty of good golf to be seen, as the scores indicate.

In the morning Clements was out in 43 and back in 41, with a 6 and a 7 at the 3rd and 4th. Smith was back well in 39, with a 7 at the 17th; and W. J. C. Riddell was out in 39. Fawcett was out in 37, and Ramsden in 38. In the afternoon Riddell was out in 39, Banks in 38, and Smith 39. The details of the best scores are as follow:—

Whitton:—Morning: Out, 3, 5, 4, 3, 4, 4, 7, 4, 2=36; in, 4, 4, 5, 5, 3, 5, 5, 4, 5=40=76.

Afternoon: Out, 3, 4, 4, 3, 4, 4, 5, 4, 3=34; in, 4, 4, 5, 5, 3, 4, 4, 5, 5=39=73.

Stewart:—Morning: Out, 4, 5, 4, 4, 3, 5, 4, 4, 3=36; in, 4, 4, 5, 5, 3, 4, 3, 6, 5=39=75.

Afternoon: Out, 3, 4, 5, 4, 3, 6, 6, 4, 3=38; in, 4, 4, 6, 6, 4, 4, 4, 5, 4=41=79.

Soutar:—Morning: Out, 3, 4, 4, 4, 3, 4, 5, 4, 4=35; in, 4, 5, 4, 5, 3, 5, 4, 5, 4=39=74.

Lempriere:—Afternoon: Out, 4, 5, 4, 4, 6, 4, 4, 4, 3=38; in, 4, 4, 5, 4, 4, 4, 4, 3, 4=36=74.

Popplewell:—Afternoon: Out, 3, 5, 5, 4, 3, 4, 5, 5, 2=36; in, 3, 4, 5, 6, 3, 4, 4, 6, 4=39=75.

Carnegie Clarke:—Afternoon: Out, 3, 6, 4, 5, 3, 3, 5, 4, 4=37; in, 5, 4, 5, 4, 4, 4, 5, 6, 4=41=78.

Burnham:—Afternoon: Out, 3, 5, 4, 5, 4, 5, 6, 4, 3=39; in, 4, 4, 6, 4, 3, 3, 5, 4, 4=37=76.

The principal scores are:—

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

Metropolitan racegoers will this afternoon have the choice of horse racing at Moorefield, or pony and galloway racing at Victoria Park; Victorian sportsmen are catered for at Sandown Park; the goldfields circuit in Western Australia will be continued at Kalgoorlie, where the local racing club opens a meeting which extends over three days; sporting folk in the Newcastle district will be provided with an afternoon's racing at Rutherford, under the management of the Maitland Jockey Club; and Southern Queenslanders will assemble at Ipswich, where the local jockey club holds a re-union.

The Moorefield Racing Club's second August meeting this afternoon holds forth promise of high-class sport, and, with horses holding important spring engagements likely to be seen out under colours, the re-union possesses more than ordinary attractions to students of horseracing. The track is first-class going, and the management has made due provision for the requirements of a large assemblage. The transit service includes special trains from the Central Railway Station, while the ordinary service to Kogarah will also be available. The sport commences at 2.10 p.m. with the Hurdle Race, in which the places may be occupied by Sildrake, Wadden, and Belenus. A large field may be anticipated for the Flying Handicap, in which the honours may be divided by Minuo, Lady Denman, and Embracer. Wirrilla, Irish Figure, and Kilmeadon may get home as named in the Stewards' Mile; and the situations in the Kogarah Stakes may go to Boomalli, Bannaby, and Amazed. Sir Alwynton, Golden Hop, and Irish Figure read well for the places in the Moorefield Handicap, and they may pass the judge in order; while It's Funny, Duke Alwyne, and Purple Straw, may get home as named in the Welter Handicap.

Patrons of pony and galloway racing will this afternoon be catered for by the Victoria Park Racing Club, and the card to be played out is one of the most attractive introduced by that institution. The main feature is the Hurdle Race, for which 200 sovs has been set apart, and a good contest over the battens may be anticipated. The track is excellent going, and large fields seem assured. Due preparations have been made at the course for the requirements of a large muster, and the transit arrangements include special trams running direct to the racecourse gates, while the ordinary service to Zetland will also be available. The first race is timed to start at 1.30 p.m., and the results of the racing may be anticipated as under:—Flying Handicap: Defence, Crimson and Black, Hippona. Fourteen Hands Maiden Handicap: Esmeralda, Heroine, Heresfield. Hurdle Race: Alberto, Testanus, Rosegraft. Maiden Handicap: Strixia, Colayr, Cobbanco. Fourteen-two Handicap: Iona, Lady Alicia, Merv's Pride. Victoria Park Handicap: Master Famous, Crimson and Black, Canley. Novice Handicap: First Division, Sweet Success or Lady Canada; Second Division: Daceyville or Coryphene.

So Shy, Mount Lebanon, Sir Sholto, Allansford, and Tyrol were yesterday struck out of the A.J.C. Derby, 1913.

The following scratchings were notified yesterday in connection with the Moorefield second August meeting:—Kogarah Stakes, Booringa, Liverette, Flamboyant, and Edensor; all engagements, Border King; Flying Handicap, Grand Marshall, Larelle; Welter Handicap, Culwulla, Cannon Wheel; Moorefield Handicap, Hallowmas.

Messrs. Thompson Bros.' recent importation, the thoroughbred stallion Sunshine, by Sundridge from Sweet Notes, by St. Florian, whose term of quarantine has expired, will be on view at T. Payten's Newmarket Stables, Randwick, where those interested in the breeding of blood stock can inspect him on Monday next. Sunshine leaves for his new destination at Rylstone on Monday evening.

Glen Iris, Witch of the Wind, Yelo, Goldel, Duninald, Coolum, and Arima have been withdrawn from the Rosehill Guineas, 1913.

LISMORE TURF CLUB.

GOLF UNION.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA ADMITTED.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The annual meeting of the Australian Golf Union was held last evening. It was decided to admit the Western Australian Golf Association as a constituent club of the union. After a little discussion it was agreed to adhere to the arrangement made at the meeting last year to hold 1914 championship at Seaton, Adelaide. Two teams have entered for the interstate match, viz., Victoria and South Australia.

FOOTBALL.

RUGBY UNION.

LAST ROUND OF MATCHES.

The last series of games in the first grade competition will be played to-day, although, if Western Suburbs defeat South Sydney, a final game will be necessary to determine the winners in the B division of the first grade. Therefore, interest centres in that game at St. Luke's Park. The meeting of North Sydney and Manly at North Sydney is also interesting by reason of the fact that the winner of that match will be the other finalist. The final stage has been reached in the second and third grade, and excellent contests in both grades are promised.

First Grade.

Western Suburbs v South Sydney, St. Luke's, 3.15 (T. O'Neill); Balmain v St. George, University, 3.25 (A. Thornton); Manly v North Sydney, North Sydney, 3.15 (A. Northcott).

Second Grade Final.

Eastern Suburbs v Randwick, Rushcutter Bay, 3.15 (S. Greenwood).

Third Grade Final.

Manly v Glebe, University, 2 (F. A. Randle).

CITY AND SUBURBAN UNION.

A Division.

Glenwood v Holy Cross College, Ex-students' Jubilee Oval (E. Grace); Hawkesbury College v St. Anne's, Richmond (A. C. W. Hill); Hunter's Hill v Iolanthe, Hunter's Hill (J. S. Phillips); Warroo v Wentworth, Grammar School No. 1 (E. T. Morris).

B Division.

Glenwood v Wentworth, Jubilee Oval (W. Ryan); Cambridge v Cleveland-street Old Boys, Grammar School (A. L. Irving); Canberra v Kurraghen, Grammar School (W. R. Iredale); Hawkesbury College v Hawkesbury Juniors, Richmond (E. E. Keary).

SCOTS' COLLEGE—PAST AND PRESENT.

The annual match between the above teams will be played on the college ground this afternoon.

AUSTRALIAN TEAM'S TOUR.

The Australian Rugby Union team will play Taranaki at New Plymouth this afternoon.

GREAT PUBLIC SCHOOLS' FINAL.

The final match in the Great Public Schools' competition will be played between The King's School and Newington College, at Parramatta, next Tuesday, instead of Wednesday.

RUGBY LEAGUE.

THE CITY CUP SEMI-FINALS.

Two particularly interesting matches should be witnessed this afternoon in the City Cup semi-finals. The North Sydney-South Sydney engagement at the Sydney Sports Ground looks as if it should draw a big crowd, as both teams have a large following, and North Sydneys' splendid form against the premiers last Saturday has won the side much prestige. South Sydney will be strengthened by the reappearance of A. Butler and O. Brown. These players have been absentees during the last few weeks through indisposition. However, both are well again, and should greatly add to the side's attack. Provided Brighton can obtain possession of the ball as liberally as is his wont, and with Butler's services behind the pack, the southerners should qualify for the cup final. Glebe appear to be too powerful both forward and back for gritty little Annandale team, but the Reds have not been consistently sound of late, so that a close contest at Wentworth Park this afternoon would not be at all surprising. Following is the draw:—

FIRST GRADE.

CITY CUP.

North Sydney v South Sydney, Sports Ground, 3.15, (T. M'Mahon); Glebe v Annandale, Wentworth Park, 3.15 (C. Hedley).

SECOND GRADE.

SPORTS GROUND CUP SEMI-FINALS.

Eastern Suburbs v Balmain, Sports Ground, 2 (A. Ballarum); Western Suburbs v Glebe, Wentworth Park, 2 (A. Farrow).

BRITISH ASSOCIATION.

STATE CHAMPIONSHIP TOURNAMENT.

The State championship tournament will be advanced another stage to-day, four games in the third round being scheduled for disposition. Of these the late game at Epping—Balmain (holders of the Gardiner Challenge Cup) and Annandale—should prove the most attractive, but all four should be stoutly contested, particularly as they will evolve the semi-finalists. Although Balmain cannot be defeated, the game should be a good one in the Second League final, affording, as it does, an opportunity to Botany United to record themselves as the only team to defeat Balmain this season. H.M.A.S. Tingira holds the key to the ultimate destination of the Second Reserve League trophies, and it is unfortunate that the diphtheria outbreak will transfer the team outside the State. Two important junior finals will be contested, one (juvenile) being the replay of the drawn game at Sydenham on Saturday last. Following are the fixtures:—

STATE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Gardiner Challenge Cup.

Balmain Reserves v Granville, Epping, 1.45 (S. Rose); Balmain (holders) v Annandale, Epping, 3.15 (W. A. Wright); Newtown v Burns' Club, S.C.G. No. 2, 1.45 (E. Lukemann); Sydney v Northern Suburbs, S.C.G. No. 2, 3.15 (W. Lincoln).

Second League.—Final.

Balmain v Botany United, Birchgrove, 3.15 (W. Sym).

Second Reserve League.—Semi-final.

Caledonians v H.M.A.S. Tingira, Lyne Park, 3.15 (A. Smith).

All-ages Junior Final.

Balmain Caledonians v Pyrmont Royals, Easton Park, 3.15 (J. McDonald).

Juvenile Final.

Pyrmont Rangers v Pineville Rangers, Easton Park, 1.45 (O. Read).

Other Matches.

Railway v Para Meadow Rosebuds; Y.M.C.A. v Katoomba, at Katoomba.

Teams not engaged in competition games are at liberty to arrange fixtures for this day only.

GRANVILLE AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.

Challenge Shield.

Auburn District v Granville Rechabites, Clyde No. 2, 3.15 p.m. (F. Robertson).

Nurse Cup.—Final.

Cumberland District v Merry Farmers, Clyde No. 1, 3.15 p.m. (Mr. Willisford).

Barlow Schools and Nobbs' Cup.

Central A v Boys' Home, Clyde No. 1, 1.45 p.m. (Mr. Haylor); High School v Central B, Clyde No. 2, 1.45 p.m. (Mr. Craig).

AUSTRALIAN.

This afternoon at the Australian Football Ground a match—New South Wales v Other States (the latter team being composed of players who have learnt their football in the adjacent States)—will be played. The teams will be selected on the ground.

BATHURST, Friday.

An effort is being made to have the abandoned Bathurst to Sydney wheel race substituted by a race from Sydney to Bathurst.

MOTOR CYCLING.

FIXTURES.

Motor Cycle Club of New South Wales: Final trial of series for Zenith Cup. French's Forest circuit, this afternoon, starting from Narrabeen Hotel at 2.30 o'clock. Week-end run to Newport. Members leave by the 10 o'clock punt from Fort Macquarie.

Kookaburra Club: Week-end club run to the "Kookaburra" camp at Newport, starting from Narrabeen at the conclusion of the Zenith Cup competition.

Sydney Club: Members leave Fort Macquarie for Narrabeen this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Week-end run to Appin, starting from club rooms at 10 o'clock.

SYDNEY CLUB.

The date of the Kookaburra and Sydney Motor Cycle Club's combined reliability trial to Bowenfels is Saturday, October 4, and not to-day, as intimated in yesterday's paper. The club members, of course, will journey to Narrabeen this afternoon to witness the final of the Zenith Cup, while the week-end club run is to Appin.

MOTORING.

MOTORISTS AND THE MARATHON.

The secretary of the Automobile Club of Australia requests any club members who may happen to be driving in the Manly district this afternoon to remember that a Marathon race is being held on the road from the Manly Cricket Ground out past Freshwater, towards Brookvale, and as far as possible allow the runners the use of the road between 3.20 and 3.40 o'clock.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB OF AUSTRALIA.

A meeting of members of the Automobile Club of Australia was held at the club-rooms on Thursday evening. Mr. J. M. Arnott (president) occupied the chair. Reports were presented from the officers on the several sub-committees.

The hon. secretary furnished a report of an emergency meeting of the general committee held on September 19 to consider what action the club should take in connection with an application of the Chauffeurs' Union for the constitution of a wages board to deal with their conditions. He explained also the nature of the action taken, and that Mr. J. M. Arnott, (president of the club) had been nominated as employers' representative on the board since granted by Mr. Justice Heydon.

The hon. treasurer's report showed that the club membership is now 450, and that the finances are in a particularly sound condition.

Ten new members were elected as follows:—Messrs. Gerald F. Allen, George Barnard, Charles Hoskins, G. Loosen, Herbert G. Lush, Charles MacLorran, E. W. Maidment, S. Nettleton, Essex R. Picot, and Andrew Wilson.

The grant of £50 towards the funds of the Good Roads Association of New South Wales was confirmed.

THE GUN.

BOWRAL, Friday.

Thirteen shooters participated in the fifth competition for the Berrima District Gun Club's Cup, the previous winners of which were J. Beavan, F. H. Throsby, H. O. Carter, and E. Hambridge. The result was a leg-in for G. Wiles with six kills, the runner-up being G. Hambridge. An optional sweep attached to the cup was divided by H. O. Carter, G. Wiles, and G. Hambridge. Of the subsequent sweepstakes, the first was divided by A. Knauer, G. Hambridge, E. Hambridge, and G. Wiles; the second by E. Hambridge, H. O. Carter, and J. T. Ashcroft; and the third by A. Knauer, J. Bondeson, and J. T. Ashcroft.

PIGEON HOMING.

WOLLONGONG, Friday.

The Balgownie Pigeon Homing Society had a fly from Marulan, which resulted as follows:—R. Learmont, 1; C. Duncan, 2; T. Thompson, 3. About 40 birds were liberated, and two returned home with shot in them.

BASKET BALL.

The following are the New South Wales Fellowship Basket Ball Association's fixture for to-day:—

Glebe A v Leichhardt, Glebe (Mr. Muir); Hunter Baillie v Chalmers, Annandale (Mr. Newton); Glebe B v Pymble, Pymble, (A. D. Graham); Petersham v Chatswood, Leichhardt (Mr. Hughes).

BOXING.

M'COY v HOLBERG.

To-night's match at the Stadium will be between two vigorous boxers, Herb M'Coy (Australia) and Waldemar Holberg (Denmark). The latter's reputation was made chiefly in England, and he gained plenty of friends in Sydney recently by putting up a sterling contest with Mehegan, the Australian lightweight champion. M'Coy is one of the best Australian lightweights, and is anxious to meet Mehegan for the title. If he wins to-night a match with the champion is assured, and he has left no stone unturned to enter the ring at his best. The men are matched at 10st. The contest will commence at 8.30, and Mr. Arthur Scott will officiate as referee.

MINERS' BOARD.

CHAIRMAN COMMENTS ON A WITNESS.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

When Mr. Thomas Scott, manager of the Pelaw Main colliery, was giving evidence before the Miners' Wages Board this morning, Mr. Justice Edmunds (the chairman) had occasion to remark on the partisanship of the witness.

Mr. Lewis (advocate for the miners), asked him if he had even been a delegate or an officer in the Glebe Miners' Lodge, when witnes replied: "No, thank God." The remark went by seemingly unheeded at the time, and Mr. Lewis continued his cross-examination.

Mr. Lewis: Would you say the conditions at Pelaw Main are equal to those at Hebburn?—The conditions at Pelaw Main are the best I have ever seen in coalmining.

Mr. Lewis: Is it a fact that the men at Pelaw Main have often found no working place to go to upon arrival at the pit, and have had to return home?—That has happened sometimes, but very rarely.

Mr. Lewis referred to the statement that the conditions at Pelaw Main and the colliery itself were the best the witness had ever seen, and asked him if that applied to the safety of the colliery. Mr. Scott replied that it did. Upon further cross-examination, he admitted that four fatalities had occurred in the mine in 10 weeks.

Mr. Lewis: Could you say whether the accident fund does not cover the demands made upon it? And is it not a fact that over £30 had to be paid into it to make up the fund, so as to enable it to meet the claims made upon it?

Mr. Kelynack (counsel for the proprietors) objected to the questions being asked.

The chairman said that he thought the question should be allowed. All that Mr. Lewis was trying to do was to test the credibility of the witness.

"I may say," added the chairman, "that I took a very strong mental note of the time when Mr. Scott in reply to a question whether he had ever been an officer or delegate of the Lodge, replied, 'No, thank God.' The way he said that, in my opinion, shook his value as a witness, and strongly increased the impression that he was allowing the fact that he was a partisan to influence his evidence unduly."

PERSONAL.

VICE-REGAL.

Lady Edeline Strickland presided over a meeting held at State Government House yesterday afternoon in connection with the United Charities Fund, and afterwards entertained those present to tea.

The Premier was entertained at a private luncheon yesterday at East Maitland by the Municipal Council. Alderman Chambers presided in the unavoidable absence of the Mayor. Among those present was Major Nicholson, M.L.A. Mr. Davis, Director-General of Public Works, accompanies the Premier on his tour.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Joseph Cook, left Melbourne for Sydney by last evening's express.

Mr. Flowers (Acting-Chief Secretary), left yesterday for the purpose of opening the Portland Hospital. On Monday he will visit the Bathurst Hospital, and return to Sydney on Tuesday.

The State Treasurer will visit the State quarries at Kiama to-day.

Mr. L. S. Amery, M.P., a member of the visiting British Parliamentary party was entertained at luncheon at Federal Parliament House by Mr. Deakin. The Prime Minister and other members were present.

Mr. Michael Vincent Murphy, who has been appointed Administrator and Chief Magistrate of Norfolk Island, was entertained at the Australia Hotel, by a representative assemblage of mercantile, civil, and military men on Thursday afternoon. Colonel Burns presided, and referred to the good work already performed by Mr. Murphy in connection with the affairs of the island. The chairman proposed Mr. Murphy's health, and handed him a gold watch and chain, and sovereign case from his friends. On the same evening Mr. Murphy was entertained by the Royal Prince Alfred Yacht Club. He leaves on Monday for the island.

Mr. Sidney Leonard Abrahams was yesterday admitted by the Full Court to the Bar of New South Wales, on the motion of Mr. J. A. Ferguson. The following gentlemen were admitted as solicitors and proctors:—Messrs. Alfred Ernest Holland, Redler Charles Janssen, Cuthbert William Robson, Eric Nelson Rowley, and Harry Lambert Wheeler. Mr. Herbert Ralph Briant was conditionally admitted, and the conditional admission of Mr. Henry Edward Hodgkinson was confirmed.

COMMONWEALTH MATCH.

N.S.W. TEAM SELECTED.

This year the big event of the marksman's year, the Commonwealth match, will be decided in Brisbane at the N.R.A. meeting on October 3.

Owing to the continued absence in the country of Mr. M. H. Tessimund, the third selector, the other two selectors, Major R. C. Dawson and Captain J. R. Wallace, after consultation with the N.R.A. Council, decided to pick the N.S.W. team immediately. As several members of the team have to be vaccinated before leaving Sydney, the selection could not be further delayed. The following have been selected:—

Major R. C. Dawson (captain), D. L. McAlister (Junee), A. T. Huntley (Murrurundi), W. B. Suttor (Hargraves), W. Robinson (Lands Dept.), D. Scott (Sydney), R. S. Lonsdale (Sydney), H. Matton (Australian Rifles), T. Smalley (Penrith), W. Draper (Rockdale), A. W. Parsons (Wollongong), D. Hattersley (Parramatta), R. H. Walker (Albion Park). Emergencies: W. Coulter (Tramway), and F. W. Turton (Parramatta). Coaches: C. Morris (Goulburn) and G. R. Greig (Randwick). The selection was largely based on the test shoot which took place at Randwick on Saturday last. Several good shots (notably R. Edmond, of Sydney, and F. G. Langdon, of Randwick) were not available owing to the proximity of the New South Wales meeting in October.

The conditions of the Commonwealth match are 10 shots at 200, 600, 700, and 900 yards, for teams of 10 men from each of the States. Last year the match was won by Western Australia.

MR. ELWOOD MEAD.

STATE APPOINTMENT OR NOTHING.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Negotiations between the Ministries of New South Wales and Victoria, which have been opened up with a view of making a joint offer to Mr. Elwood Mead, of the position of consulting irrigation engineer, have not been completed. Mr. Watt is still awaiting a reply from Mr. Holman. It is understood that Mr. Mead has received an offer from the Commonwealth Ministry. If so, he will not accept it.

"You can state positively," said Mr. Mead to-night, "that I shall either continue to hold my present position of chairman of the State Rivers and Water Supply Commission of Victoria, or I shall accept the professorship of rural institutions in the University of California, which has been offered to me. I shall not consider any alternative proposal."

BOWLS.

TO-DAY'S FIXTURES.

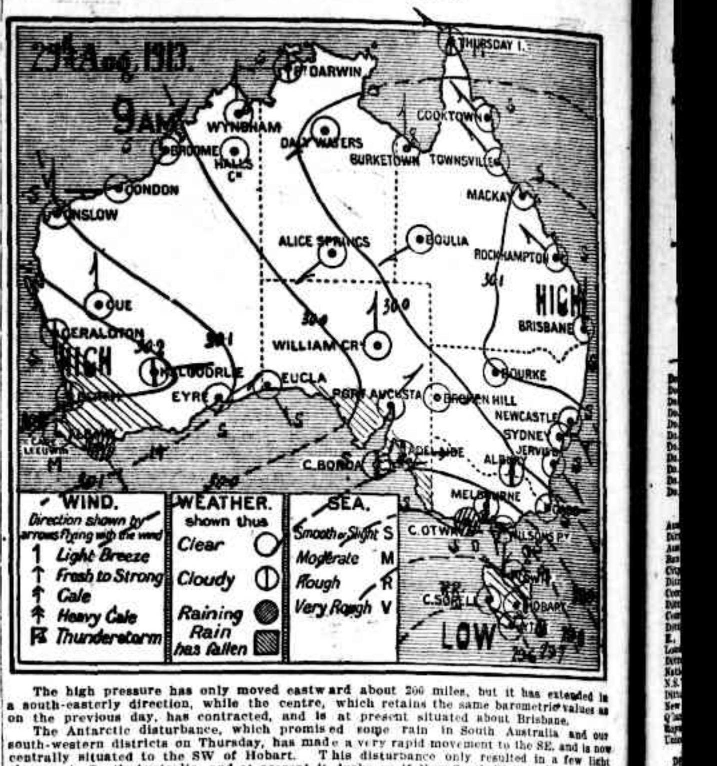
AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.



The high pressure has only moved eastward about 200 miles, but it has extended in a south-easterly direction, while the centre, which retains the same barometric values as on the previous day, has contracted, and is at present situated about Brisbane.

The Antarctic disturbance, which promised some rain in South Australia and our south-western districts on Thursday, has made a very rapid movement to the SE, and is now centrally situated to the SW of Hobart. This disturbance only resulted in a few light showers in South Australia, and at present it looks as if New South Wales will not benefit from it. The high pressure over Western Australia has also made rapid easting, and extends as far east as Central Australia; while the centre is situated about Geraldton.

Ocean Forecast.—Fresh to strong and squally north-west and south-west winds over and south from the Straits.

CENSURE MOTION.

ANOTHER DAY'S DEBATE.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The censure motion, which was moved in the House of Representatives some time ago by the leader of the Opposition, was further discussed to-day.

Mr. Arthur, who defeated Sir John Quick at the elections, was the first speaker. He paid a tribute to the good work done by Sir John Quick in the interests of federation.

Mr. Carr claimed that the Government had been given no mandate to change the whole of the legislation. Although the Liberals had not much to talk about in regard to Protection, he would have to admit that the Labour party had not done as much as they could have. The late Government was foolish in not appointing the Interstate Commission when it had the chance.

Mr. O'Malley: Three good jobs gone. (Laughter.)

Mr. Carr: He believed in a national insurance scheme. (Opposition dissent.) He agreed that Commissioners should administer the post-offices.

The debate was adjourned till Tuesday.

Y.W.C.A.

WELCOME TO MISS HILL.

A number of people were invited to meet Miss Hill, the newly-appointed general secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, at an "at home" given by Mrs. Edward Sully at the Y.W.C.A. buildings last evening.

Mrs. Wright welcomed Miss Hill, on behalf of the Churches and the Girls' Friendly Society, of which she was president.

Miss Hill, replying, said: "I come, in the words of St. Paul, 'to serve,' and I ask everyone present to serve with me. This is a great movement, of which we are a part, stretching round the world, and, developing through a period of 58 years, has come to what it is. Looking back, we ask, what was the object in founding the movement? It was to meet the needs of the young woman. Only think of the 10 millions of girls in America working in the great mills at work which 50 years ago, was done in the home. It is throwing the young woman out on the world and changing the condition of women every day. The great movement, in which we are all interested, adapts itself to the needs of the women of every country. I was present at the great reunion in Berlin, when the Empress expressed her appreciation of the work. What has been done in other countries can be done here. The association acts as a sort of watchtower and lighthouse. A lighthouse is not a money-making concern, but the girls over whom it watches are money-makers. The Y.W.C.A. is not a rescue society, as is often thought. It safeguards rather than saves. Neither is the association a charity affair. The affair is self-supporting. It is a democratic institution. I came from a democratic country. In England, and even India, there are difficulties in this direction. But Australia is a democratic country, and I hope there will be no such difficulties here."

Amongst those invited to be present were—Sir W. and Lady M'Millan, Sir James and Lady Fairfax, Sir W. and Lady Cullen, Lady Renwick, Mrs. H. C. Dangar, Mrs. F. C. Roberts, Mrs. Newman, Mrs. Pattinson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Vickery, Mrs. Wilfred Docker, Mr. and Mrs. E. Vickery, Mr. J. Kent, Mr. A. W. S. Gregg, Mr. and Mrs. C. Walsh, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. M'Gaw, Misses Heard, Grace Burrows, M. Windeyer, Milner-Stephen, Annette Scammell, Fowler, Beale, Board, Thompson, Russell, Sanders, Newberry, Dr. C. D'Arcy, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dixson.

FINANCIAL.

SINKING FUNDS—PAST AND PRESENT.

THAT OF PITT, AND THAT OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

MORE HISTORICAL PARALLELS.

In 1904 the Parliament of New South Wales passed the State Debt and Sinking Fund Act, this being an attempt to establish a permanent sinking fund for the redemption of small loans. At the time of the passing of the measure, owing to the heavy returns from the Commonwealth Treasurer, the State exchequer was full to overflowing. No sacrifice had thus to be made in establishing a fund of this character. The fund was opened on July 1, 1905, with the transfer of £454,438 from certain Treasury accounts, including £395,017 in cash, and the balance at fixed deposit at various banks. From that date up to June 30, 1912, the total receipts amounted to £3,428,882. Redemptions have been carried out to the amount of £2,774,900, and securities of a face value of £196,837 purchased for £191,835, leaving a cash balance at the close of the financial year of £462,146.

This fund is controlled by a board known as the State Debt Commissioners, which consist of those holding the following offices for the time being:—The State Treasurer, the Chief Justice, the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, and the Under-Secretary to the Treasurer. In addition to the special transfer with which the fund was opened, there was to be an annual amount of £350,000 placed to the credit of the fund out of the consolidated revenue. The object of the sinking fund was the purchase and redemption of Government stock, debentures or Treasury bills, and, in the meanwhile, the money to credit of the fund might be invested. The commissioner are empowered to invest in Government securities or to make a deposit with the Treasurer or with some bank doing Government business. So, evidently the Commissioners, as to £191,835 of their funds, have followed the plan of Dr. Price, and are extracting interest annually from the public on account of debt that does not exist except by a legal fiction. It is true that the commissioners are acting in strict accordance with the Act, but that in no way alters the inevitable result of their operations.

Now let us turn back the clock for a century and a quarter. We have already shown that the theories of Dr. Price had sunk well in. The national debt had doubled in an incredibly short time, and in 1786 Pitt saw that he must do something, and having a clear surplus of just on a million sterling, he thought the time opportune, and the occasion propitious to place the national accounts on a sounder footing. So he established "a board of commissioners of the sinking fund," and in order that no needy Government would be able to misappropriate the fund, he compelled the commissioners to apply the money under their control quarterly to the purchase of Government stock, either at or below par. As the commissioners purchased, the Treasury continued paying the interest, which went to swell the sinking fund. As the investments had to be made quarterly, Pitt felt that no succeeding Government would ever find a sufficiently large sum at its credit for it to be worth its while to tamper with it. As details of the condition of the fund had to be published from time to time it was thought that nothing could happen to it without public attention being directed to the invasion. So that there could be no paltering the annual payment into the sinking fund took precedence of all other payments, except the payment of interest on the national debt itself. Therefore, in order to tinker with the fund, a succeeding Government would be compelled to first get a repealing measure through in the full blaze of public criticism. But, unfortunately, a little slip was allowed to be introduced into the measure. At the suggestion of Fox, and with the approval of Pitt himself, a section was inserted which allowed the commissioners to take up any part of any new loan that was being issued. For some years this section was inoperative, but at length the commissioners tendered for new issues, thus enabling the Government to borrow back the money that it was providing for debt reduction purposes. For a time Pitt's sinking fund worked admirably, and that statesman received great kudos for having so firmly, as it was supposed, established the national finances on sound lines. Tomline's panegyric goes so far as to say that Pitt's inviolable sinking fund "probably saved this country from becoming a province of France."

At length the scales fell from the eyes of the public. It remained for a Scotsman, one Professor Hamilton, of Aberdeen, to riddle the theories of Dr. Price and of Pitt. He showed that all schemes for the extinguishment of debt on the compound interest plan were illusory, and that an excess of revenue over expenditure was the only sound basis for debt reduction. Amortisation during borrowing periods was a purely fictitious operation which in no wise reduced the debt, but really increased it. So the Ministerial assurance that a sinking fund was "an advantage gained for nothing" began to be appreciated at its real worth. Between 1785 and 1829 the British Government borrowed £330,000,000 at about 5 per cent. to retire a debt of the same magnitude, bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent. So this excellent financial scheme, which on its initiative was so lauded, cost the British taxpayer no less than £1,627,765 dead loss each year for 43 years. Dr. Price and his doctrinaire ideas thus cost the British public just on £70,000,000 without his beloved compound interest. A Parliamentary Finance Committee reported that a sinking fund fed by loans was a farce and laid down the axiom that funds for the extinction of debt should not be raised by the creation of it in another shape. It held that the only fund that can advantageously be used for the creation of a sinking fund is the net surplus of receipts over expenditure. Hence instead of fixing in advance the sum to be applied to the principal of the public debt, it was better to appropriate only the net annual surplus whatever that might be. But should no surplus be realised it was not wise to resort to borrowing in behalf of amortisation. Whatever stock was redeemed should be promptly cancelled, and interest should be no longer reckoned on defunct paper.

The New South Wales State Treasurer and his colleagues might with advantage peruse that old report at this juncture. It has a bearing on the present state of our public accounts, and may enable many pitfalls to be avoided.

The profits had been unduly swollen by £5000 applied to depreciation of plant and machinery. The shareholders met yesterday, at the Royal Exchange, Mr. Thomas Hughes, M.L.C., presiding. Resolutions were unanimously passed adopting the directors' report and balance-sheet, and re-electing Mr. John Thomas Toohey as a director, re-electing Mr. H. Dunstan Vane and Mr. C. A. Le M. Walker as auditors.

JAMES MARTIN AND CO., LTD.

The annual meeting of the above company was held yesterday, Mr. T. F. Thompson presiding. The report and balance-sheet, which we have already summarised, were adopted. Mr. Thomas Davis was re-elected a director for the ensuing year, and Messrs. Yarwood, Vane, and Co. were re-elected as auditors. It was announced to the meeting that the business of the company was steadily growing, and larger capital could with advantage be used for the expanding and profitable trade that presented itself. It was decided to make an additional issue of 20,000 shares at par, to be offered in the first instance to shareholders. The directors will take up a good portion of the new issue.

SILVERTON TRAMWAY.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The half-yearly meeting of shareholders of the Silverton Tramway Company was held to-day. Mr. McBryde, M.L.C., who presided, stated that for the six months ended June 30, the total goods haulage was 889,041 tons, an increase of 13,623 tons, as compared with the corresponding period of 1912. The total receipts amounted to £102,037, an increase of £3472 as compared with the similar period last year. When the enforced cessation of the company's business for three weeks during April was taken into consideration, the traffic operations were very satisfactory. The company's permanent-way locomotives, rolling stock, and workshops, were in first-class order.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

Grocery lines yesterday had a fair business. Bell's Beehive safety matches previously shipped from England, are now being put on the market from Melbourne. Fifteen thousand boxes of Libby's potted and devilled meats were placed. Some guide to the position of salmon is furnished by the "New York Journal of Commerce" of July 5. A report from Vancouver, published in that newspaper, states:—"British Columbia salmon cannerymen are preparing to put up a record pack of 1,300,000 cases this year. Three-quarters of a million of these are expected to be filled with sockeyes, while the remainder will be of other varieties of salmon. The largest previous salmon pack in the history of the province was 1,230,000 cases, packed in 1901. Last year 444,762 cases of sockeyes were put up." Meggitt's linseed meal was going out freely to dairymen and horseowners.

Private business in tea during the week has been quiet. Retailers both in the metropolis and the country had allowed their stocks to run so low that considerable buying from the blenders took place for replenishment, and the blenders had been so busy getting the tea away that they had not operated on the market. It is believed, however, that some buying will shortly be necessary. The tea auction yesterday was successful. Everything offered—542 packages of Ceylon teas—was cleared to good competition, prices ranging up to 10¾d.

The metal market remained dull, the only sign of activity noticeable being in No. 10 black wire. There were eager buyers, but no sellers. Quotations were unchanged at £9/15/ per ton. No. 8 was a little firmer at £7/17/6 to £8. All the cheap wire which was down as low as £7/15/. had been cleared off the market. Cement was in request. Sales were made ex sailing vessel unloading at 13/ to 13/3 per cask, and ex store at 14/.

Oils were steady. Linseed was in moderate request at unchanged rates, 3/7 and 3/8 for Blundell's, and a penny cheaper for other brands. Those who were asking 3/8 found that competition was too strong for them. Sales of 1000 drums of Meggitt's raw and boiled linseed oil and 50 casks of raw oil were reported. Turpentine was in strong hands, which found support from the recent advances in New York. Whitelead was firm at £37/10/ for Champion's in cwt packages.

ADVANCE IN WOOLPACKS.

Woolpacks have begun to move. A few weeks ago they were down as low as 2/7, and a parcel was even bought at 2/6 each. Yesterday the market was cleared of everything offering at 2/9, with the buyers willing to continue at the price, but the sellers had all closed up. Small lots were quoted at 2/9½. Some sellers talked of 2/10. The buyers who some weeks ago repudiated contracts because the bill of lading of their purchases was dated a few days too late—June 5, for instance instead of May 31—now find that they have missed something good. The market which has fallen has recovered, and a great deal more than recovered what it had lost. Two hundred and fifty bales were purchased yesterday at 2/9, and on Thursday, 500 bales at 2/8, so that altogether 750 bales changed hands—over £5000 worth. What started the buying was the discovery that, in spite of large importations, the stocks on spot were not as heavy as they should be, Queensland having bought more largely than was anticipated. Then cables as reported in yesterday's issue showed higher quotations at Calcutta. Yesterday Melbourne came into the market and took 200 bales, which further strengthened the position, and an additional factor was the cable of shipments by the Fazilka, which left Calcutta on August 18, the first August boat. She has only 200 bales of woolpacks aboard of her altogether. An increase in the clip of 200,000 bales of wool, which is the amount reckoned in some quarters, would absorb nearly all the increase, 4400 bales of packs on last year's imports. If that estimate is justified then there is no doubt that the increase in the price of packs is justified. Shipments by the Fazilka of all fabrics may be stated thus:—

SHIPMENTS BY THE FAZILKA.

	Branbags. Bales.	Cornsacks. Bales.	Woolpacks. Bales.
Sydney	100	3250	—
Melbourne	150	1000	200
Adelaide	—	250	—
Total	250	4500	200

One unlooked for feature was the small number of cornsacks. These 4500 bales added to the imports by previous boats during the year give a total for the three States of 21,150. At least 6000 bales of these have not been for wheat-bagging purposes at all, so that up to the commencement of October there will be only 14,600 bales available for an eighty million bushel crop for New South Wales, Victoria, and South Australia, and if conditions are at all favourable that will be a very moderate estimate. For such a crop 80,000 bales of cornsacks will be required, so that 65,400 bales will all have to come down in vessels leaving Calcutta within the next two months. The price of cornsacks yesterday was firm at 6/8 slings for season's delivery, or 6/9½ net to rails. For spot lots 7/1½ delivered discount was asked. The total shipments of all fabrics from January 1 to the first August boat this year and last year may be given thus:—

	Branbags. 1913. Bales.	1912. Bales.	Cornsacks. 1913. Bales.	1912. Bales.	Woolpacks. 1913. Bales.	1912. Bales.
Sydney	5,070	3,030	10,700	2,400	20,480	16,600
Melbourne	6,325	6,190	7,650	1,125	7,975	7,710
Adelaide	1,125	2,325	2,800	1,925	4,875	4,500
Total	12,520	11,545	21,150	5,450	33,330	28,810

Branbags were firmer yesterday, spot lots being quoted at 6/1½ delivered, discount, and October to December shipment at 6/ slings. Everything offering on spot at 6/, the price of the previous day, was taken up.

EXPORT TRADE.

AUSTRALIAN FROZEN MEAT FOR INDIA

A Bombay telegram sent via Colombo records the formation of a syndicate to import frozen meat from Australia.

BREADSTUFFS.

AN EASIER MARKET.

Wheat was easier yesterday, the holders having found that the shippers had all that was necessary to fill their boats. There was a little offering at 3/7½, but shippers' ideas did not go above 3/7½, in some quarters not more than 3/7. In the country growers were disinclined to sell. They were still fearful of a drought. For country lots shippers offered 3/2½ to 3/2¾, occasionally 3/3 in the stacks, the equivalent prices being 3/6½ to 3/7, and occasionally 3/7½ ex trucks Darling Island. The last price would be given only for a very prime sample.

Flour was quiet, the Association quoting £8/15/ delivered. There was a fair inquiry for bran and pollard for export, bran £4, pollard £4/15/.

At Darling Harbour yesterday 1205 tons of wheat and 150 tons of flour were manifested to arrive.

LONDON MARKET CABLES.

SILVER.

LONDON, Aug. 28, 7.30 p.m.

Bar silver was quoted to-day at /27½ per ounce standard, an advance of 1-16d.

WHEAT.

LONDON, Aug. 29, 1.55 a.m.

Wheat was steady yesterday. Unfavourable harvesting conditions on the Continent were inducing some inquiry. Sellers were firm. Australian wheat on spot was in limited demand at 39/ per quarter of 496lb. There was little inquiry for New Zealand wheat, owing to plentiful supplies of new English wheat at moderate prices.

Liverpool futures were quoted:—October, 7/1⅝d (⅛d down); December, 7/1⅛d (⅛d down) per cental.

FREIGHT.

The market for freight is firm. A fixture for a sailer for despatch from South Australia prompt was made at 30/ per ton, and another for despatch from Western Australia in January at 32/3 per ton.

FLOUR.

The market for flour is dull. Australian flour in store is selling at 29/ per sack of 280lb, and on passage at 25/9 c.i.f.

OATS.

The market for oats is steady. Old New Zealand is unchanged.

PEAS AND BEANS.

Peas have had a fair trade on spot. Old crop New Zealands are worth 40/ to 42/ per quarter of 504lb, and new crop 45/. Beans are neglected. 36/6 per quarter is asked for f.a.q. New Zealands on spot, but there are no buyers.

BUTTER.

The butter market is firm. Hot weather is checking English supplies, but large quantities of Siberian butter are arriving. Choicest Australian is nominally 108/ to 110/ per cwt.

CHEESE.

The market for cheese is firm, New Zealand at 66/ to 68/ per cwt.

BACON.

Bacon is quiet, Australian flitches make 66/ to 68/ per cwt.

METALS.

Closing quotations yesterday were:—

Copper, on spot, £71 to £71/5/ per ton (15/ up); at three months, £70/17/6 to £71/2/6 per ton (13/9 up).

Electrolytic copper, £74 per ton (15/ up).

Tin, spot, £197/5/ to £197/15/ per ton (£5 up); at three months, £196/15/ to £197/5/ per ton (£5/5/ up).

Lead, soft foreign, £20/7/6 per ton (2/6 down).

Spelter, £21 per ton (6/3 up).

PRODUCE.

DAIRY.

HEAVY STOCKS OF EGGS.

Arrivals of eggs yesterday were heavy. The coastal steamers discharged 550 cases, not to mention consignments received from inland centres and the suburbs. But, notwithstanding the smart increase in the supply, agents refused to accept lower values. For new-laid they demanded from /11 to /11½ per dozen, while for parcels from the railway and South Coast they asked /10½. Northern river consignments were also quoted at /10½, although it was reported that a few small lots of interior quality had to be cleared at /10. Duck eggs commanded to 1/.

Cheese was steady at from /6¾ to /7 per lb. Stocks were substantial, but for the present, at least, the market appears to be on a fairly sound footing.

Several good sales of bacon were booked at full rates.

Other lines were steady at the previous day's levels.

Quotations were:—

COPPER REACHES £71.

LONDON SHARE VALUES SOLID.

LOCAL MARKET QUIET, BUT STEADY.

Though the market yesterday morning did not show any signs of improvement as regards the amount of business transacted, its general tone was cheerful.

This was attributed to the fact that, generally speaking, the quotations of the London Stock Exchange on Thursday disclosed continued steadiness in the value of Australian copper and silver propositions, especially the latter.

This was noticeable in the case of Broken Hill North, Broken Hill Block 10, Broken Hill South, British Broken Hill (old), Zinc Corporation (ord.), and Mount Morgan, whilst steady prices ruled in the case of Mount Lyell and Hampden-Cloncurry. On the other hand, Broken Hill Proprietary and Mount Elliott showed fractionally easier quotations.

It was a noticeable circumstance that copper propositions apparently did not respond to the further 7/6 advance in the price of copper, which now stands at the fine figure of £71, whilst, on the other hand, the firmness in Barriers was in the face of a fractional decline in the price of lead.

The general effect, however, of the improved London Stock Exchange quotations was to impart a more cheerful atmosphere to the local market, though, as before remarked, it did not show itself in an increased volume of business.

In the copper division, Mount Morgans sold at an advance of /9, but Hampden-Cloncurry eased a fraction. Mount Lyells were wanted at a firm figure, whilst buyers of Mammoth Copper wanted a concession of 1/ on the last sale, but sellers would not entertain the proposition. Wallaroo and Moonta were quoted wide.

In the case of Barriers, Broken Hill Souths (paid) moved from £7/11/—the previous sale—to £7/13/, whilst the contributing scrip was unchanged at £7/7/. British Broken Hill (old), sold on six weeks terms at 38/4½, but for ordinary delivery, sellers would not make a concession on the last sale.

As regards other Barrier stocks, Broken Hill Proprietary commanded steady offers, but sellers quoted wide. The offers for B.H. Junction North were a shade easier, but scripholders refused to make a concession on the last sale. Sulphide Corporation (ord.), were in request, but sellers were undeclared.

The Ardlethan group was quiet, with steady transactions booked in Carpathias and Southern Cross. In gold stocks, Bullfinch Proprietary sold at a firm figure. A sudden jump took place in the demand for Black Range, but, though buyers offered a big advance on late sale rates, sellers quoted wide.

The directors of the Broken Hill South Company have declared a dividend of 6/ per share. The mine is looking remarkably well, and some shareholders are hopeful, nay, confident, that the next dividend will be 8/ per share. Generaly speaking, the market was quiet, but steady, during the afternoon.

CARPATHIA TIN MINE.

SAMPLING THE LODE.

The secretary of the above company, Mr. R. Vernon Saddington, has received the following letter from Dr. J. Logan Jack:—"As I informed you on my return from an inspection of your company's mines, I had found it necessary to take a great number of samples and have them assayed.

"I fully expected that the assaying would have been done in time to enable me to submit my report on or before Monday next (1st Sept.), but delays have arisen owing to circumstances beyond my control, and I see, with regret, that this is now a physical impossibility.

"You will understand that my conclusions cannot be based on anything less than the whole of the evidence which I set out to secure. I, therefore, beg you (and incidentally the shareholders) to suspend your (and their) judgment until my report is in your hands, say in another week or so. I do not even see my way to offering a 'preliminary report,' which would be of the nature of a summary of conclusions at which I have not yet arrived. The most that can be said at present is that the assays, so far as they have come to hand, are beyond my expectations."

POLO.

MOREE CARNIVAL.

DINDEMAH WINS CUP FINAL.

GOONDIWINDI RUNNERS-UP.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

MOREE, Friday.

Perfect weather and splendid sport marked the closing of the Moree polo carnival; and Dindemah team had the satisfaction of carrying off the two cups, beating Goondiwindi A by 10 goals to 4. The two trophies consisted of Weebollabla Challenge Cup, presented by Mr. Donald Munro, and the patrons cup, presented by Mr. R. A. Reed, of Kooragamma; the latter trophy having to be won twice in succession before becoming the absolute property of any club. There is a trophy for the runners-up, which is called the Vice-president's Cup, and includes four miniature challenge cups for each player, and are presented by Mr. A. W. Lamport. Four small cups go with the challenge cup, which is to be played for each year.

Great excitement prevailed during the final, which was a splendid exhibition of fast polo, and both teams were heartily cheered at the finish. The winning team consisted of four ex-King's School boys, and two of the Goondiwindi side also claim the same honour; and in the final for the Muswellbrook challenge cup some months ago, all players were ex-students of the famous Parramatta School.

The officials for the final were:—Umpires, Messrs. Jim Allison and H. Blomfield; referee, Mr. A. T. Nivison; timekeeper, Mr. H. R. Murray; scorer, Mr. Norman Willis. Great credit is due to Mr. H. A. Flood, the secretary of the club, for the manner in which he carried out the duties of organising such a big function, and the Moree carnival will be remembered as one of the most successful of the year, and, considering that the club has been barely two months in existence, it was a splendid maiden effort.

The Moree players greatly pleased their local supporters by soundly beating Goondiwindi B by 13 goals 6 behinds to 4 goals 1 behind; and St. George accounted for Glen Innes by 8 goals 8 behinds to 4 goals 6 behinds. The improving Tamarangs had a good game with Inverell, who were beaten by 6 goals 10 behinds to 2 goals 10 behinds. Despite the bumpy ground, the good hitting for the four days was very good. Mr. Fred. Bell, with 15 goals, being the most prolific scorer.

DINDEMAH v GOONDIWINDI A.

The teams for the final consisted of:—Dindemah: Messrs. Percy Willsallen (back), Les Willsallen (captain, 3), Jack Davies (2), Fred. Bell (1). Goondiwindi: Messrs. Hilton Doyle (captain, back), Phil. Parbury (3), Jim White (2), L. Margetts (1).

Play opened at a great rate, and continued fast and even for some time, both sides showing excellent form. A clever shot by Les Willsallen put the ball in position for Fred. Bell, who scored. Dindemah kept up the pressure, and after two misses Davies wheeled sharply and put the ball through. Goondiwindi men had plenty of work to do in clearing their line when the second period opened; but splendid shots by Doyle, who made all kinds of strokes with wonderful vigour, drove their opponents back repeatedly. Dindemah kept pegging away, and a nice hit by Fred. Bell gave Davies an opportunity, which produced a goal.

Goondiwindi now had a turn, a tremendous drive by Doyle sending them goalwards, but the two Willsallens were very sure in defence. The Queenslanders were very unlucky, several excellent hits being stopped by the ponies, but they had the better of the game, although they did not score. In the third period Fred. Bell started from his own goal-line, and with three splendid drives got to the other end, amid much cheering. Goondiwindi forced, and from the free hit Percy Willsallen forwarded to Fred. Bell, but the latter's chop for goal was well blocked by Margetts. Goondiwindi were hard pressed, when Jim White dashed away, but Percy Willsallen secured the ball from him, and came down the side line, centring splendidly to Fred. Bell, who raised the red flag with a nicely-judged hit.

Goondiwindi now played up splendidly, showing great dash. A cheer went up as Margetts sent the ball straight for the posts, but a magnificent back-hander by Percy Willsallen within a foot of the line saved the situation again. Doyle started his men going, and Margetts got clear of the field, but his shot for goal just missed. Jim White brought off one of the tit-bits of the match in the fourth period. With three powerful drives he traversed nearly the length of the ground, then back-handed from the side line, and placed in front for Parbury, who sent the ball sailing between the posts, a great outburst of applause following this success. The half-time bell rang with Dindemah leading by 4 goals to 1.

On resuming, Dindemah gave a great exhibition, and soon increased their lead. The first goal came from the free hit for a force at the end of the fourth period. In play again, Jim White's pony rolled over in the ruck, but no damage was done. Les Willsallen made a fine shot with a backhander from side line to centre, and Davies, anticipating the move, was at full gallop with the ball in front of the posts before the Goondiwindi men could mark him, and, with a slashing hit, he registered a goal.

Goondiwindi now made great efforts to score; another run by Margetts putting them into position right in front of the goal. Some heavy scrum work ensued, but Percy Willsallen cleared with one of his solid drives. Margetts, hitting well, just missed the posts, but from the hit-off, Doyle blocked, and returned, and following up hit a good goal. Dindemah now pulled themselves together, and made a combined charge to the other end, and from about 30 yards Les Willsallen, with a near-sider under his pony, scored a wonderful goal. But excellent as this hit was, it was immediately eclipsed by Davies, who worked to goal, and when wide of the posts, he chopped through under his pony's neck.

The Queensland men opened the attack in the sixth period; but Les. Willsallen sent to the side line, and then from a fine piece of combination near the centre, Percy Willsallen drove solidly to Davies, who sent to Fred. Bell, and the latter backhanded to his captain, who hit a goal. Great applause greeted this fine combination. Goondiwindi were again unlucky, a good shot for goal by Jim White striking a pony. Coming again, Margetts looked dangerous, but Fred. Bell bumped him at the critical moment. They stuck to their work, however, and Jim White scored a fine goal, and the crowd were roused to great excitement. At the opening of the seventh period, Jim White broke away from his own end, and finished with an angular chop, and brought off another goal. Goondiwindi came with a rush, but only a behind resulted, and from the hit-off, Les Willsallen took to the other end, and Fred. Bell scored another goal, which made the final scores:—Dindemah, 10 goals 6 behinds; Goondiwindi, 4 goals 4 behinds.

LAW REPORT.

HIGH COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Barton, Acting Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Isaacs, Mr. Justice Higgins, Mr. Justice Duffy, Mr. Justice Powers, and Mr. Justice Rich.)

MOTION FOR INJUNCTION.

Colliery Owners v Federated Engine-drivers and Firemen.

Judgment was reserved.

ANOTHER SPECIAL CASE.

Merchant Service Guild v Newcastle and Hunter River Steamship Company and others.

This was a special case stated by Mr. Justice Higgins, as President of the Commonwealth Court of Conciliation and Arbitration, for the opinion and decision of the High Court Full Bench.

"This proceeding," said the President, "came before the Commonwealth Court of Conciliation and Arbitration on March 29, 1913, in pursuance of an order of the President made on February 24, 1913, under section 19, sub-section d, of the Conciliation and Arbitration Act, 1904-11. The claimant is an organisation of masters and officers who are employed by the respondents. The respondents (128 in number) are shipowners carrying on business on the coast of Australia. Objection was taken (in answers and at the hearing) on the part of many of the respondents who appeared or were represented before the Court, that there is no industrial dispute within the meaning of the Constitution or of the Act. The following questions arise in the proceeding—questions which in my opinion are questions of law—and I submit them to the High Court for its opinion:—(1) What are the necessary indicia of an (actual) industrial dispute within the meaning of the Constitution and of the Act? (2) In the case of a demand made by or on behalf of employees on their employers, and refused or not conceded, is pre-existing dissatisfaction communicated to or known by the employers before the demand a necessary element to constitute an industrial dispute, or make the demand real and genuine?

Mr. T. R. Bavin, instructed by Messrs. Sullivan Bros., appeared for the Merchant Service Guild, claimants, before the Arbitration Court; Mr. Knox, K.C., and Mr. Curlewis, instructed by Mr. H. De J. Scroggie and Mr. E. S. Dunhill, appeared for such of the respondents who are members of the New South Wales Steamship Owners' Association.

After argument, the Acting Chief Justice said the Court, by majority, was of the opinion that question No. 1 ought not to be answered. If necessary, the reasons for that opinion would sufficiently appear in the judgments in other cases.

Argument was then proceeded with on the second question of the special case stated by the President of the Arbitration Court.

The case stands part heard.

SUPREME COURT.

IN BANCO.

(Before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Pring, and Mr. Justice Ferguson.)

REFUSED TO ANSWER QUESTION.
MAGISTRATE'S DECISION UPHELD.

Bradley v Field.

Mr. L. Armstrong, instructed by the Crown Solicitor (Mr. J. V. Tillett), appeared for the appellant, Detective George Bradley, in support of a motion to set aside the decision of Mr. C. N. Payten, S.M., dismissing an information issued against respondent, Thomas Alfred Field, for refusing to answer a question before the Foods Commission.

The matter was argued on July 31, and judgment was now delivered.

The Chief Justice said the question was—whether the determination of the magistrate was erroneous in point of law. The reason he gave for his decision dismissing the information was, that the defendant had a reasonable excuse for refusing to answer the question set out in the information. The plea of reasonable excuse was one of a very large number of defences set up before the magistrate, and argued on the appeal as some of the grounds so taken, challenged the applicability of the statute under which the information was laid to the facts given in evidence. It was obvious that before the question of reasonable excuse was reached it was first necessary to consider whether a prima facie case under the statute was made out by the prosecutor. If the facts proved for the prosecution were, in any necessary particular, insufficient for this purpose, the case against defendant failed at the outset, and questions about the sufficiency of any defence based on the opposite assumption simply did not arise in the case. As the date of the Royal Commission was July 7, 1911, and the date of the alleged offence was July 3, 1912, he thought it clearly followed that the prosecution of the inquiry on the latter date was outside the authority conferred upon the commission, whose powers were limited by the Letters Patent to four months from the date of the appointment. If it were otherwise, a commission, created with a temporary or limited authority might, years after its authority had ceased, or for purposes outside the scope of its authority, expose the subject to the penal clauses of the Act. It was argued that time was not the essence of the original grant of authority. That might or might not be true as between the Crown and the Commissioners, but could not be true as between the Crown and the subject whom it was sought to make amenable to a penal provision. As the several extensions of the Commission were made otherwise than by Letters Patent under the Great Seal, he thought the prosecutor failed to prove that the inquiry being held at the date of the alleged offence, was one held under the authority of an appointment by that method, and consequently failed in a necessary part of the proof required by the penal section. If it should be thought that the mode of appointment mentioned in the statute was a mere formality, it would be a sufficient answer that the Legislature had chosen that method of identifying the instrument by virtue of which alone commissioners could claim to exercise the authority given by the Act; just as in various Statutes the execution of a deed under seal was made to produce legal consequences not attaching to the same writing unsealed. But, apart from this, such a requirement could by no means be regarded as a mere formality; it was one of the safeguards frequently adopted by the Legislature for what must have appeared to it to be sufficient reason. On the ground mentioned, without going into the other questions raised, he was of opinion that the appeal must fail.

Mr. Justice Pring concurred.

Mr. Justice Ferguson delivered a separate judgment, and dealing with the question of reasonable excuse said that Mr. Armstrong had contended that the magistrate's determination was vitiated by the fact that he misdirected himself on the question of law—that acting upon a misapprehension of the decision of the High Court in the Colonial Sugar Refining Company, Ltd., v Commonwealth Attorney-General, he decided that the Commissioners could not question a witness as to his private affairs. But if the magistrate did so decide, his decision, whether right or wrong, had reference to the contention that the question was one which could not lawfully be put, in the sense that it was outside the scope of the commission, a quite distinct contention from that which the magistrate then proceeded to deal with, whether, assuming the question could lawfully be put, the witness had a reasonable excuse for refusing to answer it. As he read the case, the magistrate's determination on the question of reasonable excuse was quite independent of any inference he drew from the judgment of the High Court; and it was unnecessary to determine whether that inference was correct or not. He could not say that there was no material upon which the magistrate could come to the conclusion that the excuse put forward was reasonable. The way in which a man carried on his business, his dealings with his suppliers or customers, his relations with other persons in the same business, might in any given case be matters with which the success of his operations was so intimately bound up that their disclosure to the public or his competitors would be ruinous to him. It was not necessary to put the case as high as that. If any injury was likely to ensue, or if there was any ground, not merely fanciful, for fearing it might ensue, then it was open to the magistrate to find that the witness had a reasonable excuse for declining to expose himself to that risk.

Appeal dismissed, with costs.

(Before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Ferguson, and Mr. Justice Harvey.)

QUESTION UNDER THE STAMP DUTIES ACT.
APPEAL AGAINST ASSESSMENT.

Re Sir Samuel M'Caughey (appellant).
Commissioner for Stamps (respondent).

Mr. Langer Owen, K.C., and Mr. Bethune, instructed by Messrs. Macnamara and Smith, appeared for the appellant; and Mr. Rolin, K.C., and Mr. S. A. Thompson, instructed by the Crown Solicitor (Mr. J. V. Tillett), for the respondent. This was an appeal by Sir Samuel M'Caughey against the assessment by the Commissioner of Stamp Duties of the duty payable in respect of an indenture dated April 23, 1912, and made between appellant and John M'Caughey and Thomas Wilson Vincent. The details of the case have already been published. The Commissioner claimed that this indenture was a conveyance, transfer, or sale of each of the shares and interests of John M'Caughey and Vincent in the two partnerships of "M'Caughey and Co." and "S. M'Caughey and Co." for the consideration stated in the said agreements, namely, the sum of £110,000, and he assessed the duty payable ad valorem at £550. Appellant paid this sum, but, being dissatisfied with the assessment, he required the Commissioner to state a special case for the opinion of the Court. Appellant contended that the indenture was liable to duty to the extent of £1 only as a deed not otherwise charged within the second schedule of the Stamp Duties Act, 1898. The questions for decision were—(1) Is the indenture liable to duty ad valorem as a conveyance or sale? (2) In any event, what is the amount of duty payable in respect thereof?

Argument was concluded, and the Court reserved judgment.

(Before Mr. Justice Ferguson.)

POINT UNDER THE EARLY CLOSING ACT.
IS A PROCLAMATION ULTRA VIRES?

Coyne v Rohanne.

Mr. A. Thomson, instructed by the Crown Solicitor (Mr. J. V. Tillett), appeared for the appellant, John Coyne, senior-sergeant of police and sub-inspector under the Early Colsing Act; and Mr. Carlos, instructed by Mr. M. A. Casey, of Orange (by his agents, Messrs. Barry and Norris), for the respondent, Assad Rohanne, storekeeper, of Orange. This was an appeal from the determination of Mr. E. Marriott, P.M., of Orange, in a proceeding between Coyne, as complainant, and Rohanne as defendant. It appeared from the special case that Rohanne was charged that on Saturday, July 19, in Summer-street, Orange, he kept his shop open after 1 p.m., the hour proclaimed for closing under the provisions of the Early Closing Act. He pleaded not guilty. At the close of the complainant's case—from which it appeared that the respondent kept his shop open on the date in question till 4.20 p.m.—the respondent's attorney submitted the following objections:—(1) That the proclamation published in the "Government Gazette" on April 16, 1913, proclaiming the boundaries of the shopping district of Orange is ultra vires section 4 of the Early Closing Act, 1900. (2) That such proclamation is also ultra vires the powers of the Governor of the State. (3) At the Court of Quarter Sessions held at Orange on June 25, 1912, the defendant appealed against a conviction for breach of the Early Closing Act on all-fours with the present case, when the Chairman of Quarter Sessions upheld the appeal, and quashed the conviction on the ground that the proclamation published in the "Government Gazette" on April 16, 1913, proclaiming the boundaries of the shopping district of Orange, was ultra vires the Act and of the Governor of the State. The magistrate said he felt bound to follow the ruling of the Chairman of Quarter Sessions, and dismissed the information. The question was whether the determination of the magistrate was erroneous in law.

The case stands part heard.

A WILL CASE.

Permanent Trustee Company v Isabel Hage and another.

This was an originating summons, brought by the Permanent Trustee Company, to interpret the will of the late William Redman, solicitor, of Sydney, who died on September 15, 1882. The will was dated April 25, 1860, and after other dispositions and devises, he devised his farm of 100 acres, at Cook's River, Scanlon's Paddock, about 33 acres, and 8 acres adjoining, to his trustees in trust, to permit his wife to enjoy the same, free from the debt and control of any future husband, and for her sole use without power of disposition, except for a seven-years' lease, or any less period, for her natural life, and after that the estate to go to Robert Redman and heirs forever. Subsequently, by a codicil dated September 26, 1862, the testator directed that, at the death of his wife, all property under his former will might be devised by her to all or anyone of his brothers and sisters, as she might think proper, or on their deaths to any of their children.

Mrs. Redman afterwards married Charles Albert Falstedt, and died on November 11, 1912. By her will she devised the property above-mentioned to Isabella Hage, one of the defendants in the present suit, the daughter of Joseph Sudbury Redman, absolutely.

The questions the Court was asked to determine were first, whether the Cook's River property was included in the directions contained in the codicil; and, secondly, whether, in the event of the answer in the above being in the negative, the property in question formed part of the residuary estate of the testator, or passed as undisposed of assets in the estate.

A claim having been brought upon the trustees by Alice Redman, daughter of Robert Redman, to whom the land had been devised, subject to the life estate of the wife of Wil-

Redman was destroyed by the power of appointment granted to the testator's wife in the codicil.

Mr. R. H. L. Innes, instructed by Messrs. Minter, Simpson, and Co., appeared for the Permanent Trustee Company; Mr. J. A. Browne, instructed by Messrs. Hughes and Hughes, for Mrs. Hage; and Mr. Leverrier, K.C., and Mr. Maughan, instructed by Mr. S. M. Stephens, for Alice Redman.

The Court answered the first question in the affirmative, and consequently the second one did not arise.

IN DIVORCE.

(Before Mr. Justice Gordon.)

GARDNER v GARDNER.

The hearing was concluded of the case in which Thomas Gardner petitioned for divorce from Eliza Jane Gardner (formerly Tongue), on the ground of the latter's alleged misconduct with George Henry Bennett, who was joined as co-respondent. The defence was a denial of misconduct, and the question of condonation was also raised.

Mr. R. Cowan (instructed by Mr. B. Keith Cohen, agent for Messrs. Braye and Cohen, of Newcastle), appeared for the petitioner; Mr. R. W. Fraser for the respondent; and Mr. Tighe (instructed by Mr. S. E. Cook, agent for Messrs. Sparke and Millard, of Newcastle), for the co-respondent.

His Honor reserved judgment.

HALL v HALL.

In this case Elizabeth Hall sought the dissolution of her marriage with Thomas Hall on the ground of desertion, and the case had been adjourned for the production of the marriage certificate, his Honor having found the issue of desertion proved. The parties were married in May, 1896. Mr. R. W. Fraser appeared for the petitioner.

The certificate being produced, a decree nisi was pronounced, returnable in six months.

SOWDEN v SOWDEN.

Clara Sophia Sowden (formerly Wareham) petitioned for the dissolution of her marriage with Henry Edward Sowden on the ground of desertion. Mr. Moseley appeared for the petitioner, and the suit was undefended.

The petitioner stated that the marriage took place at Dinby station, near Baradine, on December 4, 1890, according to the rites of the Presbyterian Church.

A decree nisi was granted, returnable in six months.

CASEY v CASEY.

Frances Ann Casey (formerly Allenby) petitioned for divorce from Robert James Casey, on the ground of habitual drunkenness and cruelty, and failure to support the petitioner during three years and upwards. Mr. L. B. Bertram appeared for the petitioner, and the suit was not contested.

The marriage took place at Sydney on October 16, 1899, according to the rites of the Church of England, and the petitioner stated that she had six children living.

His Honor granted a decree nisi, returnable in six months, giving the petitioner custody of the children with the exception of one, aged 17.

JOHANSON v JOHANSON.

Charles August Johanson petitioned for the dissolution of his marriage with Maggie Johanson (formerly Peterson), on the ground of habitual drunkenness. Mr. Perry, instructed by Mr. W. H. Atkinson) appeared for the petitioner. The suit was undefended.

The petitioner, a builder's labourer, said the marriage took place in Sydney on November 17, 1893. There were two children living, issue of the marriage. For the past five years the respondent had been drinking heavily, and had been unable to discharge her domestic duties.

A decree nisi was granted, returnable in six months.

INDUSTRIAL COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Heydon.)

TAXI-DRIVERS' BOARD.

Mr. Nichol, representing the Chauffeurs and Taxi-cab Drivers' Union, nominated George Queenan, of Lower Fort-street, Dawes' Point, as employees' representative, on the Miscellaneous Group No. 8 (Taxi-drivers') Board.

The Court agreed to recommend the nomination.

PASTORALISTS' APPEAL.

The Pastoralists' Union made application for the variation or amendment of the award of the Engine-Drivers' Group, No. 3 Board, dated June 23, 1913. It was urged in support of the appeal, that the award was not suitable; that it did not provide for cases in which employees were "found," i.e., provided with board and lodging; that it did not deal with engine-drivers working on pastoral properties, other than shearing sheds; that it made no provision with regard to overtime as applied for by the Pastoralists' Union; and, that the rates awarded were excessive.

Mr. Windeyer (instructed by Messrs. McLachlan and Murray) appeared for the applicants; and Mr. F. T. Turner, on behalf of the Federated Engine-Drivers and Firemen's Association, opposed the application.

Evidence was given, and the hearing adjourned till Tuesday.

With reference to a case heard before the Chief Industrial Magistrate on Thursday, to determine whether an employee of the Northern Suburbs Supply Stores, Ltd., was a shopman or a carter, we are requested by the manager of the company to state that the minimum carter's wage is £2 5s, and that the employee in question was in receipt of 7s 6d per week above that amount.

IN BANKRUPTCY.

(Before the Registrar.)

HEARING OF CREDITORS' PETITIONS.

Re Edward James Edwards, ex parte James Stillwell and Son, Ltd. On the application of Mr. Rayner for the petitioner, adjourned to September 5.

Re Mary Ann Bell, ex parte Charles M'Cabe. Mr. Hill for the petitioner. Order made. Mr. C. F. W. Lloyd, official assignee.

PROBATE COURT.

The following probates and letters of administration were granted by the Acting Registrar of Probates during the past week:—

Probates.—Charles Lake, Robert Sneddon, James Gallaghy, A. Williams, Arthur Baker, Sarah Cooper, William Moore, A. J. Hamer, William Apsey, John Murray, William Brown, E. B. Taylor, M. D. Yard, R. G. Taylor, Elijah Abell, A. Cinnamond, L. Rowlands, Mary Anderson, William Stenz, R. Critchley, N. C. Neal, W. F. Blakely, M. Lawler, Samuel Campbell, E. M. Seale, M. F. Daly, W. J. M. Dawson, Ann Richards, John Beck, George Wilson, H. Jackson, A. E. Dyer, John Sully, L. Purcell, J. Greaves, C. L. Fairnairn, E. Quinn, J. J. Post, Kate Beazley, A. Fulton, James Cahill, T. H. England, C. J. Hickey, Kate Zimmler, D. Noonan, R. Simpson, Thomas Johnstone, C. Despointes, John Bourke, sen., John Bourne, Charles Moore, William Field, W. A. Williams, Peter Strang, M. Brennan, Emma Ray, C. T. Adams, John Neylon, John Watt, Alexander Mitchell, S. Fraser, Catherine Maher, Arthur Slingsby, Sidmun Baber.

Administrations.—John Reed, L. M. B. Bond,

Perrin, James Rawlings, Ann Taylor, Michael Ryan, J. M'Namara, John Murphy, T. T. Brodie, Peter M'Nab, H. E. Evans, E. A. Hesler, S. Healey, D. T. Sullivan, D. C. Gillies, George Hutchinson, W. H. Blight, Duncan M'Rae, F. Coombes, Flora M'Innes.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

(Before Judge Murray.)

THEFT OF COPPER CABLE.

John Weston and Charles Single, who were found guilty of having stolen, at Botany, on July 11, 25cwt of copper cable, the property of the Government, were called up for sentence. His Honor said that the robbery of the cable must be treated as a serious case, for he looked upon it as a most impudent daylight theft. He considered that Single had been the prime mover in the robbery, and he sentenced him to three years' hard labour in Goulburn gaol. Weston is to be sent to the same gaol for two years' hard labour. Mr. P. K. White appeared for Weston, and Mr. J. J. Kiely for Single.

A POLICEMAN SENTENCED.

Joseph Alexander Murphy was found guilty of having robbed a man who was being searched while under arrest at the Central Police Station, Murphy at the time being in the police force, the jury adding a rider strongly recommending him to mercy on account of his previous good character. In sentencing the prisoner to 18 months' hard labour in Goulburn gaol, his Honor said that he could not possibly dream of giving Murphy the benefit of the provisions of the First Offenders Act, as suggested by Mr. Mack, who appeared for the prisoner. He said he considered that the sentence which he imposed was fair enough.

CONVICTED OF ASSAULT.

Henry Sullivan and Patrick Hayes were convicted of having assaulted, with intent to rob, Reginald Clarence Edwards, at Sydney on the 14th instant. Mr. Kiely, who appeared for the prisoners, asked that Hayes be treated as a first offender, but his Honor said that he could not see his way clear to do so. He said that he did not intend to inflict a severe sentence, but hoped that it would act as a deterrent. Each of the prisoners was sentenced to six months' hard labour, Sullivan in Bathurst gaol, and Hayes in Goulburn gaol.

A WOMAN SENTENCED.

Florrie Hughes, who had been found guilty of having stolen £16 from John Nixon at Sydney, on July 26, was sentenced to 12 months' hard labour in the Long Bay Reformatory.

Messrs. Perkins, Stevenson, and Co., who instructed counsel for the defendant in the case of Gatty v Barnett, in the District Court on Thursday, desire us to state that they were acting for Mr. C. E. Byrnes, of Parramatta.

LAW NOTICES.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 30.

SUPREME COURT.

Criminal Appeal Court.—Rex v Dean, application for leave to appeal; Rex v Izzard, ditto.

Chamber List.—Before the Prothonotary, in No. 2 Court.—At 9.30 a.m.: Ex-parte Waters, re the Married Women's Act, for inquiry (part heard).

ATHLETICS.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME.

MANLY CLUB'S CARNIVAL.

Amateur athletes who have nominated for the various events, to be decided to-day at Manly Oval are requested to proceed by not later than the 1.20 p.m. steamer from Sydney. The carnival will be controlled by the newly-formed Manly A.A.C., and a record attendance is expected. The most important event on the programme is the modified Marathon race, over a distance of about 12 miles. This event has drawn an entry of 32, including such fine performers as J. Dalgleish, H. Haydon, and W. E. Corben, all members of the Botany Harriers. The former brilliantly won the ten miles championship of N.S.W. last Saturday in the splendid time of 54m 49s. Haydon finished third and Corben sixth. The Botany trio should again be prominent in to-day's race, with Corben best favoured. He is the present holder of the Marathon championship of N.S.W., and in the recent Parramatta to Sydney open road race established a record for the event.

A 100 and 220 yards handicaps have been included for the sprinters, both of which have been well supported. Thirty nominations have been received for the short sprint, which is highly satisfactory, considering that it is the first event of its description to be held this season. The most likely men to contest the final should be J. F. Bradley, J. M'Grath, E. E. Hansman, S. Metcalfe, and J. H. M'Kinnon, and the final should result as follows:—S. Metcalfe, J. M'Grath, and J. F. Bradley. J. M'Grath, with an allowance of 16 yards, should win the 220 yards event from S. Metcalfe and F. E. Beaver. The two miles handicap walk should provide a splendid race, with S. J. Carter, R. L. Bonham, and J. J. Harley finishing in that order. The only other event for members of the N.S.W.A.A.A. is the high jump, which has only received an entry of six. C. T. Ferguson or W. E. Murphy should win. E. R. Cox, the 100 yards champion of N.S.W., has nominated for the 100 yards championship of Manly, and he should not experience much difficulty in winning.

Other events to be decided to-day are:—Marrickville Harriers' three miles club road race, over a local course; Hurlstone Park Harriers' five miles road race, at Hurlstone Park; Mozart Juvenile Harriers' one mile handicap, at the Australian Football Ground.

SOUTH SYDNEY AMATEUR ATHLETIC CLUB

INAUGURAL MEETING.

The inaugural meeting of the above club was held on Thursday evening at the Australian Eleven Hotel, Redfern. Mr. J. J. Smith, M.L.C., was elected patron, and Mr. Donald Macdonald (who occupied the chair) president.

Several representatives of kindred clubs were present. The hon. secretary, Mr. T. Ainley, pointed out that the objects of the organisation were to foster amateur talent amongst the young folk of Redfern, and secure for them just representation at forthcoming contests, particularly at the next Olympic Games in 1916. Club premises on a modern scale are being provided within a large stadium, which will shortly be erected upon land opposite Redfern Oval.

BILLIARDS.

LINDRUM v AIKEN.

The Australian had the better of yesterday afternoon's play in his match of 16,000 against T. Aiken. Starting with a deficiency of 863, he gradually reduced the gap until at the close of play only 405 points separated them. Lindrum had a fine break of 344 unfinished from sequences of close cannons. Not only was his touch of the softest, but the pace at which he made the strokes was bewildering, the first run being made in slightly over two minutes. The closing scores were:—

T. Aiken	13,705
F. Lindrum (in play)	13,300

At night Lindrum ran his unfinished break into 400, and then broke down on an easy loser to the middle pocket.

Aiken came in with a neat 108 in the following stroke, and Lindrum, again playing confidently, ran up 120.

Lindrum next scored 140, from nursery cannons, and followed that up with 108.

Lindrum failed in several visits, and Aiken cut in with 151, by a mixed display of the all-round game. He was in play with 19 unfinished when play ceased. Lindrum is 522 behind, and will have to be at his best to win the match, which concludes this evening. The closing scores were:—

Aiken	14,493

NATIONAL CLUB TOURNAMENT.

The above club's tournament was continued last night.

L. Hart (rec. 120) beat Rev. Eaton (rec. 20), by 46.
T. Gahan (rec. 55) beat P. O'Neill (rec. 100), by 25.
The games for Monday night are:—A. Langley (rec. 135) v W. M'Mahon (rec. 90), G. Newton (rec. 70) v B. Thompson (rec. 100).

DR. SHELDON'S NEW DISCOVERY, for Whooping Cough and Croup, 1/6 and 2/-.—Adv.

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRE ROYAL.

"A Marriage of Convenience," a brilliant French comedy by the elder Dumas, adapted to the English stage by Sydney Grundy, will be produced at the Theatre Royal this evening. In the costume-play Mr. Lewis Waller has won fame throughout the United Kingdom, America, and Canada, appearing as the Count de Candale, with Miss Madge Titheradge as the Comtesse. There will be an effective part for Mr. Reginald Dane as the Chevalier de Valclos, and the cast will include Mr. Halliwell Hobbes as the General, and Miss Marianne Caldwell as Marton. There will be a matinee on Wednesday.

"A Fair Highwayman," by William Devereux, who has come from England to assist in launching his new play, will be produced at the Theatre Royal next Saturday for the first time upon any stage. Some reference to this new romantic piece and to its author will be found in our Music and Drama column. Mr. Lewis Waller will appear as the hero, Miss Madge Titheradge in the name-part, and Mr. George S. Titheradge as King George II. Miss Lisette Parkes will join the Waller Company for a soubrette role. The plan will open at Paling's on Tuesday morning.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

Mlle. Adeline Genee will effect important changes in her delightful ballet entertainment at Her Majesty's Theatre to-night. In addition to the fascinating two-act "Copelia" ballet d'action, with the star as Swanilda and as the mechanical doll, Mlle. Genee will be seen for the first time in her famous hunting gallop, which proved immensely popular in Melbourne. Another feature will be her first appearance as Columbine to the Pierrot of M. Volinin in the polka comique from "Les Millions d'Arlequin," Mlle. Halina Schmolz, Mlles. Nolotna and Zalewska, and other favourite artists, will appear in new divertisements. The Wolff-Ferrari opera "The Secret of Susanne" will be performed.

THE NORDICA CONCERTS.

Mme. Lillian Nordica, who sails for New Zealand on Wednesday next, will make one of her farewell appearances at the Town Hall this evening. The great operatic soprano has arranged a highly attractive programme. Her own list of songs will include Indian tribal melodies, "Will o' the Wisp," Bemberg's "Chant de Bacchante," and Erkel's "Hungarian Airs," besides Hildach's passionate duet "Now Thou Art Mine," in which M. Paul Dufault will sing the tenor part. M. Dufault's numbers will include the aria from "Mignon," Sinding's "Sylvelin," and "The Trumpeter" (Dix). Mr. Franklin Holding will play the Mendelssohn "Violin Concerto" and other fine pieces of music. Mr. Romayne Simmons will be at the piano. Mr. Fred Shipman notifies closing concerts for Monday night (operatic) and Tuesday afternoon. The plans are at Paling's.

CRITERION THEATRE.

Only three more performances can be given of "The Dancing Mistress" at the Criterion Theatre, as the Royal Comic Opera Company is now closing its season, and final appearance are thus being made by Misses Blanche Browne, Jessie Lonnen, Billie Barlow, and Grace Palotta, Messrs. Leslie Holland, Frank Greene, Edward Nable, Claude Bantock, and Jack Cannot.

On Saturday next J. C. Williamson's New Comic Opera Company will return, and in this way "The Arcadians" will be performed with an entirely new cast. Miss Hilda Vining, a new actress-soprano from England, has been engaged for the part of Sombra. The new artist has appeared as Nadina in "The Chocolate Soldier," and as Natalie in "The Merry Widow," at leading theatres in the old country. Mr. W. S. Percy will appear as Simplicitas; Mr. Robert White, Junior, will play Peter Doody; Mr. Reginald Roberts, Jack Meadows; Miss Celia Ghiloni, the ample Mrs. Smith; Miss Sybil Arundale, Girl with the Brogue; and Miss Dorothy Brunton, the Arcadian Chrysea. Miss Vivien Talleur and Mr. Charles Albert will dance. The plan will open at Paling's on Tuesday.

JOHN McCORMACK SEASON.

Mr. John McCormack's season of five concerts commences in the Town Hall next Thursday evening. Mr. McCormack, accompanied by Miss May Huxley, the English soprano, Mr. Vincent O'Brien, pianist, and Mr. Donald McBeath violinist, will arrive in Sydney on Monday morning. Leaving the Moltan at Adelaide to-day they will travel overland by the mail train. Although the programme for the opening concert is not yet decided upon, the famous tenor telegraphed his managers, Messrs. J. and N. Tait, from Fremantle, that the touching aria, "The Gelida Manina" from "La Boheme" would be included, as the management had received so many requests for this favourite romance. The plans for the reserved seats are now available at Nicholson's.

PALACE THEATRE.

"The Golden Shanty," an Australian four-act play of quaint people, will be produced by Mr. Bert. Bailey at the Palace Theatre for the first time. The piece was founded by Edward Dyson upon his own widely-read book of the same name, and will be staged with new scenery by Robert Vaughan, and will show the Shamrock Hotel, Moonbeam Gully, the Chinese Camp, and The Glen. The cast will include:—Chiller Green, the pet of the push, Bert Bailey; a selector, Guy Hastings; a city man, Richard Bellairs; a good sort, Edmund Duggan; a wily Chinese, Alfred Harford; various derelicts of Jacker's Flat; Mrs. Edna Jack, Lilias Adeson, Frances Radcliffe, Storm Keats; Minnie, a lady rouseabout, Laura Roberts, and Ruth Jack, Ada Oakley.

Mr. Edward Dyson, well-known and esteemed as a journalist and novelist, has attended the final rehearsals of his play, and he will probably remain in this city until his work is well launched.

ADELPHI THEATRE.

Mr. George Willoughby, managing director of George Willoughby, Ltd., a new title, which replaces the old one of George Marlow, Ltd., will inaugurate independent direction at the Adelphi Theatre this evening by the production for the first time in Australasia of "Queen of the White Slaves." This is an American play that has the credit of a year's run in New York, and five years in the United States; and has been chosen by Mr. Willoughby because of its many novel scenes and situations. The four acts contain scenes in and around San Francisco, a Chinese prince's yacht at sea in a storm, a raft in mid ocean, and the sensational rescue of the castaway by a passing steamer, the gardens of the prince's palace in Foochow, where a special Chinese ballet is introduced by the trained pupils of Miss Ruby Hooper, the chamber of "The Terrible Nine," the chamber of torture, where the moving walls are shown crushing anything within their reach, a corridor of the prince's harem, and a unique finale, where American sailors are introduced. A strong cast will include Messrs. Cyril Mackay, Herbert Leigh, Hilliard Vox, C. R. Stanford, Brandon Cremer, J. P. O'Neill, Frank Neil, H. Nightingale, Misses Nellie Ferguson, Helen Fergus, G. Dorise, Beth Murdoch, Nettie Holroyd, Marcia Rogers. The plan is at Nicholson's.

NATIONAL AMPHITHEATRE.

At the National Amphitheatre, both at the matinee and in the evening, the Brennan-Fuller Company's new programme will include fresh attractions. In which those participating will be Marcel and Bell, novelty dancers in "Marcel, the Anatomical Enigma," Forsyth and Boyne, in their new sketch, "A Sister to Assist 'Er," Hunbreas, impersonator and dancer, Vardaman, the gay deceiver, St. George and Dayne, in refined musical sketch, Aerial Benos, gymnasts, Geo. Rowley, Fred. Rivenhall, Jessie Wilton, the Driscolls, Thornton, and other favourite artists.

LITTLE THEATRE.—"THE PUNCHINELLOS."

"The Punchinellos" will present their newly-varied programme for the week at the Little Theatre this evening, when the curtain will rise at 8.10 p.m. A feature amongst the ensemble pieces by the Punchinellos will be "Why Can't I be a Soldier?" a humorous number, rendered to a swinging melody, which has proved popular elsewhere. Mr. J. D. Pilcher (manager) announces new solos, duets, and character pieces for the new entertainment, in which the Punchinellos' accustomed standard will be brightly maintained.

ALFRED HILL'S "A MOORISH MAID."

"A Moorish Maid" will be revived by the Sydney Operatic Society at the Repertory Theatre to-night, and will be continued on Wednesday next, and every

CRYSTAL PALACE THEATRE.

The management of the Greater J. D. Williams' Amusement Company, Limited, has secured the Australian rights of reproduction of the film series picturing the whole of the Pearce-Barry boatrace from start to finish. These pictures, which are being shown at the Crystal Palace Theatre, are the only official and authoritative views taken of the race. The biograph operators were given special facilities to enable them to make the film a complete one, and they have done so. The pictures also show both champions at their training work. Sir Walter Scott's classic romance "Ivanhoe" has been dramatised for film reproduction by the "Imp" (British) Cinematograph Company. The story, which is fully and beautifully told in three long acts, has for setting a wealth of natural colouring, and its interpretation is very fine. "Ivanhoe" is to be produced at the Crystal Palace next week.

LYRIC THEATRE.

The change of programme at the Lyric Theatre on Monday will introduce a fine war picture entitled "The War Correspondents." This picture is full of action, for it shows two correspondents in the foreground of a realistic war scene, and there is a strong love interest throughout. The film will be well supported.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

"Law and the Outlaw" is the title of the feature film to be shown in the new programme to be introduced at the Colonial Theatre on Monday next. This picture tells of the love a girl had for "Dakota" Wilson, an outlaw, who does many daring deeds, all of which are caught by the camera. The supporting programme is comprised of scenic, comic, and dramatic items.

EMPRESS THEATRE.

There will be a complete change of programme at the Empress Theatre on Monay next, and the star picture will be entitled "The Still Voice." This is the story of a wronged man, who goes abroad to earn his living. His scheming to obtain revenge is always being interrupted by the imaginary voice of his dead wife. The picture is a very dramatic one. There will be a number of topical, comic, and dramatic items to support the star film.

AMERICAN PICTURE PALACE.

The current programme at the American Picture Palace will be concluded to-day, and on Monday a complete change will be made. The items to be shown will be entirely new to patrons of picture-houses in this city, and there will be some particularly strong feature films to head the bill. The standard will be easily maintained.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.

The programme at the Alhambra Theatre will be changed this afternoon, and further strengthened by the first appearance of Gascoigne, a Herculean Equilibrist. Among those who will also appear are the Four Homas (Sensational Athletes), La Belle Zouida (Wirewalker), Kenny and Hart (Duettists), Max Martin (Eccentric Comedian), Violet Elliott (Dashing Serio), Joe Charles (Comedian), Mel Brewer (Baritone) Lewis Sisters (Soubrettes), and Daphne Leigh.

PRINCESS THEATRE.

To-night at the Princess Theatre practically a new company will be introduced by Mr. J. C. Bain. Among the new artists to make their appearance are Carl Prinz's troupe of acrobatic and gymnastic monkeys, and Koppenich, the Sharp-shooting Ape, direct from the Appolo Theatre, Berlin. Paul Delano, the famous Tattooed Juggler (direct from the Continent), Four Chrissies, in song and dance; Pagden and Stanley, Australian Sketch Artists; Lucas and Desmond, Patter Comedians; Jessie Lee, Balladist; Two Beaumonts, Singers and Dancers. A change of programme will be made by Arthur Elliott, Pearl Livingstone, Ivan Marshall, George Sorlie, and Joe Rox. The matinee takes place to-day at 2.30.

THE GLACIARIUM.

The season at the Glaciarium will be concluded on Saturday evening next, after one of the most successful terms ever had by this popular rink. Ice-skating has been extremely popular in this city ever since its introduction into Sydney several years ago, and each eyar seems to add to its numbers. Large attendances still continue to prevail, ad will no doubt do so at every session right up to the closing day.

ROYAL ROLLER RINK.

A big sports night has been arranged for the Royal Roller Rink, and will take place on Thursday next. A good programme of events for the skaters of both sexes has been drawn up, and there will be some valuable prizes. The competitions are open to all-comers.

IMPERIAL ROLLER RINK.

Notwithstanding the warmer weather that has prevailed lately, the attendances at the Imperial Roller Rink, William-street, have shown no sign of diminution, each session being well patronised.

LYCEUM THEATRE.

The splendid film record of Mr. Paul J. Rainey's African Hunt, now being presented at Spencer's Lyceum, is meeting with well-deserved success. The millionaire sportsman of Cleveland (Ohio) has contributed some valuable data to the world's knowledge of wild animals by these realistic motion pictures. The camera has caught many views that are truly beautiful in their light and shadow effects, as well as for the natural beauty of the landscape. Sections of the film show the conquest of such fierce wild animals as the leopard and the lion by a pack of Mississippi hounds. The story of the expedition is related by Mr. Forrest Doolittle, of New York. Another highly-entertaining feature of the Lyceum programme is the Kintephone, which endows the pictures with speech. The new subjects now being presented are "Bonnie Scotland," "Tenderfoot's Temperance Pledge," and "Mrs. Murphy's Horseshoe."

WEST'S OLYMPIA.

At to-day's matinee and evening performances, West's will present for the last time the Bulgarian romantic success entitled "Death to the Traitor." This picture has been attracting big audiences throughout the week. On Monday evening the feature will be a mystery photo-play, entitled "Dr. Nicholson and the Blue Diamond." Throughout the five big acts sensation follows sensation, culminating in the thrilling act, where a man jumps from a flying express over a bridge into the surging water below. De Groen's orchestra will supply the incidental music. It is the intention of West's to reopen the Glaciarium for the summer season, early in September. The Glaciarium will be specially refitted, a new dress circle is to be installed, and the hall generally brought up to date.

WATTLE DAY.

A huge quantity of wattle has been specially ordered for the decoration of the Crystal Palace, Lyric, Colonial, and Empress theatres on Wattle Day. The management announces that, in further commemoration of the day, all visitors to the Crystal Palace Theatre on Monday will be presented with a little spray.

BASEBALL.

THE CLOSING GAMES.

The competition was finished on Saturday last, but several grounds being available the various clubs have arranged matches for to-day. Notwithstanding that the season is practically over, the players are still very keen. Much interest is evinced in the fixtures at Petersham Park, where the two school teams, originally selected for the carnival dates, will play the early game, and a selected team from Western Suburbs' Churches' Union will try conclusions with Petersham "District" team for the late match. Following are the fixtures for to-day:—

At Waverley Oval.

Eastern Suburbs Junior Association v selected Waverley team (early); Waverley I. v Waverley II. (late).

At Petersham Oval.

Two selected school teams (early).

Western Suburbs Churches' Union v Petersham District A team (late). Umpire, W. E. Forsyth.

At Leichhardt Oval.

Leichhardt III. v Leichhardt West (early); Leichhardt I. v Leichhardt II. (late).

At Chatswood.

Lane Cove v Chatswood (early).

PROPOSED SUMMER GAME.

A meeting of baseball players was held last night at Aarons' Exchange Hotel, the chair being occupied by Mr. M. A. Noble. It was unanimously decided to play summer baseball. Mr. P. Stacey suggested that a limited company should be formed to carry out the scheme; but Mr. J. Pope thought that the New South Wales association would be asked to provide for the game in summer. Mr. Noble said he would not take an active part in controlling the affairs of the new body. It was decided to confer with the association with regard to the game being played in summer.

LAWN TENNIS.

AUSTRALASIAN ASSOCIATION.

A council meeting was held last night at Aarons' Exchange Hotel. It was decided to offer to the Western Australian Association the right to conduct the Australasian championships for the current year. If this offer is accepted the championships will probably be held in Perth in October.

It was resolved to ask the International Federation to consider a recommendation that in future tournaments at which the championships of the world are conducted the holders of such titles should be required to play through the events. The matter of the proposed alteration of the service law, referred to the association from the International Federation for consideration, was discussed, and it was decided to notify the federation that the Australasian Association approves of the suggested alteration. The chief point involved is that it is proposed to require the server to replace a foot behind the base line if he has lifted it when serving.

A letter was received from an Indian gentleman stating that he proposed to take an All India team on tour next year, and hoped to visit Australia. The hon. secretary was instructed to reply stating that the team would be welcomed here, and to give the information asked for as to the leading Australian players.

WHISKY.

TOOTH & CO., LTD., Proprietors. KENT BREWERY, SYDNEY.

IT IS A WISE PRECAUTION to take the greatest care of your health. In order to do this effectually it is necessary from time to time to take a few doses of the right medicine—one that will regulate and tone up the digestive system. There ought to be no difficulty in deciding what that is. The verdict in favour of Beecham's Pills is overwhelming. Many people find it an excellent plan

TO TAKE

them periodically. They are the remedy, par excellence, for cleansing the system from impurities and ensuring a correct and regular action of the important organs of digestion, assimilation and excretion. Vigour of body and mind is the portion only of the healthy. Remember, then, that health may be established and maintained by the use of that old and well-tried remedy—

BEECHAM'S PILLS.

Prepared only by Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, England.

Sold everywhere in Boxes. Prices, 10½d (36 pills), 1/1½ (56 pills), and 2/9 (168 pills).

BEAUTY'S FAVOURITE.

The article which excels all others in improving the beauty of the skin is naturally and deservedly beauty's favourite. This has been the acknowledged and honoured position held by PEARS' SOAP for nearly 120 years. It won, and has maintained, that position by virtue of its complete purity, and by the possession of those special emollient properties which soften, refine, and impart natural colour to the skin. No other Soap possesses these qualities in such a pre-eminent degree as

PEARS.

OREGON —— FOR MINING. —— OREGON.

AND GENERAL PURPOSES.

The attention of Mining Directors and Managers is called to our large supplies of Oregon, in sizes from 12 inches x 6 inches to 18 inches x 18 inches, and in lengths from 1 foot to 80 feet. For all mining conditions requiring hardness and toughness in the timber used the Bell and Frazer selected Oregon is unexcelled. Particulars and quotations on application.

We have been eminently successful with our importations of Oregon. The quality is consistently good, clean, and bright. We recommend it for Deck Planking, Treads of Stairs, and general building purposes. Cabinetmakers will find the Bell and Frazer Oregon first-class. We have some exhibiting a beautiful curly grain, the sort used in the old world for panels. Price Lists and information sent freely.

THE "CANBERRA" INCUBATOR.
ANOTHER TESTIMONIAL.

The Manager, Suburban Dressed Poultry Supply.
Dear Sir,—Just a line to inquire whether you have any "Canberra" Incubators—120-egg size—in stock. The one I purchased of you some weeks ago—54-egg—has given me such satisfaction that I am anxious to get hold of a larger machine. For regularity of working and good hatching results it has held its own with my other incubators, and has proved better than any in regard to the small quantity of oil consumed, and the even temperature maintained. An early reply will oblige.—Yours faithfully,
E. CUNNINGHAM,
Belmore-road, Punchbowl.

Pannoobamawm, Victoria, 12/8/'13.
The Australian Hen.—Dear Sir,—I have made a trial with the 100-egg Machine we got from you and hatched every fertile egg except one, and we could not ask for stronger and nicer chicks; haven't lost any. It certainly is a "GEM," and I would like another larger one, about 250-egg, for the coming season. Can you supply me? I don't want to pay a big price for a Machine that is not a bit better than the "GEM." Yours faithfully, G. E. TOWNSEND. BROODERS, 100 Chick (Indoor), 27s 6d; Outdoor, 42/. STOP THAT LEAK!

Do it with SE-MENT-OL. Pour it into your radiator. It dissolves in the water, and flows through the cooling system. Cooled by the air when it strikes the leak it congeals and cements the cavity, making a permanent repair.

After the cement has "set" drain radiator, and refill with fresh water.

4/6. SE-MENT-OL. 4/6.

SELF-ACTING RADIATOR CEMENT.

Carry a tin in your tool box. You will need it badly some day. Order now. New shipment opening up first week in September. Obtainable from leading Supply Houses or direct from

ARGYLL CARS.
The whole of the effect of the design of the ARGYLL CAR proves that it is one idea throughout—not merely a chassis and a body, whose only connection are the bolts which bind them together. The usual gable end, finish of the dash is displaced by evenly flowing side sweeps from radiator to rear.

THE ARGYLL SINGLE SLEEVE VALVE ENGINE is not only silent but powerful.

HUPMOBILE.

If you'll stop to think—there are very few cars in this country which possess a following that is utterly unaffected by any other car.

And it must be plain to you that the HUPMOBILE is one of the very few.

It is so individual, so distinctive, and is so widely known for long-continued-good-service, that it is almost non-competitive.

The HUPMOBILE owner does not change. He buys another HUPMOBILE. And for his used Hupmobile he asks and receives a price far above the ordinary allowance for second-hand cars.

We have repeatedly said that we believe the HUPMOBILE to be, in its class, the best car in the world.

And that is precisely the way the average HUPMOBILE owner feels about it.

THE CAR OF REFINEMENT, QUALITY, AND RELIABILITY.

Designed and built by VICKERS, SONS, and MAXIM, who have built 75 per cent. of the Battleships, Submarines, etc., etc., for the British Navy, also Japan, and many other Powers.

As designers and builders of modern Battleships, Submarines, Dirigibles, Aircraft, etc., etc., with every detail of their complete armament and equipment—in which field a lack of inventive genius or the minutest error would spell disaster, VICKERS, SONS and MAXIM, who are responsible for the design, material, and building of the Wolseley Car, have an exceptional training, which fits them to evolve a car of exceptional merit.

All the leading motor manufacturers advertise that they use VICKERS STEEL in the most vital parts of their cars.

WOLSELEY CARS ARE ALL VICKERS STEELS AND METALS.

The Wolseley Car is the most popular in the World to-day, for the reason that it gives the most all-round satisfaction.

THE VICKERS' PATENT SELF-STARTER, as fitted the Wolseley, is a great boon to the Lady or Gentleman who intends to drive their own car.

The Wolseley Car is the only car that is built entirely by one firm. From when the molten metal flows from the furnaces until the perfectly finished car glides out of the factory on her maiden voyage each minutest detail of the evolution of a Wolseley is in the same safe hands.

"DENNIS COMMERCIAL VEHICLES," WITH ORIGINAL "WORM GEAR TRANSMISSION."

DENNIS Vehicles represent the latest and most up-to-date practice in modern High-grade Commercial Motor Construction, and everything that makes for reliable and economical service is embodied in the Dennis.

The DENNIS is manufactured by the oldest English Manufacturers, established 18 years ago, who are the pioneers of the "Worm Drive" for Commercial Vehicles.

WORM DRIVE was first introduced on Commercial Vehicles 10 years ago by Dennis Bros., and having been perfected and proved by them to be superior to all other types of transmission for heavy vehicles, has been adopted by most of the other high-grade manufacturers.

The DENNIS patented Worm Gear is noiseless, dust-proof, runs always in oil, is the most efficient, requires the least attention, and is the proved most durable transmission, and is guaranteed two years.

We are importing Special Colonial Models, with high clearance, for all sizes from 15cwt to 5 tons.

Investigate the DENNIS. Demonstrations and inspections arranged by letter or telephone.

THE RIGHT WAY TO LIGHT THE WAY.

You don't want to drive at night with uncertain gas and oil lamps. Those days are over, and you're glad they're over.

THE "BROLT" ELECTRIC LIGHTING SYSTEM is the newer and better way.

Electric lights are easy to manipulate, in addition to being entirely free from dirt, heat, or odour.
The "Brolt" is the very latest system, and is entirely free from the weak points of some of the older systems. Simplicity and reliability are its prominent features.
It matters not what method of lighting you now use, you can have this splendid, perfected system installed in your Car at small expense.
Let us give you an estimate and demonstrate the "Brolt" System.

ADVANTAGES YOU MAY ENJOY—AND DISADVANTAGES YOU MAY ESCAPE, BY OWNING A "CADILLAC."

The presence or the absence of the qualities described herein—qualities traceable to properly applied standardisation and the resulting correct alignment; qualities traceable to skilful design and advanced manufacturing methods, and the results of scientific research and development, explain:—

Why the owner of one car has to crank and crank his engine to get it started, while the "Cadillac" owner gets into his car—presses a button—disengages the clutch, and his engine starts.

Why the owner of one car—even with a so-called "SELF-STARTER" can start the engine only some of the time, while the "Cadillac" electric cranking device is fully as efficient and fully as dependable as every other part of the "Cadillac" Car.

Why the owner of one car must get out—often in the rain and mud—open his lamps, fumble for matches, turn on and regulate the gas, and light up, while the "Cadillac" owner, without delay or annoyance, simply closes the switches and the electric lamps are lighted.

Why one car starts with a jerk and a lunge, while the "Cadillac" can be started off with the smoothness of an ocean liner.

Why in one car about all the driver's strength is required to operate the clutch and brakes, while with the "Cadillac" slight foot pressure is all that is necessary.

Why in one car the change of gears is accomplished by a crash and a grind, while with the "Cadillac" the change can be made so that it is scarcely perceptible.

Why in one car, with a steering gear which has no provision for taking up wear, lost motion develops, making steering uncertain and unsafe, while in the "Cadillac" steering gear the adjustments provided are more adequate than will probably be required.

Why one car runs all right on level roads, but when it comes to sand and hills it has not the power to make the pulls, while the "Cadillac" has an abundance of power for all reasonable requirements, and with its standardisation, the correct alignment, and the substantial construction, the maximum of that power is delivered at the rear wheels.

Why one car, after a few months, begins to evidence a loss of power, while "Cadillacs" frequently show improvement.

Why in one car the engine overheats and the water boils, while by the "Cadillac" construction and "Cadillac" cooling system the causes of overheating are practically eliminated.

Why the owner of one car must be continually tinkering with his car to keep it going, while many "Cadillac" owners rarely open their tool kits.

Why one car, after a few months' use, depreciates in selling value to half of its original cost or less, while depreciation in the "Cadillac" is reduced to an absolute minimum.

So many "WHYS," indeed, which evidence the pre-eminence of the "Cadillac" that we cannot here cite even a tenth part of them.

There are now over 400 "Cadillac" Cars running in N.S.W., and every one in good running order.

THE FIRST FOUR-CYLINDER "CADILLAC" WAS SOLD HERE IN SYDNEY SIX YEARS AGO, AND HAS TRAVELLED OVER 213,000 MILES. THIS CAR IS NOW IN PERFECT RUNNING ORDER, AND CAN BE INSPECTED ANY TIME IN OUR GARAGE. We should be pleased to give any one interested in the purchase of a car a trial in this car, just simply to demonstrate the wonderful workmanship of the "Cadillac."

At present we have all models in stock, from the two-seater Runabout up to the 5-seater Touring Car.

DUSTCOATS FOR MOTORISTS.

Summer is approaching, and Motorists should take a look ahead to the time when dust will be the chief source of their discomfort.

Mr. Motorist, get a dust coat now—save your clothes from ruination—motor in comfort.

We have opened up a full range of the new Season's Goods—including Dust Coats—and we can satisfy you perfectly. We quote below a list—the prices will speak for themselves.

Khaki Twill	10/6 each.
White Twill	12/6 each.
Crash, S.W.I.	10/6 each.
Crash, No. 116	18/6 each.
Poplinette	15/

These are stocked in all sizes FOR MOTOR CYCLISTS.

Khaki	10/6 each.
White	12/6 each.

Poplinette Suits, 18/6. Complete Coat and Overalls.
Crash Overalls, 6/ per pair.

Poplinette is a material quite new to Sydney, although used extensively in the Old Country. It is infinitely superior to anything else for excluding dust and for giving good service—it is dressy, too. Make a point of getting a Poplinette Dust Coat for the coming Summer.

OVERLAND FEATURES.

REVEALED IN A SEARCHING ANALYSIS BY A BRITISH MOTOR ENGINEER, ACTING ON BEHALF OF
THE MOTOR, MARCH 18, 1913.

STARTING.
"The starting of the Overland is quite a good feature."

ENGINE.
"On the Overland we should, perhaps, lay ourselves open to the possibility of exaggerating a little if we said that the engine was noticeably quieter than the average high-grade car, but in running along in traffic, or parading gently at 12 m.h.p., the engine was inaudible to the passengers."

CLUTCH.
"The clutch on the Overland Car which we tested was nothing short of a fascinating and wonderful paradox. Its construction is the personification of simplicity—in operation it was perfection. A clutch nearer to perfection than that on the 'Overland' Car has never fallen to his lot."

TRANSMISSION.
"Here, again, one can pass a high degree of praise relative to the question of the quiet running of the indirect gears."

BRAKES.
"The action of the brakes was smooth and progressive, the great charm, however, being, as already pointed out, that on no single occasion were we aware of the operation of the brakes by reason of any noise emanating from them."

FINAL.
"We have now dealt with the leading points of this car, relative especially to the three units of construction dealt with at length, namely, the clutch, the gear-box, and the brakes, and the opinion which we formed was of no uncertain order. One cannot risk making comparisons, as the old adage tells us that they are odious. Assume, however, in an endeavour to evade the dictates of the proverb, that we coin a new car in imagination, and call it the 'Generalisation.' Its specification shall be according to a standard type of car, its price shall be either £355 complete, twice that sum, three times the amount, or yet four times. If this creature of our imagination were to materialise, we do not see how we could hope to find anything better in the respective units allotted to than those existing in the Overland Car which we have tried. In epitome, then, the Overland Car is an aristocrat in its class, and, in certain units of the chassis, an aristocrat in any class, whilst, from the pecuniary consideration, it is of exceptional value.

WHEN PURCHASING A CAR

it is as well to remember that the STAR'S reputation is founded on FACTS.

1st. QUALITY of material and workmanship.
2nd. ECONOMY in running expenses, tyres, and naphtha, giving a bigger mileage than with other makes of cars.
3rd. LIFE. The first 7 h.p. twin cylinder STAR is still running. It was purchased by J. P. Henry, of Uralla, and in his letter a few days ago he says: "She is pulling as well as ever."
4th. VALUE. The selling value of second-hand STAR Cars is more than any other make,—because they run more miles and cost less to run, and all parts can be replaced from stock at a few minutes' notice.
5th. PRICE. When the four above facts are taken into consideration the STAR is the cheapest car on the market.

BUY AS CHEAPLY AS YOU CAN, BUT BE SURE YOU DO BUY CHEAPLY.

After 12 months' running, study your car account, and if you run a STAR you will find that after all the STAR Car is not only the best Car, but is the cheapest in the long run.
We have in stock 15-20-h.p. four-seater Torpedoes, and 12-h.p. two-seaters just opened up.

USERS OF THE L.M.C. MOTOR CYCLE

SPEAK WITH NO UNCERTAIN VOICE REGARDING THE SUPERIORITY OF THEIR MOUNTS.

The Rev. N. W. Gardiner, Candelo, N.S.W., writes us, Aug. 14th:—

> "I have used my 'L.M.C.' now for almost three years over the roughest and steepest roads in the State. To say that I have found it satisfactory is but a mild way of expressing my admiration of the L.M.C."

This is one of the numerous letters we receive every week, and is proof positive that the L.M.C.'s are a reality and not a catalogue or picture Motor Cycle; they are actually doing the work, being used extensively by the Post-office, Insurance Offices, and Harvesters' Agents, Travellers, Doctors, Lawyers, etc., etc.

COMMER MOTOR LORRIES

MAKE TRANSPORT ECONOMICAL AND SPEEDY.

At the 7th Annual Motor Parade of the Commercial Motor Users' Association, in London, on May 12, "Commer" Lorries won high distinction. The 10 principal makers of petrol chassis were represented by 201 vehicles, of from 30cwt to 5 tons capacity. Of these, "Commers" totalled 41 Cars—an average of over 20 per cent. The other nine makes ranged from 30 Lorries down to 7. Fifteen "Commers" were awarded prizes—a higher proportion of honours than was received by any other make.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP PRIZE OF £10 WAS AWARDED THE DRIVER OF A "COMMER." This Car has run 7000 miles absolutely without accident of any kind, and without a single replacement. Petrol consumption averaged no less than 15½ miles per gallon. The gross ton miles per gallon averaged the high figure of 83. This shows what fine results can be obtained from "COMMERS" with care and a reasonable knowledge of the machine.

CAPACITY: 1 TON TO 7 TONS.

BRIEF SPECIFICATION.—Engine, Four Cylinders, cast in pairs; Bosch high tension Magneto; also coil and accumulator; Chain-drive, with chain cases; automatic lubrication; efficient radiator; Gear-box of fool-proof type; Gears always in mesh, with dog clutch drive; Independent foot and hand brakes; on larger models a special spring buffer is fitted between differential and gear-box; Ball-bearings throughout; Complete set of tools.

THE WORLD'S RECORDS AGAIN PUT UP BY HUMBERS.

THE 11-H.P. HUMBER is startling the Motor World with her wonderful performances on Brooklands. Records from 1 to 200 miles are now Humbers.

VAUXHALL CARS HAVE PROVED THEMSELVES.

Since 1910, when we first landed the Vauxhalls, they have distinguished themselves as the fastest hill-climbers, the reliable roadsters, and have carried their loads at a minimum of cost.

The "Motor Age" says:—"The VAUXHALL ENGINE is the MOST EFFICIENT the world has produced."

THE HUMBERETTE, THE MINIATURE CAR,

has no belts, chains, or other freak devices. She is simply a small Car, built like her big sisters, on standard Car lines, and Humberettes have been running in New South Wales since 1905 successfully. Why not have the proved article? It costs no more at first, and less afterwards, and you escape the remark, "He has something cheap."

NEW HUDSON.

"Dear Sirs,—I write you in reference to my New Hudson Motor Cycle, which I purchased from you 12 months ago. The machine has had daily runs ranging from 3 to 100 mile trips, and has completed in all, to date exactly 4000 miles.
Its reliability has been most pronounced, for it has not caused me any road stoppages or mechanical adjustments since I have had it. It is most essential I should have a reliable machine for my work as a Government Official, and I cannot speak too highly of its accomplishments for continuous work on bad roads.
The only replacement has been a new belt after the previous one did 3600 miles.
After having several motors, as you are aware, I can only decide that my New Hudson machine has given me the greatest satisfaction of any, which has been proved by its results."
The New Hudson gives everyone equally satisfactory service. You should certainly examine it in our showrooms, or write for our free Illustrated Catalogue now.

A PLEASANT WAY TO LEARN FRENCH OR GERMAN.
Not in the old-fashioned, hum-drum way, but naturally. Under M. Herz, from Paris, you learn easily, and think in the foreign tongue. You use your eyes as well as your ears, and conversation comes simply. To intending tourists or business people this new system is a boon. Write to-day for a booklet describing the method and giving the fees.

THE H.M.C. ADVERTISING COURSE MAKES PROFICIENT AD. WRITERS.
Anybody who studies the trend of things must have seen that advertising is becoming a greater factor in the World's Business. Look through this, or any other paper, and ask yourself, "What is the scope of Advertisement Writing?"
See the number of well-written announcements and the greater number of merely commonplace type matter. You will then see where the opportunity occurs for those trained in Advertisement Writing.
THE H.M.C. CORRESPONDENCE COURSE OF INSTRUCTION IS ORIGINAL AND PRACTICAL, and imparts the information required to make you a proficient Advertisement Writer.
New Term of Study now about to commence. Write for Free Printed Prospectus to-day.

IT IS NOT PRESUMPTION
WHEN I SAY

that through my thirteen years of arduous practice on the method of the PERMANENT REMOVAL of

SUPERFLUOUS HAIRS

I have become so skilful that a failure could not be proved, either by a lady treated or about to be treated.
I will

FORFEIT ONE HUNDRED POUNDS

if it can be proved my above statement is not correct, or, if it be proved I have failed in any way to give satisfaction IF YOU HAVE THE AMBITION TO IMPROVE your appearance, you should avail yourself of my

FREE TRIAL TREATMENT.

You will be quite convinced when I show to you the hair removed that it will be impossible for it to grow again, or other hairs in their place. There will not be any marks, scars, or after-effects.

So DO NOT BE FOOLISH AND PUT OFF until to-morrow that which can be done to-day. Now is the time to try and improve your skin, or get the unsightly blemishes removed as a beautiful costume is never perfection if the wearer has not a clear complexion, or mars it with any blemish of the skin. How many times we hear the remark—"A beautiful gown, but why does she not spend a little less on the gown, and more on her face?" These unsightly hairs or that repulsive mole spoils her."

MOLES CONTAINING HAIRS

I can remove in one treatment; no pain, and guaranteed not to scar. If you have not Superfluous Hairs or Moles you might need

FACE MASSAGE.

Come to me. The system I employ improves the skin greatly by increasing the sluggish circulation, emptying out the occluded pores of harmful secretions, gives tone to the skin itself through the agency of proper exercise, so commonly neglected, and finally builds up the lazy, tired, and unused or wrongly used muscles of the face.

ONE TREATMENT WILL CONVINCE.
TERMS MODERATE.

I supervise all my work, and give my personal attention.

A LONDON BEAUTY EXPERT

OFFERS FREE TREATMENT TO EVERY WOMAN.

To convince you that the latest London methods are more advanced and more effective than local methods of treatment, I will give one free demonstration to any woman—either in the extraction of superfluous hairs or in the treatment of the face and neck.
ELECTROLYSIS.—as I apply it—is painless, and will leave any scar. It destroys the ROOTS of the superfluous hairs.
I have a special method of treating the face and neck which effectively removes wrinkles and hollows, and brings the flush of health to the skin.
I have been trained in London, by one of the principal demonstrators of the famous Pomeroy Beauty Institute.
Visit me and have the same treatment as the leading beauties of London—the fees are decidedly moderate.

TOILET SPECIALITIES.

VALAZE BEAUTIFYING SKIN FOOD.—The Tonic properties of this wonderful and world-renowned face cream keep the skin in healthful stimulation, with the result that it remains sound and supple, free from lines, muddiness, blotches, freckles, sunburn, tan, and sallowness. It makes the skin proof against all vicissitudes of wind or weather. Valaze is sold in jars, 5/6 and 6/6, postage 6d.
VALAZE COMPLEXION SOAP.—This Soap contains many of the properties of Valaze Skin Food. It is pure, dainty, and economical, and will be found quite different to any other soap in soothing and cleansing the most sensitive skin. Price, 2/2, posted.
VALAZE BLACKHEAD AND OPEN PORE CURE banishes these disfigurements—cures a greasy, coarse skin, and assists in preserving a healthy complexion. By its use the skin is perfectly cleansed, effectually braced, and stimulated to healthy action. Price 2/10 posted.
VALAZE COMPLEXION POWDER for greasy, over-moist, or oily skins. Novena Poudre for dry and normal skins, each in three tints, 2/, 3/, and 5/ a box, postage 3d.
VALAZE SNOW LOTION (a superb Viennese Liquid Powder) is a beauty lotion par excellence. It refreshes, cools, and whitens the skin, and enables it to retain that dull, ivory finish that is so much sought after. Price 3/6 a bottle, postage 6d.
NOVENA CERATE is an emollient skin cleanser, without the use of soap and water. When the skin is delicate or sensitive, or intolerant of soap and water, it should be cleansed with the Novena Cerate. It cleanses, soothes, softens, whitens, and preserves the most sensitive skin. Price 3/10, posted.
VALAZE SKIN TONIC is an anti-wrinkle lotion; astringent, antiseptic, soothing, and stimulating. It is a safeguard against lines and looseness of the skin. Price 3/6 a bottle, postage 6d.
VALAZE LIP LUSTRE is indispensable to prevent cracking and chapping of the lips, and to ensure to them an attractive colouring, which neither biting nor moistening of the lips will prevent. Price 2/. Specials 2/.
MME. RUBINSTEIN'S BOOK, "Beauty in the Making," will be sent to any address on receipt of 3d for postage. All Valaze preparations obtainable leading Chemists, or direct from Helena Rubinstein Prop., Ltd., Dept. D., 158 Pitt-street, Sydney; or 274 Collins-street, Melbourne.

PROMISE OF SPRING
CARRIES WITH IT THE PROMISE OF DAINTY GARMENTS.

We are ready for the coming season with ADVANCE SPRING AND SUMMER MODEL GOWNS.

We have imported, direct from America, the very latest expressions in voiles, crepes, marquisettes, crepe muslins, [illegible], broderies, and laces. From these frocks, blouses, skirts, and underwear. All these dainty garments are distinct in style, perfect in finish, and each one an artistic triumph. In fact, we may safely say that Sydney has never before seen such a display of such delightfully pleasing white wear. We make a speciality of for motor, evening, and race wear in Lace, Crepe de Chine, Shantung, and the new American [illegible] Silk.

MODEL COATS

You are invited to visit our Showroom on the First Floor.
